North Vietnam claimed today that U.S. and allied troops have killed more than 4,300 civilians since President Nixon was inaugurated last January.

The U.S. command disclosed today that a criminal investigation is under way into an alleged incident involving a U.S. soldier and the death of a South Vietnamese in the Mekong Delta in June.

Canadian Nurse Not Surprised

Ten Points for A Pregnant Woman

MONTREAL (CP) — Claire Culhane, president of the Quebec Voice of Women, who worked for a time in Vietnam, said Sunday recent revelations about the massacre of Vietnamese civilians by U.S. soldiers came as no surprise.

Mrs. Culhane worked in a Canadian hospital in Quang Nai, less than six miles from where the "Pinkville" massacre is alleged to have taken place in March, 1968.

"Anyone who has worked in Vietnam is aware of these happenings, including the present staff of the Canadian hospital.

"It was impossible for anyone not to hear about these things.

"The boys come back to the officers' club at night and have a few drinks too many and boast about it. It was a standing joke that you got an extra ten points for killing a pregnant woman."

Contract Talks Resume, Hope to Avert Strike

With only four days left before the date of the threatened mass resignation of separate school teachers, talks are resuming between teachers' representatives and the school boards.

At a meeting Nov. 17, teachers employed by the Hastings and Prince Edward Separate School Board decided to hand in their resignations Nov. 30, to become effective Dec. 31.

Provincial spokesmen for the Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association claimed local teachers were dissatisfied with the manner in which the board had handled salary negotiations last spring. The salary contract was not taken before the membership for ratification before signing.

Patrick O'Neill, administrative assistant with OECTA said Tuesday from Toronto that members of the provincial executive of his organization and the board will meet here Wednesday night to discuss the dispute with each.

He said no local representatives of teachers employed by the board will be present at tonight's meeting.

Terrance Flynn, appointed to head a new negotiating team after the teachers rejected the contract signed by the first team, said he would not be attending the meeting.

"The matter has been handed over to our provincial executive and they will represent us," he added.

Following the Nov. 17 meeting, the OECTA spokesmen said advertisements would be placed in local newspapers at the end of last week or early this week, explaining the teachers' position. To date, no advertisements have been submitted.

Mr. O'Neill said a statement might be released to the press following tonight's meeting.

OWRC Forcing Sewer Link-up

TRENTON (Staff)—Two Trenton complaints may be forced to link with the town's proposed new sewage system against their wishes.

Stokely Van Camp and Domtar Ltd. have received identical letters from the Ontario Water Resources Commission notifying them that the OWRC will order both plants in the future sewage disposal system plans for Trenton.

Trenton council received a third copy of the letter which said the matter is still open for negotiation between the companies and the OWRC.

IN MEMORIAM

ACKERS — In loving memory of a dear daughter Mary, who passed away five years ago.

What would I not give to clasp her hand

Her dear sweet face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
That meant so much to me.
Sadly missed and ever remembered by her mother.

DEMILLE, Annie — In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother, who passed away Nov. 26, 1967.

Though her smile is gone forever
And her hand we cannot touch,
Still we have so many memories
Of the one we loved so much.
Memories are a golden treasure
Which none can ever part,
God has her in His keeping,
We have her in our heart.
—Lovingly remembered by her family

CARDS OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zilkell, Stirling, Ont., wish to sincerely thank everyone who made their Golden Wedding Anniversary such a happy occasion. Also for the lovely cards and on Sunday, November 16th. A very special thanks to Belleville Chapter No. 30, Eastern Star, and Local Rebekah Lodge. Sitting for the beautiful flowers and for the many cards of congratulations and gifts received.

We would like to express our many thanks to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who sent us in our recent fire. Our lifelong friends, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hastings, A. Carroll's Milk for their quick assistance with their fire truck. Also a special thanks to the Thurlow Fire Department for their kindness.
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gerard
R.R. No. 2, Roslin, Ontario

I wish to thank the friends and neighbors and relatives and ministers, who sent me flowers and cards and treats and called on me during my recent illness in hospital. Especially I would thank you to Drs. Laynes and Darry and all the staff in 7N 7-7 ward. Kindness.

Costs to Be Probed

New Pupil Photographing Policy Deferred

A new policy on photographing of pupils in Hastings County schools was put off last night until the cost can be investigated by the board's administrators.

The policy, outlined by Director of Education Eric Runacres, would have seen a photographer appointed each year on the basis of tenders. He would photograph pupils entering the school system for the first time, and all those in grades 7 and 10 for record purposes. All new members of the teaching staff would also be photographed.

Three small prints of each pupil would be supplied, one to be given to the pupil, and two to be retained by the school.

The new policy would eliminate the practice followed in the past, when a photographic firm was allowed to enter schools at the discretion of the board to take pictures for sale to the pupils.

"Photographers came into our schools for years and gave three pictures to the school, but it was the child who paid for them," said superintendent L. F. Reid.

"This is the nub of exploitation, allowing the child to pay for the pictures," said Mr. Runacres. "If the board pays for the pictures, you eliminate the power to exploit."

He added that the cost probably would be about $400 a year, but not more than 20 cents a pupil for the three pictures. At the discretion of the principal, extra copies could be made available to pupils at a price not exceeding the direct cost to the photographer.

"There shall be no exploiting of pupils, no canvassing and pressures put on students to purchase the photographs," the policy statement read.

Mr. Runacres said the small photos are used for record purposes. One is attached to the student's Ontario Record card "which follows him forever," and one is given to the teacher for his records.

Macdonald Smith questioned the value of pictures on the OSR cards.

"Almost all secondary schools in Ontario use them," said Mr. Reid.

"I know, but I still can't see why it's necessary," insisted Mr. Smith.

Mr. Runacres told the trustees the pictures often go to doctors, psychologists and guidance teachers.

Robertson Collins suggested the cost should be investigated first and a decision made on the policy when the price was known.

All photographers in the county will be contacted for tender prices on the photographing, and a further report brought to the trustees at a later date.

Council Hopefuls Ready for Test

TRENTON (Staff) — Aspirants in the Dec. 1 municipal election will be put to the test tonight by Trenton residents.

The occasion will be the annual candidates meeting, sponsored by the Trenton Chamber of Commerce in the hall at Trenton Community Gardens at eight p.m.

All 11 council hopefuls — two mayoralty candidates, seven prospective councillors and two PUC candidates — will be in attendance.

It seems likely that the meeting will be a lengthy one with all candidates and present council and PUC members being allowed to speak.

Council members not standing for re-election will be allowed 15 minutes to give a report of their council activities, while councillors seeking re-election will have 15 minutes for reports and platform declarations and candidates for election declarations.

At the conclusion of the reports and platforms, the program will be thrown open for questions from the floor.

This is the only group appearance of all election candidates before the balloting Dec. 1.

A similar meeting for Murray Township is scheduled for Murray Centennial School at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Yule Dinner For Elderly

PICTON (Staff) — Picton senior citizens will be guests of honor tonight at a banquet and Christmas party hosted by the Picton Kinsmen Club.

The party, this year held in the Eastern Star Temple, Talbot Street, includes many residents of Prince Edward County homes on its guest list as well as members of Picton's Senior Citizens Club.

The 10th annual night of its kind, the Senior Citizens' Banquet, provides gifts and musical entertainment for the town's "grand old folk."

Assisting the Kinsmen during the evening will be members of the Kinetic Club.

Inch of Snow

TWEED (Special) — A full inch of soft snow later turned to ice and left roads in the middle Hastings area in a treacherous condition this morning.

However only one overnight accident was reported in the Madoc Area.

This was on County Road 9 east of Highway 62 when a car driven by Keith McQuaid, 27, of Crookston, skidded out of control and ripped out two guide rail posts, resulting in about $150 damage to the car.

'Bun Feed' Crowd Will Keep Candidates On Their Tip Toes

Candidates for Monday's municipal election will be under fire at the Wharf Street Debating Club's annual "bun feed" tonight, starting at 8 p.m.

For the past 60 years club members have invited aspirants to municipal office to present their platforms or defend their stewardship at their annual pre-election meeting.

But tradition has it that candidates are fair game for interruptions and pointed questions and seldom do office seekers last out their allotted speaking time.

Thursday night candidates for the mayoralty, city council and Public Utilities Commission will get another opportunity to express their views at the Chamber of Commerce general pre-election meeting to be held at Nicholson Catholic College, starting at 9 p.m.

Mail Must Go Through Even to Rawalpindi

Christmas shopping already has been completed for many a Canadian and the presents soon will be on their way — from below ground in Belleville.

The Canadians involved are all overseas, all members of the armed forces.

Despatch point for all overseas service mail is the Canadian Home Postal Depot, with sorting rooms and despatch offices in the basement of the city's federal building. From there it is sent by truck to Canadian Forces Base, Trenton, for transport to far-flung destinations.

Manned by men of the postal corps, the depot now is being geared to meet the peak of the Christmas rush.

Before it's over an estimated will have been despatched to Canadian servicemen on various foreign soils.

Already Christmas mails have gone out from the Belleville world despatch centre to Canadians posted to various missions in the furthest service zones — Saigon, Rawalpindi, New Delhi.

But the bulk of the work is concentrated on Europe and Canada's NATO servicemen.

Mailing deadline for Europe, the United Kingdom and Cyprus now has been set for Nov. 28.

$224 For Apples?

PICTON (Staff) — As sure as God made little green apples there was a mistake in the budget for Prince Edward County Home when it was read in council last night.

Reeve of Picton, Bernard Hepburn, examined it and requested to know why $224 had been spent last month to supply the home with apples.

The answer was simple — apples should have been listed as potatoes. The actual amount spent for apples totalled $18.75.

Open Road, Urges Tripp

TRENTON (Staff) — The natives are getting restless about the delay in completion of the overpass construction on the Frankford Road (Highway 33).

Councillor Paul Tripp reported on Monday night's Trenton town council meeting that businesses in the area may suffer losses for two to three months or more unless the road is opened, even if the surface were only gravel.

The road was sealed off early this summer to permit reconstruction of the CNR's overpass on Highway 33 — one of two major arteries linking Trenton with Highway 401.

As auxiliary set of tracks was laid to permit normal railway use, but this arrangement consists of an elevated track the base of which blocks off Highway 33.

Although a contract has been let for the temporary track to be removed, the contractor reported that the job was not economically feasible at this time.

Councillor Ted Parker urged that the road be open at all costs, even though it is not feasible to start the paving portion of the contract until spring.

Another Vietnam Setback

Lodge's Resignation, Massacre of Civilians, Blow to U.S.

By RAY DICK

WASHINGTON (CP) — The resignations last week of two Vietnam peace negotiators and stories of a massacre of South Vietnamese civilians by American troops can only add despair to a war-weary American public.

Only a few weeks ago the feeling, although not optimistic, was at least that something was being done to bring the soldiers home and to seek an honorable peace in Vietnam.

President Nixon in a nationally-televised speech had told the American people he had a timetable for troop withdrawals, that Vietnamization of the war was going well and appealed for support from the "silent majority."

A Gallup poll and mountains of telegrams appeared to indicate the majority: although against the war, was willing to allow the president time to settle the conflict in his own way.

Two massive anti-war moratoriums, generally peaceful in nature, demonstrated that the "vocal minority" was not so small and that millions of Americans could not be ignored.

Then, last week, any lingering hopes for some action at the stalemated Paris peace talks in the near future were dashed when chief U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge and his deputy, Lawrence Walsh, resigned.

The fact that both resigned at the same time indicates a disappointed American government is ready to play down efforts to negotiate a settlement unless and until the other side displays more tangible interest.

Lodge, as Averell Harriman and his deputy Cyrus Vance had done before him, gave prestige to the American delegation, and it will be difficult to find another man of his stature to carry on a tedious and unrewarding mission.

While this does not mean negotiations are dead, it underlines the fact that they are deadlocked and the pessimism of the American delegation on chances for future success.

The other disturbing incident was the disclosure last week that a company of U.S. infantrymen in mid-March, 1968, had brutally murdered at least 100 men, women and children in a sweep through the Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai.

The disclosures and published pictures showing the sprawled, bloody bodies brought revulsion at home, headlines abroad and provided abundant fuel for the North Vietnamese propaganda fires.

So far the story of My Lai has been told only by a few Vietnamese survivors, who said they escaped because they were buried under the dead bodies of their families and friends, and by a few American soldiers who were there.

Military men are privately conceding that the stories are essentially correct, and the army has ordered a general court martial for Lieut. William Laws Calley Jr. who led the first troops into the village.

Lieut. Calley is accused in the army information of the premeditated murder of 109 men, women and children.

If the stories are true the incident ranks as the most serious atrocity yet attributed to American troops in a war already well known for its particular savagery.

It certainly did nothing for an already tarnished U.S. image in the war, and will probably alienate many more people, both at home and abroad, who were until now not committed to any policy.

Shades of 1984

Many listening to Prime Minister Trudeau's address at the Liberal "think-in" at Harrison Hot Springs in British Columbia must have wondered if perhaps the mountain and lake country were going to his head.

All that way-out stuff about "genetic engineering," and what would be society's view and the state's responsibility when marvels already achieved in improving plant and animal breeds were applied to humans?

But Mr. Trudeau obviously was tuned in to contemporary research on the subject — to the news from Boston that the gene which transmits hereditary characteristics has been isolated for the first time.

That there is cause for concern at this discovery is manifest in the words of two scientists involved. Dr. Jonathan Beckwith said it is "more frightening than hopeful. It is obvious that it raises the possibility of genetic engineering." Similar fears were expressed by Dr. James Shapiro, head of the Harvard Medical School research team which isolated the gene.

The suggestion is that the possibility now exists for manipulating genes in humans to produce a controlled species. It sounds like a chapter from George Orwell's "1984," and one with which the public and governments must concern themselves if that book's nightmarish concepts are not to become reality.

A Cheese Dream

If you "Say Cheese" today it is not that you are trying to coax a smile out of a reluctant camera subject but because today Quinte area dairy farmers and manufacturers literally are focusing their attention on this fine product.

The judging is over at the British Empire Dairy Show, held locally in conjuction with the annual Central Ontario Cheese Makers' convention, and today prize cheese is available for sale to the general public. If it is quality cheese you want, this is it.

Where else, incidentally, in the entire Commonwealth would you find an annual event still employing the term "British Empire?" It is a link with the past, and indeed with the traditions of this area.

Cheese of course is synonymous with this region. Although many plants have been closed or absorbed in mergers, in the products of those remaining the name of Belleville and those of surrounding communities are perpetuated and made known far and wide.

Vintage Cars

Interest in things mechanical is something that is deeply ingrained in the male of the species.

Indeed, offered a fashion show by a bevy of beautiful models and an auto exhibition on neighboring floor space it is likely most of the men would turn to the cars. Perhaps that is why the advertising people, cunning devils, combine the two so cleverly these days!

In any event, local car buffs got off to a good start with the Auto-Rama show at the Ben Bleecker auditorium last weekend. "Antique" car always sounds such a misnomer when one sees them making the scene in such fine style. Tomorrow's Santa Claus parade was an example when a number of vintage (that is a better description) cars took part.

It would be interesting to know just how many such vehicles are still maintained in prime condition. Most communities of any size have their enthusiasts and the total across the nation must be formidable.

One of the most interesting displays was one we encountered a couple of years ago in Smiths Falls. It had everything from a Model T to an early Rolls-Royce. In time Belleville may attract a similar range of models.

Once Again

The flight of Apollo XII is over and three more American astronauts are home from the moon. It has been another remarkable achievement by the United States and one which must make the Russians feel increasingly out of things where space flight is concerned. It looks too as if the samples of lunar dust and rock obtained, not in mention seismic experiments conducted when the landing craft was jettisoned and hit the moon's surface, may reveal further information of significance about the distant planet.

"I wish they'd stop moaning — I can't concentrate!"

Young Woman Ousted From Beverage Room

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

Policemen had to pause and think before they ejected Mrs. J. B. Acheson, 24, from the men's beverage room at the Bytown Inn in Ottawa. The manager had called the police and asked them to remove Mrs. Acheson, but it was by no means a clear-cut case.

Mrs. Acheson was not brawling. She was not drunk. She was not refusing to pay for her beer. The only possible crime against her was that she was being feminine. This, in fact, was what the hotel manager gave as his reason for calling the police.

In this instance Mrs. Acheson was testing the right of a woman to be served in a men's beverage room.

She is a student in an electronics class at Algonquin College. Most of her 60 classmates, all men, are in the habit of going for a beer and conversation after class, and she thought she should be able to go, too.

She may have been right. As she correctly pointed out to the hotel manager who wanted her to leave, there is no Ontario statute which restricts any licensed beverage room to men only. There are regulations made by the attorney-general's department which refer to beverage rooms for men.

In this first test the regulations evidently prevailed over the statute. The police required Mrs. Acheson to leave, which she peacefully did.

She may have started something. Other women may listen to some of the propaganda about human rights and the equality of the sexes and feel emplified to make the same kind of test.

For the time being the Acheson case tells us something we already knew. The law as made by nameless civil servants and, and sometimes does, supersede the law as made by elected lawmakers.

U.K. Experience

Murder and the Death Penalty

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

British newspapers, representing a variety of political attitudes, have been looking with wary eyes at statistics which show that there has been some increase in the number of murders in Britain since the death penalty was abolished for a trial period.

In general, they are not convinced that the lack of a death penalty has any connection with a greater number of murders. The Telegraph, a Conservative paper, says, for example:

"More convincing evidence that the death penalty is a necessary deterrent must be produced before the danger that in recent years may be lunged by the state can be morally justified.

The authoritative Times, while it continues to lean toward the idea that a death penalty is needed to combat crime, concedes that a statistical showing of some recent increase in murders is not in itself enough evidence to prove the point. In the Times view, "the right course is to extend the period of experimental suspension for a further term.

The death penalty in Britain was put on the shelf for a test period which is soon to end, and the public debate is to be revived. Parliament will have to decide whether to bring back the death penalty, abolish it for good or extend the time of testing.

The comment which may be of most interest to Canadians, who have recently limited the death penalty to murderers of policemen and prison guards, is that of the respected Guardian, a Liberal paper in Britain. The Guardian looks deeper into the statistical evidence to note that most murders are committed by abnormal people and that most murders happen in the home: the typical murderer is a member of the victim's family.

"Health and housing have more to do with the prevention of murder than hanging.

Canadians who are opposed to the death penalty, and who approve its virtual suspension in this country in recent years, are likely to agree with the Guardian that when the impulse to a murder is emotional the nature of the possible penalty does not much matter.

The consensus of British opinion seems to be that there is no clear relationship between the death penalty and the murder rate.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nov. 26, 1969 . . .

The Anglican constituent assembly adopted a republican constitution 20 years ago today — in 1949 — and India became the first republic within the British Commonwealth two months later. The unprecedented step had been agreed upon by the previous Commonwealth prime ministers' conference. By then, India had almost finished unifying her autonomous states into a federation. When British rule ended in 1947, about 570 princely states had formerly acknowledged London's authority but did not yet acknowledge New Delhi's. The last holdout, the huge state of Hyderabad, was invaded by federal troops before its ruler acceded.

1857—Australia's first Parliament opened at Melbourne.

1942 — Noted Canadian writer Sir Charles G. D. Roberts died.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1944—the Italian government of Premier Ivanoe Bonomi resigned; Cordell Hull, American secretary of state, resigned because of ill health; U.S. 1st Army took Weisweiler on road to Duren; Marshal Stalin announced the capture of Sovak strongholds of Michalovce and Humenne in eastern Czechoslovakia by 4th Ukraine Army; 122 German fighter planes were shot down in aerial battle over German oil refineries at Misburg by American bombers and fighters.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

November 26, 1949.

Veteran of the Northwest Rebellion and former foreman with the public works department in this city, George Bey, died.

Bey, Dundas St. E, celebrated the 60th anniversary of their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Bey have three children still living. They are Mrs. Clayton P.ster of Vancouver, and Mrs. Joseph and Calvin, both of Belleville.

Over 100 former members of His Majesties Air Forces met in the Belleville Armouries to form the Belleville branch of the Royal Canadian Air Force Association. Following the address and answering of questions from the floor, the meeting elected these officers for its first year: President Lac Digby; first vice president Bill Stovin: second vice-president Alwyn Green; secretary John Godwin; treasurer Bob Brennan.

November 26, 1939.

Materials and money count for so much in the war that a reshape, loyal and enthusiastic economic front line may be the determining factor, Finance Minister Ralston told the Canadian people last night in an address over a national network. Planning for war of three years' duration, it had been estimated by the Dominion Government that the war effort would cost about $315,000,000 for the first year, or about 50 per cent more than the Canadian outlay in March 1918 in the First Great War.

40 YEARS AGO

November 28, 1929.

John Elliott visited the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto.

Mrs. Georee Matthews, Lewis St. has left for the Old Country where she will visit friends.

Bread has been reduced in price in this city from 72 cents for the large loaf to 70 cents, and the small loaf to 10 cents.

Mrs. J. R. Dafoe has returned to her home in Belleville after visiting her sister; Mrs. George Brown in this city.

50 YEARS AGO

November 26, 1919.

Hastings County farmers at a representative meeting held at Springbrook appointed five provisional directors to act as the board of the big company which is proposed to form to take over and operate co-operatively many of the cheese factories and creameries in this province. The five directors chosen are representative dairymen in their respective districts and are as follows: T. J. Thompson, Springbrook; John McCaffray, Madoc; Fred Hoag, Thomasburg; Hugh Maloney, Marmora and C. W. Thompson, Stirling.

Vietnam, Europe, and Dictatorship

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

We have heard of demonstrations against the United States forces taking part in the Vietnam war.

There were also demonstrations in Canadian cities like Vancouver, Ottawa, Toronto etc. But no demonstrations against communist Northern Vietnam invading the south.

Naturally we all are for peace, no one really enjoys war and destruction. But the withdrawing of the American force s would not end that war. This would only be the beginning of a great massacre in the south. Some of us may remember what happened in Poland when the Russian forces invaded. More than 10,000 Polish Intellectuals were executed and were buried in a mass grave in the forest of Katyne. This was done to rob the nation of able leaders in any possible future free election.

Nearly half of Europe is now under a dictatorship which they did not want, but was forced upon them. No communist government was ever elected or freely chosen by the people. Freedom of speech and of religion is non-existent. Officially a communistic government is atheistic and because of this religion is suppressed. The propagation of the Gospel often means long years of imprisonment and sometimes with torture.

The few churches still operating in Russia and in other communist states are infiltrated by the secret police and are often used for propaganda purposes.

Any public demonstration against government policy is simply out of the question.

J. G. E.

P. S. Regarding the Biafran situation, I would agree with Taddie Skelton's letter that those starving children could be evacuated on the returning relief planes. Help and priority should be given where the need is most urgent.

Women Boost 'CAS' Film

— Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

Mrs. Jones, you poor divinity. Oh, thank you dear, but I really don't think my technique . . .

Typical of what goes on at a church women's meeting? Not quite.

Actually the women's groups in Cornwall do a great deal for the community in their quiet way. An example is the assistance they are providing the local branch of the Children's Aid Society in presenting its film, Warrendale.

The film which deals with the problem child in society, will be shown on Friday night at General Vanier Secondary School and on Saturday night at St. Lawrence High School. Making the showing financially possible will be the Catholic Women's League, the United Church Women and the Anglican Church Women.

Children's Aid Society social workers suggest the film will be invaluable in outlining for parents what can be done to assist the disturbed child, long a serious social problem. It is based on the experience of the Warrendale homes, or Brown homes as they were originally known.

Children with behaviour problems are involved, rather than mentally-retarded children.

How to Dig the Maxis Long Hair—and the OMB

A Letter to Santa Claus

Once again the Yuletide rolls around and I find myself sitting here composing another Christmas letter. As you must know, I was deeply grateful for the generous gifts you sent me last year. This year I desire a most difficult gift — some untainted Belleville water, Please forward a recipe for distillation also.

I am afraid that Belleville has need of some instruction so, please send in a CARE package containing one shopping centre with Red Tape plentifully nicely wrapped. Holiday Inn marked Handle With Care — Open Only at Christmas, and a box of corvallises to feed the OMB monster. The Citizens for Belleville Committee require an amplifier but methinks a shoeborn would suffice. To the City Council send a large EXIT sign.

Santa, please send the older generation a booklet on instant understanding and enough wide and maxi-coats so they will not feel left out on Main street. To the "long - hairs", I ask you to send a cement step to sit on so that they will not interrupt the passage of the "short-hairs". While doing this, also send the Hippies some soap and water and to the black racists, white faces.

Prime Minister Trudeau requires a book on Chinese camouflage but instead send him the book that will

Standing Room Only

School Bus Seat Rules 'Farce'

Seating regulations for school busses are "the biggest farce in the county," a Hastings County trustee charged last night.

Donald Williams of Stirling hit at Ontario Department of Transport regulations that allow a bus to carry one-third more passengers than the number for which seats are provided.

"Isn't it a fact there are students standing on our busses?" he asked. "The Department of Transport says we must be strapped into our cars with seat belts, but a school bus can go down a road at 50 miles an hour with students standing in it. If it has to stop suddenly, many will be seriously injured."

Mr. Williams' comments followed a presentation by Earl Clark, Department of Transport area supervisor, who outlined safety precautions to the trustees.

Mr. Clarke told the board the department allows a bus to carry one-third more passengers than the number of seats available.

"This means a 48 seat bus can legally carry 64 students," he said.

Students are expected to sit three to a seat, Mr. Clark added. He claimed they could easily be accommodated in this way, although some complained the arrangement was uncomfortable and insisted on standing.

John Bancroft, in charge of transportation for the board, presented statistics for this school year.

He said the board employs 197 operators to transport 9,509 pupils by 285 routes, in 185 buses, more than 1,600,000 miles of county roads to school.

Vehicles in use range from cars carrying three to five students to buses with capacity for 83 students.

Awarded $3,000 For Boy's Injury

PICTON (Staff) — The Ontario Supreme Court resumed its sitting in Picton yesterday with Mr. Justice Donohue presiding.

The court approved a $3,000 settlement to be paid to the credit of nine-year-old David Michael Wade Foshay, Trenton who was involved in a car accident in 1967.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Foshay, former Picton residents, the child was crossing Bowery Street across to Mary Street when he came in collision with a car in April, 1967.

The boy suffered a fractured left femur and skin necrosis which necessitated grafting and resulted in disfiguring scars.

Driver of the vehicle was Lilah Elizabeth Cooney, formerly a resident of Hallowell Township. The car was owned by Keith Orville Holmes.

The court described the car as negligently crossing the intersection from north to south.

The child's father, Picton's former fire chief, yesterday told the court that his son is almost fully recovered from his injuries, but limps slightly at times. By reason of his son's injuries, Mr. Foshay incurred hospital and other expenses totalling $1,526. He claimed a $10,000 settlement.

The $3,000 settlement made earlier was yesterday approved by the court.

Tweed Council

TWEED — The regular meeting of Tweed Village Council was held in the Municipal Building recently.

In attendance were: Reeve Barbara Allen, councillors Mrs. Dora Courneyea, Edwin Champagne, Kenneth Thompson and Harry Thompson. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved as read, with a motion from Courneyea and K. Thompson. Correspondence — S. J. Lessard, requesting a duplicate cheque to be issued to him in the amount of $44 due to a cheque issued in May of this year which was apparently lost. Moved and seconded that a new cheque be made out to Lessard Construction Company for $44 and a "stop payment" order be placed against previous cheques issued. S. C. Jevons, Assessment Commissioner set the date for Monday, Dec. 1, 1969, at 9 a.m. for Court of Revision 1970 Tax Roll. Ontario Water Resources circular letter in respect to basic sewage works operators' course to be held in Toronto December 8 to 12. J. A. Pringle, Crown Attorney advised that he would accept Votans' lists for 1969 that have the necessary changes put in fair. C. E. Bateman, County Clerk-treasurer, advised that a County has undertaken to produce an Industrial Brochure, and asked that all assistance be given to Harry Dulmage Associates Limited in respect to information about the village to be placed in the proposed brochure.

Hastings and Prince Edward Health Unit drew Council's attention that before a building permit is issued for a building needing septic tank installation approval of their unit, to install same must be received from them. Two tenders were received for snowplowing and removal of snow from village streets for the winter of 1969-70. Lyman Holmes, snowplowing and removal $8 per hour, truck $4.50 per hour. S. J. Lessard, snow removal only, loader $7 per hour, truck $4.75 per hour.

Moved and seconded that the tender of Lyman Holmes be accepted.

A number of accounts were presented for payment.

It was moved by Kenneth Thompson, and seconded by Harry Thompson, that the accounts be paid. Council adjourned.

Will Direct Schools' Religious Education

A director of catechetics will join the staff of the city separate school system next Jan. 1.

Basil Arbour of Hamilton has been hired by the Hastings and Prince Edward board to supervise the teaching of religion in all schools in the two counties and Nipissing district.

Mr. Arbour is now supervisor of catechetics with the Wentworth Separate School Board and formerly worked for the Metro Toronto board.

"He is highly recognized in his field," said superintendent F. B. Allore, in announcing the appointment. "He has developed a unique approach to religious education through tying it in with music, dance and drama."

The new director is a graduate of the University of Windsor and has taught summer school course in catechetics for teachers. He is married and has one child.

"This board's high reputation for creative teaching," was cited by Mr. Arbour as a main reason for his move to the Quinte district.

Former Postmaster Heads Gananoque Office

TWEED — R. J. "Bob" Lewis, who was Postmaster in Tweed from 1964 until early 1969, when he assumed the position of Postmaster in Gananoque, took charge of a new Post Office in that St. Lawrence Valley town recently. Mr. Lewis was succeeded here by J. W. Lyle, who is now Postmaster in Tweed.

The new $300,000 federal building on the corner of King and Charles Streets, Gananoque, will house the Post Office and the offices for the Canada Manpower Centre and the Department of Public Works.

The building will be filled to capacity however. Originally, Canada Customs was to have office space but no longer need it. It is not known which federal agency will occupy the vacant offices.

Receiving Chivalry Degrees

A Springbrook area man, Brother Clayton Burkitt, well known in the area, is to receive the Grand Decoration of Chivalry at Centennial Secondary School Belleville, Nov. 29.

He was sponsored by Patriarche Militant Branch of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Ladies' Auxiliary of Patriarch's Militant.

Brother Nelson Wilder of Peterborough will also be receiving this degree on the same evening.

Thirty women will be receiving the Decoration of Chivalry as well.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Ratepayers Will Assist Trustees

An advisory council of ratepayers has been formed for Our Lady of Mercy School in Bancroft.

Its purpose, in the words of its chairman, William Coffey, "is to be a resource to the separate school board in making decisions relating to local conditions".

"We do not intend to be a complaint bureau," the chairman told the board in informing it of the organization of the advisory council.

"We are offering our services as a source through which the people of our school can be informed, as members of the team, of the operation of our separate school board."

Officers of the advisory council are: William Coffey; Mrs. Ferne McAlpine, A. F. (Mike) Burns, James Cullen and Michael O'Neill.

The Winner is...

The winning ticket is drawn by Mrs. L. Mills of Rutherford Street, Peterborough, while Mr. Blundell (Peterborough Store Manager) looks on.

Mrs. L. HARRISON of Dundas Street, Kingston

Reindeer Horns Not A Love Potion

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband returned from Vietnam three weeks ago. We had been married four years when he left and the "honeymoon" aspects of our sex life ended long before he went overseas. When he returned I didn't know what to expect. I reasoned that our long separation might make him especially eager but I also heard that some wives experienced the opposite reaction which they attributed to exhaustion, change of climate, trauma and so on.

Since my husband's return, he has been as ready as a billy goat. Lots affectionate by nature and I love to be loved, but this is ridiculous. Last night he confided the secret of his "revitalization." In Vietnam he had heard ground-up reindeer horns were used for centuries as a male aphrodisiac. He bought several pounds of the stuff after some of his buddies reported "great results."

I don't know what to make of it. I've never believed in love potions, but now I'm beginning to wonder if there isn't something to it. Please ask your medical consultants about reindeer horns and let me know what you learn. I am — EXHAUSTED IN GARDEN CITY.

* * *

DEAR EX: My medical consultants inform me that once the horns are off the reindeer they are useless — except for decorating walls. Love potions have been a flourishing racket since The Year One. They are all phony. But, so long as your husband believes in the "magic" it will work, because all sexual activity is generated in the mind. So, relax, dear and accept the fact that Dancer and Prancer and Donner and Blitzen are going to be a part of your life for a while. And a Merry Christmas to you!

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son is one of the thousands of young people who ran away from home after becoming involved with narcotics. I don't know what to do or where to turn. All my efforts have been in vain. Every road has led to a dead end. You are my last hope. Please print this letter I have written to him. Perhaps he will see it. When he was home he read your column faithfully. Thank you and God bless you, Ann.

Dear Son: Every night I kneel by the bed in your empty room and pray that somehow, through some miracle, your eyes will be opened to the dangers of the life you have chosen. You left a loving home, parents, brothers and sisters, school and close friends. We felt you slipping away, but we were unable to reach you.

We are deeply concerned not only for your health and safety, but for your life. Every day dozens of young people like you are found dead. Whenever we read of such a tragedy we wonder if the "unidentified" boy is you.

We love you and want you to come home. We will try hard to help you in every way. Please, believe it is too late, call us collect. Let us know where you are. We will get on the next plane and come for you. No questions asked. — YOUR MOTHER AND DAD.

DEAR MOTHER AND DAD: Here is your letter and you can be sure it will be read by many runaways. I hope and pray your son sees your plea and responds. Please let me know if this letter produces results.

Homemaking Achievement Day Held

The 4-H Homemaking Club Achievement Day for East Hastings County was held on Saturday at Gilead Community Hall with 55 girls between the ages of 12 and 26 completing the project "Dressing Up Vegetables".

The girls put their work on display and took part in activities related to vegetables. The following clubs took part: Quinte Vegetable Maids; Melrose Versatile Veg-e-girls; Marysville Greenettes; Foxboro Veg-o-matics; Bethel-Zion Veg-o-matics; Plain Field Vegetarians; River Valley Vet-eat-ers.

Miss Mary MacEachern Hastings County Home economist presented leaders' ribbons and following announcements the girls were divided into groups to take part in the various activities Each girl judged a set of menus and gave reasons for her choice, identified vegetables according to color with the senior girls answering a quiz, and identifying 12 different vegetables. After each girl had had time to try these activities the correct answers were given.

During lunch all record books, recipe files and vegetable garnishes made by the girls were on display.

For the afternoon program each club took part in presenting a demonstration skit or exhibit. This part of the day was well attended by interested guests.

The first demonstration was entitled A Salad Plate, given by Mary Jean Lahgevin and Cathy Stoliker of the Quinte Vegetable Maids. This was followed by an exhibit Vegetables All You Ever Round by the Melrose Versatile Veg-a-girls with Patsy Pascoe as Commentator. Six members of the Marysville Greenettes presented a skit Let's Try These Vegetables. Alicia Walker of the Foxboro Veg-o-matics commented on their exhibit ' Vegetable Table Centre. This was followed by a skit A Vegetable Market Basket by all members of the Bethel-Zion Veg - o - matics. The last exhibit of the day was given by Donna Sullivan of the Plainfield Vegetarians commenting on Color For Vitamins.

This part of the program was closed by a demonstration Cabbage Three Ways presented by Shirley Anne McDowell, Susan Bush and Trudy Gossard of the River Valley Vegeat-ers.

Miss Barbara Weese, visiting home economist from Renfrew County commented on the exhibits, skits and demonstrations giving the clubs helpful hints on how to improve their presentation.

Eighteen certificates of achievement were presented to girls completing a 2nd 4-H Homemaking Club project.

The following girls were presented county and provincial Honor awards by Mrs. J. Lowe, East Hastings WI District President for completing 6 and 12 projects:

County honors: Ann Ketcheson, Susan Wellman, and Donna Sullivan; provincial honors: Bonnie Marvin, Janet Bateman, Susan Larter, Sandra Weese, Janet Sills, Catharine Sullivan, Mrs. Margaret Oliver, and Shirley Anne McDowell.

Wartime Friends Meet

CAMPBELLFORD — Welcome visitors to Campbellford and one to whom visits are become almost annual are Mr. and Mrs. James McMillan of Inverness, Scotland. They have spent the last two weeks as guests with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Maybee.

Mr. McMillan first met the Maybee family in 1943 when he was in the Royal Air Force stationed at Trenton base in 1943 and 1944.

At that time the Beaverside Chapter IODE sponsored weekend trips to Campbellford for servicemen who were billeted with IODE families and entertained while on leave. Mr. McMillan has kept in touch with Mr. and Mrs. Maybee.

He also visited the Maybees last year and came again this year with his wife Betty. He has expressed a great appreciation of Canada and would like to live in Canada if work in his training were available. He is employed by British European Airways as Traffic

• • •

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

The engagement is announced of Sharon Jane McCullough, daughter of Mrs. Mildred McCullough, Waterloo, Quebec and the late Mr. J. McCullough, to Mr. Robert Ernest Ridley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ridley, Belleville. The marriage will take place on Friday, December 26, 1969 at 7 p.m., in Bridge Street United Church chapel, Belleville.

• • •

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cooke of Plainfield announce the engagement of their daughter Darlene Evelyn to Wayne Francis Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Robinson, Plainfield. The marriage will take place December 13 at Roslin United Church.

• • •

Previous to her marriage Mrs. James Mortimore (nee Sager) a miscellaneous shower was given in her honor at the home of Mrs. Charles Sager, Belleville, by Mrs. Michael Shatland, Toronto. A personal shower was held at the home of Mrs. William Tracey, Belleville, and a miscellaneous shower was given at the home of Mrs. Earl MacDonald, Belleville.

A trousseau tea was given in honor of the bride by her mother, Mrs. Charles Sager at the home of Mrs. Earl MacDonald. Attending the tea table was Mrs. Leslie Tice, Toronto and Miss Mary Carmichael, Belleville.

The bride was presented with a wedding gift from her co-workers at Williams and Wilson, Toronto and also by her co-workers at Belleville General Hospital.

Hi-C Group Sponsors Teen Dance

MELROSE — Members of the Hi-C's of the Melrose United Church sponsored a successful dance in the church basement Saturday evening. They invited the young people of the area, and guests from Shannonville, Read, Marysville and the Belleville area of all denominations joined the Melrose 'teen-agers.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Badgley of Melrose and Rev. William Hendry were chaperones, and described the evening as a great success, and the conduct of the guests as exemplary.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT J. MORTIMORE

Mortimore – Sager

Christ Church, Belleville was the scene of the recent marriage of Sharon Adele Sager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sager, Belleville, to Robert James Mortimore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mortimore, Belleville. Officiating at the ceremony was Canon R. B. Wright.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long white velvet dress with a flowing train. It featured ruffled sleeves and a wide velvet ruffle about the neck. The bodice, sleeves, and train were garlanded with white daisies. Her veil consisted of three tiers of tulle fastened to a wide white bow set off with tiers of crystals. She carried a bouquet of deep red roses.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Joy Shatland, Toronto, wearing an emerald green velvet A-line dress with long sleeves. She wore a wedding ring hat of emerald green velvet, and carried a white fur muff.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Joanne and Susanne Mortimore sisters of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Sheila MacDonald, sister of the bride. They were similarly attired in deep wine velvet A-line dresses with long sleeves, matching velvet wedding ring hats and, carried white fur muffs.

Best man was Lyle McKee, Belleville. Ushers were Peter LaRoche, John Herchimer and Earl MacDonald, brother-in-law of the bride.

The reception was held at the Shrine Club, Belleville. The bride's mother received the guests wearing a two-piece grey crimplene suit trimmed with grey lace. She wore black and grey patent shoes and a purse to match. Her hat was of multi-colored feathers and she carried grey gloves. Her corsage was red Sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a two-piece suit of gold brocade with, matching hat and shoes. Her corsage was white tinted 'mums and roses.

For the wedding trip to points east the bride wore a black fur cape full with a pastel multi-colored boucle sweater, black accessories and an orchid corsage.

The couple will reside in Belleville.

UCW Meeting

SPRINGBROOK UCW

Mrs. W. Cox opened her home Nov. 13 to the women visitors of Springbrook United Church Women. Twenty members and several guests were present.

The president, Mrs. G. Williams opened the meeting with a poem on the family. The roll call was made and it was noted that members all visited the sick and shut-in during Oct. Clayton Burkitt read the minutes and Mrs. Murney Mason the treasurer, gave her report.

In charge of the program was Mrs. Cox. She took the theme "Stewardship of our talents" and "Time and our life's aims."

Mrs. Bill McKeown led meditation on time and gave several ideas on how our time could be spent. She finished with a poem, "No Time for God."

Scripture was taken over by Mrs. M. Bateman, Mrs. D. Andrews, Mrs. W. Spencer, Mrs. C. Thomson, Mrs. M. Mason, Mrs. S. Downer, Mrs. A. Reid, Mrs. D. Fleming and Mrs. J. Thompson. Mrs. Mort Reid and Mrs. C. Thomson conducted a skit entitled "A Dollar's Worth of Love."

Mrs. Cox closed the meeting with prayer and lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants.

St. Mary Magdalene's Church Holds Tea and Bazaar

NAPANEE — Christmas came exactly four weeks early according to the decorations used for the bazaar and tea of St. Mary Magdalene's Anglican church held recently.

Traditional Christmas wreaths and garlands of evergreen, holly poinsettias and red candles set the calendar ahead, and created the Christmas atmosphere. Mrs. Bert Horley, Mrs. F. Micks and Mrs. Laurel Gardiner were responsible for the gaiety.

In the morning all was informal, as coffee and doughnuts were served in the guest by Mrs. George Lyons, Mrs. L. K. Pearce and Mrs. A. B. Schulte. Afterwards, guests visited the bazaar sale tables.

For the afternoon tea there was more formality, with Mrs. W. L. Simmons, Mrs. Kaye McFarland, Mrs. Jack Ballance, Mrs. Harry Edgar, Mrs. Gerald Reid, and Mrs. Robert White welcoming the guests. Mrs. Claude Knight, Mrs. Sorbel Phippen, Mrs. Clifford Taylor and Mrs. H. L. Babcock received admission fees.

The afternoon tea was convened by Mrs. Frank Hamilton and Mrs. Fred Micks. Mrs. Jack Ballance and Mrs. W. F. Bassett were the hostesses.

The tea table, with its lace covering, was centered by a birch log holding three red candles, sprays of pine with the cones intact, and poinsettias and holly here and there around it. The small tables, with either red or white covers, each bore a centre which was a miniature of that on the tea table, but with a single candle.

Pouring tea in turn were Mrs. Robert Hicks of Grace Church and Mrs. Jesse MacLean of Trinity; Mrs. T. H. Breaugh of St. Patrick's, Mrs. Malcolm Isbester, Miss Kaye McFarland, Mrs. W. L. Simmons, Mrs. L. H. Douglas and Mrs. Frank Hamilton.

Looking after the needs of the guests were Mrs. H. V. Wills, Mrs. Raymond Giles, Mrs. William Roffey, Mrs. E. W. Dow, Mrs. A. B. Schulte, Mrs. B. Scott, Mrs. G. W. Lemmiss, Mrs. R. Bole, Mrs. Raymond Gillett, Mrs. Robert Robin and Mrs. Arthur Reid.

Busy in the kitchen making the many cups of tea and arranging the very attractive plates were Mrs. Donald Robin, Mrs. Charles Froud and Mrs. H. L. Babcock.

As always the food tables were laden with mouth-watering good things, they were the most popular of all and were soon cleared off. The cooked food table, including baking, was convened by Mrs. M. S. Madden and Mrs. Wilfred Wilson, who has as their helpers Mrs. George Reid, Mrs. Harry Edgar, Mrs. Milford Mowers, Mrs. Harold Derby, Mrs. Leonard Markle, and Mrs. Ed Vanalstine.

The convener of the candy table Mrs. F. H. Curran, had as her assistants Mrs. Jack Ballance, Mrs. R. Bole and Mrs. Clifford McKinnon.

Jams and jellies, and other canned things were sold by Mrs. A. E. Still, the convener, and Mrs. A. Basilio.

With Christmas gifts in mind many of the guests made their selections from the needlework table. The convener was Mrs. L. H. Douglas, who was assisted by Mrs. Malcolm Isbester, Mrs. Sidney Goodridge, Mrs. Fred Carter and Mrs. Robert Fisher.

Aprons both frivolous and practical were popular sale items also. This table was convened by Mrs. H. L. Armstrong, who was assisted by Mrs. Bruce Medd, Miss Betty Smith, Mrs. W. E. Smith and Mrs. George Handy.

Mrs. Alan Jones, the convener, and Mrs. G. Scott sold jackets, such miscellaneous articles as decorations and toys.

The Anglican Young People's Association had a book table, displaying books both new and old. The proceeds from this sale will swell the funds of the Sunday School library. Mrs. George Pauls and Mrs. Roy Gillott made the sales until after school hours when they were relieved by Candy Reid and Barbara Borjeson.

Beautiful Pakistani embroideries were for sale by Mrs. Jack Green of Stirling, assisted by Mrs. Herb Wall and Mrs. Robert McGee.

To Mrs. Robert White and Mrs. Harold Taffs goes the credit for overall convening of this successful project.

To all who helped in any way to bring about that success, the Anglican Church Women are very grateful.

Football fans should examine Mary Moore's recipe for individual Meat Pies given today. Hers are in her freezer ready to bake for the exhausted viewers — some sad, some happy but all hungry — who will huddle around her TV set.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Meat Pies Freeze Well

By MARY MOORE

He may have been tossing off a wishful thought but I heard a broadcaster say that half of Canada would be watching or listening to the Grey Cup football game.

Some of these fans and fanatics will gather to enjoy it together and the hostess in the crowd will have to feed them.

In my freezer are 19 3" individual meat pies waiting until that game is over to go into the oven for my guests. I hope we are happy over the results.

I baked one so I could time it and taste it and even modesty permits me to claim it will be high on the most-asked for recipe list.

INDIVIDUAL MEAT PIES
(20 — Will Freeze)

1 lb. ground chuck beef
2-3 cup evaporated milk (1 6-oz. can)
½ cup bread or cracker crumbs
½ cup finely chopped onion (or ¼ cup instant flakes)
1 cup fresh frozen green peas
1 tbsp. prepared mustard
1 egg
2 tsps. flavor salt
¼ tsp. pepper
Pastry for Two double-crust pies (see below)

Make the pastry first: Cut 1 1-3 cups shortening and 5 tbsps. butter into 4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour and 2 tsps. salt until size of peas. Drizzle in 4 or 5 tbsps. ice water, one at a time, tossing with fork. Press into two balls between palms. Roll out one to ¼" thickness, cut out with 3¼" cutter and line 20 average-sized muffin tins.

Make filling by mixing together raw, all remaining ingredients. Fill pastry lined pans ¾ full with meat mixture. Roll out remaining half of pastry, cut out with 2" center and cover and seal in meat. With sharp pointed knife cut two slits in top of each. (If desired slip into double plastic bags and freeze. Glaze tops by brushing with 1 egg yolk mixed with 1 tbsp. water. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 15-20 min. If they are frozen hard they may require 5 - 8 min. longer baking time.

NOTES: 1. The above amount of pastry should come out just right: if you have a little meat filling leftover make it into a meat cake. 2. It took me exactly 1 hr. to make 20 individual meat pies but now they are ready for baking. I will serve them with creamed mushrooms or rich mushroom gravy and green beans.

Dinner Menu

Readers Request Various Lines of Poetry

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: — I am sending you the final lines of "The Dying Engineer".

Could someone come up with words: "Father, dear father, come home with me now, the clock in the steeple strikes one"? In exchange, I would be glad to supply the words to "A Drunkard's Chils", an old favorite of mine. — Another Lover of Poetry.

* * *

Dear Doris: Believe it or not, I learned to dance by my father playing "The Dying Engineer" on a harmonica, back in 1928. It was always a favorite and brings fond memories of the days when one had no radio or TV, but managed to have a wonderful down - to-earth family get-together. I am sending you the words.

Could a reader finish "A Little Rosewood Casket" for me? I only have the first three or four lines. — Fond Memories.

Dear Another and Fond: Usually when we ask for verses from the past, they roll in from all directions from our obliging readers. When these do, I'll send them on.

Here's another: A lady who is now in a home for elderly people is working at bringing to memory poems she learned long ago. She recalls one she loved: "Up to Old Aunt Mary's", but only imperfectly. Can we help her?

* * *

Dear Doris: I have been going with the same wonderful girl for five years. I enrolled in college this month and thought that since I wouldn't be able to consider marriage for at least four years the best thing to do would be to break it up. I felt it unfair to expect a girl 21 to wait that long on an uncertain relationship.

I explained that even though we quit dating I was still fond of her and wanted to be friends. She was agreeable at the time but apparently is taking it quite badly.

My mother says that this was a very cruel way to break up, and that I should break up gradually, by taking her out occasionally. I think this is wrong because if we keep dating, no matter how sparsely, she will never get over me. — Upset.

Dear Upset: What gives here? Are you bent on having her "get over you"? Are you really seeking freedom yourself?

Points for Parents

By MARY ERYSON

Father: "Joe, I ran out of gas on the way to work this morning. Why do you always leave the car with an empty gas tank after you drive it?"

Son: "I didn't think about having it filled."

A teen-ager who is old enough to be trusted with the family car also is old enough to take on the responsibility of having it serviced.

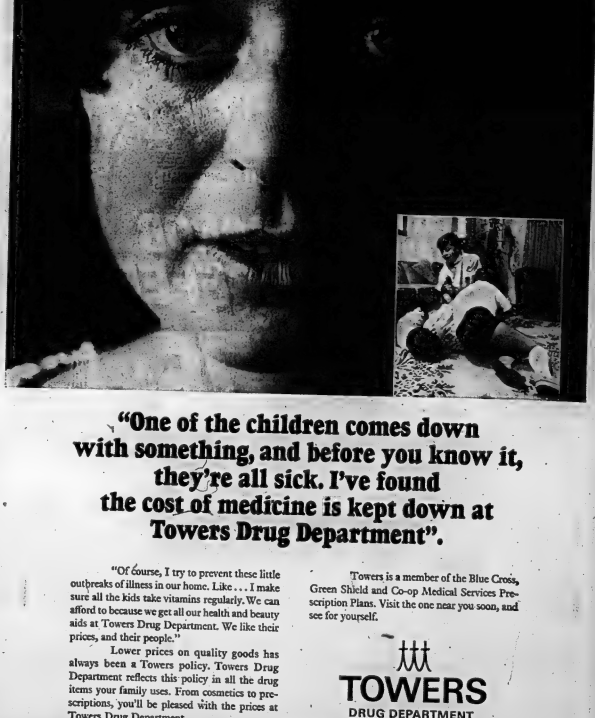
At 22, you should know your own mind. So should she. Four necessary college years do not constitute forever, and if there is love between you, the spark can grow into a flame with letters and contacts at Christmas, and in summer.

If you are really breaking off, I can't see occasional dates as a sort of tapering-off process. Too agonizing for both of you.

* * *

Confidential to Just Wondering: There have been times when strong friendships between 17 and 70 have done nothing but good. If he is enjoying the role of favorite uncle, able to spend his money on his young nieces and making it possible for her to attend dramatic performances and visit exhibitions which would not be part of her life otherwise, it could all be quite delightful. He is enlarging her world.

If the girl's mother is his sister, wouldn't you think she'd know whether or not he was a reliable and well-behaved escort?



"One of the children comes down with something, and before you know it, they're all sick. I've found the cost of medicine is kept down at Towers Drug Department".

"Of course, I try to prevent these little outbreaks of illness in our home. Like . . . I make sure all the kids take vitamins regularly. We can afford to because we get all our health and beauty aids at Towers Drug Department. We like their prices, and their people."

Lower prices on quality goods has always been a Towers policy. Towers Drug Department reflects this policy in all the drug items your family uses. From cosmetics to prescriptions, you'll be pleased with the prices at Towers Drug Department.

Belleville Ont.

Dear Santa Claus:
My name is Daniel Rogers and I am 10 years old and I like to be in our contest. I would like to be in Wonderland to see all the rides and elves and fairies and to see you. My daddy is Santa's helper every Christmas. All my brothers and sisters are writing to you. We look for you every year. There are 11 of us.

Love Daniel

Dear Santa

I would like to go to Wonderland. I think it would be great to see you Santa and all your pals in such a lovely place.

I would love to enjoy all the good things in store for the winner and I hope it is me. I would like to chat with Snoopy and have my lunch with him and say hi to the fairy Princess and see her great palace. It all sounds too good to be true, you are such a nice guy and make all of us children happy at Christmas even sick children in the hospital.

I would like to take my family, it would be a big joy for them.

I would like to win and treat my parents as they are always treating me.

Merry Christmas
Santa

Dear Santa Claus.

I would like to have a hockey stick a puck and the net. I've been a good boy and I help my Daddy do work. I'm in grade one and work very hard at work.

Dear Santa

I would like to see Wonderland, but I think maybe you could visit Biafra for we have so much and they have so little. For Christmas I would like to see someone from Biafra, eating an orange. That wouldn't only be a happy Christmas for me but for Canada.

Thanks for your Time, Betty Moult

LIFT-OFF — Centre Bill Hope of Loyalist Lancers, the local community college's entry in a five-team basketball league, goes up to block team-mate Paul Goodfellow's jump shot during practice at OSD gym. Goodfellow is second in league scoring with 57 in three games to date.

Confidence Key to Young Mo-Hawks' Success

By MAURICE SWITZER
Sports Editor

For most hockey followers, talk of the OHA's Senior A league immediately brings to mind names like Moe Galand, "Weiner" Brown, and Joe Hogan — weathered performers who have been plying their skills in the league for the past decade.

But any Senior A coach, including Belleville Mo-Hawks' Davey Jones, will tell you how vital young blood is on his roster.

The Mo-Hawks are currently in a fourth-place tie in the senior loop and pressing for third. They have four "youngsters", including two rookies, whose collective talents could be an important factor in the club's drive for not just a playoff spot, but an upper berth in the eight-team league.

For playing-coach Jones, the stumbling block for most younger senior hockey players is confidence.

The Mo-Hawks Wayne (McConnell) is Jones' prime case in point.

At 23, the lean 170-pound right-winger is a four - year veteran of senior hockey wars, one of a half-dozen original Mo-Hawks still on the club's roster.

"The last four or five games, Wayne's playing better than I've ever seen him," enthused Jones. "He's starting to blossom."

All he needs is to score three or four goals and he'll really get some confidence. You saw the results Sunday when we played him with Bill Armour."

Those results included four or five good scoring chances, including one hit Owen Sound crossbar, as McConnell played the right side to nifty playmaking Armour and recent club addition Ray Johnston.

In his first two games with the Mo-Hawks, Johnston looks like anything but a 19-year-old in the rough-and-tumble senior scene.

Confidence appears to be the quiet-spoken Peterborough native's biggest asset, and that undoubtedly comes from his Junior "A" experience with Peterborough, and this year, Niagara Falls before joining the Mo-Hawks.

Johnston scored a pair of goals in his second game Sunday in Owen Sound, and likes lighter from his exploits in the Central Ontario Junior A league with Brockville, when he led the league in scoring.

Ferguson scored 14 goals playing only 28 Mo-Hawk games last winter, and has 13 in the first 16 games this season, including three hat tricks. He modestly attributes his Mo-Hawk success to the fact coach Davey Jones has kept the George Godson-Lorne O'Donnell - Ferguson forward combination intact this year.

"Fergy's" high - scoring secret apparently runs in the family — younger brother George was the second choice in the 1969 draft of midget players by Ontario Junior A clubs, and, despite several bouts of illness, is one of the Oshawa Generals' leading scorers this season.

Rookie Ray Summers has the skating ability that makes coaches like Jones wish they were 10 years younger.

"Ray shows some smart moves in practice but he doesn't yet have enough confidence to make the same moves in games," Jones sized up the 20-point (13 goal) performer for last year's Belleville Junior B club.

"He's a bit too defensive minded as yet, but if he can score a couple it could make all the difference."

Summers has yet to break the scoring ice in seven appearances.

Jones has had enough confidence in the slight forward in some of the most important club games, including the 3-1 road win in Kingston. "Confidence is his only weak spot," Jones says.

Lancers Few But Winning

By GREG McLEOD
Staff Sportswriter

Loyalist Lancers might be small in number but are determined to make their basketball mark.

Since Belleville's budding community college does not yet provide allowances for inter-collegiate sports, the team members pay their own way.

"Our boys pay their own travel expenses, referees and pay for their matches too, to name a few," said athletic co-ordinator Mike Barrett.

The Loyalist roster includes only nine players, but the Lancers have won their first three games in play with league members Sir Sandford Fleming (Peterborough and Lindsay campuses), and Peterborough Bible and Teachers' Colleges.

Dale Lingard, a native of Port Hope, Ontario is a five-foot, ten-inch guard. Dale is in his first year of Municipal Administration.

Joining Lingard on the back court is Dale Ducarme, a five-foot, nine-inch guard from Trenton. Ducarme is a first-year Business Administration student at Loyalist.

Guard Terry Halward, also from Trenton stands five feet nine inches tall. He is in his first year as a Architectural Drafting Technician.

Up front for the Lancers is Peterborough native Bill Hope, a six-foot, four-inch centre in Loyalist's Municipal Administration course.

Bill McKay a fellow hometowner of Hope's is a five-foot, ten-inch forward, also in his first year of Municipal Administration.

Rick Webster of Norwood, a first year Business Administration student, is a six-foot, two-inch forward.

Belleville Paul Goodfellow, a six-foot, 2-inch forward in his first year of accountant is familiar in local softball circles.

Don Carson, also of Belleville, is a second-year Business Administration student. Carson plays forward and at five-feet, eight inches is the smallest player on the team.

Carson is also president of the Loyalist, Student Council.

Mark Sheridan, also playing for Crawford's Aces of the Quinte Men's Basketball League is six-foot, three-inches tall and plays forward, to round off the Loyalist squad. The Belleville athlete is in his second year of Municipal Administration and is rated by Lancer coach John McKibbon as the team's most promising member.

Sheridan and Goodfellow lead the league scoring race. Sheridan has 63 points and Goodfellow 57 in the. three games played to date.

Trenton Juves Draw

The Aces battled Trenton to a 4 - 4 tie in minor hockey juvenile action last night.

Harold Wilkinson had two goals for the Aces while Ron Richardson and Rich Gould had one each.

Trenton scorers were Reg. Jeffery, Martin Badgerow, Hudson, and Danny Evans.

Young Blood

Teachers Top Of Class

Belleville Teachers moved into sole possession of first place in the Quinte Men's Basketball League with a 100-65 win over Brighton last night at Centennial Secondary School.

Brian McKenzie was the high scorer for Belleville with 26 points. Bruce Faulds hit for 24.

Meanwhile, Crawford Aces, last year's league champs, downed Cobourg 79 - 54.

Second - year man Tom Lornie had 25 points for the Aces. Team - mate Mark Sheridan had 12 points.

Crawford Aces are currently tied for second with Cobourg Sols.

Play Your Positions

Coach Dave Coates explains to his Belleville Novice "B" all-stars team that positional hockey is one of the most important fundamentals of the game. The youngsters are among the Belleville Minor Hockey Association early-birds, practising at 6 a.m. Tuesday mornings.

Novice B Members Minor Hockey Early-birds

With hockey interest booming, a second novice all star team became a must for Belleville's Minor Hockey Association.

"The Novice division is one of the biggest in the city, says coach Dave Coates. "We had 300 boys registered this year."

The Novice B team is restricted to 9-year-olds only and is recognized as a 'farm team' for the A Novices, boys 9 and 10.

"As yet our 'B' team is unsponsored," added Coates. "Being a recognized city all-star team, we would like to get a sponsor for these boys, to pay out of town ice costs and buy sweaters."

The B's will play 25 games this season against Wellington, Brighton, Stirling, Campbellford, Madoc, Marmora and Tweed, but do not qualify for recognized playoff competition.

The Novice B's are the early birds of Belleville minor hockey, practising at 6 a.m. Tuesday mornings. The A's' follow at 7. Any boy having his birth birthday in 1969 is urged by Coates to come out and try for a spot on the team.

"Although we started the B team half way through last year, we are putting it into full swing this season," commented Coates. "There are still a lot of wrinkles to be ironed out. We have no weak or strong points as yet — we try to teach the boys the fundamentals of the game such as passing, shooting and positional hockey."

The first line of the B's consists of Gary Fredericks and Pat Willman. The second line has Bruce McKinney, Dan Duffy and Bob Sinclair, while the third line combines Steve Irvine, Randy Cox and Jim Skinkis. Bradly Mills is still another forward on the team.

The defensive corps includes Tim Coates, Dan Jaques, Mark Coughlin and Robbie Cousins. Brian Cook is the lone goalie, and Coates is looking for a standby.

The Novices B's have dropped their first three games of the season, but not by any embarrassing score. Wellington beat the locals 3-1 and 2-0 while Stirling defeated them 4-3.

Game Clubbers Select Directors

Belleville's Fish and Game Club elected just three new members to their board of directors for the 1970 season during their monthly meeting at Club Canara last night.

Vern Stoughton, George Hammett and Gordon Cooper were the "newcomers" on the board. Re-elected from last year are Ken York, Fred Clarke, Don MacKinnon, Doug Bateman, John Lennox, Jack Purcell, Ken Mosley, Gary Anderson, Bill Phillips, Jack Layton, Mac McGuire, Jim Morey, Harry Ridley, Tom Hetu, George Woodhouse, Ivan Puttanick, Mac MacCallum, Art McConnell, Bruce Kerr and George Carver.

The 70 board will elect a president for the coming year in the near future. At present Tom Helm holds that office.

There were three films on last night's entertainment agenda with The White Face of Yellowstone starring things off. This film dealt with skiing and Snowmobiling in Yellowstone Park. "Winter Pet Peeve" dealing with Winter outdoor sports was also showed. "Wildlife in the Rockies" featuring deer and wildlife in general rounded out the film portion of the evening.

Discussion on this year's deer hunt was raised by a few of the members.

"Most of the boys were hesitant in describing their exploits," commented president Helm. "The deer hunt wasn't the best one we've seen."

It was mentioned that the East Central Ontario Association of Sportsmen's Clubs has 15 dogs lost in the deer hunt up for adoption. Belleville's Humane Society on Wallbridge Road will be holding an adoption clinic all this week. "We would like to get as many of the dogs adopted as we possibly can," commented Helm.

Gordon Cooper was the winner of the monthly club door prize.

Planned for January's monthly meeting will be the club's Annual Dinner. Taxidermist and wild life photographer Mrs. Alma Wallis will be the guest speaker.

Here, Rover!

Remember the "Rover", the seventh man on the ice, used in the earlier hockey days.

Well the Belleville Ellis Allstars will be trying this tactic against the Flying Fathers in tomorrow night's exhibition game to raise money to equip the new Belleville Retarded workshop.

Nobody else but Leo Goyer will play rover for the locals.

The Flying Fathers, who already have raised over $150,000 for charitable causes, are hoping to continue their efforts for Belleville's new Retarded Workshop.

Former National Hockey League great Les Costello will be joined by former Trenton priest Father Art Appleton, who will look after goal-keeping duties.

Advance tickets for the game may be obtained at McKnights Variety Store on Front Street or from any member of Alhambra 189 Shrine Caravah, sponsors of the project.

Saskatchewan Dominates Western Stars With 11 Choices

TORONTO (CP) — The Western Football Conference champion Saskatchewan Roughriders have placed 11 players on the WFC all-star team.

The team was selected by vote of the Football Reporters of Canada and was announced by FRC president Johnny Esaw, sports director of the CTV television network.

The Eastern all-star selections were announced last week.

The Roughriders, who meet Ottawa Rough Riders in the Grey Cup final at Montreal next Sunday, had quarterback Ron Lancaster, fullback George Reed, flanker Hugh Campbell, centre Ted Urness, guard Jack Abendschan and tackle Clyde Brock on the offensive team.

Saskatchewan end Ken Reed, tackle Ed McQuarters, outside linebackers Wayne Shaw and Wally Dempsey and back Bruce Bennett were all named to the defensive squad.

Campbell tied with Ken Nielsen of Winnipeg Blue Bombers with 10 votes each, for all-star flanker position and Ken Reed tied for the second defensive end position with John Helton of Calgary Stampeders.

British Columbia Lions had six players selected while Calgary had five and Edmonton Eskimos and Winnipeg two each.

George Reed and defensive back John Wydarney of Edmonton were the only unanimous choices with 23 votes each, although Lancaster, fullback Jim Evenson of B.C. and Bennett each had 22 votes, just one short of the sweep.

The only other player to receive more than 20 votes was McQuarters with 21.

The offensive team:

Quarterback—Ron Lancaster, Saskatchewan, 22.

Running backs—George Reed, Saskatchewan, 23; Jim Evenson, B.C., 23; Jim Young, B.C., 9.

Flanker—Ken Nielsen, Winnipeg, 10; Hugh Campbell, Saskatchewan, 10. Tie.

Centre—Ted Urness, Saskatchewan, 13.

Guards—Ken Sugarman, B.C., 17; Jack Abendschan, Saskatchewan, 15.

Tackles—Clyde Brock, Saskatchewan, 18; Lenny Bolenki, Calgary, 10.

Tight end—Herm Harrison, Calgary, 18.

Split end—Terry Evanshen, Calgary, 15.

The defensive team:

Ends—Bill Whisler, Winnipeg, 16; Ken Reed, Saskatchewan, 7; John Helton, Calgary, 7.

Tackles—Ed McQuarters, Saskatchewan, 21; John LaCrosse, Edmonton, 15.

Inside linebacker—Wayne Harris, Calgary, 14.

Outside linebackers—Wayne Shaw, Saskatchewan, 9; Wally Dempsey, Saskatchewan, 8.

Backs—John Wydarney, Edmonton, 23; Bruce Bennett, Saskatchewan, 22; Rich Robinson, B.C., 13, Frank Andruski, Calgary, 13, Jerry Bradley, B.C., 8.

Something Missing?

Lost First Four

Regina Father Wishes Son Better Luck

REGINA (CP) — Thirty-eight years ago, Albert Urness slipped a Regina Roughriders uniform over his 187-pound frame and trotted onto the frozen playing surface at Molson Stadium in Montreal for a Grey Cup battle against Montreal Winged Wheelers.

It was Regina's fourth consecutive appearance in the East-West football final and the third for Albert Urness, a middle, or guard, who missed one of the season-closing encounters because of a shoulder injury.

Now, five pounds heavier, white-haired and the manager of an automobile dealership in Regina, he can sit back and relax Sunday when his son Ted, 22, carries Saskatchewan Roughriders colors and a family tradition onto the field at Montreal's Autostade.

Ted, all-Canadian centre from 1965 to 1968 and completing his ninth season with Saskatchewan, hopes his team will have better luck against Ottawa Rough Riders than the Regina squad had against Grey Cup opponents from 1928 to 1932.

That Regina team lost all five sudden-death games and it was not until 1935, when speedy Fritz Hansen led Winnipeg to an 18-13 win over Hamilton Tigers, that a Western team won the cup named after Gov.-Gen. Earl Grey of Canada.

Playing conditions were poor that Saturday afternoon in 1931, the only previous time the Grey Cup has been played in Montreal, and quarterback Angie Mitchell could not get his speedy Regina ball carriers footing.

"We had bad fields out here but never did I play on a field as bad as that," the elder Urness said in an interview. "It was icy." Both teams wore spiked shoes and when all the slipping and sliding was over Montreal won 22-0.

The 1931 game was the first time the Regina team saw film of the opposition before a game. A friend took movies of the Montrealers and coach Al Ritchie's Roughriders studied them with rapt attention.

"That's all they do now, watch film," said son Ted.

"It's such an important part of the game. The players watch hours and hours of film, to know who they're going to play and study how they move."

How does Canadian Football League play today compare with the style of the late 1920s and early 30s?

"If you're talking about blocking and tackling, they're much the same," said Albert, who joined a Winnipeg team in 1932 and was a member of the first Winnipeg Blue Bombers, formed in 1933.

"There were only 18 players on the team roster then, so we played both ways." Now as many as 32 may share duties on 12-man offensive and defensive squads.

Playing the middle or guard position on offence, Albert Urness had more options than he would have today.

"The linemen carried the ball in those days. The heavy halfbacks, like Eddie James or Fred Goodman, would go up into our spot."

Clair's Ottawa Tenure Canadian Football Record

OTTAWA (CP) — Other coaches come and go but Frank Clair looks as though he could go on forever coaching Ottawa Rough Riders.

This is Clair's 14th straight year as head man of Riders—a Canadian record. All he has done lately is win the 1968 Grey Cup and Sunday at Montreal he'll be looking for another one against Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Ottawa has had a contending team in all of Clair's years here. At one point last year general manager Red O'Quinn, complaining about the lack of attendance at Rider home games, said Ottawa fans were spoiled by the good teams Clair has built.

His assistance coaches and Calgary Stampeders.

Under him quarterback Russ Jackson got a chance to become the superstar he is. Ron Stewart was said to be too small for the pro game but Clair and Stewart proved it wasn't so. Flanker Whit Tucker also blossomed under Clair.

Clair will be shooting for his fifth national championship Sunday. He piloted Toronto Argos to wins in 1950 and 1952.

He lost one Grey Cup game in his career—in 1966 against the same Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Before Clair, Riders got into the Grey Cup game eight times, winning four and losing four. Their winning years were 1925, 1926, 1940 and 1951.

Serious workouts for the Sunday game now are under way. The Ottawa coaches went over game films Sunday and Monday and the players were confined to a light run Monday evening.

Tuesday they were on the field for a down-to-work three hours. They'll practise again today, and then hold a noon workout Thursday before setting out for Montreal by bus.

O'Quinn Rumor Persists

Dalton's Future Uncertain as Als

MONTREAL (CP) — Whether Orias Kay Dalton remains as head coach of Montreal Alouettes—if and when the club ownership changes hands—is a matter for conjecture.

With reports of an impending sale by owner Joe Atwell of Ottawa's Sam Berger and the impost of Ottawa Rough Riders general manager Red O'Quinn to fill the same post here, Dalton admits he is fighting for his job.

Dalton said Tuesday he has "not been fired yet" despite reports that say he will be replaced after the ownership change. He just completed his third season as coach and still has two years to go on a three-year contract.

Last season the Als won two games, lost 10 and tied two. The Als have missed the Eastern Football Conference playoffs for three consecutive years.

Job or not, Dalton was still plugging the product Tuesday as he addressed a Rotary Club of Montreal luncheon. He said he picks Ottawa Rough Riders to beat Saskatchewan Roughriders by 10 points in Sunday's Grey Cup contest here.

"They (Ottawa) have the most guts and the best quarterback," Dalton said. "Unless the weather interferes they should win by 10 points—one touchdown and a field goal."

Whether he is replaced or not, Dalton said any coach with the Als will be faced with the problem of "overcoming what has happened in the past rather than what will happen in the future."

"It seems to me my head is on the chopping block—not for any justified reason mind you, but it's there," Dalton said. "It's been a frustrating job—like a pickpocket in a nudist camp."

Dalton said that "while I should be out recruiting" he must remain here awaiting the final word on what is going to happen to the Als.

With all the principals in the franchise shift quiet after a premature leak, Dalton said in an interview that his situation is tenuous.

Stamps Could See Evanshen Move South

CALGARY (CP) — Split end Terry Evanshen said Tuesday he won't be back with Calgary Stampeders of the Western Football Conference next season and is considering six offers from United States professional teams.

"Naturally I can't tell you what teams, nor have I made my mind up which offer I will accept," he said in an interview before leaving for the Grey Cup game in Montreal to attend meetings of the Canadian Football League Players' Association of which he is vice-president.

"All the teams I have talked with are offering a signing bonus and a no-cut contract. I can't sign until June of next year when my option with the Stampeders is finished."

Evenshen caught 328 passes for 5,446 yards and 46 touchdowns in a five-year CFL career with Montreal Alouettes and Stampeders.

The Montreal-born player said his reason for playing out his option with the Stampeders was "basic.

"We just haven't been able to reach contract. . . ."

Sport Briefs

TORONTO (CP) — Standard-bred horse racing drivers in Canada will have to wait at least another three weeks to find out if new restrictions on whipping will be enforced. The Canadian Trotting Association, in the past, had closely followed United States Trotting Association rules. The USTA had adopted a new rule, effective Jan. 1, 1970 at tracks under their jurisdiction, which states "A driver cannot whip his horse with one hand while holding both reins in the other. In future, any whipping can only be done while holding a line in each hand."

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Driver Brent Davies' bid for his 1000th win of 1969 was denied by a nose Tuesday in the opener at Mohawk raceway. But, the 23-year-old Sintaluta, Sask., native bounced back in his next start, with Attorney Bill in the seventh race, to reach the century mark. Attorney Bill made Davies the fourth driver to reach 100 wins this year. Roo Feagan leads all Golden Horseshoe circuit drivers with 169 wins, followed by Bill Wellwood and Keith Waples at 127 each. Davies raised his record after 32 days of the current meet to 22 wins, 17 seconds and 12 thirds from 94 starts.

Heisman To Tailback

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Owens of Oklahoma, who has shattered some long-standing records in United States college football, beat out Purdue's Mike Phipps Tuesday for the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding player of 1969.

"It's something every player dreams beast," the six-foot-two, 215-pound senior tailback from Miami, Okla., said.

"Steve is the greatest inside runner I've ever seen. He is remarkable at diagnosing defences and finding holes. He has tremendous durability and strength."

In one of the closest competitions in years, Owens received 1,488 points in a poll of 932 U.S. sports writers and broadcasters to 1,334 for Phipps, the quarterback who led his tem to three wins over Notre Dame.

Campbell Puts Habs' Ferguson On Ice

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

John Ferguson, who has accumulated more than 100 penalty minutes in each of his nine professional hockey seasons, today has his name tacked onto a growing list of player suspensions by National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell.

The 31-year-old Montreal Canadiens left winger appeared before Campbell Tuesday and was suspended for at least tonight's game against the Maple Leafs in Toronto.

Ferguson could be hit with an additional suspension and fines when Campbell completes his formal judgment which may be announced later today.

Flett Farmed Out

CHICAGO (AP) — Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League Tuesday sent right winger Bill Flett and centre Brian Campbell to their Springfield farm club and recalled right winger Mike Corrigan and centre Butch Goring from the American League team.

Flett has picked up just one goal and four assists and Campbell has one goal and three assists in the club's 16 games. Corrigan has 12 goals and 11 assists and Goring has 13 goals and eight assists in Springfield's 20 games.

Ferguson was ticked off for his part in a fight during a game against the Blues in St. Louis Nov. 15. He was given a match penalty for stick swinging during a scrap with Gary Sabourin of the Blues. The game misconduct carries an automatic $100 fine.

Campbell's get-tough policy started Oct. 17 when he handed out 30-day suspensions to Ted Green of Boston Bruins and Wayne Maki of the Blues.

Defenceman Green suffered a fractured skull in a stick-swinging duel with Maki in an exhibition game between the Blues and Bruins at Ottawa Sept. 21. The two also were fined $300 each, plus an amount equal to their salaries for the suspended period.

Mike Walton of the Maple Leafs was the next to get stung.

JOHN FERGUSON

Campbell announced Nov. 7 that the speedy centre had to sit out three games and pay fines for pushing a referee during a game against Oakland Seals Nov. 4. Walton's fines were $75 plus an amount equalling his salary for the duration of the three games he was suspended.

Goalie Gary Smith of the Seals returns to action tonight in a game against the Blues in St. Louis after sitting out his three-game suspension imposed by Campbell last week.

Campbell also fined Smith $50 plus the three-game salary for a shoving incident with referee Ron Wicks during a game in Boston Nov. 11.

Ferguson's game misconduct in the St. Louis match helped push his total to 58 minutes in 17 games this season.

The Vancouver native started his professional career with Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League in the 1960-61 season where he collected 126 minutes in penalties. His total increased the two following seasons but dropped to 125 minutes for the 1963-64 season when he joined the Canadiens.

He led the NHL in penalties of 185 minutes last season. Forbes Kennedy, who split the season between Philadelphia Flyers and Toronto, took top honors with 219 minutes.

Taxes Boost Green Fees

TORONTO (CP) — It could cost more to tee off next year for Ontario's 250,000 golfers because of new property reassessment across the province.

In York county—the first to be completely reassessed at current market values—cost of pay-as-you-play golf is expected to rise to $4 round from an average $2.

Operators of both private and commercial clubs in the county now find their assessment based on the selling price of adjacent land rather than a consideration that golf courses are low-taxed, agricultural land.

Sports Briefs

TORONTO (CP) — A 20-member Canadian team leaves today for Buenos Aires, Argentina, and the second Pan-American Wheelchair Games which start Thursday and end Sunday. Several of the Canadian paraplegics brought home medals from the Wheelchair Olympics at Tel Aviv, Israel, last year and are expected to do well in Argentina. Canada originated the Pan-Am Wheelchair Games in 1967. Fourteen countries are entered in this year's competition in Argentina.

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government will pay up to $10,000,000 towards the anticipated deficit of holding the 1976 Winter Olympic Games in British Columbia if the Garibaldi Olympic Development Association is successful in its bid to bring the games to Canada. The government also announced Tuesday that it will contribute another $45,000 to help the association promote its bid, to be decided next May 13 in Amsterdam. The gross cost of holding the winter olympics at Garibaldi now is estimated at $50,000,000. Half is expected to be met by television franchises and gate receipts. Ottawa's $10,000,000 will go towards the estimated $25,000,000 deficit. The balance is expected to be picked up by the province and the city of Vancouver.

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders announced Tuesday that quarterback Jerry Keeling has signed a 1969 Western Football Conference contract. Keeling, a former all-star defensive halfback, replaced Peter Liske as Calgary's quarterback this season and led the Stampeders to the WFC final, where they were beaten in two straight games by Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Nats Winless Against Czechs

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia defeated Canada 6-4 Tuesday in the third game of a five-match exhibition hockey series here. The Czechoslovaks also won the second game, 5-2. The opener ended in a 4-4 tie.

The Canadian national team lost the contest in the last period, the Czechs scoring three goals to overcome a 4-3 deficit.

Frank Huck, Steve King, Billy Heindl and Grant Moore were the Canadian scorers.

Penalties got the Nationals in hot water right at the start. With Brian Conacher and Huck off at the same time, the former for tripping and the latter for hooking, Vaclav Nedomansky opened the scoring in the fourth minute.

The Candians put the puck in the net in the 13th minute from a scramble but the goal was disallowed. Within a minute, Huck, who had missed a fine chance as the game opened, tied the count on a pass from King.

King put the Canadians ahead after four minutes of the second period, but Lubomir Ujvary tied it in the 12th minute. Heindl scored in the 14th minute and Ujvary again tied it, with four minutes remaining in the period. Ivan Hlinka and Vladislav Moore, from Orillia Terriers, gave Canada the lead with two minutes gone in the third period. Ivan Hlinka and Vlidislav Martinec beat Wayne Stephenson in the next minute and Jaroslav Holik finished the scoring in the 13th minute.

Labor Has Yet to Give Views To Inquiry Into High Interest

OTTAWA (CP) — With one more important segment of the economy—big labor—still to be heard from, the Commons finance committee is preparing to conclude its work on the cause and effects of high interest rates.

Committee Chairman Gaston Clermont (L—Gatineau) said in an interview he hopes the committee's report to the Commons will be tabled before the Christmas adjournment, expected to start Dec. 19.

The inquiry started last spring when Louis Rasminsky, governor of the Bank of Canada, told the committee high interest rates were not the cause, but a consequence of inflation.

The public hearing ended Tuesday night with Prof. Vely Leroy of the University of Montreal agreeing to a member's suggestion that the government bear down more heavily on firms that announce major price increases affecting a wide range of products.

Still to be received is a brief from the Canadian Labor Congress. It will be received in writing and printed as part of the committee's record, but no witnesses will appear to be cross-examined.

Prof. Leroy, an economist and specialist in banking at the Ecole des Hautes Etudes Commerciales, said interest rates really are composed of three parts:

—The amount the lender seeks as recompense for the use of his money by the borrower.

—An additional margin to compensate the lender for what he thinks the value of his money will depreciate because of inflation before the money is repaid.

—A top bracket representing the effect of tight money policies pursued by the Bank of Canada and the government to discourage borrowing nd slow down excessive expansion.

High interest rates are supposed to allocate scarce loan funds, but do not do so efficiently, Prof. Leroy said.

Firms with large assets, or funds easily available from abroad, are not deterred by high interest rates and can continue to expand when the government is trying to deter excessive expansion.

Barnett Danson (L—York North) said recently-announced increases in basic prices of steel and nickel "appear to be a piggy-back operation," and added: "We may be getting into a further cycle of inflation."

He wondered whether the government should not apply the same pressure on companies against rising prices as Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey has applied to labor and management negotiators to settle strikes.

Nations Trade in Death

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

When I was growing up, between the First and Second World Wars, we knew all about the "merchants of death"—those shadowy and sinister figures like Krupp and Zaharoff, who made and sold arms to any nation that could afford them.

We naively thought, at the time, that if such men and their companies could be prevented from turning a profit on weapons of mass destruction, we might help the world along the bumpy road toward disarmament and eventual peace.

Such men and their companies no longer exercise the power and influence they once had; insted, their place has been taken by the nations of the world themselves. All of us today, through our governments on all sides of all curtains, are the Krupps and Zaharoffs of modern conventional warfare.

This is the inescapable conclusion from reading George Thayer's thoroughly documented book, "The War Business," which shows how governments themselves have taken over the international trade in armaments, and how billions of dollars a year in arms are sold (or even given away) by so-called "peace-loving" countries — with the U.S., leading the procession.

In some cases, our rationale for this wholesale merchandising of weapons is that we are trying to "stabilize" a situation and help maintain an equilibrium that will prevent war. But this has never worked, and never will: since both sides are provided with weapons, it merely escalates the hostilities, as it did between Israel and the Arab states two years ago, and as it threatens to do again now.

All major nations are equally guilty of this traffic; some do it for profit, some for mistaken notions of "balance of power," and some for its pure trouble-making potential. While all these nations speak up for "peace" on the floor of the UN, none of them genuinely supports efforts to create international machinery that would limit their traffic in arms.

"The War Business" is an ugly book to read, in the sense that a suppurating wound is an ugly thing to look at — but turning our eyes away to lovelier prospects will only speed the moment when death comes to the patient; and, of course, the "patient" in this book is the entire human race.

It is not evil and greedy men but governments themselves, that sustain and replenish the dangerously high level of weaponry all over the world, and by so doing make a mockery of the "law and order" they preach for domestic consumption only.

Benson's $30 Remark Is Jeered

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Edgar Benson's remark that it's possible to live on $30 a week came back to haunt him Tuesday.

But he managed to grin through it all.

When he returned to the Commons after the weekend remark on a Toronto radio station, he was faced with a motion from Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) that the minister's $35,000 annually in salary and allowances be trimmed to $30 a week.

Amid howls of laughter and jeering, Mr. Knowles proposed that Mr. Benson report to the House in six months with details of just how he was doing.

The motion did not get the required unanimous consent—although it seemed remarkably close—and when he left the chamber, Mr. Benson pulled the familiar pipe from his mouth and told reporters:

"I've been taken out of context."

He was bombed with questions, "Can someone really live on $30 a week?"

"Do you know of people living on that income?"

"I've never said that anyone should live on $30 a week," replied the harassed minister.

"I said that some people, in some places, are living on that. I didn't say they should have to do it."

Compensation Urged for Businesses Hurt by Road Changes

TORONTO (CP) — When road reconstruction cuts off small businesses from their customers, the businessmen should be paid compensation, Ian Deans (NDP—Wentworth) said Tuesday.

Businesses such as barber shops or variety stores on the wrong side of road construction are as deserving of compensation as individuals whose property is taken over for highways, he said.

He suggested to an Ontario legislature committee examining highway estimates that if the province recognizes these losses as valid, it would set an example for municipalities to make similar compensation.

D. A. Crosbie, an administrator with the highways department, said under the new Expropriation Act personal and business damage resulting from construction could be liable for claims. The section has not yet been interpreted by the courts however, and he said he thought it unlikely that such claims would be upheld.

Earlier, Jack Stokes (NDP—Thunder Bay) said that officials from the department of lands and forests, acting on behalf of the highways department, had refused to negotiate with the Gull Bay band on a highway that is to pass through the reserve.

The department official wanted 5½ acres in a strip through the reserve and had offered the band 8½ acres at a place the department would choose, he said.

The land is needed for an extension of tertiary road 800 from Port Arthur north through the reserve, on the west side of Lake Nipigon, about 90 miles north of Port Arthur.

Mr. Gomme said the dispute was a matter for the access roads committee, headed by Mines Minister Allan Lawrence.

Mr. Stokes said outside the committee that he and William Salt, an official of the Ontario Unions of Indians had received assurances from Mr. Lawrence later that the band would be able to negotiate.

Today the committee is to discuss Ontario's GO transit service.

Dismissed Inspector Not Known to Shulman

TORONTO (CP) — A controversy over the dismissal of an Ontario government safety inspector, fired Monday by the works department, continued Tuesday as Dr. Morton Shulman (NDP—High Park) denied he had ever met the man.

Dr. Shulman mentioned reports by safety inspector S. W. Greenslade during previous attacks in the legislature on Public Works Minister John Simonett.

Dr. Shulman told the legislature there was suspicion that the inspector was fired because he was supplying information to him, but said he had "never met this man" and that his reports on safety inspections had come from "entirely different sources."

In other business Tuesday, Ontario Hydro chairman George Gathercole told the standing committee on government commissions that a six-per-cent increase in the company's wholesale rates would help fight inflation.

Ralph S. MacGrath told the legislature committee examining an animal research bill the proposal should be scrapped and a commission should be set up to find the animal research needs of the medical profession.

Trade Minister Stanley Randall said the province would help finance mobile or pre-fabricated homes for low-income families if municipalities will cooperate.

William Davis, minister of university affairs, told the legislature that a study by his department may show the need for a more careful balance of United States and Canadian professors on university teaching staffs.

"There may be a need for our universities to address themselves to the question of maintaining a reasonable balance," he said.

Electricians' Walkout Ends

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — About 400 city electricians are scheduled to return to their jobs Wednesday after a one-day walkout in protest of the failure of the Windsor Electrical Contractors Association to sign a collective agreement reached [illegible] dispute [illegible] representatives of Local 773, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, representing the electricians, met with association officials to sign an amended agreement.

The one-day walkout arose from a dispute over an eight-per-cent vacation pay clause in the contract.

Brantford Police Department Inquiry Sought

BRANTFORD (CP) — The 190-member executive of the Police Association of Ontario called Tuesday for a royal commission into the operation of the Brantford police department.

The executive board, meeting here to discuss the cases of city Constables Ronald Stockdale and Les Lolli, has recommended to the provincial government that the 150-man department be placed in the trusteeship of an independent individual until the investigation is completed.

Syd Brown, president of the provincial association, said the Brantford Police Association had denied help to Stockdale and the provincial association decided to move after the city group "took sides."

Mr. Brown, a metropolitan Toronto constable, said the provincial association has agreed to help both men "financially and morally" until their cases are disposed of.

Both are charged with compress on police matters without permission, contrary to the Ontario Police Act.

The charges were lid after letters—illegally written by them—appeared in Brantford Expositor. The letters demanded the release of a report by the Ontario Police Commission into the operation of the city force.

The letters claimed the full report was not released. The letters said the report was given directly to the Brantford board of police commissioners and it in turn released a edited version.

The Stockdale case has been heard and judgment by Provincial Judge Ross Fair of Kitchener has been deferred until late December. The Lolli hearing is set for Dec. 5.

Rochdale Bailed Out

TORONTO (CP) — Financially troubled Rochdale College has been temporarily bailed out by its main mortgage holder, the federal government's Central Mortgage and Housing Corp.

College leaders told a general meeting of members Tuesday night that CMHC has agreed to accept token mortgage payments of $1,500 while it conducts a feasibility study of the college's financing and management.

CMHC holds the first mortgage on the 18-storey experimental educational community on Bloor Street West.

Gift Housecoat?

Employment as a part time sales lady during the Christmas rush means some extra spending money for many Belleville women and girls. Here, as a Front Street department store, Mrs. Helen Hagerman measures up material in the drygoods section.

Oh What Fun It Is to Ride...er Snowmobile

By BARRY GRILLS
Staff Reporter

Jingle bells, jingle bells, jingle all the way . . . Oh what fun it is to ride in a snowmobile today. . . .

And a lot of the Christmas fun moves outside as the snowmobiles enable an opportunity for a family romp through the woods to visit friends with the same sense of winter - Christmas spirit.

Snowmobiles are examples of the popularity among city dwellers towards outside recreation,

William Vaughn of Vaughn automotive Appliances, who sell the vehicles, has noticed a sharp climb in popularity of snowmobiles.

He explained that they have been around seven or eight years, but have really become accepted in the last four or five years.

"The number of snowmobiles more than doubles every year," he said. "There will be 200,000 snowmobiles in Canada this year."

And there are almost 100 different types and styles of snowmobiles in use now. There are even racing models and hardier models as used by the Ontario Hydro Commission and various police forces.

Even hunters are finding the craft very useful as they head north with their guns and spirit of adventure.

Pot Advocates Rapped

TRENTON (Staff) — Advocates of legalizing marijuana are only interested in manipulating youth for profit, research technician and social counsellor Michael Mahoney of Kingston told 400 young people assembled recently at Brewdner school at Middleton Park.

The same experts who recommend lifting the ban on the drug supported the use of DDT, Thalidomide and the cyclamates before it was learned they were harmful, he disclosed in his warning against becoming involved. Experts, unfortunately, are influenced by the potential of material or financial gain, he explained.

Youth, he pointed out, are being told they should not perpetuate the establishment. They are also being sold on the idea that the only purpose of education is to earn a living and get all the comforts of life. The alternative for them is to discover their personal identity through education and discipline. Sadly those who accept drugs as a relief from boredom end up as a burden to society, he said.

A group of concerned young people from Kingston accompanied Mr. Mahoney to the meeting.

Christmas Shoppers Create Some 200 Part-time Jobs Downtown

The Christmas season means many things to many people, but for up to possibly 200 local part-time sales clerks it means an opportunity to earn a few extra spending dollars.

Even appropriate figures are hard to come by, but Downtown Businessmen's Association president J. Ben Corke estimates that up to 200 persons find a few weeks' employment in downtown stores alone during the pre-Christmas rush.

And assuming that the average part-time worker gets in a minimum of two weeks during the pre-Christmas rush, this could mean up to $18,000 additional spending money for Belleville families or individuals.

Part-time sales help taken on during the early pre-holiday rush for the most part are married women, either with or without sales experience.

But as the season progresses and college students return home from classes, the young single worker comes into his or her own.

Many of the students have sales experience with stores and will be returning where they have previously worked.

What is the requirement for part time pre-Christmas sales staff?

Store owners readily admit that experience counts, but a pleasant personality also goes a long way.

It all adds up to good customer service and a happy customer is what all store owners are looking for.

But one thing is almost certain — few of the part-time workers will be putting in long hours.

"Those days are over," commented one Front Street ladies' wear store owner. "There was a time when pre-Christmas help were agreeable to long working hours."

"But no more," he says. "Today 40 to 44 hours per week is the limit."

In any event the up to 200 people who will find part time work in Belleville stores this Christmas season, means more dollars for local spending. It all helps out the local economy and is just another reason Belleville residents are urged to do their Christmas shopping at home.

Businessmen Brighten Up Main Streets

Christmas would not be Christmas without bright lights.

But lighting up an entire street is a drastically different proposition than domestic decoration.

That was the challenge undertaken last year by Belleville's Downtown Businessmen's Association.

The result has been a cheery transformation of the city's main commercial area, Front Street which also is the DBA's doorstep.

The campaign to lighten and brighten the street at Christmastime was undertaken as a civic gesture before the 1968 Yuletide bustle started.

Initial cost and installation of the decorations — suspended from city utility poles — was around $3,700.

But the expense doesn't stop there.

Maintaining the decorations and making additions will be a perpetual project, believes DBA businessman Ben Corke.

This year, for instance the DBA will spend close to $2,000 on putting the Christmas glitter into downtown Belleville.

The lights go up about six weeks before Christmas and remain on into the New Year.

After that they're stored by a DBA member, ready for re-installation when the community turns on to Christmas once more.

Nautical Restaurant Afloat Despite Sea of Red Tape

TORONTO (CP) — This city's first floating gourmet restaurant has drifted through a sea of red tape and is expected to open next March.

It will be located aboard the Normac, which has spent the last 68 years as a fireboat, tug, cargo carrier and Northern Ontario cruise ship.

John Letnick bought the Normac last July at its retirement berth in Wallaceburg, Ont., and planned to use the ship for a floating restaurant and bar.

The young restaurateur, who came to Canada after escaping from behind the Iron Curtain and living in Austria, sailed the Normac to Toronto with a few retired sailors. When he began to formulate plans to turn the ship into a restaurant, the sea of red tape became visible.

The Liquor Control Board of Ontario said the Normac didn't fall into categories such as a dining lounge, a bar or beverage room.

Officials at city hall suggested Mr. Letnick and his designer, Tony Dexter, sink the boat so it would rest on city land and could be called a building. But Mr. Letnick insisted the boat had to float.

The two men then went to the harbor commission, but were told the water in the harbor is the responsibility of the provincial government. Later, they were directed to the federal department of transport, which has jurisdiction on Lake Ontario.

To satisfy all federal requirements, Mr. Deuter had to cut a door through the hull, install electric fixtures, hook up to hydro outlets on land, park near a fire hydrant, pump cement into the hull to maintain ballast when fittings are removed and pump sewage into a sewer tank on board for removal by truck.

Mr. Deuter says the boat will be designed to retain its nautical flavor—in the mood of a Canard liner and not rigged out with fishnets.

It will seat 88 persons for dinner, 51 in the bar, and 60 in 21 private dining rooms.

Plourde Heads Conference

OTTAWA (CP) — Most Rev. Joseph Aurele Plourde, archbishop of Ottawa, has been elected the new president of the Canadian Catholic Conference, it was announced Tuesday.

Archbishop Plourde, 54, succeeds Most Rev. Alexander Carter, bishop of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. as head of the association of Canadian Roman Catholic bishops.

Bishop Carter, speaking at a news conference following a plenary meeting of the bishops, said the day's highlight had been a talk given by Paul Emile Cardinal Leger.

Cardinal Leger was Roman Catholic archbishop of Montreal before becoming a missionary in Africa about two years ago. He is in Canada to raise funds for his work among African lepers.

Metro United Church Faces More Empty Pews

TORONTO (CP) — Membership in the United Church of Canada in Metropolitan Toronto is declining at rate which threatens its future, says study of the church commissioned last year.

The report by Project Planning Associates Ltd. says membership in the 150 churches has been declining since 1964. Over-all loss now is 3,000 members a year and rising. The numbers of new members is declining at 800 a year.

"Generally speaking, if the trends continue, congregations in the older parts of Metro can expect to die out quickly," the report says. "In newer areas, there may be stability or growing membership for possibly 20 or 30 years."

Only half the available pews are required for present congregations and only a third of other rooms in the churches are used, the study says. Fifty to 75 well-placed and well-equipped buildings could provide enough space for programs taking place in 150 buildings.

"The real issue in the whole problem of the United Church seems to be survival. The United Church in Metro wants to survive. It wants to continue as a viable organization in Metro society. The chances of doing it look rather slim."

The report says more than half the 90,000 members of Toronto congregations are more than 50 years old. The average congregation has about 200 members, most of them with high incomes, Anglo-Saxon roots and single-family dwellings.

'Christ Not Against Sex'

MONTREAL (CP) — The church should adopt a more modern attitude toward sex, says a report prepared for the Canadian Council of Churches meeting here this week.

The report, a compilation of studies done in seven major Canadian cities by groups of laymen and clergymen, and subsidized by a grant from a drug firm, is to be presented at tonight's session.

"Christ is not against sex in general or sexual intercourse in particular," says a section of the report from an Ottawa group.

"The Christian life is centred in persons, not principles."

The report says that it is not the sexual act itself that is important, but its consequences.

"Play it cool. Don't get hung up on sex. It is not a problem in isolation. It should be considered in the context of the situation of man today and not only in terms of dogmatic eternal verities."

From Windsor, Ont., comes an obstetrician's comment about teen-aged girls who ask him about birth control:

"Most of their relationships—with boys—are spiritual, intellectual, emotional . . . But mixed up with it and inseparable from it is this sexual drive; talking about Jesus Christ gets them sexually aroused—it really does."

The Windsor group joined the Ottawa group in pleading for more flexibility in matters of sexual morality. It said that "even 10 years ago it would be an exceptional Roman Catholic family which would use a contraceptive."

"Today it is the exceptional family that will not—of any religion."

Newfoundland Outport

This view of Monkstown, an ancient fishing village at the fiord-like head of Paradise Sound on Placentia Bay, was taken from one of the ships linking outports on the Newfoundland coast. Monkstown has no road linking it with anywhere important. Its future is that of dozens of picturesque but isolated villages. As the Newfoundlanders say, they are "going" or "gone."

Ontario Will Prohibit Rent Security Deposits

TORONTO (CP) — A bill that would abolish apartment security deposits and set up a limited form of rent review was introduced in the Ontario legislature Tuesday.

The proposed bill also would take away a landlord's access to a tenant's property and privacy.

Landlords who do not meet the bill's standards are subject to fines of $1,000.

Attorney-General Arthur Wishart called on the opposition to support the bill so it could become law by the end of the year.

The proposed legislation incorporates all recommendations from last year's study by the Ontario Law Reform Commission except one calling for rent review boards.

That, Mr. Wishart told a news conference, was omitted because the government felt review boards implied a responsibility too heavy for municipalities to handle.

Instead the bill permits municipalities to set up landlord-tenant advisory bureaus to mediate disputes on all matters, including rent. The bureaus will also advise both sides of their rights, carry out public education and publicize unreasonable rent increases.

Mr. Wishart told the legislature the bureaus could hold their hearings in public or release information to local news media. Personnel and procedures of the bureaus would be up to the municipalities.

Security deposits are to be abolished, but the landlord may take the last month's rent in advance to ensure payment. It cannot be used for any purpose but rent.

Landlords must pay six-per-cent annual interest on security deposits in existence before the bill becomes effective. The deposit and interest must be paid to the tenant within 10 days after his lease expires.

Distress—the landlord's right to seize a tenant's property in a rent dispute—would be abolished, and landlords would not be able to enter rented premises without 24 hours' notice except to show them to prospective tenants after notice of lease termination has been given.

The bill also:

—Says landlords must deliver a copy of the least to tenants, who have no obligations until it has been delivered.

—Makes landlords responsible for keeping premises in repair. Tenants are responsible for day-to-day cleanliness and repair of wilful or negligent damage.

—Prohibits landlords from withholding reasonable consent to sublet where leases provide for it. Either party may apply to the courts in a dispute.

—Forbids landlords from altering locks during occupancy except with consent.

—Instructs landlords to obtain a writ of possession to regain possession of rented premises unless the tenant has left.

Judges may refuse to grant writs if a landlord tries to get rid of a tenant because the tenant complains.

Mr. Wishart said the bill, which applies to past, present and future leases, oral or written, supersedes any other arrangements.

This followed warnings from some members of the legislature that some landlords were requiring tenants to waive protection under future landlord-tenant legislation.

Rent Increase Forecast

TORONTO (CP) — A warning that apartment rents will go up in Ontario if a new landlord-tenant law is passed came Tuesday from Herbert Stricker, president of the Urban Development Institute of Ontario.

Mr. Stricker said the proposed law, announced Tuesday in the legislature, was a blow to the apartment-buildings industry and to "free enterprise."

He said rent increases can be expected because security deposits will be illegal under the law and as a result "the minority who do damage to suites will probably do more."

Quebec Got More Aid For Road

TORONTO (CP) — A Liberal member of the legislature says Quebec received $150,000,000 from the federal government for 388 miles of Trans-Canada Highway while Ontario received only $134,800,000 for 51,433 miles.

Gordon Innes, member for Oxford, made the statement Monday as a legislature committee debated provincial highway department estimates.

Highways Minister George Gomme said that under the original Trans-Canada Highway agreement between the provinces and the federal government, the provinces were not told the maximum amount available to each, only the Canadian total.

He said he has asked federal officials to reconsider the allocation for Ontario, but received a letter saying, in effect, "Ontario is a rich province."

Robarts Will Raise MLAs' Pay

TORONTO (CP) — Premier John Robarts says the Ontario government will introduce legislation to increase the pay of legislature members and cabinet members.

"I certainly hope so," Mr. Robarts said Tuesday when a reporter asked whether an increase will be possible before the Christmas break.

U.S. Limits Choice of Weapons

Nixon Shuns Germs But Might Use Chemicals

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United States has renounced the use of germs—the most horrible potential weapon of war—but has left open the use of such agents as tear gas and herbicides.

President Nixon announced in Washington Tuesday that the U.S. will never use germ warfare—even if attacked by an enemy spreading bacteria.

He promised to destroy al existing stockpiles of bacteriological weapons and halt all research of such weapons.

He said the U.S. will join Canada in supporting the principles and objectives of a British proposal for an international convention to ban the use of bacteriological weapons.

But he showed reservation about the use of chemical weapons.

The U.S. will renounce any "first use" of chemical weapons —those that are incapacitating as well as lethal.

Nixon did not specifically mention riot control agents, such as tear gas, or herbicides, the chemicals that destroy foliage. But White House sources said he exempted these from his renunciation.

Both of these agents have been subjects of prolonged controversies since the U.S. started using them in Vietnam.

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union, speaking in the General Assembly's political committee, came out strongly against the U.S.-British view—supported by Canada—that chemical warfare can be separated from bacteriological warfare in distinct international conventions.

A. A. Roschin of the Soviet Union said that there is no political or scientific reason to separate the two and spoke in favor of a Soviet bloc draft convention banning both forms of weaponry.

In a related development the Soviet Union rejected a Canadian proposal for collection of seismic information as a first step toward an international treaty banning underground nuclear explosions.

Canada has been one of the strongest supporters of the British view that it is better to seek a relatively easy agreement banning bacteriological weapons and leave chemical weapons for later debate.

The reasoning has been that the chances of early agreement on chemical warfare—which must include discussion on herbicides and tear gas—are remote. But Britain has not found much small-country support for her contention and Canada earlier this month served notice that she would move to have the whole matter moved back to disarmament talks in Geneva for point-by-point debate.

The feeling here was that Canada was seeking to save the British point of view from being ignored, especially in view of the Soviet bloc draft.

A Canadian resolution started going the rounds looking for support Tuesday. But the Soviet bloc scooped the Canadians by introducing a motion urging that the matter be taken up urgently in Geneva.

OCCUPIED WITH CRIME

Sir Richard Jackson was called to the bar in Britain in 1833 and eventually became an assistant commissioner at Scotland Yard, then president of Interpol. The cases he describes cover the whole range of criminal activity, from the murder of a housewife to large-scale organized robbery.

THE WEATHER CHANGers by D. S. Halacy, Jr.

"Everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it" can no longer be taken at face value. Since the 1940's, scientists have been seeding clouds and weather control now involves the creation and dispersal of fog, the suppression of lightning and the taming of storms. In a fascinating look into the future, the book delves into the use of lightning as a source of electricity, a change in climate by melting the polar ice caps, and a Bering Sea dam to warm up Siberia.

A CHOICE OF WEAPONS by Gordon Parks

Gordon Parks' personal history includes a Kansas farm, a Minneapolis brothel, a flophouse in Chicago and a St. Paul jail . . . the story of one American who overcame loneliness, the Depression, poverty and his color to find security and the beginnings of success.

LONDON OF THE THAMES by Blake Ehrlich

Mr. Ehrlich's knowledge and feeling for London is nothing short of phenomenal and here he gives us vignettes and anecdotes of the city from the 16th century to the 20th. For every landmark there is a story. A most entertaining book.

MAN: THE NEXT 30 YEARS by Henry Still

It is tempting to indulge in flights of fancy as to what life will be like at the end of the century. But this author bases his discussion on the technologies that are developing today and he points out that they may be used for good or ill. Starting with the problems of population and scarcity of clean water, he goes on to describe developments in medicine, transportation and automation.

GALAPAGOS: ISLANDS OF BIRDS by Bryan Nelson

In this book Bryan Nelson has achieved a rare combination; he has written a book full of information in a lively and entertaining style. The author and his wife spent a year camping in isolation on the two islands, investigating the life history and behavior of the Galapagos sea birds. The result is a real contribution to the study of bird behavior, of interest to all naturalists.

MEN AND PANDAS by Ramona and Desmond Morris

The chubby, clumsy, black and white Pandas are popular with zoo visitors but little is actually known about them. They have never been studied in their wild habitat and it is only in the last 30 years that specimens have been seen in zoos, many times with little success in keeping them alive. Zoologist Desmond Morris and his wife have done considerable research and present here the result of that research.

Months Needed to Implement Steps to Reduce Health Costs

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial governments have been offered recipes for curtailing health care costs but it will be months before the lines of action emerge clearly.

This became evident Tuesday in the wake of meetings of federal and provincial health ministers which authorized publication of three volumes of recommendations and criticisms of the health care system.

Federal Health Minister John Munro said the health ministers agreed to establish semi-permanent machinery to study the proposals made to them by seven "task forces" set up a year ago.

Some could be adopted now by the provinces. Others could be implemented by the federal government. But the main recommendations for lines of action would be placed before the next conference at a date to be set later, possibly today.

Two main threads in the reports concerned regional planning and control of health services and facilities and improved administrative and management controls.

But the regional control proposals seemed headed for rough weather.

Ontario Health Minister Tom Wells said regional planning and control is central to development of his province's health services but he does not favor giving regional boards the wide executive powers proposed in the health ministers in the "task force" studies.

Mr. Munro left the question of implementing regional proposals to provincial initiative when asked to comment about the statement in the reports that regional planning should go ahead immediately.

British Columbia Health Minister Ralph LaFmark declined to discuss the regional proposals and made it plain to reporters that only the provinces could decide what should be done within their own jurisdiction.

And Mr. Wells raised the whole issue of federal jurisdiction in the health field by saying that only after it has been clearly defined by Ottawa can organized development of health services proceed.

There was no immediate reaction from the provinces on the proposals for greater administrative and management controls over health care services and facilities.

But at a news conference attended by Mr. Munro and most of the provincial ministers, Health Minister Norbert Therault of New Brunswick said his province and others are "very disappointed" in the federal decision a year ago to scrap the hospital construction grants program.

Kartler Health Minister Sidney Green of Manitoba warned against the federal government trying to withdraw from such cost-sharing programs as medical care and hospital insurance.

Government Has No Control Over CYC

Three Ministers Conferred About Activities

OTTAWA (CP) — State Secretary Gerard Pelletier conferred with Solicitor-General George McIlraith and Justice Minister John Turner about "possible criminal activities" in the Company of Young Canadians before and after Montreal complaints Oct. 11 touched off a Commons inquiry.

Mr. Pelletier Tuesday night told the Commons committee carrying out the inquiry that he asked for a report from CYC Executive Director Claude Vidal in late September after hearing "disturbing noises" from Montreal.

He told Robert McCleave (PC —Halifax-East Hants) he conferred with Mr. McIlraith and Mr. Turner about general reports rather than any particular individual.

Lucien Saulnier, Montreal executive committee chairman, appears before the committee Thursday and Friday to testify about the Oct. 11 charges of subversion he made against the CYC.

Today's witness will be Donald Hamilton, executive assistant to Premier Harry Strom of Alberta. Alberta is the only province to accept an invitation to appear before the committee.

Mr. Pelletier said, in a prepared brief, that the CYC's legislative framework should be overhauled to ensure operational efficiency and public accountability.

Under the present act, the government had "no influence whatsoever" over the CYC.

The 15-member council was dominated by 10 members elected by volunteers. For this reason, it would be impossible for the cabinet to make changes even if the CYC were to undertake acts that were obviously intolerable."

Because the CYC wasn't an agent of the Crown, the government had no power to seize its assets. Short of an act of Parliament, there was no way "to handle a crisis situation" within the CYC.

This meant, for instance, that the executive director and his associate could take $100,000 of CYC funds and go to Hong Kong before anyone could stop them, Mr. Pelletier said.

The council set policy and the executive director was supposed to carry it out. The council was dominated by volunteers and testimony had indicated that it reversed itself at times if volunteers were adversely affected.

"The executive director has no authority over the volunteers and the volunteers may disregard his directives or circumvent his authority."

Mr. Pelletier denied that he has ever intervened in CYC affairs. He said that after about 20 Montreal volunteers advised him in May, 1968, that Quebec director Martin Belliveau advocated ignoring the CYC act, he called them director Alan Clarke to his home.

He said the situation was put before Mr. Clarke, who agreed it was serious. Mr. Pelletier said Mr. Clarke suggested firing Mr. Belliveau. Mr. Pelletier's executive assistant, Andre Ouellette, proposed instead that the facts be placed before Mr. Belliveau and he be asked to resign.

Mr. Pelletier said he had confidence in Mr. Clarke and had no idea he was going to resign and allege interference in CYC affairs that threatened the company.

The minister said that given the safeguards of the CYC act, he couldn't force an executive director to do anything. Officials had told him they were uncertain whether he had the authority to fire an executive director.

Mr. Pelletier also denied threatening to go to the cabinet and propose that the company be disbanded if the Belliveau situation wasn't straightened out.

He said that amending the act to give the government more control over the CYC wouldn't mean the CYC would be subject to pressure every time there was a complaint about it.

It would be in the same position as a Crown corporation like film in which Greek actress Melina Mercouri criticized Greece's military government, the Greek ambassador was sure to protest the following day to the external affairs department.

The department always replied in such cases that the CBC was an independent agency.

Rent Cut By CMHC Forecast

OTTAWA (CP) — The rent-to-income scale used nationally in determining how much rent tenants pay in public housing projects is being reviewed, Herb Hignett, president of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. told the Senate's special committee on poverty Tuesday.

Mr. Hignett said he expects rents will be modestly lowered and subsidies paid by the federal government to housing authorities will be increased.

In answer to questions, Mr. Hignett also said that the federal government's relationship with public housing authorities, to which it pays some operating subsidies, gives Ottawa the opportunity to say that tenants must be given some voice in the management of housing projects in which they live.

It was necessary to find some arrangement that would be satisfactory both to tenants and management, CMHC was working hard on this matter.

The rent-to-income scale links rental charged for public housing to the income of the family occupying it.

Senator Rheal Belisle (PC—Ontario) wanted to know why certain buildings on the site of a Sudbury, renewal project had been demolished.

Mr. Hignett said the area and buildings to be cleared had been selected by the municipality, not CMHC.

Breath tests for suspected drunken drivers will be compulsory in Canada from December 1, 1969, just in time for the party-going peak of Christmas and the New Year.

Alcohol is believed to have contributed to about half of the 5,234 deaths last year on Canadian roads.

The tests were authorized by the criminal code amendments passed by the Government last May. The amendments provide a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and six months in prison for a driver shown to have more than .08 per cent alcohol in his blood.

A similar penalty is provided for a driver who refuses to take a test required by a police officer who has reasonable and probable grounds, such as a weaving car, to believe that the driver is impaired.

A 175-pound man would have to drink about four or five 1½ ounce drinks within three hours to register 40 per cent on a breathalizer machine. Of course if you don't weigh this much, a man or woman could register this much on as little as 2½ to 4 ounces of liquor.

The figures vary greatly with metabolism, build, the nervous state of the driver, and the amount of food he has in his stomach while drinking.

The transport department report that the police forces in most major cities are equipped and ready to administer the tests.

QUESTION: Please give us the monthly rates for houses and apartments in the Daytona Beach and St. Petersburg areas?

ANSWER: Two - bedroom houses in the areas mentioned run about $150 a month, including electricity. But don't leave it too late. You should plan to arrive by early December if you want to rent a nice bungalow in a nice area. If you arrive after Christmas there won't be much left. Check with the Local Chamber of Commerce. You'll find a complete listing there.

East Coast - Daytona Beach on the ocean:

Apartments are about $500 a month; "efficiencies" $300 a month. These are usually $100 cheaper in town.

East Coast - Fort Lauderdale area on the ocean

Apartments $900 a month, Efficiencies $500 a month. In town these run about $300 cheaper.

West Coast - St. Petersburg and Sarasota area on the beach

Apartments $360 a month "Efficiencies" $220 a month In town about $125 cheaper.

Don't rent the first thing you see. Rent a motel for a few nights and look around and compare prices.

Savannah and Jekyll Island, Georgia:

For the Florida bound these are the only places where you can find a hotel which still accepts Canadian money at par. For the golfer heading south these two nearby places in Georgia are ideal. Just outside Savannah, for about $12 a day you can get accommodation, breakfast and dinner and green fees. Georgia possesses several excellent courses and good golfing weather even in mid-winter. There are many 18th and 19th century homes which have been restored and are open to the public.

Jekyll Island has three good courses near the ocean and while it is too cold to swim in the Atlantic, you can enjoy a good walk along the beach. Accommodations and meals are reasonable.

Savannah is a lovely, old historical city and worth a day's browsing.

Another golfing spot is Sea Island, Georgia, just north of Jekyll Island. Here you'll find 18-and 27-hole golf courses.

Niagara Flowing Once More

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — A giant crane lifted stones and some dirt from a cofferdam in the upper Niagara River on Tuesday, allowing water to begin flowing toward the American Falls for the first time in nearly six months.

The cataract was "dewatered" in June to permit geologists to study ways to halt its erosion.

Fort-five minutes after six truckloads of dirt was scooped from the 600 foot-long dam, a trickle of water headed slowly.

If all goes well by the weekend, when complete removal of the dam is planned, the trickle will swell to a torrent.

Donations From UNICEF Cards Help Feed Hungry

By LINDA GELDART
Staff Reporter

Despite the horrendous onslaught of the commercialization at Christmas, there are still some things that remain untainted and relatively unscarred by the whole process.

These are few and far between, but very worthwhile.

One of the most worthwhile is the UNICEF Christmas card.

UNICEF cards account for only a minute fraction of the greeting card output industry in North America and Western Europe, but this minute fraction equals 50,122,000 cards this past year. All together, 300,000,000 cards have been sold since 1949, when the project was first begun.

The point behind selling UNICEF cards is simply to remind adults and governments the world over that there are 4/ children that need food, education and health care.

A secondary purpose is to earn cash to be turned into milk, medicine and other basics to fill these needs.

Although over 120 governments make annual contributions to the United Nations Children's Fund, private sources now account for about one-quarter of UNICEF's income.

Any individual or for that matter, organizations, can actively participate in UNICEF's indispensible work for the world's children—simply by buying UNICEF greeting cards, note cards and engagement calendars.

Fifty-four artists from 34 different countries have contributed their works to the United Nations Children's Fund for reproduction in its 1970 engagement calendar alone.

One dollar out of every 3 of UNICEF's budget comes from the sale of the cards and calendars — not just in Canada, but all over the world.

Designs this year embrace a wide range of artistic styles — from the brink of the psychedelic to the gentle appeal of a winter scene.

Although national tastes shape sales somewhat, artists whose cards sell the best overall seem to sell equally well in almost all of the more than 100 lands where UNICEF's cards are bought.

This fact is not surprising when you stop to realize the big names who have donated their works — painters such as Dufy, Matisse, Picasso, Andrew Wyeth, Dubuffet, Dali — to mention a few.

Despite the fact that annual profits exceed the $3 million mark, this amounts to less than one per cent of total U.S. greeting card sales, so that commercial manufacturers are completely co-operative with advice and technical skill.

"They respect our charitable motive. They feel we are not hurting them competitively and are even opening up new markets and pioneering in new areas of taste," said Margaret Sharkley, chief strategist and talent scout for UNICEF's world-wide campaign in a recent interview.

More often than not UNICEF cards are just not available in greeting cards stores, but only from private homes.

Here in the city, Mrs. Jack Ralph, of 11 Homewood Drive is representative for the cards for the third year in a row. She was also treasurer for the UNICEF collections made by the children during Hallowe'en.

"People from all walks buy these cards. I have met some of the nicest people I know in selling cards for UNICEF People usually pass me soon on from one to another — and that is how they find out where to buy them."

Mrs. Ralph, who has air children of her own, feels the time UNICEF cards is well spent.

"The whole point is I feel that in my own small way I am helping to feed children who would otherwise go hungry. I think it is most worthwhile."

Congressmen Likely to Study Reports of Second Massacre

WASHINGTON (CP) — Reports of a second possible mass slaying of South Vietnamese civilians by U.S. soldiers are almost certain to be discussed today at a two closed-door congressional committee investigations of the alleged "Pinkville" massacre.

Representative Lionel van Deerlin (Dem. Calif.) Tuesday night announced reports of another alleged slaughter by an American infantry company in the Mekong Delta in June this year. He asked the army to investigate the reports that the 9th Infantry Division fired into the huts in Dong Tam village for target practice. No numbers of dead or wounded were given.

Van Deerlin said an army medical captain reported the incident to him after he had heard about it from an orderly who claimed to have witnessed the shooting.

Army Secretary Stanley Resor, who is testifying today before Senate and House of Representatives committees on the alleged My Lai massacre of March, 1968, is almost sure to be quizzed on the Dong Tam incident as well. Army general counsel Robert Jordan will appear with Resor before the Senate armed services committee and afterward before the House investigating subcommittee.

Defence Secretary Melvin Laird said in congressional testimony released Tuesday night that he was shocked and sickened when the allegations of the 70-member Pinkville massacre came to his attention seven months ago.

Pinkville was the code name given to the area where the reported massacre occurred because it was predominantly Viet Cong territory.

Laird said he ordered an immediate investigation which, a Pentagon spokesman said, led to charges of premeditated murder being brought against Lieut. William L. Calley, Calley is accused of killing at least 109 South Vietnamese, will face a general court martial at Fort Benning, Ga., in January.

Laird said: "I want to make clear beyond any doubt that the Nixon administration is determined to ensure absolute compliance with our orders and the laws of war." He was testifying to a closed session of the Senate foreign relations committee last week. His comment was released by Senator J. William Fulbright, the chairman.

A military judge Tuesday ordered potential witnesses in Calley's court martial to discuss their evidence only with principals in the trial.

Lt.-Col. Reid Kennedy, senior trial judge at Fort Benning, ordered the prosecution to notify all potential witnesses of the restriction on public disclosures.

Kennedy handed Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III, the prosecutor, an order that said in part: "Each witness will be informed that he is authorized to discuss or disclose information or real evidence to you, Mr. George Latimer, Maj. Kenneth A. Raby and 1st Lieut. William L. Calley Jr. only."

Latimer is Calley's civilian counsel and Maj. Raby the military defence counsel.

Kennedy also ordered Daniel to "promptly notify each newly discovered witness of this prohibition against pre-trial disclosure of his testimony."

Kennedy's order came at a hearing where prosecution and defence counsels asked him to ban news interviews with persons who might testify at the court martial.

Kennedy said he would allow "a reasonable time" for press media to impose self-restraints that would assure an impartial trial.

Calley, 26, was charged with the premeditated murder in 109 civilian deaths, including women and children, after public disclosure of letters and interviews with persons who said they were eyewitnesses to or participants in the My Lai incident. He faces death if convicted, or life imprisonment.

Some accounts have placed the number of civilians killed in My Lai as high as 567.

Representative Gerald R. Ford, House Republican leader, said high army officials knew about the My Lai incident right after it occurred, the New York Times says.

"Top army officials knew about it. I know," the Times quoted Ford as telling a news conference. "I don't want to name individuals."

Chairman L. Mendel Rivers of the House armed services committee said a decision would be made after the congressional hearings today whether further sessions would be called.

At both House and Senate hearings, Resor has been directed to bring all documents pertinent to the Pinkville case.

The congressional hearings follow days of mounting public pressure for a full investigation into the affair.

The army Monday named a general to head a review of the original army investigation of the alleged massacre, which was made just a month after the mass shooting.

The first investigation found nothing to warrant further action, a point Laird repeated in the testimony released Tuesday night.

Congressional criticism grew over the CBS television interview of one of the soldiers who participated in the massacre.

Paul Meadlo, an infantryman at My Lai but now a civilian, told a CBS Interviewer that he shot 10 or 15 civilians, including some children.

Senator Peter Dominick (Rep. Colo.) said that because of Meadlo's remarks, Calley could escape trial because of the bias created against him by the television program.

"What kind of country have we got when this garbage is put around?" he said. "The interview was inexcusable under our legal and judicial system."

Dominick noted that Meadlo said he had personally participated in the murder of some of the victims and specifically mentioned the name of Calley.

The interview may have created an atmosphere of guilt which would prevent the lieutenant from receiving a fair trial, Dominick added.

Senator Ernest Hollings (Dem. S.C.) called Meadlo "obviously sick" and said his remarks should not have been given widespread publicity.

Meadlo's father, Tony Meadlo, a coal miner in New Goshen, Ind., said he would have shot the officer who gave the order to kill, then "it wouldn't have happened."

Mrs. Meadlo said the army "made a murderer" out of her son.

"He was forced to do it," she said. "I raised him to be a good boy, then they came along and took him into the service."

Meadlo's father said, in an interview with CBS Radio: "I would have shot the one that demanded me to do it. That's the guy that should have been shot and that would have been over with."

Senator Fulbright told reporters he believes atrocity reports are more damaging to the reputation of the U.S. than a negotiated settlement without victory would be.

Such incidents "can cause grave concern all over the world as to what kind of country we are."

It'll Be Cooked Goose ...If the Price Is Right

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Christmas isn't all turkey for Sam Stirk.

Not anymore.

In fact, for the first time in 20 years there's not a single tom to be trucked from the Stirk turkey farm — once one of the Quinte district's biggest — this Yuletide.

Instead, the Stirk rearing grounds at Roslin are now given over to a giant gaggle of growing geese.

Geese first made their appearance in a big way at the farm last year — but were still secondary to turkeys as a sales proposition.

Now they've completely absorbed the Stirk operations. Reason for Mr. Stirk's disenchantment with turkey is the same as its popularity with provident shoppers — prices.

Turkey prices have been tumbling temptingly for years.

But what is sauce for the shopper is sad news for wholesale providers like Mr. Stirk.

For instance, big birds last year retailed somewhere around 38 cents a pound.

Wholesale prices this year might have dropped as low as 23 cents, he feared. One cause is the use of cheaper turkeys as sales leaders in chain stores, he believes.

"I can remember 20 years ago, the first year I was in business, I sold turkey live weight for 72 cents a pound", he recalled.

"There are still lots of people eating turkey. But, as far as I'm concerned, you couldn't compete with the chain stores".

In its heyday the Stirk business sold between 7,000-8,000 turkeys.

But with declining prices the "turkey business got so you couldn't stay in it," he says.

Last year he mixed in 300 geese with the turkeys. They all sold at good prices.

This summer, instead of ordering his usual clutch of day-old turkey chicks for six months maturing, he bought 900 geese.

There's nothing new about Christmas goose. For centuries it was the traditional Christmas staple, even after discovery of North America introduced turkey for the first time.

Now with an abundance of turkey at popular prices, the goose apparently is remaking some headway or Christmas diets.

Compared to turkey the price is fairly high — probably 70-80 cents wholesale. But geese are finding a Christmas market.

"They're in short supply and the demand is getting better all the time," says Mr. Stirk.

From Toiletries to New Car Big Gifts Market Increases

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

Wearing apparel, toilet articles and jewellery possibly get the greatest run in choice of Christmas gifts, but for milady the day of the big spender is apparently still with us.

A check with local appliance dealers reveals there is also a sizable market for console television sets, stereo sets, kitchen ranges and refrigerators.

And it seems a few Belleville housewives are going to find automatic washers and dryers under their Christmas trees.

"We get quite a demand for the larger items as Christmas gifts", commented one appliance dealer.

"I even sold a couple of electric organs over the weekend. The instructions were to hold them until Christmas".

New cars are not many people's idea of a Christmas present, but nevertheless local auto dealers say a surprisingly large number of sales are geared to the Christmas season.

"New cars are getting to be a bit out of the popular price range for actual Christmas gifts" stated one dealer, "but many motorists do order new cars about this time of year with the request that delivery be made before Christmas".

So, after all, it seems that more than a few families will be getting that new car around Christmas time.

Another factor in the late season auto sales is that it saves the motorist buying a new licence for the old buggy in the first of the year.

New Christmas Store Hours Will Get Under Way Tonight

By LENNY WILLIAMS
Staff Reporter

Sales clerks are bracing themselves for the Christmas marathon of sales and longer store hours.

Some stores have already begun to extend hours for the Christmas season, starting today and remaining open Thursday night until 9 p.m.

The Downtown Businessmen's Association, which sets the annual trend in store hours, has recommended that merchants remain open Wednesday afternoon until 5:30 p.m. starting Dec. 3.

Beginning Thursday, Dec. 4, stores will remain open until 9 p.m.

Municipal bylaws don't permit stores to remain open at night until mid-December. This year the stores will be open until 9 p.m. starting Dec. 18.

Saturday, Dec. 13, stores will close at 5:30 p.m.

The last two full shopping days before Christmas will be Mon. and Tues., Dec. 22 and 23. On Christmas Eve, Wed., Dec. 24, doors will close at 5:30 p.m.

Between Christmas and New Years, stores will revert to normal hours, except for Wed., Dec. 31. Again clerks will forego their usual half-holiday to serve customers until 5:30 p.m.

The Plaza Merchants' Association is following the recommendations of the downtown businessmen on extended shopping hours.

At least two stores are offering a special service this year for charge account and steady customers.

A downtown department store is holding a "courtesy day" today. Charge account customers have been mailed a brochure listing items available at savings.

A variety store at the Plaza is holding an "employee guests shopping night" tonight.

From 7 to 9 p.m., customers issued with special invitations can purchase articles at the customary 10 per cent employee discount.

Choosing a Gift Can Be Difficult

By NANCY BARRIAGE
Staff Reporter

As the busy Christmas season rolls around once again people are starting to make their annual preparations in advance and Belleville is no exception.

The women-folk in particular have a great part of the burden falling on their shoulders - - - for it is their job to see that the most important tasks are completed - - - such as baking the cookies, pies and Christmas fruit cakes, an essential part of the season's festivities; buying the decorations, sending out Christmas cards, and, most important - - - the buying of Santa's gifts for the children who anxiously await the big event.

Belleville's stores are taking advantage of the spending craze and displaying a wide variety of items appropriate for Christmas gifts. Selling well this year is sleepwear and in particular the lounging wear and long housecoats. Matching scarves and tams and fur hats are also popular on the fashion scene this season for gift giving.

Another popular gift item is the article made of genuine Spanish wood. Candlestick holders, plaques, swords and small ornaments for the home in Spanish wood are the "in" thing in decor this year.

Flowers, especially pointsettas, 'mums and azaleas are also popular gifts.

Fant suits are selling well as expected. However, a lot of women are still buying clothes for themselves rather than as Christmas gifts.

One of the interesting facts this year is a noted change in the trend of men's gift buying. For some inexplicable reason men are becoming more selective. Instead of relying on the ideas presented by helpful sales people they are arriving with definite ideas in mind. Perhaps their wives and girl friends are getting just a little tired of returning items which either did not fit or were just not what they had in mind.

However a happy thought comes to mind. For the women who think they are overburdened there is one consolation - - - they are living in the world of modernization. In days gone by, and not too many at that, the women had to make their own Christmas decorations, sew most of the clothes by hand, make their own candies and prepare most of the baking ingredients by hand. In many cases they designed their own Christmas cards.

Running over to the corner supermarket to pick up the turkey was an unattainable dream. Often they found it necessary to prepare many weeks in advance and when the big day came perhaps they were too tired to enjoy it. The modern woman can be thankful that things have finally changed.

Council Discusses Industrial Brochure

WOOLER — Murray Township Council will receive a face - lifting regardless of the results of Dec. 1 municipal election.

At least two, possibly four new faces will appear in council chambers next year.

The only council member assured of another term is Harry Lafferty, the present deputy-reeve — who was reclaimed reeve Friday afternoon.

Two of the remaining four council members will not run again.

Reeve Gerald Ross has resigned on his doctor's advice, and Councillor Cyril Macdonald says he hasn't got the necessary time to devote to council affairs.

Both of the remaining councillors will run again with James Quinn stepping up to oppose former Deputy Reeve Stewart Mainprize in a two - way fight for the deputy - reeve's post and J. Stanley Downs will be one of five to council.

Down will be one of five council hopefuls. The others are James Day, William Ellis, William Lawson and Clifford Wannamaker .

All seven contestants will have a chance to state their platforms Wednesday evening at Murray Centennial School at the annual candidates night, which commences at eight o'clock.

Cramahe Council Returned

CASTLETON (Staff) — The 1969 election campaign in Cramahe Township lasted just one hour.

That was all the time needed at the Township Hall Friday afternoon for the five-man council to be returned by acclamation.

J. F. Cochrane will begin his fifth successive term as reeve in the new year and he will be supported by deputy-reeve Harold Bedford and councillors Alex McCo m b Howard Oliver and Lyle Chatten.

The seconder of one nomination appeared to express the taxpayers general feeling when he said "Council has done a good job an I feel they have earned the right to try again."

All five terms are for one-year in this township which has a population of 2,086 and is sandwiched between Brighton Township on the east and Haldimand township on the west. Colborne lies just south of Cramahe Township.

What to Buy?

Parents Should Heed Toy Council's Recommendations

By LINDA GELDART
Staff Reporter

Trends and the newest games built to spark creativity don't impress children. They know what they want for Christmas, and they ask for it — as simple as that.

But even though children know what they want Santa Claus to bring them, parents are interested in trends, and creativity and the recommendations of the Toy Council of Canada.

The toy game, not only at Christmas time — but all the time — is a big game.

Canadians play it every year for about $200,000,000 annually. This figure allows about $30 worth of toys for each child in Canada, to assure they are creative, undeprived, and, of course, happy.

What are the trends this year?

Parents are faced with a maze of wind-up, push-pull-'em, put together and take apart toys, games plus a mountain of other things to choose from.

For little girls, dolls are still by far the biggest seller.

Dolls with long hair that don't talk, shorter ones that do, others that dance and the occasional one that swings.

Indications are that dolls are one of the most popular items on the toy market, and from the looks of things, they will remain at the top of the "must buy" list for some time to come.

Priced between $15 to $30, many of the dolls now on the market can do everything a Dancerina, the $20 innovation by Mattel of Canada Ltd. dancers, pirouettes, twirls and bows at the touch of a button in her tiara now seems to have cornered the market.

Mattel also has "Swingy" in its ranks. Dancing swinging steps, she can move her arms and head all in time to her own dancing song on a long play record.

Sebino of Italy, has come up with a sing and talking doll, with four interchangeable records. At the touch of the bellybutton she can sing three different songs, and rhyme off six phrases.

The Canadian Toy Testing Council, in its eighteen years as an independent, non-profit organization recommends to parents that toys be well-made, give good value for money, while stimulating the child's imagination.

Words of the Toy Council should be heeded by parents as a good guide. Listings of the council's toy-buying guide are published each year in the November-December issue of the Canadian Consumer magazine.

Always popular for little girls are the baking sets, plastic or miniature washers and kitchen sets.

For boys, space toys are the big thing, which, this year have replaced the popularity of war toys.

"There is a real upswing in the popularity of space toys for children. From my experience they seem to be replacing war toys as a gift for boys," was the way one retailer saw the situation.

Most of the store managers surveyed were firm in the assertion that most of the selling during Christmas is done by the younger members of the family — the children.

Where do the children get the ideas from? TV, of course.

TV advertising for toys and games goes on all year, but is heaviest and deadliest during the Christmas season.

The largest toy companies aim their commercials during prime time children's audiences — usually from 10 to 12 a.m. and just before supper.

That is the toy business in the nutshell," said one retailer. "The TV advertising just can't be beat — our sales will testify to that."

For boys, in addition to space toys, other popular items include a maze of battery-operated toys, and racing sets.

For pre-schoolers, plush toys are as popular as ever — still at the top of Santa's list for the younger set.

What to Buy the Tots

FOR ONE - YEAR - OLDS AND YOUNGER: Music boxes, mobiles, cuddly toys, nesting blocks, bath toys, lamberline.

UNDER TWO: Mallet and peg toys, wood, cloth and plastic animals — Noah's ark, indoor or outdoor swing.

Retiring Warden Thanks Councillors

PICTON (Staff) — At last night's meeting of county council, Warden George Foster observed that "the great year of '69 is drawing to a close."

He expressed his thanks to council for its gift presented to him at the recent Warden's banquet. Referring to his term as warden of Prince Edward County he said, "It has been an honor to me. I would remiss if I did not thank The Intelligencer and the Picton Gazette for the good and fair coverage they gave to the Warden's banquet last week."

He reflected that only one council meeting remains in 1969 saying, "It will be the end of a perfect year for me."

Chorus of Opposition Criticism Marks Move to Invoke Air-fare Users Tax

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons moved the country closer Tuesday to an air-fare user tax over a chorus of criticism, including flat rejection of the idea by the New Democratic Party.

Members of the Conservative Opposition tended to snipe at the tax as discriminatory. Meanwhile Max Saltzman (Waterloo), the NDP financial critic, said his group could not vote for it because it was a cover-up for a stupid air policy.

In his view, that policy had permitted the growth of privately-owned Canadian Pacific Air Lines to a major competitor to publicly-owned Air Canada. Had Air Canada been left in a monopoly position, it would have made enough money to make the user tax unnecessary.

The tax, designed to help build and operate airports, was given voice-vote second reading. It will be examined later by the House, clause by clause, before third and final reading.

It would impose a five-per-cent charge on all tickets sold for domestic flights and trips to the U.S. and the French islands of St. Pierre-Miquelon off the Canadian East Coast. A head-tax ranging from two to five dollars is in store for other overseas flights, under the amendment to the excise tax act.

Marcel Lambert (PC—Lambert) reflected some Conservative views when he said the percentage nature of the tax imposed a penalty against those living in far-flung regions of Canada. Those flying longer distances will pay more on domestic flights.

He supported the principle of the user paying for the services rendered. But people going to and from the rim of the Arctic circle "are really going to pay for it" while not using any more airport facilities than the shorthop businessman travelling between Ottawa and Toronto.

Other Conservatives took up the attack including John Lundrigan (PC—Gander-Twillingate) who said it was "hastily concocted to make a quick buck."

Gerald W. Baldwin (Peace River), the Conservative House leader, said the tax showed the government's attitude towards northern development. It was "absolutely unconscionable" to impose such a levy.

The opposition was a little kinder to the government bill seeking parliamentary approval for a series of tariff cuts already in effect as a result of the Kennedy Round of tariff-cutting negotiations.

After some criticism not aimed at the heart of the bill, it got both second and third and final reading. The cuts cover such varied items as hospital supplies and printing equipment.

Jack Horner (PC—Crowfoot), uncritical of the cuts themselves, asked the government to ensure a liberal approach by officials to the interpretation of the amendments to the customs tariff and the Excise Tax Act.

Too often, he said, officials who regulate the tariffs are too strict in interpretation, denying Canadian importers certain cuts which Parliament intended they receive.

Prime Minister Trudeau drew a torrent of criticism for a statement on the Nigerian civil war in which he said breakaway Biafra is disinclined to accept relief supplies for its starving people except in return for political advantage.

Both Conservative and NDP spokesmen accused the government of failure to support church-sponsored relief flights by slight in its emphasis on trying to arrange daylight flights through the Red Cross.

In another development, Defence Minister Cadieux said the government will continue research into biological and chemical weapons. It was for defence purposes only and Canada had no stocks of biological or chemical warfare agents.

Mr. Trudeau, in reply to NDP demands for investigation of a nickel price increase, said the federal government has found no constitutional way to control prices and wages within provincial jurisdiction.

Misunderstanding Economic Realities Problem in Agricultural Adjustment

OTTAWA (CP) — There is widespread misunderstanding in the farm community of the basic economic realities affecting the rate of adjustment within Canadian agriculture and the rewards involved, Darrel H. Pfaunt, an agricultural economist, said Tuesday.

The rate of adjustment can be stepped up to develop strong farms which share in the benefits of a growing economy, Dr. Pfaunt told the annual agricultural outlook conference.

A former professor at Guelph University, Dr. Pfaunt came here recently as director of the farm management division of the federal agriculture department's economics branch. But he stressed Tuesday that he was speaking as an individual economist and not as a departmental representative.

He said there had never been a time when the need for adjustment in the agricultural industry was so great. Nor had there been a time when the levels of employment and prosperity in other sectors of the economy were in better shape to absorb the changes.

Dr. Pfaunt spoke against the background of a survey which showed that only 174,000 of Canada's 420,000 farmers could live adequately on the $4,300,000,000 that farm the annual cash receipts for farmers.

Looking at the positive side of it, Dr. Pfaunt said 100,000 farmers leaving farms which paid them $1,500 a year and taking jobs where they earned $4,500 a year would contribute $300,000,000 more each year to the national economy.

But policies to increase the withdrawal from agriculture must be balanced by those designed to increase the adjustment within agriculture.

Policies such as early-retirement annuities, retraining, relocation grants, credit facilities to assist the move off the farm and information on non-farm employment must be balanced by schemes to increase the managerial skills of those who stay on the farm, increase the availability of credit, decrease risks through insurance and assistance for farm consolidation.

Dr. Pfaunt said the main thing is to avoid "panic policies" based on solving the problems of an individual economic unit.

Emphasis on over-production of grain had given the impression that major problems of farm readjustment were in the West, Dr. Pfaunt said. But an analysis of federal subsidies as a percentage of the net farm income showed that the most serious problems were in the East.

Federal subsidies made up eight per cent of net farm income in Canada as a whole in 1967. But the percentages in the West were: British Columbia two; Alberta five; Saskatchewan two; and Manitoba four. In the East, however, the subsidies as a percentage of farm income were: Ontario 19; Quebec 19; New Brunswick 22; and Prince Edward Island 28. Only Nova Scotia, with four per cent, was at the western level.

Gordon Hill, a director of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, said the adjustment should take land out of agriculture as well as people. If the land of the inefficient farmers was taken over by the efficient farmers, the surplus food problem would become even greater.

Roy Atkinson of Saskatoon, president of the National Farmers Union, said the farm leaders served notice years ago that adjustment policies were needed.

But as long as powerful agribusiness had the ear of government, the problem would remain unsolved for the next 10 years.

Dr. Pfaunt said the problem was so big "we had better all go at it together."

"I hope we can count on the help of farm organizations instead of having them kick us in the shins."

He said the real problem was getting money out of "a highly urban-oriented treasury board."

Albert Kristjanson of the University of Manitoba said the rate of adjustment that had taken place within agriculture over the years "has been fantastic." He said studies showed that farmers adapted to new technology just as quickly as doctors or other professional and highly-educated groups.

Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson ended the two-day session —attended by more than 200 representatives of federal and provincial governments, farm organizations and agribusiness associations—with a plea in Ottawa for more information provided by the conference into the hands of the farmers.

He complained that the government is constantly blamed for telling farmers to grow more wheat, yet the reports of 11 of the last 12 outlook conferences warned that wheat acreage should be reduced.

Provincial agriculture ministers meet Mr. Olson in Ottawa today to consider the policy implications of the conference.

Grey Cup

First $400,000 Gate

MONTREAL (CP) — Grey Fulton, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Football League, says Sunday's Grey Cup game will produce the first $400,000 gate in history.

The former Calgary statistician said Tuesday the Regina Roughriders - Ottawa Rough Riders clash will draw a crowd of 33,172 to the Autostade and a gate of $405,000.

The largest crowd ever to watch the East-West game was in 1955 when 29,417 packed Empire Stadium in Vancouver and paid $197,182.91 for the privilege at a top price of $7.50 a seat.

The next year the prices scaled up to $10 and in 1963 the scale rose to a top of $12, which led to a record gate of $342,032.50 in 1963 at Vancouver.

In 1967 the price rose again —to a $15 top—and in 1968 Calgary Stampeders and Ottawa drew 33,185 fans who paid $358,558 to watch Ottawa win 24-21.

The last time the game was here, in 1931, 5,112 fans paid a total of $5,286.42 to watch Regina Red Wings lose 32-0 to Montreal Winged Wheelers.

One who remembers the circumstances "as though it happened only an hour ago," is Clary Foran, 68, coach of the Wheelers.

Foran recalled it was in the 1931 game that the first official forward pass was thrown in East-West competition, although it had been used often in the west.

He also recalled snap Red Tellier walking up to George Gilhooley of Regina and dropping him with a single blow, thereby picking up a life suspension from football that was rescinded three years later—just long enough to make it impossible for Tellier to return to active play.

"It was a shame," said Foran. "He was picked on all the game but I was out of spares and told him he had to stay on the field.

"So he waited until after the game rather than risk being sent off."

Sunday's game gets underway at 1 p.m. EST and will be televised nationally by the CTV and CBC networks.

Surviving Grey Cup Challenge for Fans

MONTREAL (CP) — Unless you particularly enjoy watching the second half of football games through inebriated eyeballs, keeping warm at the Grey Cup game Sunday could be a problem.

Last weekend Montreal got its first blanket of snow this season and daytime temperatures, bouncing around the freezing mark, could be ready for a wintertime skid Sunday.

Add to this the reality that many women are not all that keen on football and it becomes even more of a challenge to survive the festive but frosty atmosphere of the Autostade, the open stadium on the shores of the St. Lawrence River where the game will be played.

Of course, you could salvage that antiquated racoon coat from the closet, but it will be difficult to maintain your cool when the unmistakable aroma of mothballs assails everyone.

There are other ways of sliding through the game looking fashionable, but not weighted down with cumbersome clothing.

Here's a glance at the style line-up for this fall and winter.

Thanks to modern technology, man-made fibres can be as warm as fur but pounds lighter. They also come in a tempting array of colors to suit every mood, every occasion.

Turtle necks, stand-up collars and midi-to-maxi coat lengths do their share of trapping body heat too.

Underneath the coat goes a body-hugging, ribbed and zippered jumpsuit or a pantsuit with long jacket.

The upper parts of the body are protected in crocheted berets that can be tilted over one or both ears and a long, long matching muffler to wrap around the neck. They share fashion honors with fur and fake-fur bonnets.

Both sexes get off to a good start with pile or foam-lined cossack boots. From there, the look for men is strictly rugged with tough corduroy pants stuffed into the boots and woolly sweaters under midi-length leather or suede jackets.

Computer to Run Parade

MONTREAL (CP) — The Grey Cup committee has brought in a computer to coordinate Saturday's parade leading up to the Canadian Football League final Sunday between Ottawa Rough Riders and Saskatchewan Roughriders.

All information on floats, bands, majorettes and even television commercials has been fed into the computer, which has come up with answers on average speed and order of floats and the length of time of the over-all parade.

"We know there will be five commercials throughout the program," a committee spokesman said.

"So we have broken the parade down into five units and given each one a parade master."

If a float should break down or unauthorized people try to break into the procession, the high degree of organization will make things easier to control.

"If we run into any trouble from demonstrators, we will simply inform the police," a spokesman said.

The 1½-hour parade is expected to draw about 250,000 spectators.

There will be 40 floats, compared with 26 last year in Toronto and 32 in Ottawa in 1967.

Raymond Lemieux, head of the militant Ligue pour l'Integration Scolaire, announced Tuesday his organization will participate in a demonstration Saturday.

The LIS advocates teaching in French only in Quebec schools.

Ottawa Can't Find Method To Control Prices, Wages

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government has found no constitutional way it can control prices and wages within provincial jurisdiction, Prime Minister Trudeau said in the Commons Tuesday.

He was replying to NDP demands for an investigation of recently announced 25-per-cent increases in the price of nickel. The nickel producers raised their prices following a strike-settlement increase of 22 to 30 per cent in wages.

NDP Leader T. C. Douglas asked for a public inquiry into wage and profit levels in the industry. Mr. Trudeau said there is little use in investigating every price increase unless the government has power to act on the findings. The federal government had no power to interfere in contracts signed under provincial jurisdiction.

Stanfield asked whether the government is prepared to introduce new policies to supplement its present fiscal and monetary restraints—high taxes, spending cuts, tight money and high interest rates.

Mr. Trudeau said present fiscal and monetary restraints are not sufficient in themselves, but to adopt stronger measures along those lines might involve a risk "entailing other types of evil which it is desirable to avoid."

Press Barred From Hearing

TORONTO (CP) — A preliminary hearing continued Tuesday into the cases of four men charged in connection with the alleged loss of more than $3,000,000 by British Mortgage and Trust Co. and Canada Trust-Huron and Erie.

Lawyers for the four asked and were granted an order under the Criminal Code which forbids press coverage of the hearing.

One lawyer said Tuesday he expects the hearing, being conducted by Provincial Judge S. Tupper Bigelow, to continue for six weeks.

Charged are Wilfrid P. Gregory of Stratford, Ont., former president of British Mortgage; Roy Calladine; Arthur C. Duncan, former mortgage manager of Canada Trust; and Lawrence Facey.

Calladine is charged with fraud, conspiracy and theft. Facey is charged with conspiracy and the other two are charged with both conspiracy and fraud.

Lawyer: Should Scrap Animal Research Bill

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government's controversial animal research bill was blasted by a Toronto lawyer Tuesday and endorsed by members of the medical profession.

Lawyer Ralph S. McCreath, who said he represented 35 private Toronto citizens, told the legislature committee examining the bill the measure should be scrapped and a commission set up to find instead the animal research needs of the medical profession.

"The public wants to know just what the medical people want," he said as a crowd of about 100 applauded.

"This type of legislation was tried in England and California and abandoned."

He said a judicial body should hear submissions and recommended legislation.

Earlier D. G. Sinclair, professor of physiology at Queen's at some stage in their existence animals for research will result in "graduating inadequately-trained students as doctors, dentists and nurses."

Steelworkers' Union Holds Annual Banquet

Eamon Park, guest speaker at the annual banquet of local 4654 of the United Steelworkers' Union, said that this local is unique in that it has the same wage structure as the USA, and that during negotiations with the big steel companies in the USA, nothing is settled until the demands at the Marmoraton Mining Company are met. Assistant National Director of the United Steelworkers Union of District 6, Mr. Park also brought to the attention of his listeners the advantages that the Marmoraton Mining Company has brought to this community.

The dinner attended by over 200 members of the union and their wives, was held at the Royal Hotel. Head table guests included Mr. and Mrs. Park, Rev. Douglas Miller, who said grace, and Mrs. Miller, Mr. Bill Powell, area representatives, and Mrs. Powell of Peterborough, Reeve Wilson Shannon of Marmora Village, Reeve John Wilkes of Marmora Township and Mrs. Wilkes, Cecil Bell, president of the local union and Mrs. Bell, and Glen Derry, vice-president.

Presentations of tie clips and cuff links were made by Glen Derry to the following union members on the occasion: John Stenebaugh, Gary Heath, Jim Robinson, Lorne Bowen, Jim Peach, Clarence Wallbridge and Frank Binds.

Welcoming guests was president, Cecil Bell, who later announced that he would not run for office in the next June 1970 election.

Lucky door prize winner of electric knife was Miss Mary Anne McCurdy.

After the banquet, the guests adjourned to the Town Hall for an evening of dancing to the music of Gordon Grills and the Road Rangers of Brampton.

Local Pigeons Dominate Fair, Bring 30 Ribbons to Belleville

Tom Woodcock of Belleville journeyed to the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto this year with 43 prized pigeons and emerged with his second straight championship.

The West St. resident captured the Tippler Breed Championship for his second consecutive year.

His racing homer also won his class before going on to win the most featured award in the competitions — the championship flying bird of the show.

In all, Woodcock's birds brought him 10 firsts, nine seconds and 11 thirds.

Tom Woodcock started racing pigeons in 1953 but didn't enter competition until 1957.

His and wife Evelyn's birds — over 100 in all — are all of their own breed.

They have nine different species; Modena, Magpies, Chinese Owls, Clean-Legged Tumblers, Show Pen Racers, Racing Homers, Show Kings, Frizal Tipplers and White Flight Tipplers.

"With the birds being fed daily, watered twice a day and bathed once a week, our job is a 365 days a year proposition," says Woodcock.

"Along with those tasks each bird is bathed again, has beak trimmed, feet cleaned, hands shone and feathers dressed before each show."

The life expectancy of those birds is between 12-15 years with a young pigeon ready to "take off into the wild blue yonder" about 30 days after hatching.

Mr. Woodcock also enjoys the sport of training his own racing pigeons. Each morning he treks 25 or 30 miles with them so that they can use their radar - like instinct to find their way home. This exercise builds up the bird's muscles and prepares him for long competitive flights.

In June of 1964 his pigeons won a 600 and 700 mile race in the same weekend.

Financial reward is restricted to a minimum with travel expenses and feed costs very high.

Victoria, Grey Trust Fiscal Profits Increase

Victoria and Grey Trust Company reported a profit before income tax of $3,824,564 for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1969, compared to $3,344,310 in 1968.

Earnings per common share after income tax amounted to $1.36 per share in 1969 compared to $1.12 in 1968. Company funds increased from $25,349,725 in 1968 to $27,147,138 in 1969. The total of Trust Deposits and Guaranteed Investment Certificates rose from $312,439,244 to $365,660,206. Total assets under administration increased from $385,119,544 to $445,426,337.

The Company reported the following reserves as at Oct. 31: Accumulated reserves for mortgages and investments $9,000,000; general reserve $1,000,000.

A quarterly dividend on the common shares was declared in the amount of 18 cents per share payable Dec. 15, 1969 to shareholders of record Nov. 28, 1969. The previous quarterly dividend was 18 cents per share.

The directors also declared the regular quarterly dividend on the preference shares in the amount of 68.875 cents per share payable Feb. 1, 1970 to shareholders of record Jan. 16, 1970.

Jews' Fate Sparks Row

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United States and the Soviet Union clashed Tuesday over the question of the position of Jews in the Soviet Union.

Israel, which introduced the whole matter, and the United Nations itself also came under fire.

A Soviet letter was circulated as UN documents strongly protesting what it called the "provocative and slanderous" action of Israel in asking for help from Secretary-General U Thant for 18 families in Soviet Georgia wishing to emigrate to Israel.

The Soviet Union entered strong objections to the presentation by Rita Hauser of the United States and prevented her from completing the reading of a letter she said came from one Soviet family.

RE-ELECT ALDERMAN

ARNOLD ORR

As a comparative newcomer to civic politics I have been surprised at the amount of time an Alderman is expected to spend on City business. To date this year I have attended 141 civic function and meetings having to do with our City's business. As a retired educationist I am in a position to give the time necessary to properly assume these responsibilities. If re-elected as one of your representatives I shall continue to devote whatever time is needed to adequate attention to the proper administration of our City's affairs.

Sincerely,
Arnold Orr

BEDS FOR DECORATION?

Used since ancient times as a substitute for sleeping on the floor, beds were also a important piece of decorative furniture, especially in Europe where they had inlaid designs and costly draperies. Now design today is much more functional, yet very pleasing to the eye and room design.

Now that the children are grown, there may be some empty bedrooms in your home, you can sell them with an Intelligencer Want Ad . . . just by dialing 962-2171 and ask for Classified Ads.

School Holds Education Courses for Pupils' Parents

NAPANEE—The last of five courses for interested parents was held in the H. H. Langford School not long ago. Each of five successive Monday evenings was devoted to some phase of education, with speakers each evening especially knowledgeable in that particular phase. A discussion followed in each case, and was continued over coffee and doughnuts.

The good attendance and the lively discussions proved that parents of that school are indeed interested, and the net result should benefit both the parents and their children.

Principal Dale Clarke acknowledges that he arranged the courses as much for his own benefit as for the benefit of the parents, as education is changing so rapidly today that it is hard for anyone to keep up with the trends.

Mr. R. A. Dodds, superintendent for the Lennox and Addington Board of Education, was the speaker for the first meeting, laying the foundation for the rest of the course by explaining the new thinking with respect to education.

Experience as the basis for learning fwas the theme of the second evening with Mrs. Gordon Reynolds, primary consultant for the county board speaking on language experience, in teaching English. Mr. Wilf English, mathematics consultant for the area, spoke on experience as the basis for teaching that subject.

The third evening revealed what parents expect of the school. All three speakers, Mrs. Gordon Hammond, Mrs. Eric Kalser and Harry Rands, are parents. Mrs. Hammond teaches kindergarten of the H. H. Langford School, and Mr. Rands is the principal of the Westdale Park School. All agreed that free communication between school and parent was essential. Mr. Rands said that as a principal he was experimenting, and believed that a written report card plus frequent interviews would prove to be the best method.

The health of the child was treated in the fourth class of the course. Dr. Mulligan of the Kingston Frontenac - Lennox and Addington Health Unit, outlined the general rules for maintaining the health of the child. Dr. Mulligan's question period parents advocated sex education in the schools. Lorne Vershaller, who heads the physical education department of the Napanee District Secondary School, spoke enthusiastically of the work of his department, and of what it meant to a school, if only as an aid to school spirit and as a means of expression to some who might otherwise be drop-outs.

The final evening dealt with the exceptional child, and the speakers was Mr. Pat Slack, disciplinarian for the county board. The exceptional children are those who are brilliant as well as those who are slow he said. They represent only about ten per cent of the pupils, but take up a great deal of a teachers time, as they require individual attention.

Parents agreed that the course had been worthwhile and commended Principal Clarke for arranging it.

Toronto Livestock

TORONTO (CP) — Trading was active at strong to higher prices for all classes and grades of slaughter cattle at the Ontario public stockyards today.

Veal calf prices were steady; hogs higher, lambs stronger.

Replacement cattle 1,780: Good feeders and feeders 29-34; good stock steer calves 38-42; good stock heifer calves 33-36; common and medium stockers and feeders 25-28.

Calves 468: Choice vealers 30-33 with sales to 34; good 28-30; medium 23-26; common 25-27; bobers 20-24.

Sheep and lambs 155: Good handyweight lambs 33-35; lights to 40; sheep 8-15.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market lost a small opening gain and declined fractionally in light mid-morning trading today.

A six-day slump was interrupted Tuesday with a small advance.

On index, industrials were down .33 to 184.16. Base metals were up .28 to 115.01, golds .25 to 162.51 and western oils .13 to 198.69.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 461,000 shares compared with 551,000 at the same time Tuesday.

Losses outnumbered gains 104 to 108 with 183 issues unchanged.

Falconbridge gained ¾ to 169 and Sherritt ¼ to 184¼. Inco slipped ¼ to 43¾.

All three nickel producers raised their prices by about 24 cents per pound this week.

Lacanex Mining was listed for trading today and traded at $1.40 on 1,300 shares.

Gaz Metropolitan was unchanged at 14¾. The stock splits 2-for-1 Thursday.

Canada Iron Homestead was down ¼ to 15¼. CPR ¼ to 71¼, Mattagami ¼ to 27¼, Power ¼ to 13 and Consolidated Bathurst ¾ to 22¾.

Fraser gained ¾ to 27¼, Osiwa was A ½ to 29c and Canada Cement ¼ to 29.

On index Tuesday, industrials closed up .27 to 184.49 after being up 1.30 in the first 2½ hours of trading. Golds gained .55 to 162.26. Base metals slipped .35 to 114.73 and western oils .43 to 198.56.

Volume was 2,458,000 shares compared with 2,256,000 Monday.

Losses outnumbered declines 304 to 215 with 262 issues unchanged.

Trading in Revenue was suspended by the exchange. The stock did not trade Monday but closed last Friday at $2.70, up five cents.

Revenue's senior officials resigned at the company's annual meeting Monday and the meeting was adjourned.

The exchange said resumption of trading will be considered only after an annual meeting at which "suitable" audited financial statements have been presented.

Falconbridge rose 1¼ to 159¼ and Inco ¾ to 44. Sherritt slipped ¼ to 184.

Falconbridge followed Inco and Sherritt and increased its nickel prices by about 23 per cent.

Electrohome rose 1¾ to 41¾ after the company announced nine-month earnings of $2.54 a share compared with 39 cents in the similar 1968 period.

Victoria and Grey gained ¼ to 17¼. The company had annual earnings of $1.36 a share by Mrs. M. Blakely.

STOP KILLING YOURSELF

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.
Author of "The Doctor Looks At Life"

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: The world has ended for me. I am so depressed I don't care what happens any more. Drugs haven't helped. I suppose I'll just have to wait around to die or do something drastic. — Mrs. M.

Comment: People who have never suffered deep mental aberrations can't possibly imagine how lonely a battle such patients engage in day after day. When one has a pain, others flutter around him trying to alleviate it. When one is in a depression, those who surround him (family or friends) begin to look upon him as a bore and a trial.

They call him everything from hypochondriac to overserious sot. How true it is that people with "nerves" suffer more than those with actual organic illness like heart trouble or ulcers. They suffer without sympathy or understanding.

There are various degrees of chronic anxiety and depression.

For example, here is a woman too frightened to leave the house to go shopping for groceries.

Here is a man who can not work in an office building because he is afraid to go above the second floor.

Here is a woman who no longer can go to church or to the movies because she is in panic when closed in. She sits on the aisle seat so she can jump up and run out when the fear oppresses her.

Such unhappy people may go on in chronic anxiety for years. In most cases I have seen, at last it wears out sufficiently for the patient to engage in normal ways of life.

But the depressed patient is something else again. I suggest, Mrs. M., you consider the advisability of taking a few shock treatments. Most people abhor this. Moreover they believe they will have a permanent loss of memory. This is not so.

Ask your doctor. When medicines do not help, I believe the severely depressed patient should consult a psychiatrist; most practicing physicians haven't the time or ability to manage a severe depression.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: When so many people have such serious problems, I feel badly about asking for advice on a minor item. But it is worrisome to me.

I am a 46-year-old secretary and in good health. My problem is my fingernails. As long as I take two calcium tablets a day, my nails are sturdy and strong. But when I stop the calcium, they split, break and peel back. Is it harmful to take calcium? — Mrs. S.

Comment: Unless your doctor finds specific contraindications, there's no harm. Be thankful that it's effective. So many have tried calcium — and scores of other sought-for remedies — without any helpful effect.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Do you have any practical advice for wives of men who are going through the change of life? — Mrs. A.

Comment: Just as men should stand by their women in any troublesome dilemma, I think wives should realize that men may also go through a psychological adjustment in their middle years. If your husband is depressed or "more difficult than he used to be, your job is to get him to your doctor. Some men need medical management during the male climacteric.

Deep Depression Is Heavy Burden

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For November 27

Your birthday today: Simplicity is promised in your personal life in the coming year and perhaps several years. Your view of the world broadens and you see your share in it more clearly. Material and intangible responsibilities that clutter your life come up for review. Sentimental interests, deepen steadily.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Be sociable, make your peace with those you've differed from lately. Your home can be improved with fairly simple corrective measures.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Co-operation comes easily. Answer direct questions one at a time rather than lecturing. Handled thus everything functions smoothly.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Easier work seems to bring higher earnings. Not very much will be accomplished today, but you will be quite happy with human progress. Overeating is probable.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Pursuit of emotional concern crowds your vocation bit today. Try to get all routines in despite the welcome distraction.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): The pressure of everyday operations is down somewhat, so you can take time for personal concerns. Health care is eventually very important. Learn more about regimen, symptoms of trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Hints of happy romance set the day's mood for you. Offer apologies, mend your contacts, and build up your productive potential. Short trips could be profitable.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): There is little extra energy in today's performance, but conditions generally favor normal results, good earnings. Emotional development progresses.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Self-improvement becomes critical. Begin courses of study, buy texts. Better working equipment is an asset.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Joint finances come in for discussion, but don't stir up matters with quick changes. Review your wardrobe, think of what image you wish most to project, dress accordingly. Romantic excitement comes suddenly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Patch up differences, start afresh. Share the fun of what comes from your achievements by way of a modest celebration tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Today is fairly productive, but not exciting. Personal relations remain at the same levels. Find time for serious study, perhaps some planning.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): The temptation is to seek pleasure while neglecting obligation. Strive for a reasonable balance. Much can be done.

Biafrans Attach Unacceptable Conditions to Flights - - - PM

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is resolved to find a way to get relief supplies into Biafra, Prime Minister Trudeau has told the Commons.

Tuesday that the Biafran rebel regime has attached unacceptable political conditions to an agreement on daylight flights into the secessionist region of eastern Nigeria.

Canada now was considering alternative means of delivering relief to Biafra by daylight, while continuing to believe that daylight flights under agreed procedures were the only practicable scheme for expanding relief operations.

The government's concern was with the innocent civilian victims of the tragic Nigerian civil war.

"Delivering adequate food and relief supplies to these people must be our resolve, notwithstanding the disinclination of the Ojukwu regime to accept it, except in return for political advantage."

Until now, relief flights into Biafra have been solely a nocturnal operation. However, the federal Nigerian government no longer grants safe passage to such flights because they allegedly serve as a cover for gun-running flights.

Canada has refused to support church groups which continue to fly supplies into Biafra by night in defiance of the Nigerian blockade. The International Red Cross, whose policy Canada backs, discontinued night operations some months ago and has been engaged in a thus-far futile attempt to work out an arrangement for daylight flights.

Mr. Trudeau's Commons statement drew stiff criticism from Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield, who accused the prime minister of casting a "very harsh judgment" on Gen. Odumegwu Ojukwu, Ibbo reb leader.

"The people of Canada are aroused as never before by the callous stubbornness of the prime minister and the government in the face of one of the great human tragedies of our time."

Andrew Brewin (NDP—Toronto Greenwood) said it is ridiculous that Canada does not help the night-time relief flights. At the same time, he maintained that the charge that Gen. Ojukwu does not want daylight flights is not in accordance with facts.

Creditiste Leader Real Caouette supported the government and criticized Mr. Stanfield for not stating what he would do if he were prime minister.

Meanwhile, a day-long debate on Biafra has been scheduled for Thursday.

MLAs To Get $18,000

TORONTO (CP) — Members of the Ontario legislature will get pay increases of at least 50 per cent in legislation to be introduced soon by Premier Robarts.

The Star, The Telegram and The Globe and Mail say all members will receive $18,000 a year, retroactive to the start of the fiscal year April 1.

Cabinet ministers are expected to receive $34,000 to $36,000 and Premier Robarts up to $45,000. He now earns $30,000.

The raises—$6,000 to $7,000 a year to all members, depending on whether they are from Toronto-area them at the level of parliamentary members in Ottawa and Quebec City.

The figures were approved by cabinet Wednesday after being worked out by Mr. Robarts, Liberal Leader Robert Nixon and New Democratic Party Leader Donald MacDonald.

The proposed pay scales end the traditional pay distinction between Toronto and non-Toronto members.

Those from outside Metropolitan Toronto—91 of 117—now are paid $6,000 in taxable salary and $4,000 in a tax-free expense allowance. Their over-all pay increase is 38 per cent.

Metro members also receive $6,000 basic salary but only $3,-000 expenses. Their salary increase—to $12,000 from $8,000—is a 50-per-cent raise but the hike in expense allowance is 100 per cent—to $6,000 from $3,000.

Cabinet ministers with portfolios, as well as Mr. Nixon, now receive the $6,000 members' salary, the expense allowance of $3,000 or $6,000 or subsidiary salary of $12,000 and a special representation allowance of $2,000 for a total of $22,000 or $26,000.

Ministers without portfolio get a ministerial salary of $5,000 and a representation allowance of $1,000. Mr. Roberts' $30,000 comes from the $18,000 cabinet salary plus $6,000 prime ministerial salary.

Details of the new arrangements will not be known until Mr. Roberts brings in amendments to the Legislative Assembly Act and the Executive Council Act.

Talks Possible With Provinces On Inflation

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Wednesday that if the prices and incomes commission is unable to get agreement on cost restraints in Canada, he will be anxious to take the problem of inflation before a federal-provincial conference, tentatively scheduled for early in 1970.

He was replying to questions from Max Saltsman (NDP—Waterloo), who asked whether Mr. Trudeau would try to get agreement from the provinces for constitutional authority to deal with price controls.

Montreal Cold For Moon Men

MONTREAL (CP) — The three Apollo 11 humonauts, publicly welcomed in nearly every city they have visited, are not scheduled for a public appearance when they come to Montreal next week.

Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin and Michael Collins, the first three men to the moon, have met crowds and friendliness in most cities from New York to Belgrade in their American-sponsored world tour.

At a news conference Wednesday, a spokesman for the National Research Council which has organized the visit said the astronauts could not make a public appearance in Montreal "because it's cold in Montreal in early December."

After arriving at Montreal airport at 10 a.m. next Wednesday, Dec. 3, the astronauts are asked to go to the CBC for an interview and then to a private lunch at the city-run Hotese de Champlain restaurant on St. Helen's Island before leaving the airport for the United States at 2:30 p.m.

Photos of Massacre Appall Congressmen

Frank Exposure Of Facts Sought

WASHINGTON (CP) — Congressmen, appalled by color pictures of the alleged massacre of South Vietnamese civilians by U.S. soldiers, received support from the White House Wednesday night in their attempt to force a frank exposure by the army of the incident at My Lai hamlet in 1968.

Two senators charged that military officers in Vietnam deliberately covered up the report of massacre and one senator said the ultimate count may be 300 to 700 dead.

The Washington Post reported that the defence department may set up a special war crimes commission to try former servicemen for alleged Vietnam atrocities.

While defence department officials gave Congress a report on known facts of the My Lai incident, White House spokesman Ronald Ziegler said "appropriate action is and will be taken to assure that illegal and inexcusable conduct, as alleged, be dealt with in accordance with the strict rules of military justice."

Army Secretary Stanley Resor testified Wednesday before closed sessions of the Senate armed services committee and the investigating subcommittee of the House of Representatives armed services committee.

His testimony included not only a written documentation but also photographs and color slides which, one congressman said, "turned my stomach."

Representative Leslie Arends (Rep. Ill.), who left the House hearings midway, said the pictures were "pretty gruesome."

"That's why I walked out. I've got one of three queasy stomachs."

Senator Daniel Inouye (Dem. Hawaii), who lost an arm in Italy during the Second World War, said afterward: "I have been in combat and thought I would be hardened. But frankly, I must say I'm a bit sick."

A censored transcript of Resor's evidence was released after the hearings.

The army secretary said: "It is difficult to convey the feelings of shock and dismay which I and other civilian and military leaders of the army have experienced as the tragedy of My Lai has gradually unfolded before us."

Senator Richard S. Schweiker (Rep. Pa.) said he is convinced there was a "premeditated coverup of the My Lai incident." He added, however, that he thought the cover-up "doesn't go to the ultimate top leadership in Vietnam. It does go fairly high up in the chain of command in the infantry officers."

Senator Stephen Young (Dem. Ohio) said officers in Vietnam had told of the 72th Infantry Brigade who were in the My Lai area set to write in their servicemen. The senator said officers "whitewashed it," but that "murder on such a huge scale, 300 to 700 civilians, cannot be whitewashed."

Representative William L. Dickinson (Rep. Ala.) said Resor and his aides told House armed services committee members that between 120 and 300 Vietnamese were killed at My Lai.

Resor said the army is still investigating "the extent to which any members of Company C were acting pursuant to orders from their company commander or higher headquarters when they destroyed My Lai's buildings and fired upon its unarming inhabitants."

The secretary said the question of orders was one of the "critical issues" that would have to be resolved.

Resor said it may be several months before all the allegations in the incident are evaluated.

South Vietnam Papers Praise American Press

SAIGON (Reuters) — South Vietnamese newspapers today praised the American press for revealing details of an alleged massacre of South Vietnamese civilians by U.S. soldiers and criticized the Saigon government for its reaction to the U.S. reports.

Today the influential Chinh Luan (Right Discussion) said the government's attitude to the reports would lead to misunderstanding and hatred.

"On the Republic of Vietnam side, every effort is aimed at reducing the importance of the massacre and this will only make the attitude of the authorities misunderstood and hated by the people," it said in a front-page editorial.

SAIGON (AP) — About 300 American soldiers and a handful of military doctors and nurses at an army hospital in Pleiku skipped U.S. Thanksgiving Day dinner today to protest the Vietnam war.

Egypt Rejects U.S. Plan For Mideast Settlement

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt has officially rejected the latest U.S. proposal for peace in the Middle East, a Cairo newspaper reported today.

The authoritative newspaper, Al Gumhuriya said Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad had sent U.S. State Secretary William Rogers a note saying Egypt rejects "the principle of a piecemeal settlement" and believes any acceptable peace proposal must deal with the Middle East issue as a whole.

The United States has not made its proposal public, but sources in Cairo say it calls for a bilateral settlement between Israel and Egypt, followed by talks to reach agreements among Israel and other Arab nations.

The authoritative newspaper, Al Gumhuriya said Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad had sent U.S. State Secretary William Rogers a note saying Egypt rejects "the principle of a piecemeal settlement" and believes any acceptable peace proposal must deal with the Middle East issue as a whole.

The United States has not made its proposal public, but sources in Cairo say it calls for a bilateral settlement between Israel and Egypt, followed by talks to reach agreements among Israel and other Arab nations.

The United States presented the proposal to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin in Washington Nov. 4. There has been no report of a response by the Russians.

The Israeli military command said today Arab gunners shelled an Israeli settlement on the occupied Golan Heights Wednesday night, while at the Suez canal two Israelis were killed and three wounded in a mortar exchange.

U. S. Rail Strike Threatened

WASHINGTON (AP) — The threat of a country-wide rail shutdown has been renewed as unions and railways prepared to enter marathon bargaining sessions Friday aimed at reaching a wage agreement before a government-imposed no-strike period runs out next Wednesday.

William W. Winpisinger, chief negotiator for four shopcraft unions seeking higher wages, delivered letters to local officers across the United States to "be prepared on extremely short notice to launch one or more strike actions."

The unions, whose plans to strike last Oct. 3 were voided by a presidential declaration of emergency, contend talks with management thus far have been fruitless.

Scientists Delighted with Moon Haul

Asked for Large Rocks, Astronauts 'Didn't Cheat One Bit'

HOUSTON (AP) — Scientists say rocks brought back from the moon by the Apollo 12 astronauts are larger than those returned by the Apollo 11 crew in July.

The first part of the collection is dominated by softball-sized stones and includes some more than six inches long and five inches in diameter. All are covered with fine grey dust.

"The astronauts were asked to bring back big rocks if they could, and they didn't cheat us one bit," said Dr. Dan Anderson, curator of the Lunar Receiving Laboratory.

The first of two chests filled by Charles Conrad and Alan Bean was opened at the laboratory Wednesday night. Inside were two bags of rocks, a 16-inch core tube that had been pushed into the lunar soil to gather subsurface material, and considerable dark moon dust.

Included in the collection were two of the largest lunar crystalline rocks seen so far. Each was more than five inches in length and weighed between three and four pounds.

Anderson said it had "quite a few visible bits in it which were rather sparkly. It looks like an igneous (molten) rock . . . we have quite a few of these with the Apollo 11 rocks.

"We're very interested in the crystalline structures. So we're pleased to get such large crystalline samples."

Scientists begin to study the treasure from the moon, the astronauts who collected it from the Ocean of Storms remained in their quarantine trailer aboard the carrier Hornet, which plucked them from the ocean Monday.

From Hawaii, the trailer and the astronauts will be flown to the Lyndon B. Johnson Space Center, arriving early Saturday for 19 more days of quarantine.

More Jobs

Ground Broken for New Sports Firm

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

A slight tap on a spade yesterday injected a $1,800,000 construction - and - jobs shot into Belleville's economy.

The name on the symbol i c hypodermic is Wilson Sports Equipment — the U.S. world - marketing enterprise that now is Belleville's latest industrial acquisition.

Yester d a y ' s ceremonies stamped the Wilson name on Chisholm soil for the first time — the chosen site of production also breaking the virgin ground of Belleville's north-west industrial park.

The spike, driven by Wilf Fisher, pegged the spot where construction now will begin on the plant initially employing about 70 Bellevillians.

The official work force will be employed in manufacturing the company's brand-name golf clubs, said Mr. Fisher.

"If this project succeeds, as I'm sure it will, we hope it'll provide us the b a s e upon which to expand into other products," added the Wilson official.

"We're looking forward with great enthusiasm and optimism to Wilson's future in Canada."

Establishment of the plant also drew a $400,000 benevolence loan from the Ontario government under the industrial-adjustment program.

But there were other contributing factors for selecting Belleville over other communities, said Mr. Fisher.

He cited: "favorable assistance" from the city's industrial commission and its commissioner, Ray Brown; interest shown by the mayor's office and Belleville's central market location.

Mayor Russell Scott said the Wilson decision was "another example" of Belleville's progress.

Also on hand for the ceremony's modest send-off was Joseph Drebot sales manager in Canada.

Prince Edward Chamber Asks For Piasecki to State Intent

By MARGARET HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Prince Edward County Chamber of Commerce, last, night carried a motion to issue a letter to the federal government requesting that Piasecki Aircraft Canada, Ltd., state its intentions regarding the future of the former Camp Picton.

A copy of the letter, which will be scrutinized at the next meeting of the chamber's board of directors, will be sent to Piasecki Aircraft.

The motion suggesting this letter was forwarded by Chamber of Commerce member Jay Hepburn at a dinner meeting at Prince Edward Yacht Club last night.

"What is going to happen to the facilities on the hill?", he demanded. Piasecki has a tiny sign up there — that's all. I think this Chamber of Commerce should get up and ask whether or not these people are going to operate. I think we agree as taxpayers that we should know what is going on," said Mr. Hepburn.

Following his comments Mr. Jack Purtelle, a vice-president and a former Chamber of Commerce secretary, moved the motion to request a statement of intent concerning the aircraft company's Picton base.

"I am in agreement with Mr. Hepburn's feeling that there is dormancy at the former Camp Picton," stated Mr. Purtelle.

He added that he had been disillusioned for he felt that Piasecki Aircraft intended to come to Picton immediately when they agreed to purchase a portion of the former military base last spring.

President of the chamber, Gordon Lloyd, observed that at a meeting last spring that Mr. Piasecki had given the Chamber of Commerce his assurance. "We should have his assurance again," said Mr. Lloyd.

A second motion, forwarded by Lindley Calnan, requested the chamber to direct a letter to the Ontario government inquiring into the future of Craig Barracks and other remaining buildings belonging to the former Camp Picton.

Mayor H. J. McFarland said some time ago expressed his hopes that these buildings could be converted into a hospital for the aged and the mentally ill. While inspectors have toured the site and a decision was expected last month by the mayor, no official announcement has been made by the government concerning the project.

The chamber carried this motion with the understanding that the drafted letter will be examined at the next board of directors meeting.

The 42nd annual convention of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association swung into its second and final day today.

The area cheesemakers' committee got under way yesterday afternoon at the Sun Valley Motor Inn with addresses of welcome from association president Douglas Reid of Campbellford, Belleville Mayor J. Russell Scott and Hastings County Warden Donald W. Rodgers.

Guest at the two - day convention is Ontario Dairy Princess Miss Lorene Arnbrust of Peel County who presently reigns from a three week trip to the United Kingdom where she promoted the Ontario dairy industry.

Today, Miss Lorene County Dairy Princess Diane Gumlag and Prince Edward Princess Dorothy Parks will be convention guests.

One of the keynote speakers at yesterday's session was R. J. Cook, industry to convert from can-cooled milk to bulk storage.

The speaker said the No. 2 industrial milk pool would take in 17,000 producers, 137 plants, 541 transporters and more than 2300 producers who hauled their own milk.

The industrial milk producers in the Quinte area would be in what is known as Region 2, he said. It includes Ontario County on the west, to Perth Road in Frontenac County on the east.

Other speakers heard during the afternoon session included Dr. D. M. Irvine, department of food science, University of Guelph, Dr. W. A. Wood of the food research institute, Canada Department of Agriculture, who talked on cheddar flavor development; W. R. Reddelmeier, senior economist of the provincial dairy research section of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, and J. Trebble, dairy food industry consultant.

Rev. Peter M. Tutt of St. Thomas Anglican Church told cheesemakers not to take life all work and no play.

"Take time off from business for leisure," said Mr. Tutt. "You owe it to your family and to yourselves.

Mayor Russell Scott said yesterday he had received assurances from Ottawa that the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment would not be affected by cutbacks of Canada's militia establishment.

The regiment, with its headquarters at Belleville, is part of Quinte-district history, symbolizing a militia tradition dating back to the early 1800s.

Present commander of the regiment, Lt. Col. F. Ross Allen, indicated militia u n i t s have been concerned for some months about possible abolition.

First hint of impending possible reductions came with the report of a survey which proposed up to a 50 per cent reduction.

"With this proposal t h e r e was a possibility that the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment would be removed from the order of battle," he said.

Mayor Scott said he had received a telephone call from a defence department source late yesterday indicating the regiment would survive any national cutbacks.

The mayor, who did not name his source, said he had been told his "p e e s have been heeded."

"The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment will be retained in the city of Belleville" said the mayor. "This means the armory will not be closed up."

(The armory, in downtown Belleville, is used for various community activities besides regimental business.)

Lt. Col. Allen said the mayor had "done a great deal" on the regiment's behalf about the possible abolition first caused worry among its members.

The unit now parades 133 men — more than double the strength of some militia groups in Ontario, said the commanding officer.

A final decision on national militia groupings has yet to be made, but Lt. Col. Allen would not speculate on how it would affect the historic old Quinte regiment.

"I'm pleased that it's remaining in existence," he said. "It's indicative of the unit's high standard of training and its relatively large size compared to other regiments in the province."

For 9 Miles There Was Oil and Printer's Ink

TRENTON (Staff) — Residents of Trenton and district experienced a dangerous oddity last weekend — an island oil slick.

The slick was actually a combination of parts of Ink and stove oil, accidentally spread on a mile of town streets and some of the 9 miles of highway and country roads west of here.

The incident occurred when a truck, equipped for waste-book disposal, pumped out an ink tank at the town's tri-weekly newspaper, The Trentonian.

Stove oil had been mistakenly pumped into the ink tank last week, said truck owner Louis Noddin, RR 2 Brighton.

An employee of Mr. Reddon's pumped out the container, closed the truck's shutoff valve and headed out on the 8.4-mile trip home.

But, said Mr. Reddon, the oil was too thin and drained through the valve designed for the heavier sludge removed from septic tanks.

The truck left its oily track along Queen and Dundas West streets, Highway 2, the Wooler Road and the English Settlement Road — where the driver first spotted the leak.

But, first indication he had of the extent of the slick was when a Trenton police cruiser pulled up in the Reddon yard. The officers had followed the trail from town.

The slick was eight feet wide in spots.

Immediate result of the mishap was sanding of affected streets by public works crews.

Police say they are still investigating the incident.

He's Head Cheesemaker

Champion cheesemaker at the British Empire Dairy Show in Belleville this week is Ted Foley, maker at the Foxboro Cheese Factory just north of Belleville in Thurlow Township.

Mr. Foley won the honor with a June cheese in the open class with a score of 98.35 points.

More than 160 cheese were entered in the show which is being held at 125 Front Street where prize cheese will be on display until noon next Saturday noon.

The show is being held in conjunction with the 42nd annual convention of Central Ontario Cheesemakers'. It concludes this evening with a banquet and dance at Club Caesars.

This is the second time Mr. Foley has taken top honors at the Belleville show. He was top maker at the show in 1967. Douglas Rowe of Warkworth was champion maker last year.

Reserve champion in this year's show was Yves Leroux of Baldwinsville, Ont., in the Perth area.

Mr. Foley took first place in four of the six open classes for large round and block cheese. Douglas Rowe of Warkworth won the open September/class while Donald Dolan of Ivanhoe took first in the Stilton class.

Mr. Foley also won first place in the British Empire class and in the Mature class. Reserve champion, Yves Leroux won the manufacturer's class.

Ron Lain of Stirling won the Hastings County block cheese class and also took the prize for the best finished cheese. Donald Pollock of Campbellford won the factory cheese display.

Keith Hobbs, Hastings County, took the Bank of Montreal award as the fieldman whose area factories won the greatest amount of prize money in the regular classes.

This year's cheese show attracted entries from more than 30 makers across Ontario.

In his key - day, during World War two, 60 or more cheesemakers, many of them from Quebec, competed in the show, with a peak of 500 cheese being entered. Cheese factory amalgamations have sharply reduced the number of makers, although the number of cheese entered this year was comparable to 1968.

Curtain Calls, Bravos Echoed Dark of Moon's Smash Debut

By HARRY GRILLS
Staff Reporter

It was a standing ovation and a well - deserved one for the cast of Belleville's first youth-theatre production opening, Dark of the Moon, last night at the Pinnacle Playhouse.

Testifying to the excellence of the production were six curtain calls and a series of loud "bravos".

The best term to describe the effect of the completely youth - handled production on its first audience was acclaimment.

The costume designs, the sound and lighting effects, the acting, all aspects of the play received plaudits and compliments.

Top theatrical personalities from Kingston, Toronto and Ottawa were in attendance as were representatives from the department of education, youth and recreation branch.

John Hill, executive director of the Dominion Drama Festival, described the production as "excellent".

Jerry Tiskin, producer of the St. Lawrence Summer Playhouse said, "It's the first piece of true Canadian theatre I've seen in Canada."

And excellent it was. The lighting and sound effects designed by Dave Fisher and handled by Chris Beemaster, coupled with the authentic and creative costume designs by Lindsey Hallam, did much to provide the macabre atmosphere needed to begin the play and bring it to its dramatic conclusion.

The story surrounds a witchboy who, because of his love for a human girl, requests to be changed into a human. He is granted his request on the condition that the girl, Barbara Allen, be true to him for a full year.

The setting is in the mountains of the United States where superstition and religion play against one another through the minds of the hill people in that area.

Dark of the Moon provides impetus for all sorts of emotions — laughter, fear, even disgust.

The religion revival scene is so ably carried off as to put the audience in the midst of the fervor and best of being saved by "the blood of the lamb."

The last scene instills a feeling of fear, anger and disgust as the forces of evil win out and produce not only a tragedy, but a travesty on the beauty of love and the world.

Outstanding in the cast of approximately 50 are Robert Dafoe who plays John, the witch boy and Sheila Jouard, the ill-fated Barbara Allen.

And outstanding in supporting roles were Debbie Anderson, Lynn Murray, Allison McCrystal, Debbie Harold, and Anne Lynch. Mike Newton and Mark Brain are authentically sinister as the Conjur Man and Conjur Woman.

But a main portion of the success and excellence of the production is the fact that the cast performs with the togetherness and emotion of a family unit.

This unity, if not tangible on stage, was there spiritually. Tangible the emotional harmony within the cast appeared after the production when performers and production staff gathered with the audience and tears of joy at success and displays of affection were seen throughout the Playhouse green room.

Co-Director of the production, Roy Higgins, told the Intelligencer that he felt it was a very good show and that "the kids worked very hard."

He and assistant director Lorne Greene were ap-

TWEED — A grand total of $10,340 in scholarships was awarded to a Tweed-Hungerford School graduate at graduation exercises Saturday night.

Murray Spencer received an Ontario Scholarship of $150, the Tweed Kiwanis scholarship of $50 and the Clarkson College of Technology Athletic Scholarship valued at $10,140 over a period of four years.

Mr. Spencer, now attending college in Potsdam, New York, received the athletic scholarship for an outstanding academic record and high standards of good sportsmanship, along with exceptional talent and potential in hockey.

Seven of the 36 honor graduates were awarded Ontario Scholarships. They are Catherine Cassidy, Mary Lou Cruise, Glenn Gunning, Janice Latendre ,Evan Neugebauer, Murray Spencer, Paul Woolfrey.

Miss Cassidy also accepted the Beverley MacDonald scholarship for the girl in the Bay of Quinte District with the highest aggregate marks in Grade 13. She was the recipient of the McGrady general proficiency scholarship for St. Michael's College for four years.

Miss Cruise won the University of Waterloo's Rene Descartes mathematics scholarship. Miss Pam C. Langevin award for the student who made the greatest contribution to the school during 1968-69.

Miss Cassidy gave the valedictory and Donald Hodgins, proprietor of Tweed Feed Mill and member of the board of governors of Loyalist College was guest speaker.

The school choir sang two selections during the ceremonies, which drew a capacity crowd to the school's auditorium.

Stirling Council Acclaimed

STIRLING (Staff) — With all municipal council seats filled by acclamation, there will be no election in Stirling this year.

Two of the six nominated for council seats, Robert Hulin and Arthur Loucks, failed to qualify. Those filling the posts by acclamation for a one year term are incumbents Ros Al Anderson, Maurice Faulkner and Claude Trumble, with newcomer Fred Brandt.

Donald Rodgers, Hastings County Warden, was returned by acclamation to the office of reeve. The two PUC seats were also filled without a contest at the polls.

Monday's Vote

Apathy — the old problem of elections — was evident in the presence the other night of only 20 people at the Kiwanis Centre to hear Mayor Russell Scott and opponent Richard Ellis.

But then, as was pointed out in our news pages, both candidates the same evening faced the public at two other meetings of ratepayers' associations.

In one respect this campaign is unlike any the city has experienced. Where else in Canada has there ever been a contest for the mayoralty in which the two candidates shared the same car and the same halls and the same audiences?

It is a measure of the regard the two men have for each other, and of the respect the public has for them, that a campaign can be run in this fashion.

But next Monday the public must make a choice between the two — between a Mayor with an established record of leadership during which the city has seen steady progress, and an Alderman who has been a valuable member of council for the past two years, and who is on record as saying he too wishes to see the city progress.

Mr. Ellis has said he wants to try and keep taxes down; Dr. Scott has countered by saying some rise in taxes is inevitable in any community seeking to move with the times.

Thus far the election has not revealed any clear-cut issues, although both candidates for mayor and the 14 others seeking ten seats on council have plenty on their minds.

Urban renewal, the plaza, city services, traffic, the city's relationship to its hinterland, recreational facilities, the needs of our young people and of the poor . . . these are matters of concern.

Last night's gathering at the Wharf Street debating club as ever introduced a lively element into the election, and again to-night there is the Chamber of Commerce's candidates' night. If after these functions there are still people in Belleville who are not tuned in to the election pulse it will be a matter for concern. The city needs a vital, progressive council for the years ahead. A dismal turnout of voters will indicate that the community itself is alerted to the needs of the day and that citizens are ready to support the candidates of their choice.

The Dance—and Change

A Vancouver-born international ballet star who likes mod clothes has been talking about her art while on a return visit to perform with the National Ballet of Canada.

In Toronto to perform in the ultra-modern Roland Petit work, Kraanerg, Lynn Seymour, now 30, and one of the world's leading ballerinas, sees changes ahead in the ballet scene. Noting that the art form needs more modern work, she says it has to change and the public must be educated to accept and like it.

"People do get the classics rammed down their throats, and they think that is ballet, but every art form is going ahead, and ballet will be left behind if it doesn't change.

Miss Seymour has danced with the Royal Ballet at London's Covent Garden and since 1966 has been with the Berlin Opera Ballet. In an interview with the Canadian girl two years ago, The Globe and Mail's Charles Mitchelmore noted that she and another ex-Royal Ballet dancer revelled in bringing touches of swinging London to still staid Berlin.

"I wore one of my miniskirts to the Opera to see Turandot . . . practically the whole house stopped and stared. So we have decided they are not going to change, are going to take them up some more." This from a young woman who at that time was also wearing cowboy boots to rehearsal. So what harm if a city of frontiers has afforded a touch of the wild North American frontier as well.

And just as life in Berlin doubtless has become more like the London of that time, so too does a work like Kraanerg with none of the traditional rhythms of the dance — as Lynn Seymour sees it, "you have to use a different judgment altogether" — presage interesting new concepts in ballet choreography.

Seeks Title

Representing your province is no mean achievement as Mary Packard, a 18-year-old student at the Edith Cavell Regional School of Nursing here knows.

Although her home is in Colborne, Miss Packard is Belleville's Miss Hope and she has just won the divisional competition in Kingston from two other contestants — one from Kingston, the other from Brockville.

Now, even with two successes behind her she has one more step to take. Her goal is the provincial title in Toronto in January. So congratulations to Mary Packard — the good wishes of the community will go with her as she competes again in the new year.

Anarchy Does Not Pay

P.M. Gets Support for Tough Line Against Quebec

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Something is happening — encouraging, for a nice change of political pace — in Quebec.

More and more French-Canadian leaders are telling it, loud and clear for all to hear, that LaBelle Province isn't so "belle" any more.

Pierre Elliot Trudeau, the third distinguished son of French Canada to become prime minister, has laid it on the line with hard words to Quebec's lunatic fringe of separatists and supernationalists . . . lay off, buster, or you're going to get hurt.

His tough line is being backed up in Quebec by provincial Justice Minister Remi Paul and Liberal leadership candidate Claude Wagner who, when he was attorney general, showed how best to handle trouble-makers — give them their lumps — the wild and riotous night university separatists tried storming the Chateau Frontenac in protest against Queen Elizabeth's presence there.

Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau, Executive Committee Chairman Lucien Saulnier, and some other pretty formidable leaders in Quebec are with Mr. Trudeau in his hard-line approach.

Notably among them is industrialist Gerard Filion, former publisher of the Montreal Le Devoir, unquestionably Quebec's far-and-away influential daily newspaper, and now as president of Marine Industries Limited, one of the province's big employers.

Quebec, he has told the province in a public speech memorable for its brutal frankness, has nobody to blame for the mess it's in but itself.

The province has got to stop chasing the will-o'-the-wisp of phony French "grandeur," and get down, "at last to a little hard work for a change, or remain a provincial collection of tramps and kids with runny noses."

Quebec, says Gerard Filion, has been sick with self - pity for 200 years. Hear him, as he speaks:

"All those long years we have been lamenting because we lost one battle . . . on the Plains of Abraham . . . and in all that time we have forgotten nothing nor learned anything.

"There is no cure for human stupidity, I guess, for we keep crippling ourselves with weak politicians who so overdose us with demagogery we have let them turn Quebec into Canada's highest - taxed and most insolvent province."

In the past, too many of Quebec's own political leaders, he goes on, have done more damage to French - Canadian cultural hopes and financial aspirations "than all the worst transgressions from Westmount to Toronto."

For the last 10 years, he charges, Quebec politicians have been in the destructive grip of "a mania for grandeur."

"This madness causes the minister of education (wildly nationalistic Jean Guy Cardinal) to go strutting to Nalmey or Paris like a political peacock while Quebec's schools are closed by strikes — about Don Quixotism."

And so, he adds, we end up with a province with debts running $500,000,000. We don't need miracle workers, just leaders and people with common sense.

The beauty of all this is that as publisher of Le Devoir, Mr. Filion has been the darling of the Quebec intelligentsia, the intellectual pimp of the French-Canadian academic community, now largely populated by nationalists.

He had set in on some of the economic workshops held by the separatist - sympathizing Ecoles General of French Canada, he related, and what he had seen and heard was "sad enough to make you weep."

The nationalists, the "grandeur guys" still thought the "earning of an honest buck" was somehow immoral and that economic enrichment of Quebec was in a way anathema.

Better, argued the nationalists, to work for "cultural enlightment illuminating the whole North American continent — and so, we have begun to enlighten it with dynamite and fire bombs."

The 100,000 or so members of Montreal's prosperous Jewish community, Gerard Filion has told Quebec, "didn't arrive here with their pockets full of money, let alone with protection for special racial privileges and political status.

"But while they were finding success and making money, we French - Canadians were too busy debating the revision of the Constitution, French nullingualism, separatism, denial of English language school rights and other things calculated to isolate us further from the continent we aspire to enlighten."

Trudeau; Marchand, Pelletier, Wagner, Saulnier, Drapeau, Paul Pilon, and many, many more distinguished French Canadian leaders of Quebec and of Canada say telling Le Belle Province the way it is — but who's listening?

"Unfortunately we ran out of liquor before we got to big game country!"

It's Depressing . . .

Having It Told "Like It Is"

Letter to The Hamilton Spectator

Re the November 7 letter entitled, "Films show life as it is": after reading this letter I couldn't help feeling that Mr. James missed a very important point in discussing the sex - educational value of today's movies for the young. Doesn't a healthy sex attitude include a genuine love for each other? Do you find that at your friendly corner theatre?

Mr James questioned why children were denied the more tender, creative and beautiful acts of mankind — making love, having sex. A quick glance through the so - called "entertainment" section of the paper explains, in bold lettering, the reason why:

De Sade — "A legend of infamy and monumental evil in a thousand years of history."

Wild is my Love — "Temptation through the ages — to the shameless men and women of today's sinful world."

Can't you just tell the "tender, creative" feelings of these headlines?

The sex movies have turned a warm, beautiful relationship between a man and a woman in love, into a kaleidoscope of lust, sodomy, rape and perversion.

A child needs to see love at home — kiss between parents, a kind word between them. Granted the child doesn't always see this, but I'm sure his homelife isn't a spicy version of homosexuality, lesbianism and infidelity as the movies so garishly display it.

Yes, at times life disgusts me; the wars and the atrocities involved, poverty, murders. People need love to reach other and mankind; "telling it like it is" in the brassy truth doesn't help this hope, it's very depressing.

Why not hear and see the good and clean around us? There is a lot, but who hears or sees about that in bold headlines? Why not shield our youngsters from these perversions of the movies as long as we can, for all too soon these innocent children are plucked from the wonderful, careless world that belongs only to them and are pummeled into a brash world of the adults, leaving behind them the pure joy of just being young.

Japan's Role in Asia

Montreal Gazette

The Japanese recovery from the war was spectacular. It is now one of the leading industrial nations of the world, and the leading industrial nation of Asia. The direction it takes is crucial to the future of Asia, and the world.

And, if one thing is certain, it is that Japan must play a larger role in Asia. The stability of that part of the world depends on it.

Child Accidents Can Be Prevented

Kingston Whig-Standard

World Health Organization statistics indicate that Canada's child accident rate is the highest among the developed countries. According to W.H.O., each year about half a million children are injured, more than 2,000 of them fatally.

A recent inquest in Toronto has provided a grim reminder in all parties. The inquest was called into the death of a young child who was given a petroleum distillate known as benzol at a furniture polish by his brother. After listening to three hours of testimony, the coroner's jury recommended that "a more responsible" effort be made by both government and manufacturers into the development of "child-proof" safety tops for drugs and all dangerous or poisonous household products and that the recommendation be brought without delay.

We believe that parents, government and industry, working together, can help solve this problem, can reduce significantly Canada's annual child accident rate. Child-proof tops should help, but it is more important that adults have a latched cupboard for the storage of caustic and poisonous substances can be kept away from small children. As the Minister of Health, John Munro, has said, "The only effective immunization in a child-proof home is the hands of parents who are in a position to prevent a great number of the child accidents once they become aware of the hazards."

Although Inflation Is A Problem

Paper Money Is Strong as Market for Gold Declines

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The steep decline in the free-market price of gold reflects renewed confidence in paper money. It also raises fresh questions about the real value of the yellow metal.

When currencies are under attack, hoarders tend to swing to gold, pushing up prices in panic attempts to hold on to something durable. The rush to buy gold tends to subside when confidence in national currencies returns or when governments indicate they are taking strong measures to ensure that the value of paper money is not eroded.

The puzzling element in the current situation is that while many of the major currencies appear to have been stabilized, erosion of the value of some of these currencies remains a possibility. Inflation is a translatable problem though it would appear that, at least in the case of the United States, government policies are designed to restrain inflationary trends even if this means the threat of a mild recession.

Combined with this prospect of restraint is the fact that investment in gold does not carry with it the possibility of profit unless the price itself goes up. There are no earnings in interest at a time when interest rates generally are among the highest in history.

Sensing that governments appear to have solved currency problems, at least temporarily, and knowing that national reserves now can be augmented by the "paper gold" of the International Monetary Fund, speculators have been wondering what to do with their gold hoardings.

Decisions to get what price they can for their holdings may also have been influenced by South Africa's decision to sell a portion of its gold production on the free market, where prices are steadily declining.

The official price of $35 (U.S.) an ounce has repeatedly been challenged over the years by South Africa, Canada and other gold exporters. It has remained unchanged for more than three decades while the prices of other commodities have doubled and trebled. The argument often heard among exporters is that the official price should be between $50 and $70 an ounce.

When the two-tiered price structure was established 18 months ago, the immediate prospect was that the free-market price would reflect the real value of the metal and climb substantially. Now an index dropped to a point where buyers seem to be convinced that the free-market price won't fall below the official price.

Current gyrations probably are not a true reflection of what gold may eventually fetch on the open market. A sudden inflationary jolt or even an internal political crisis among some of the leading countries could start another gold stampede. But at the moment gold has lost its glamour. In terms of price changes, other metals, such as nickel, have achieved greater glitter.

Will Learn Newspaper Valuable Tool

By LINDA GELDART
Staff Reporter

Since the newspaper has come to the classroom to stay, teachers are constantly looking for new ways to improve and diversify its use.

One of the most practical methods teachers have found is the workshop idea — to learn, in an immediate way how they can make better use of the newspaper in the classroom.

Here in the Quinte area, teachers from both public, secondary and separate schools have the opportunity to attend a "newspaper in the classroom" workshop to be held at Centennial Secondary School on Saturday, Nov. 29.

The teacher workshop is sponsored by The Intelligencer in co - operation with the Hastings County Board of Education and the Hastings County Separate School Board.

The whole idea behind the workshop is to further train teachers in the use of the daily newspaper in the classroom, on behalf of the child.

The all - day session will feature other teachers as instructors — teachers that have previously attended newspaper workshops sponsored by The Intelligencer.

Also speaking will be Professor Donald Noble of Waterloo University, one of the lecturers at last year's workshop.

Managing editor of The Intelligencer, Donald Boutter, will also talk to teachers about the function of the daily newspaper in the community.

Approximately 80 teachers will participate in the workshop. Delegates will also be present from the Brockville Recorder and Times.

The Intelligencer's circulation manager, Bill LeSarf, sees the workshop as a training ground for teachers, gearing them to training their students to improve their reading of the daily newspaper.

"Response has been very good," said Mr. Le Surf. "If we are reading the indications right, we would like to make the worship idea an annual event in this area."

UIC Information Officers Attended Seminar Here

Twenty-four Unemployment Insurance Commission information officers attended a seminar this week.

Purpose of this seminar is to continue to improve the image of the Unemployment Insurance Commission by giving instructions in public relations and communications to information personnel from all 14 Ontario region area offices.

The UIC is endeavoring to up-date procedures in dealing with claimants and the public generally.

At present there are approximately 80 information people throughout the region. Of these, 20 per cent will have attended such seminars so far this year when this group of 24 returns to their respective offices Wednesday evening.

The chief commissioner of the UIC, Jacques DesRoches, and Ontario Regional Director Mr. J. L. Stevens have stated information and public relations must be given a high degree of priority.

New modern area offices have been constructed this year in Cornwall, Kingston and Sudbury. Offices in Hamilton, Ottawa and Toronto have moved into new quarters in buildings which were already in existence, while the Windsor office has been suitably renovated.

In all the offices the decor of the information centres has been greatly improved. In keeping with this physical improvement, great stress is being placed on the attitude of information personnel.

The public relations and information branch of the UIC regional headquarters here in Belleville is doing its utmost to pass on new ideas and procedures to the participants of these seminars.

BCI Students Bought Drapes

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
(Staff Reporter)

BCI students were commended this morning for "accepting a personal challenge" and providing draperies for the sides and back of their stage.

The Student Parliament at the school raised $1,940 to replace the worn curtains, after they were informed the school board's budget would not extend to cover the cost.

When the board heard of the students' action, it appointed trustee Everett Fairman to attend an assembly at the school and extend the board's personal thanks.

"Draperies are low on the priority list for department of education grants," he told the students this morning. "If you had waited for financial assistance from the board, it would have been another year or two before you got the curtains.

"We are told that young people today go about doing their own thing," he added. "I congratulate you on the thing you have done in improving the appearance of your stage."

Quinte Gem and Mineral Club Enjoys Films

The Quinte Gem and Mineral Club members were entertained recently with films shown by Mr. Powell; program chairman. They were as follows: Minerals and Rocks; How Minerals are Identified; Wealth From Mother Earth and Treasures of the Earth.

President Robert Cairns chaired the meeting and Mrs. Jean Reid, the secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Mrs. Gordon Blackwell read the treasurer's report and all members were in favor of the final rock show financial report.

Gordon Alyea gave a membership report which showed that the club is still gaining new members. Family memberships renewed at the October meeting were $5 while the single and junior memberships totalled six.

Mrs. Velma Wallbridge read the notices of all coming events and reminded the members that the December meeting would be held one week early on December 18.

The "Show and Tell" period of the meeting was very much in line with the film — Treasures of the Earth as a wide variety of specimens was shown.

One junior member, David Walmsley, brought an Indian skinning knife made of stone. This was found at Moira Lake near Madoc and was believed to be used by the Massasauga Indians.

Mr. Gordon Blackwell, the field trip chairman, showed some fine specimens of fluorite found in a fluorspar mine in Newfoundland. Lew Andrews had a variety of specimens from the Deep River district of Ontario such as diopside crystals, muscovite on diopside, sphene crystals and some very good smoky berchimer diamond crystals.

A very good selection of mineral specimens has been shown at the meeting but the Royal Ontario Museum is adding some new mineral specimens to the already lengthy list that one might try and collect or acquire. They are as follows: bolmovkite, garnite, beaumontite, tomarchite, hydrobetaserite, parwelite, gabrielcastite, leaglite, rodogarnite, remarchite and hydromarchite.

All rock hounds are asked to study the characteristics of these minerals and see just where they might be located.

The Ontario Department of Mines is helping Rock Buffs to better their knowledge of mineral identification by holding a number of mineral exploration classes for free all over the province. The one in this area is from Dec. 8-12 at Marmora. This should be of interest to all rock hounds in the area.

Rev. J. Arthur Sheil Inducted Into Victoria Avenue Church

An induction service for the Rev. J. Arthur Sheil, BA, BD, MA, to the pastorate of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church was held on Monday, Nov. 24.

Rev. Sheil was formerly minister of Selkirk Baptist Church from 1964 to 1968 and was a member of the faculty of Albert College during the 1968-69 term.

The service was conducted by the Moderator of the Trent Valley Association, Mr. Paul Wicks.

The Victoria Avenue Baptist Choir sang the anthem directed by Mr. W. Connor, organist and choir leader.

A statement of the church existing in the calling of the pastor was read by Mrs. W. Hales, Church Clerk. Mr. T. Sloveli, chairman of the Deacons' Board introduced Mr. Sheil and presented him to the church and assembly. Others taking part in the service included the Rev. Charles Savage who read the scripture and the Rev. John Smith of Haliburton who delivered the prayer of induction. Greetings were brought from the Belleville Ministerial Association by the president the Rev. A. L. Sutherland. A former minister of Mr. Sheil, the Rev. W. H. Jones of Oshawa delivered a challenging address on the need for renewed enthusiasm in the Christian Church of today.

Following the service an informal reception was held in the lower auditorium where greetings were once again extended to Rev. and Mrs. Sheil. Refreshments were served by the women of the Dorcas Association. Tea was poured by Mrs. Charles Savage and Mrs. Eric Quirk.

Guides to Mark Jubilee Year

A meeting of the Division Committee for the Guides and Brownies of Belleville was held at the home of Mrs. J. Kuntze, 79 MacDonald Gardens on Nov. 13.

Chairing the meeting was Mrs. T. Colden, Division Commissioner. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary Mrs. N. Thicke. Following the treasurer's report, Mrs. Colden read a list of the conferences to be held in the new year.

One "Bridging the Gap" will be held in February and a Young Adults conference will take place in British Columbia in August, 1970. Commissioners will supply Guides with the requirements for attendance at these conferences upon request.

Changes have been made in several of the Badge requirements and first class work for Girl Guides, and these were noted and discussed by the District Commissioners.

Mrs. Doris Sannon, camp advisor for the area, outlined the camping program for the coming year. The last weekend in May has been set aside for Guides wishing to try their Pioneer and Campers Badge. There will also be a Junior and Senior Campers Badge in 1970, if possible, special weekend days will be set aside in the spring for Guides ready to try the "Outdoor Cooks" Badge. Camp Scarlet for Doe Lake for 1970 have been increased to 200 for a two week period.

The year 1970 is the 60th jubilee for the Girl Guide Movement, and Guides will wear a Jubilee Badge on the sleeve of the uniform to mark this occasion.

Hi-C Group Holds Panel Discussion

MARMORA — Highlight of the November UCW meeting of St. Andrew's United Church was a panel discussion on "The Generation Gap".

Panelists were Hi-C members: Graham Ball, Captain; Marilyn Walls, Doug Rothermel, Judi Perry, Connie Ball, Karen Acorn, Robert Derry, Dennis Gray, Mark Bennett and Dupy Acorn, and members of the UCW: Captain Mrs. Ken Gillies, Mrs. Robert Sanderson, Mrs. Doug Vineet, Mrs. Garnet Hawkes, Mrs. Harold Naylor and Mrs. James Cook.

Moderators, Ken Gillies Marmora and Mr. C. Harrop of Madoc, summarized the lively discussions with the need for mutual understanding of all ages for living and working together in family and community lives. UCW members were invited to continue the dialogue at the next Hi-C meeting.

Mrs. G. J. McKitchie thanked Mrs. Ken Gillies for arranging the program.

The annual bazaar, tea and supper was planned during the business meeting with the Hi-C group decorating the church hall for this occasion using the theme "Christmas in Space."

Target of Female Ambition Is Game of Soccer

LONDON (CP) — The women of Europe, too electrifying still another state bastion and give every sign of establishing a firm foothold there despite continuing expressions of masculine skepticism.

The target of female ambition this time is the manly game of soccer, which the girls say puts them under no greater strain than any other athletic discipline.

One indication of their progress is the fact that player transfers are being swung on a continent-wide basis.

Blonde centre-forward Jeanne Lopez, typical of Britain's Southampton University, was offered a place with an Italian women's team after showing up well in an international soccer tournament at Turin.

Team-mate Barbara Birkett complained that women players are having a tough time convincing sports fans that "we are serious about the game and are as good as many men."

Miss Lopez, 24, is on the council of the newly formed Ladies' Football Association in Britain.

But this country is said to lag behind Italy, France and Denmark in male tolerance of the new women sportsters.

There are 30 women's soccer teams active in Italy, where championship play is a thoroughly established event.

In France, the last two years have given the soccer girls a bigger share of sportsmen's interest than they have ever enjoyed.

One French team got its start when organizers of a local fair advertised for girl soccer players, the idea being to sponsor a game for the amusement of festival audiences.

However, 30 women answered the advertisement and soon made it clear that they were in deadly earnest about the sport.

Frenchmen proudly say that women in their country were playing soccer as far back as 1918.

At Reims, the women's club boasts about 30 players, ranging in age from 18 to 36 and including housewives as well as girl students.

One of the students, 18-year-old fullback Robine Nizard, said she originally took to soccer pitches for the excitement that went with the novelty of it all.

Since then have come parental tolerance of the idea and strong support from other students, she added.

In Belgium, the girls are banned from governmental-owned fields for their games.

There, and in both Britain and West Germany, male soccer organizations appear anything but enthusiastic about women invading the sport.

Around Europe, the women's game is officially placed in the amateur category.

But the equivalent of $250 a month was mentioned as the lure offered by the Italians for Miss Lopez's services.

And across the continent generally a tendency towards semi-professionalism is indicated by the way club offers include a local off-field job filled as a soft touch.

This year's international tournament at Turin was won by Italy, a country where Genoa is credited with having the richest club.

Genoa has become well known for its offers to foreign players, including one turned down by French star Maryse Leclerc.

In Debniark, a cosmopolitan touch is added to the ladies' soccer scene by the presence of two performers from Czechoslovakia, who had earlier sought political asylum among the Danes.

The team representing England at Turin had a 35-year-old married woman as chaperone for its players.

She reported that Miss Lopez devoted "all her spare time to soccer and has no regular boy-friends."

"She is a wizard at soccer," said the player's room-mate. "She can dribble her way through any defence."

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYDON

The first snow often is the beginning of disaster. Thousands of children are injured or killed in sledding accidents each year. Most of the deaths are caused because children coast into the paths of moving cars.

Don't provide your child with a sled — unless you also provide a safe area in which he can use it. Firm and definite rules may save a lifetime of grief.

Father: "You must never use your sled on any street but this one that is closed off to traffic for sledding purposes. You also may go sledding on the slope in the park or on the Jacobs' hill — but absolutely nowhere else."

Church Groups

STIRLING — Last Thursday members of the Catholic Women's League met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kerby for the annual potluck supper. A wide variety of salads, casseroles, buns and desserts, as well as two decorated birthday cakes made a most attractive setting.

The president, Mrs. Roy La Chappelle chaired the business meeting which included correspondence from the Diocesan council. Final plans were made for the Open House at the new rectory in Frankford. A collection of religious papers and magazines will be gathered and sent to the islanders.

Father McGarvey extended an invitation to all to the new rectory for the annual Christmas meeting.

This will include the customary exchange of gifts.

Father McGarvey explained the forthcoming changes in the liturgy which will become effective in the near future.

The meeting closed and members spent a pleasant social half-hour.

Mrs. Mae Brownlie (right) and Mrs. Lil James talk over what would be the best purchase at St. Andrew's Tea and Bazaar held at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Wednesday afternoon.

St. Andrew's Church Members Holds Christmas Tea and Bazaar

Colorful Yule decor was the setting when St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held its annual Christmas bazaar Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. A. L. Sutherland, minister of the church officially opened this year's event and guests were warmly greeted as they emerged into the tea room for a tasty treat of fancy sandwiches and cookies.

Convenor for the event was Mrs. R. Sine and co-convenor was Mrs. P. Renouf. Receiving at the tea room door were Mrs. A. L. Sutherland (minister's wife); Mrs. R. Jones (president of the Guild); Miss L. Burnside (president of the WMS) and Mrs. V. Weir (past president of the Guild).

The main tea table was covered with a flowered white lace table cloth and had a centrepiece of red feather poinsettias and silver candelabras with white candles, while the individual tables were covered with a gold, red or green cloth and centred with a Christmas ornament.

Pouring tea were Mrs. B. Hackett; Mrs. C. Huiser; Mrs. C. Bennett; Mrs. H. Arnott; Mrs. P. Vandervoort and Mrs. G. Durno. The tea room hostesses were the decorating committee as well — Mrs. R. Vandervoort; Mrs. A. McCreary; Mrs. H. McCreary; Mrs. R. Michaud and Mrs. W. Clendenan.

The convener of arranging plates for the tea room was Mrs. R. Kempster while the kitchen conveners were Mrs. F. Brooks and Mrs. D. Kane.

One walked through the gateway of a white picket fence covered with poinsettias and Christmas holly to arrive at the candy table covered by Mrs. W. Mantle.

Other booths were the delicatessan, convened by Mrs. E. Sheir and Mrs. G. Durno; the bake table with a display of pot holders and matching towels convened by Mrs. J. Robertson; the white elephant table covered by Mrs. H. Freeborn (money to go to a Sunday school church mission project); aprons, convened by Mrs. H. Yorke; cotton and crafts convened by Mrs. J. Morrin and Mrs. E. Davison; the men's hobbycraft convened by Mr. H. Gooding, and children's wear convened by Mrs. T. Burnett and Mrs. A. Gray.

Featured at the cotton and crafts table were large paper flowers and a child's handmade doll. The men's hobbycraft table was very interesting with its assortment of handmade bird cages, hook-ends and ornament racks.

While the mothers browsed around the children played in the nursery which was run by Mrs. R. Mott.

General treasurer for the event was Mrs. R. Michaud, and those selling tickets were Mrs. G. O'Neill, Mrs. D. Eveldge, Mrs. J. Craig, Mrs. J. Murray, Mrs. N. McConnell, Mrs. H. Gooding, Mrs. J. Webb and Mrs. E. Pigden.

Chairmen Give Reports

Members of the Marmora Branch of the Red Cross Society met recently in Marmora Public Library with President Mrs. Alice Stark, presiding.

Reports were presented by

Mrs. Francis Rothermel, t[illegible]...and that miscellaneous items had been purchased for the loan cupboard. A comprehensive report of the loan cupboard was given by Mrs. Tom Shannon, who stated that 140 articles have been loaned to date, with 81 persons using the service. There are presently 25 articles out on loan. The branch is grateful to interested friends for donations of money, the rubber ring for the cupboard, and to Mr. and Mrs. Dean Levender for their donation of a walker. It was decided to order another wheelchair. The branch would appreciate the return of any articles at present out on loan which are not being used.

Lewis — Alexander

St. James Anglican Church, Tweed, was the scene of the recent marriage of Janice Elizabeth Alexander daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Alexander, Tweed and Lloyd Gordon Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lewis of Belleville. Officiating at the ceremony was Rev. Virgil Earle. Organist was Stanley Hawthorne, Madoc and soloist was Mrs. William Goode, Tweed.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of imported white velvet with an A-line skirt. Empire waist with full gathered sleeves and deep English cuffs and a long flowing train attached to the waist, bordered with lace. The shoulder length illusion veil was held in place with a pearl and rhinestone crown. The bride's bouquet consisted of yellow sweetheart roses centred with a white and yellow orchid.

Maid of honor was Miss Ann Alexander, sister of the bride, dressed in an autumn gold velvet, Empire waist, A-line dress featuring full gathered sleeves and deep English cuffs. She wore a wedding ring headdress in matching velvet adorned with rhinestones, and carried a cascade bouquet of bronze gladiolus.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Gail Alexander and Patty Alexander, sisters of the bride, and Cathy Emerson, cousin of the bride, Fort Erie. They wore dresses identical to the maid of honor.

Ringbearer was Peter Naylor, Brantwood cousin of the bride, Madoc.

Best man was Larry Lewis, brother of the bridegroom, and ushers were Donald Riddell of Belleville and Ted Emerson, Fort Erie.

For the reception held at St. James Church Hall where a buffet lunch was served, the bride's mother greeted the guests wearing a dress of metallic brocade with a coat of peacock blue velvet and matching accessories. Her corsage was baby 'mums tinted to match.

The bridegroom's mother wore a brown velvet dress with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow baby 'mums.

For the wedding trip to Northern Ontario the bride wore a dress of beige crepe with a Joliet collar, black accessories and a camel hair coat with a high fur collar.

The couple will reside in Belleville.

Ann Landers

Husband Believes In Being Comfortable

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Arnold and I have been happily married for 25 years. Recently he acquired a habit that is driving me crazy. If he happens to be sitting around in his undershorts and unexpected company drops in, he thinks it is perfectly all right to sit like that since it is "his home" and "believes in being comfortable."

ANN LANDERS

Yesterday some new neighbors came over. I had invited them to have a "get acquainted" drink. Arnold walked in from another room when he heard their voices. He was wearing polka-dot undershorts and a happy smile. Nothing else. The guests were visibly startled and I was embarrassed to death. After they left I told Arnold he should have put on his pants. He insisted (again) that he didn't intend anything more than if he had been wearing swimming trunks. Technically he is right, but I feel something is radically wrong with his reasoning. I don't know how to put it into words. Do you? Help me, please. — MRS. CHARLTON.

* * *

DEAR MRS. H: If you had worn a bra and a panty girdle you'd have shown less than had you worn a bikini, but there's more involved here than exposure — anxiety, good taste. A person wrapped in a bath towel doesn't show anything, but he shouldn't go to church that way.

A man who entertains guests in his undershorts demonstrates no respect for his guests, his wife or for himself.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm in 20 Sunday. I had my nose re-done three years ago. I still wear braces and I see a dermatologist once a week for removal of facial hair. (No ones electric current.)

The other evening my mother had some of her friends over. I was having coffee and dessert with them and the conversation turned to "self improvement" and how far should a person go. All the women there knew me since I was a little girl so they were aware of my nose operation. My braces are perfectly obvious — no secret there. I did mention the electrolysis, however, and my mother's face fell a foot.

After the women left, all hell broke loose. She said I had no business telling them such "personal business." We got into a terrible argument. Some hard words were exchanged and the temperature in our house is below zero.

Please tell me if I was wrong, and if so, why. — IRISH EYES.

DEAR IRISH: If your mother was having the electrolysis and you had told the women about her, there would then be some justification for her criticism. Since you were telling them about yourself, however, I see no valid reason for your mother's anger. In fact, I admire your candor.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My so-called "best friend" accepted an invitation to my son's wedding which happened to be the same day as the wedding of her niece. She told me she would be unable to attend the church service but would come for the reception.

Well, Ann, this woman arrived drunk as a skunk and brought along two strangers. They were also crocked. She was loud and obnoxious, and gave the bride and groom some indecent advice through the microphone. To cap the climax she headed them an empty envelope. I no longer want this slob as a friend. How shall I let her know? — POST NUPTIAL WOE.

DEAR POST: Silence can be more eloquent than words. I recommend it.

Naturalist Considers Animals 'Little People'

By DORIS CLARK

The world-famous Canadian naturalist, Grey Owl, trapped animals until he learned better. Things like these broke his heart: a mother beaver, mortal, one of her kittens though held fast by one foot in a trap and moaning with pain; a crippled beaver with one hind leg and three stumps doing his best to carry on. He decided to get along with less money, though he was very poor, rather than go on torturing helpless animals.

Said Grey Owl: "Now I no longer wished to kill. To see them so shorted woke in me a kind of loyalty — they seemed to me like little folks from some other planet, whose language we could not yet understand.

Sterling North, author of "Rascal has written a story for the Kindness Club entitled "World Not Trap or Shot Little People? A copy will be sent to anyone who sends name and address with request to Kindness Club, 253 Waterloo Row, Fredericton, N.B. — Kindness Club Notes

Dear Doris: I understand that now in Canada one may obtain a divorce for what is termed the complete breakdown of marriage. What would the circumstances have to be? — Seeking Divorce

Dear Seeking: According to the new divorce act, there is a marriage breakdown, and thus grounds for divorce when:

1. A husband or wife has been imprisoned for three consecutive (we) years,

2. There is gross addiction to drugs or alcohol.

3. One partner has disappeared for at least three years (the deserted party may sue for divorce).

4. The marriage has not been consummated within the first year.

5. One partner has deserted for five years (either partner may sue for divorce in this case).

* * *

Dear Doris: Have you heard about our project called "Women to Woman?" This is an attempt to educate the public about the need for annual pap smears and regular breast self-examination. You see, these two types of cancer account for most cancer deaths in women.

The sad part is they can be prevented by regular examination, so that any abnormal tissue could be discovered before an actual cancer is present. At this point it can be stopped before it starts. — Cancer Society.

Dear Barbara: What really throws me is the attitude in women that if they don't look at it — whatever it is — it will go away. This means they avoid the doctor and shun anything like self - examination. But I like to think this attitude is disappearing with more self-assurance.

A Budget Dish Using Lamb

By MARY MOORE

This budget oven dinner is for good-manager mothers who have hungry families to feed.

From the responses I am receiving more and more Canadians are trying and liking fresh frozen lamb and loving the price. You girls know what a little bit of encouragement does to spur me on.

EASY LAMB, RICE AND VEGETABLE CASSEROLE

(Serves 6 generously)

2 lb 10½ Bz. sliced (¾" thick leg of lamb or lamb leash (see note below)

1 cup raw long grain rice
2 cups hot milk
2 tbsps. margarine
1 green pepper chopped
1 tbsps. flour
1 to 1½ tsps. salt
1 tsp. flavor salt

THURSDAY

Dinner Menu

Chilled Cranberry Juice;
Short Rib Pot Roast of Beef;
Rich Brown Gravy; Mashed Potatoes; Spinach; Attached Apple Crisp with Vanilla or Coffee Ice Cream (see Tuesday); Tea.

¼ pkge. fresh frozen peas (NOTE: if shoulder lamb is used trim off and discard excess fat).

Heat milk. In another pot melt margarine and in it saute chopped green pepper for about 1 min. Then stir in flour, salt and flavor salt to blend, then stir in hot milk until slightly thickened. Stir in peas.

Pour rice into bottom of large buttered casserole. Stir 3 cups of the hot cream sauce into rice. Arrange lamb slices overlapping on top. Pour remaining sauce over all. Cover with lid or foil and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. 2 hrs. but stand casserole in pan of water (I used broiler pan to prevent rice on bottom from browning too much.

I served this with a tossed salad containing a generous amount of tomatoes but no other salad accompaniment could be felt ed tomato.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD WAYNE PHILLIPS

Phillips – Empson

Trinity United Church, Cobourg was the scene of a double-ring ceremony recently when Donna Marie Empson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Empson, Belleville, became the bride of Richard Wayne Phillips, son of Mr. C. Phillips, Cobourg and the late Mrs. Phillips. Officiating at the ceremony was Rev. Braun of Cobourg. Appropriate music was rendered by the church organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore an A-line floor-length gown of crystal crepe featuring a scoop neckline which converted to a high neckline with an insert of guipure lace in flower design. A band of this lace carried out under the bodice and around the edge of the elbow-length sleeves. A full circular detachable train which fell gracefully from below the shoulder line was trimmed with matching lace. The head-piece was in the form of two wedding bands of Venise lace daisies encrusted with miniature seed pearls, caught at the back with a bow of nylon sheer. Attached was a four-tier silk illusion veil in chapel length. She carried a cascade bouquet of white shasta daisies centred with yellow sweetheart roses.

Maid of honor was Miss Catherine Wilson of Belleville, friend of the bride wearing a floor-length gown of Hunter's green silk velvet featuring a V neckline and full-length sleeves with deep cuffs.

In her shoulder length hair which fell in curls were yellow shasta daisies. She carried a semi-cascade of yellow sweetheart roses and yellow shasta daisies.

The bridegroom was attended by Morley Nelson, Centreton, Clyde Van Allen ushered the guests.

For the reception held at Mr. and Mrs. T. Robbins of Roseneath, sister of the bridegroom, the bride's mother greeted the guests wearing an imported ensemble of fine French wool in pewter-grey. Neckline and cuffs were enhanced with sapphire mink. A sapphire mink hat and purple orchid corsage completed her ensemble.

For the wedding trip to Lake Placid and points South, the bride donned a grey wool dress with camel trim, beige camel hair coat with fox collar black accessories and corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

The couple are residing at RR1, Cold Springs, Ontario, north of Cobourg.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Elliott Wed 50 Years

A most enjoyable event took place recently in the Pinnacle Room, Hotel Quinte, when approximately 100 guests gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Elliott, Stirling, RR 1, on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Guests were greeted at the door by a niece of the couple, Mrs. Barry Crawford of Peterborough and their son Robert Elliott, also of Peterborough. A grandson Master Craig Elliott also assisted by ushering each guest to the receiving line. Mrs. Elliott was presented with a corsage of bronze and yellow 'mums and Mr. Elliott a boutonniere.

Tea was served from a most attractive tea table centred with an appropriately decorated anniversary cake and enhanced with beautiful floral arrangements, gifts of the Belleville Chapter Ontario Eastern Star 55 and the Laurel Rebekah Lodge of Stirling. From two to six, tea was poured by Mrs. Ivan Clare, Mrs. Rex Chapman, Mrs. Roy Heath, Mrs. Alfred Atkins, Mrs. Don Heath, Mrs. Robert Elliott, Mrs. W. Cox and Mrs. Don McLaren.

The honored guests received many lovely gifts as well as congratulatory messages from Ontario Prime Minister Hon. John Roberts and Lee Grills M.P. A scroll was presented on behalf of the Provincial Government by Clarke Rollins, Hastings M.P.P. Phone calls of congratulations were also received from Mrs. Elliott's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Heath of Edmonton and from a nephew and wife Mr. and Mrs. Dean Elliott of Minden.

In the evening a family dinner was held at the Sun Luck Gardens.

Doctors Approve Research Program

TORONTO (CP) — Physicians Service Inc., sickened from the medical care insurance field by the provincial government, voted Wednesday to use the interest from its $15,000,000 reserve fund for medical research.

PSI president Dr. Owen M. Miller told a news conference after a meeting of the group's governing board that specific research projects had not been named.

Proposals from organizations and individuals will be considered, he said, including projects such as subsidizing relief medical services in rural areas when tourism placed too great a load on rural doctors.

Dr. Miller said PSI will not be disbanded as an organization in case Ontario's participation in the federal medical care plan proves too expensive for the government.

The government is aware of the proposals and has no objections, he said.

Blaming the federal government for forcing the province into an unnecessary and costly scheme, Dr. Miller said PSI, once Canada's largest doctor-sponsored medical pre-payment plan, will be ready to take part if there are any late changes in the federal plan.

"I don't think it's all over yet," he said. "A lot of thought is going to be needed on medicare in the next few years."

Alcatraz Indians Feast on Turkeys

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — American Indians from more than 100 tribes celebrated U.S. Thanksgiving today on Alcatraz Island, coming from far-off reservations to feast on turkeys given by the white man.

In the week since Richard Oakes, a Mohawk, led a predawn landing party to the bleak rock in San Francisco Bay, the number of Indians on the island has more than tripled to exceed 200. They demand the government give them the island and money for an Indian cultural centre.

Hundreds of letters sent to tribes on reservations throughout the country have brought Thanksgiving guests from Oklahoma, Washington state, and other distant points, Oakes said.

In the first U.S. Thanksgiving, Indians brought wild turkeys and joined in the white man's feast.

White men were not invited to today's feast at Alcatraz but the turkeys—more than 20 of them—came already cooked from a white restaurateur near Fisherman's Wharf a mile away.

Court Test Suggested

Cable Firm Says Not Governed by CRTC

OTTAWA (CP) — A United States cable television company operating in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., without a Canadian licence, Wednesday challenged the Canadian Radio-Television Commission to test its jurisdiction in the courts.

Gordon Henderson, an Ottawa lawyer representing Continental Cablevision Ltd., told a public hearing of the CRTC the firm was established in 1966 and now serves about 4,000 homes in Sault Ste. Marie.

Continental is a wholly-owned subsidiary of H and B American Cablevision Ltd., a U.S. firm. Mr. Henderson said in an interview.

He said H and B has a U.S. cable licence for Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., across the St. Mary's River from the Ontario city.

Continental picked up its entire cable service through an underwater connection with the U.S. system, Mr. Henderson said.

Because Continental was in the unusual position of neither originating programs nor transmitting signals, it was not subject to any section of the Broadcasting Act, he said, and "it is arguable that Continental is not within CRTC jurisdiction."

"All this company does is receive signals which pass by means of cable into homes in Canada. Everything—even programs from the CBC affiliate in Sault, Ont.—is received from the Michigan cable firm," Mr. Henderson told the commission.

He said Continental now tries to follow policy laid down by the CRTC and would submit completely to Canadian regulations if the courts or the CRTC rules that it must.

Mr. Henderson stressed the courts as the most appropriate route for clarifying the status of Continental.

He was speaking in opposition to an application by Hyland Radio-TV Ltd., owners of CJIC television in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., a CBC affiliate, for a cable licence to serve the area.

R. B. Ramsay, presenting the Hyland brief, said the Continental operation is "completely non-conforming under the Broadcasting Act in that it is 100 per cent American-owned."

He said Hyland has tried unsuccessfully to negotiate a contract for purchase of the Continental cable system, conditional on a ruling by the commission in favor of the Hyland application.

Commission chairman Pierre Juneau asked Mr. Ramsay whether Hyland would be prepared to establish a cable system while Continental was still in operation.

Mr. Ramsay said Hyland would construct a cable system if it received a licence whether or not Continental remained.

"But we would hope it could be clarified quickly in the courts."

Returning Officer.

As a comparative newcomer to civic politics I have been surprised at the amount of time an Alderman is expected to spend on City business. To date this year I have attended 141 civic function and meetings having to do with our City's business. As a retired educationist I am in a position to give the time necessary to properly assume these responsibilities. If re-elected as one of your representatives I shall continue to devote whatever time is needed for adequate attention to the proper administration of our City's affairs.

J. Russell Scott

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

Continued orderly city growth producing more jobs with better pay — those are among the accomplishments hoped to be achieved by Belleville Mayor J. Russell Scott as he offers himself for re-election to a second term of office.

Toward this end, Mayor Scott promises he "will continue the team work that I have helped to create among the city's various boards and commissions, in co-operation with the provincial and federal governments . . ."

Mayor Scott said this teamwork over the past two years had proved successful beyond doubt in attracting city growth with Belleville's success being at a time when neighboring cities such as Kingston and Peterborough had not enjoyed similar growth.

After two years in office Mayor Scott feels he has an obligation to offer himself for re-election to a second term.

"It is difficult to complete all the things you want to do in one term."

"My record is an open book and I intend to display that record," Mayor Scott continued. "I hope the record is what they (the people) considered and desired.

"I have worked hard at being mayor and have tried to carry out good business practices in the operation of the city . . ."

That the "good business practice" had proved successful was indicated by the city's financial rating, claimed to be one of the best in Canada.

"I have created confidence in the financial and business world as well as among our own citizens."

"I don't say that I am the best candidate for mayor, but I have been able to prove what can be done and feel that I am the best proven candidate."

Citing his qualifications for the office he holds, Mayor Scott pointed to 20 years municipal experience as school board member, as alderman and for the past two years as mayor of the city.

"I am a successful businessman with the confidence of the business community, and have close association over 25 years as family doctor with the working people of the community."

Looking ahead, Mayor Scott hopes for "continued orderly expansion" of the city with increased services such as water, sewers and sewage disposal, roads, bridges and sidewalks, and close co-operation with neighboring municipalities "so we can progress and grow together."

Asked about his feelings on city redevelopment and government reform, Mayor Scott had these comments:

Urban renewal — "I feel strongly for urban renewal — but it must be done on an over-all pattern rather than just in the downtown area. Urban renewal must encompass over-all planning by taking in railroads, arterial highway roads and services in general."

"If the economic climate is right — and I feel it is — then private enterprise, following proper planning, will produce urban renewal and re-development of the whole community."

Regional government — "That is a vague term, depending on who is talking.

"We already have regional government in Canada — Ottawa and the 10 provinces. But if what is meant is a region extending from Cobourg to Napanee then I am opposed.

"I would favor a metro type of government for this area so that services could be provided on an equal and fair basis throughout the Quinte district. This, I feel, all municipal councils now agree upon."

Industrial growth — "We can continue our recent industrial growth. We have everything and will continue to grow.

"The best way to get industry is to deserve industry. Industry is coming here and we have some 70 active files in the industrial commission. Compare that with two years ago. Industrial growth must be on an orderly fashion and must be done with consideration of the availability of manpower."

Residential growth — "New citizens must have housing. Council has arranged for more senior citizens housing, more low rental housing and for homes under the Ontario government's made easy program.

"We must have plans for the accommodation for those families earning less than $6,500 per year, because these people cannot afford new homes in the $22,000 range — and they are a majority of our population.

"I have been working with an outside group to create a condominium subdivision where these important people (the under $6,500 class) are enabled to buy and own their own homes within their financial abilities. I hope for everything and will continue to grow.

The Mayoralty

Belleville must choose between two men for the mayoralty when they go to the polls Monday. To better inform city voters, The Intelligencer interviewed both candidates and here are their views and qualifications for the mayoralty.

Richard Ellis

Stacks Issues According to Priority

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

In 1967 Richard Ellis decided to publicly enter civic affairs.

He ran as alderman — and not only won; he scored a triumph.

The native Bellevillian, independent businessman and controller to community affairs, went into city hall as a freshman councillor with 6,136 votes to his campaigning credit — the highest total ever taken by a council candidate.

Now, exactly two years later, he is before the voters again — this year seeking the majority electoral backing that would make him mayor.

Unavoidably, memories of the 1967 sweep are not dusty. The lingering statistics contributed some part to the current of interest in the present municipality contest.

But that was yesterday. And issues, not memorabilia make campaign for the candidates.

Richard Ellis selects some of the issues he feels are crucial in his campaign literature. (Probably the most colorful and varied ever assembled in one package by a city municipal candidate. Mr. Ellis' 20 pieces operating one of the area's top commercial printing shops has put together a kit that includes a calendar, school scribbler, mile-and-read delivery signs.)

The candidate stacks the issues according to priority. But there are certain significant generalities he feels need emphasizing.

He's sure city hall needs to plan more tightly its development schedule in the next three years. He's irritated about delays in bringing projects to completion. He's worried about tax increases being activated simply by casual attitudes that see hefty hikes as inevitable. He's bothered by the city debt which he quotes at $19,000,000.

The issues give a more detailed breakdown:

Planned Development — "The first thing I'd do as mayor? The first thing I'd do is look at all the projects we're now working on — re-examine them for priority. Drafting of a three-year plan should begin in January."

Taxes — In two years city taxes have increased 8.5 mills and "I think this is exorbitant. I'm sure the tax rate could be held or stopped from being increased too greatly.

"The city debt is now $19,000,000. By 1972, our city manager (J. R. Reynolds), tells us we will be $22,000,000 in debt. I know that in any business you just can't keep going into debt, can you?

"If we (council) go into the year with the thought in our minds that we have to raise taxes I think we'll raise them. But, if you begin the year with the thought that we're going to hold taxes or not have too great an increase then, — we'll do this.

Needless delays .. I'd completely finish the (Dundas Street) bridge across the Moira and all the approaches — and take out the delays. The way it is now the bridge won't be finished until next spring. The approaches will take another year. Every time we build something it seems to take longer than it should.

"Rebuilding the (West) Bridge Street hill took too long. Then there are bridges for Sidney Street, Station Street, the Haig Side Road. If we take as long with those how are we ever going to get them built?

"I think a more direct approach should be made to the Ontario Municipal Board on matters like the northend plaza and the Four Seasons project. I think we should have a man sitting on their doorstep rather than writing a letter or phoning them. And I think we can use our members of parliament more fully to help us achieve our goals because they open doors for the city."

Traffic — "We should have looked after our traffic problems before now. I think traffic is one of the biggest problems in the city. We should have synchronized the traffic lights by now — I think we're lacking in second."

Housing — "I think rents now are high — too high for the ordinary working man — and the city won't live without him. There has to be lower-cost housing, cheaper rentals."

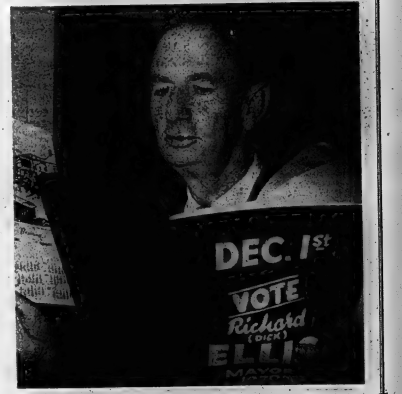
In two years his council experience has counted a multitude of committee work — among it chairmanship of recreation and the city arena. This reflects the candidate's yearslong contribution as a private citizen to recreation — hockey, baseball, softball and boating.

His Fahey Street printing shop at nights once was the rehearsal rooms for three youth bands.

The Richard Ellis Printing enterprise employs 20 people and his proprietor says he has developed it in such a way that security is delegated. This, he says, frees him for more attention to civic affairs.

It's a point he obliquely makes in his campaign qualifications. Posters mention a "full-time" mayor.

"A mayor should be available at all times," says the mayoralty challenger. "More time should be spent in city hall. Look at the millions of dollars he spends."



Debaters Heckled, Booed But Plucky Candidates Kept Talking

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

The 1969 city election campaign is alive and well in Belleville.

The indication comes from the Wharf Street Debating Club — more than a half-century a reliable barometer of how strongly the winds of community interest blow at election.

The WSDC last night marked its 60th year with one of its hottest heckling productions on record as municipal candidates locked themselves in its small South Front Street premises with the club's all-male membership.

Proof-positive of the strength of election interest will come publicly tonight. The session was televised by Toronto's CFTO-TV for viewing at 6.30 p.m. today.

Club ritual involves merciless flailing of all candidates — and tradition has it that the volume of verbal give-and-take reflects general electoral involvement.

An echo of hustings days when the town meeting was a crucial election event, the WSDC suddenly is now surviving curiosity of an extinct age. Its style—maybe more refined — is back in public style under such intellectual descriptions as confrontation and participatory democracy.

As far as the members were concerned the TV presence was merely an innovation of the newer age that has rediscovered the rights of free and swinging speech long symbolized by the WSDC.

They refused to be intimidated by either camera or microphones.

If anything, the 1969 session was one of the most uproarious on record.

The ritual has a serious intent and candidates get messages across despite the atmosphere of carefree, spontaneous verbal combat.

For instance, Mayor Russell Scott had a serious caution about an inevitable city tax increase next year.

"Don't let anybody fool you that the taxes are going to go down," intoned the mayor. "They are not — they're going to go up —"

"My God," interrupted a heckler in mock amazement.

"Is that your platform — higher taxes?"

"No it's not," persisted the mayor. "But there's no use facing it (taxes) any other way."

Contributing to the inevitability of an increase next year, the mayor feared would be new work contracts with several city departments.

The 1970 taxes need not increase "crazily," believed the mayor.

"But they are going to go up — make no bones about it," he warned.

Mayoralty candidate Richard Ellis cautioned the membership that the upcoming election would be crucial. Councillors elected will hold office for three years.

"This is the most important vote you'll ever be making," he warned.

It was vital that the new council carefully plan all phases of the administration for the three-year term.

Council and public utilities candidates fared with mixed success in an hour-long buffeting from the heckling membership that followed mayoralty speeches.

"I'm going to ask you to look at my name on election day," pleaded one councilhopeful.

"Yeah," retorted a voice. "Just look at it."

Appealed one self-deprecating city councillor: "I think I've done a good job in the past . . . I think I know the ropes now . . ."

"Well," someone sighed, "so much for your opinion."

Another candidate, struggling doubtlessly to have his policies heard finally tried another tack — biography.

"I was born in 1922," he began.

"That's another lie," snarled a debater.

However, the event was not without its seriously sentimental side.

Honoured by the membership was the club's Grand Old Member Maurice Callaghan, now 79 for years. WSDC treasurer.

Club president Harry Rollins and chairman James Matthews marked the occasion by presenting Mr. Callaghan with a plaque.

Viewers can see the results of last night's televised meeting on Channel 9.

City's Largest Building Permit Issued

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

A construction start on what is believed to be the largest single contract for residential accommodation ever to be awarded a private builder in Belleville is now underway.

The contract for $1,800,000, covering land and buildings, has been won by Maurice B. Rollins Construction Ltd. for a total of 141 senior citizens and low - rental units to be erected for the Ontario Housing Corporation.

The actual building permits for the 141 units is for $1,570,000.

Belleville Mayor J. Russell Scott said today that the contract awarded by the OHC to Mr. Rollins is easily the largest single contract for residential housing ever to be let in Belleville.

The contract calls for 30 town housing units on North Park Street, and 59 town-housing units on Pine Street.

A 45-unit senior citizens housing complex will be constructed on Turnbull Street.

Mr. Rollins said that a construction start had already been commenced on the North Park Street project, and that the Pine Street project would get underway within a few weeks. The senior citizens housing on Turnbull Street will be started early next year.

The builder estimated that as many as 150 people would be employed in on-site building operations.

The low rental town-housing will consist of units with from two to five bedrooms with a predominance of three-bedroom houses.

A June 1 occupancy date is expected for the first of the town housing units on North Park Street.

Of brick and aluminum siding construction, the townhouses will have an average of six units each, with the grounds to be completely landscaped.

What Odds?

'It's 6-5... PICK 'em!'

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Sports Editor

MONTREAL (CP) — If G. Sydney Halter were a betting man, he would give you no odds at all on Sunday's Grey Cup game.

Halter, under whose quiet administration the East-West clash grew to its present stature as Canada's football classic, is in Montreal for Sunday's encounter between Ottawa Rough Riders and Saskatchewan Roughriders.

As the first commissioner of the Canadian Football League, Halter maintained a discreet silence as to the relative strengths of the competing teams.

But he's no longer commissioner and no longer silent.

Cornered in the lobby of the Chateau Champlain, he said:

"It's 6-5 and pick 'em. There should be no point spread.

"I have seen Saskatchewan play some stinkers. And I have seen Ottawa play some stinkers.

"On the other hand, I have seen both clubs have some magnificent games.

"If one or the other has a bad game, it will be unfortunate. If both play up to their potential, it will be a classic."

Halter, whose impartiality wavered only when Winnipeg Blue Bombers were going for a close one, lit one more cigar.

"Gordon Barwell is out," he said, discussing Saskatchewan's chances.

"But Vic Washington is hurt and that evens out," he added, referring to Ottawa.

Halter, who once would not presume to criticize anything concerning the operation of the Grey Cup, sighed.

"I don't like the two-game, total-point final as it prevails in the East. Out West, they used to have a total-point semi-final.

"When the West cut it to a sudden-death semi-final, they felt the East would go to a best-of-three final instead of two games, total points.

"The East wouldn't go along. They West has gone as far as it can. The West needs as many playoff games as it can get.

"There is a smaller income, especially from television, in the West. And it's not five ways in the West, compared to four ways in the East."

No Way for Tie

MONTREAL (CP) — What ever else happens when Ottawa Rough Riders play Saskatchewan Roughriders for the Grey Cup Sunday, there will not be a tie.

The Canadian Football League Wednesday released a detailed summary of procedures for postponement or delay of the game or a tie at the end of the regulation four 15-minute quarters.

The game matching the Eastern and Western conference champions is scheduled to start at 1 p.m. EST Sunday and to be televised nationally by both the CBC and CTV networks.

In the event of a tie after regulation time, the teams would take a 10-minute rest period. Should they remain deadlocked after the first extra 20 minutes, the teams would get a five-minute breather before playing two more 10-minute halves.

This procedure would continue until, at the end of a 20-minute segment, one team held a scoring edge.

Only one Grey Cup game has ever gone into extra time.

That was in 1961, when Kenny Ploen scored at 3:03 of the second overtime session to give Winnipeg Blue Bombers a 21-14 victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats in Toronto.

Lancaster Has Reason To Haunt Ottawa

REGINA (CP) — Ron Lancaster wants to make Ottawa Rough Riders, the team that sold him back in 1963, wish they'd never even heard of him.

Three years ago, the crewcut quarterback led Saskatchewan Roughriders in their first Canadian Football League championship with a 29-14 win over Ottawa in Vancouver.

Naturally, when the teams meet at 1 p.m. EST Sunday in Montreal for the Grey Cup, the 30-year-old signal-caller wants to do it again.

In some ways, the game will be a personal contest between Lancaster, winner of the Western Football Conference's Most Valuable Player award in 1966, 1968 and 1969, and Ottawa quarterback Russ Jackson.

Jackson, 33, playing his last season of professional football after 12 years at the Ottawa helm, this year surpassed the CFL passing record of Sam Etcheverry of Montreal Alouettes.

Is Lancaster bothered by playing against former teammates?

"No, I used to feel funny," he said Wednesday in an interview. "It felt funny for a few years. There were a lot of guys there that I knew well. Now there's only about five or six.".

"It's a real challenge to play against them," said the veteran of six years with Saskatchewan. "They've given us pretty good beatings in the past and we've beaten them some times."

In their only regular-season encounter this year, Saskatchewan defeated Ottawa 38-21 in Regina Oct. 12.

"I enjoy playing against Russ," said Lancaster.

As for weather, low temperatures aren't the big problem.

"I think it comes down to footing," Lancaster said. "I think if you've got good footing, you don't have that much to worry about."

Lancaster has a repertoire of about 400 plays, counting the various modifications, to draw on when Saskatchewan goes after its second Grey Cup, but will use only about 15.

"Once you find a play that works, you keep repeating it."

Each of the participants and sponsors in the Belleville Family "Y" Swimathon Dec. 6-7 may be just that — lifesavers. Money raised goes toward YMCA work in underprivileged nations. Here, Dave Kerr and city "Y" president Harry Fast get in some pool practice with last year's youngest swimathon entry, 9-year-old Carolyn Harris who swam the entire 50 pool lengths.

'Y' Swimathon Project Not Really All Wet

By MAURICE SWITZER
(Sports Editor)

There is more than one way to be all wet, as the Belleville Y.M.C.A. "Swimathon" will shortly prove.

Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 6-7, local "Y" members, and some non-members will churn up their East Victoria Ave. pool to make life a little more enjoyable for some of our less fortunate global neighbors.

Sponsors can back the swimmer of their choice at so-much-per-lap of the 20-yard "Y" pool, with proceeds going towards the 1969 Canadian YMCA World Service goal of $300,000.

The local association raised $1,984. in last year's swimathon, and is shooting — or swimming — for $1,800 in pledges in the upcoming project.

A per-lap pledge on a swimathon entrant winds up assisting "Y" World Service projects like a new community auditorium in Korea, or providing leadership training to young adults or even feeding hungry children.

As serious as the purpose is the swimathon generates an atmosphere of goodwill, and just plain tomfoolery.

"Our Men's program director, Dave Hahn is going to enter in a life preserver," giggled his women's counterpart Maureen Kelly. "I'm supposed to do my 50 lengths dog-paddle."

At least two groups — doctors' and teachers' wives — have begun practice sessions in earnest to decide their own good - natured rivalry.

Rules are few and simple: a maximum 50 lengths (1,000 yards) daily per participant and non - stop swimming.

There is no restriction on style. Last year's youngest of 40 swimmers, eight - year - old Carolyn Harris, completed her 50 - length quota better - kicking on her back all the way."

"We're trying to round up some prizes for the youngest and oldest swimmers, and the one with the most sponsors," Maureen Kelly added. "We should have twice as many swimmers as there were last year."

Prospective sponsors lacking swimmers should contact the YMCA at 962-6565.

City Honors 39

Champions Get Just Deserts

Turkey was the supper of champions last night, for 39 of them anyway, at the City of Belleville paid its annual annual tribute to her outstanding athletes.

Last night's Club Camera gathering was the culmination of the year's work of city council's Honors and Awards Committee in recognizing city athletes who have, as individuals or teams, won Ontario championships or better, or participated on a Canadian team. Provincial champions do not qualify.

And they came in all shapes and sizes.

There was tiny 10-year-old John Goss, who won his age - group Ontario diving championship in his first - ever competition.

On the other end of the scales, stood the Apollo Barbell Club's Price Morris, still Ontario heavyweight champion although this summer he lost the Canadian title he had held for five consecutive years.

Price has lifted the equivalent of more than six John Goens over his head at once.

Somewhere in between was the prettiest champion in the room — former two - time Canadian Women's Archery titlist Carol Armstrong, a member of the Canadian team to this summer's world bow championships.

Mayor Russell Scott gave the champions official city congratulations, before departing for political wars with mayoralty opponent Richard Ellis, a member of the Honors and Awards Committee.

Committee members: Mr. Ellis, chairman Ken Carr - Brakel, CJBQ Radio's Jack Devine, The Intelligencer's Maurice Switzer, Roland Belanger and city clerk Adam Stather shared the presentation pleasantries.

Each individual athlete or member of a championship team was presented with a handsome plaque, with city leadership awards going to coaches.

The 1969 Belleville champion roll included:

KINSMEN BANTAM ALL-STAR HOCKEY TEAM (Ontario Minor Hockey Association AA Champions) — Paul Ackerman, Bruce Clark, Mark Coates, Brian Coates, Wally Delaurd, Ted Eves, Robbie Foster, Gerald Granger, Russ Harrington, Danny Lapenotte, Bob Moore, John Mayfield, Gary Ray, Lonnie Richardson, Andy Richetts, Dave Smith, Peter Szarka, coaches Fiori Granger and Emil Coates, manager Bob Richetts.

APOLLO BARBELL CLUB — Brian Rombaut, Mike McMahon, Roger Harris, Robert Kershaw, Paul Barrett, Joel Cary-Bridel, Larry Willis, Jim Travers, Jim Stapley, Fred Sly, Bob Walt (Ontario Intermediate champions); Art Walt, Gary Walt, Ross Evans (Ontario intermediate champions), Price Morris (Ont. senior champion), coach Manley Sly.

KINSMEN TRACK AND FIELD CLUB — Ontario meet winners Mirrie Brain and Dennis Bowman, coach Gord Smith.

BELLEVILLE ARCHERY CLUB — Canadian team member Carol Armstrong and Ont. Intermediate champion Lloyd Hagan, coach Floyd Armstrong.

BELLEVILLE LAWN BOWLING CLUB — Provincial pairs champions Wally Lovergne and John Bogue.

DIVING — Provincial age-group champion John Goss, coach Bill Rushbrook.

"I hope we see all of you back here again next year," concluded chairman Ken Carr-Brakel.

Takes All Kinds

The prettiest, and one of the smallest sport champions of Belleville were on hand for last night's second annual Honors and Awards Committee dinner. Carol Armstrong, twice Canadian Women's Archery champion is seen with 13-year-old Robert Kornbhum, a member of the Apollo Barbell Club's Ontario teenage championship weightlifting team.

The Hiway-Byway Belt O'Glass makes ordinary snow tires feel ordinary.

Polyester Glass-Belted winter tires deliver riding stability and control beyond that of any ordinary winter tire you've developed. It's natural progress. So don't be slow to buy snow, rain or slush. We call our own brand Hiway-Byway (3rd generation) and think it's pretty special.

Tough polyester, twin glass belts, and a flat-to-the-road shape give the Hiway-Byway winter tread superior grip, easy and all controlled snows. Driving stresses which cause tire deterioration are so distributed by our tread that your expectancy, even if used in summer driving, approximates the longest wearing Canadian winter tread—and that's performance never before dreamed of.

"Tread grip? Astounding! If has to be experienced to be believed. Yet it performs with a confidence never before possible in the ordinary snow tire.

Miraculous workmanship. Top performance. Top safety. The Hiway-Byway is the best value you'll ever find in a winter tire. And as your period of quality, it's fully backed by Canadian Tire's "Road Hazard" warranty and "No Wear Out" guarantee. (See your new Fall/Winter 1969 catalogue for details.)

If you can about a winter tire that's built to better cope with every winter driving hazard, try our remarkable Glass-Belted Hiway-Byway. The difference you'll feel will make ordinary snow tires suddenly feel ordinary. You'll love it.

'Lamy' Meets Old Ice Rival

By GENE MacLEOD
Staff Sportswriter

Two old rivals will clash in exhibition play tonight when the Belleville KHL All-stars skate against the Flying Fathers, a clerical hockey team organized to raise money for charitable causes.

"I played against Father Les Costello in the NHL when he was with the Toronto Maple Leafs and I with the New York Rangers in 1946," said Jean-Paul Lamirande, also a former Allan Cup hockey World Champion Belleville McFarland. "We played on opposite sides of the fence in the AHL, too. Les was with Pittsburgh and I was playing for New Haven. And I coached his two brothers with the Senior 'A' Windsor club in 1961," Lamy added.

Joining Lamirande and the "old-timers" will be Belleville's team - leading scorer John McConnell and Terry Meagher. The two juniors are also rumored up in the race for the scoring leadership of Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League.

Assisting Ellis Junior coach and ex-Mac Floyd Crawford on the blue line will be beaten graduate John Mahaffy and Kevin Dockrill.

When a junior forward line is on the ice they will be accompanied by an "old-timer" defence. When an "old-timer" front faces wave on the ice, a junior defence will protect the local net.

J. P. LAMIRANDE

Joining hockey great Les Costello and Art Appleton, until recently a Trenton priest, will be Fathers Brian McKee, Steve McWilliams, Bill Bidall and Steve MacLellan handling blue line duties.

Fathers Bill Scanlon, Pat Vallely, Mike Brady, Norm Cantwell, Dave Carrie, Alex Morris and Paul Woodcroft will alternate the forward positions for the Flying Fathers.

Game time is 8 p.m. tonight at the Memorial Arena and advance tickets may be obtained from McKnight's Variety on Front Street or from any member of Alhambra 169 Shrine Caravan organizers of the event to raise equipment funds for a new Belleville Retarded Workshop.

Mo-Hawks Looking For Longer String

The Belleville Mo - Hawks haven't lost in a month of Sundays. As a happy matter of fact, they haven't lost since a 4 - 3 Oct. 31 defeat by the cellar - dwelling Woodstock Alc.

That Hallowe'en embarrassment made the Mo - Hawks the only team to lose to Woodstock, and must have given them a playoff fright.

Since then, the locals have notched a seven - game unbeaten OHA Senior A streak, and hope to make it eight tomorrow night when Oakville Oaks are in town for a p.m. - Memorial Arena game.

The game is a big one. The Mo-Hawks are currently deadlocked in third spot with the Oaks and Barrie Flyers.

Bantam Bowlers Learn From Tourney Experience

Belleville's four bantam bowlers were not as fortunate as the city master bowler Jim McKenzie in the 6th Annual Coca-Cola Master - Bantam Bowling Tournament in Hamilton over the weekend.

More than 440 Bantams and 220 Master bowlers from all parts of the province competed in the event.

"Our kids were 'up light'," said McKenzie. "They didn't finish in high form but the experience will help them next time out."

Bantams Paul Baxter with a 597 for three games and Sherry Knott's 548 teamed with Master bowler Bill Bateman's six-game 1350 for a team 12-game total of 2495. That was well behind the Long Branch winners, bantams Stanley Colley (701) Susan Hollis (768), and Master bowler Bob Rieham (1576) who won with a team pinfall of 3186. Stanley Colley of Long Branch also captured the Bantams' individual honors.

The second team was right behind the first with a 12-game total of 2474. Bantam bowlers Glen Andrews had a 462, while Helen Noel-De-Tilly rolled 454. Master bowler and six-game total was 1358.

"My six game total will place me well up in the money," added McKenzie. "Just where I don't know yet." The winner of the men's Master Championships was Fraser Hambly of Toronto, current Canadian five-pin singles champion with a 1768 total for a 291 average.

The next tournament in the Masters Bowlers' Tour comes in January with a Double-Knockout Match Play scheduled for London. Once again Belleville bowlers will be competing.

Lancers Give Teachers Lesson in Basketball

Loyalist Lancers one of five teams in a college basketball league continue to make a clean sweep of the league with their fourth straight victory.

Last night the Lancers defeated the Teachers' College from Peterborough 47-42.

Paul Goodfellow and Rick Webster had 14 points each for the Lancers. Mark Sheridan scored 10 points.

"Rick Webster played an outstanding game," commented Lancer coach John McKibbon.

Sheridan and Goodfellow remain on top of the team's scoring race. Sheridan has 72 points now while Goodfellow is right on his heels with 71.

Hull Remembers How

Hawks' Esposito Issues 4th Shutout

By CHUCK SVOBODA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Chicago Black Hawks, who lost their first five games of the National Hockey League season, are giving notice they have every intention of getting back into the Stanley Cup playoffs.

The notice came in the form of Bobby Hull's second goal in as many games plus two assists on scores by Lou Angotti, and Tony Esposito's fourth season shutout in a 6-4 victory Wednesday night over Los Angeles Kings.

The win moved the Hawks into fourth place in the East Division, just two points behind third-place Boston Bruins, and extended the Chicago unbeaten string to 10 games.

In other action Wednesday, Montreal Canadiens downed Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1, New York Rangers whipped Boston 6-3, St. Louis Blues defeated Oakland Seals 4-1, Detroit Red Wings and Philadelphia Flyers tied 1-1 and Pittsburgh Penguins gained a 4-4 draw with Minnesota North Stars.

The Black Hawks have had little trouble scoring goals with Hull and Stan Mikita monopolizing the scoring leadership in seven of the last 10 seasons. Keeping the puck out of their own net has been a problem, however, as is shown by their 266 goals-against total of last season. They scored 308 goals, second only to Boston's 303, but finished last in 1966-68.

But Esposito appears to have the defensive problem figured out. The 26-year-old goalie, drafted first summer from Montreal Canadiens, has earned a 1.64 goals-against average to lead the league. Esposito and Dennis Hull have allowed only 25 goals in Chicago's 13 games for the best defensive record in their division. Montreal and Detroit, with 48 goals against each, are next best.

Meanwhile, Hull, who rejoined the Hawks last week after resolving a contract dispute, appears to be picking up the pace that gave him a record 58 goals last season.

Hull scored the only goal the Hawks needed at 18:04 of the first period on a pass from Angotti. Mikita started the scoring in the second period and Hull followed by potting up Angotti for two shots that got by Kings goalie Gerry Desjardins. Rookie Gerry Pinder and Pit Martin rounded out the scoring in the third period before the sell-out crowd of 16,005 at Chicago.

Captain Dave Keon was the goat on a goal by Serge Savard that put the Canadiens ahead in the third period at 4:57. Keon tried to stop Savard's shot, but instead he deflected the puck past goalie Bruce Gamble.

The Canadiens started the scoring in the first period before 14,025 fans on a goal by Bobby Rousseau. Left winger Paul Henderson tied it for the Leafs when he beat goalie Gump Worsley on a breakaway. Ralph Backstrom added the clincher for Montreal with less than a minute remaining in the game.

The win allowed the Canadiens to keep within two points of the East Division-leading Rangers who stretched their unbeaten streak to nine games.

Defenseman Ed Giacomin recorded his third shutout while Bill Fairbairn, Brad Park and Orland Kurtenbach provided the scoring power to delight the 17,250 New York fans.

Kurtenbach's goal was his first in two seasons. The big centreman has been recovering from a spine operation last year and Wednesday took the place of Jean Ratelle who was out of the lineup with an injured elbow.

St. Louis' victory before 18,171 home fans strengthened their hold on first place in the West Division while the Seals took their 12th loss in 19 games.

Gary Sabourin scored twice to lead the Blues attack with Barclay Plager and Frank St. Marseille adding single goals. Carol Vadnais scored for the Seals, who were outshot 45-22.

Goalie Gary Smith, just back from a three-game suspension for swinging at a referee in a Boston game Nov. 19, took the loss in the Oakland nets while Ernie Wakely provided the St. Louis goaltending.

Detroit remained winless in its six-game road trip and dropped to fifth spot in the East Division while the Seals took their 13th loss in 19 games.

The Philadelphia crowd of 14,463 saw goalie Bernie Parent stop 37 shots on the Flyers' net while Roger Crozier handled 30 drives at the Detroit end.

Wally Boyer tipped a pass from Glen Sather over the shoulder of Minnesota's Lou Nanne to give Pittsburgh the tie at 9:24 of the third period in Minneapolis.

Ahearn Clarifies Provision On World Tourney Pro Players

TORONTO (CP) — J. F. (Bunny) Ahearn, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, has once again found the solution to a thorny issue.

Ahearn, of London, England, arrived in Toronto Wednesday and explained that Canada or any other country in the 1970 world hockey tournament can use only nine players of professional calibre and this includes any player who has been reinstated as an amateur."

The statement was obviously for the benefit of the Soviet Union which has charged that Canada has found "the loopholes to allow as many professionals as they need."

There were loopholes in the IIHF rule changes effected at the federation's annual meeting in Switzerland last July.

The IIHF approved the change of reinstatement date for professionals to Feb. 10 of the year in which the world tournament is held from August of the previous year. The federation also approved the use of nine professionals by any team.

The loophole was that Canada could return a team of professionals to amateur status Feb. 10, 1970, and use them in the world tournament at Winnipeg and Montreal the following month.

"Not so" said Ahearn. "I have an understanding with president Charles Hay of Hockey Canada and Gordon Juckes of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association."

Hockey Canada is the group responsible for icing Canada's national team.

Shulman Says Mental Hospitals Make Some Well Persons Ill

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Morton Shulman (NDP—Toronto High Park) said Wednesday conditions inflicted on persons admitted to Ontario mental institutions for observation are sufficient to create mental illness.

"How many people are examined after some time in there and as a result of that examination are then certified?" Dr. Shulman asked the legislature.

"I have letters here from people who have been in there for years and I am convinced that some of them have whatever mental illness they have as a result of their confinement there. It is a frightening situation."

Dr. Shulman said a man who had threatened to commit suicide and was sent to Penetanguishene for observation reported to him about the treatment new prisoners received.

"The new prisoner is shaved and showered and then placed, stripped in a stripped cell. A stripped cell has only a cement toilet and cement-block bed.

"A naked man has lost all his dignity in one shot and has the added torture of no bed, no sheets and a light shining all day and night on him. The prisoner goes through hell."

Dr. Shulman said the man told him prisoners are denied even toilet paper in these cells.

He said a CBC technician had climbed the corporation's transmission tower in Toronto for a lark last June and was arrested by police. He was committed after telling a psychiatrist he had "done it for fun."

He was released after a week and later billed $308 from the Clarke Institute of Psychiatry. Dr. Shulman said, and a collection agency was suing him for the bill.

Dr. Shulman said he planned to go to court with the CBC technician "and I am going to get up in front of that judge and say they are all insane at Queen's Park."

He cited another case involving a 16-year-old boy who was transferred from Guelph Reformatory to the hospital for the criminally insane at Penetanguishene for observation and was placed in the care of two older inmates who forced the boy to indulge in homosexual acts.

Dr. Shulman said "senior staff members" who told him of the case said the situation arose because of severe staff shortages.

Ottawa and Quebec Relations Improve

LONDON (CP) — Relations between Ottawa and Quebec on representation in overseas activities have grown more cordial and this has made life a little easier for the Canadian diplomats.

Officials in Paris and London said Wednesday that they sense a great deal of improvement in Ottawa - Quebec consultation, particularly in relation to the new round of international French-language talks opening in Paris on Monday.

Education ministers from some 20 countries will confer for four days on new steps to increase international co-operation in the exchange of French-language teachers, students and textbooks.

Informants said that following close consultation and negotiations between the Canadian and Quebec administrations, representatives at the Monday talks will be classified as a Canadian delegation, led by Jean-Marie Morin, a minister attached to the Quebec education department.

Gene Control Full of Danger

NEW YORK (AP) — The isolation of a gene for the first time, disclosed last weekend by Harvard Medical School scientists, takes man another landmark step toward control of his own heredity, but there's still a long way to go.

Genes, the chemical letters of the alphabet of life, form a printing press that prints out people, and all other forms of life.

By altering or substituting genes, man may be able to control or correct hereditary diseases, such as hemophilia, or turn off the growth of cancer cells.

By making and giving substitute genes to people, man may be able to make these people smaller, taller, happier.

But some scientists also fear that man is closer to the dangers of misusing such an awesome mastery over life.

The latest advance in genetics, isolating the basic chemical unit of heredity, is a significant step in the genetic revolution that began only 25 years ago.

But it could be 25 to 100 years before the knowledge of how safely and easily to alter the genetic code of life can be put to use in man. The gene isolated by the Harvard team, after all, came from a common intestinal bacterium called E Coli, an organism far from the complexity of man or other high forms of life.

Isolating a gene, even though from a lowly organism, is considered important because it can be studied without interference from other genes. It means man may some day control the genetic process.

Juggle the genetic factors determining sex, for example, and you control the sex of your children.

But what would happen if on a grand scale this produced too many boys, or too many girls? Who would be given the power to make decisions in these cases?

Who would decide how many geniuses to produce? Who will work in the factories? Will the number of children to certain families be set by law? Who will write the law? When the time comes, will man be wise enough to control what he has learned?

Street Tests For Drinkers Are Proposed

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Windsor police may go one step further than the compulsory breathalizer test, which comes into effect Dec. 1, by introducing on-the-street testing devices, a police order says.

Chief Gordon Preston said Wednesday sixteen tubes which are 1¼-inch plastic tubes containing chemicals that change color in proportion to the amount of alcohol on the breath, will be available to all police officers.

If the amount of discoloration reaches a line marked on the tube the investigating officer would know a suspected impaired driver has had enough to drink to warrant a trip to the station for a test with the breathalizer.

Provinces Must Agree

Price Controls Discussions Possible: PM

OTTAWA (CP) — Rejected by some oil companies in its direct request for postponement of price increases, the government may take the whole question of inflation to a federal-provincial conference early next year and perhaps seek power to control prices.

Prime Minister Trudeau told the Commons Wednesday that most of the provinces agree to meet next February to discuss problems unrelated to constitutional reform, which is to be the main subject of a federal-provincial conference here next month.

After a heated question-and-answer debate on recent price increases affecting steel, oil and nickel—raw materials that find their way into a wide range of consumer goods—Mr. Trudeau was asked by Max Saltsman (NDP—Waterloo) whether the federal government would seek power to impose direct price controls. The government does not have such power in peacetime under the constitution.

Mr. Trudeau's reply was:

"If the provinces are agreeable, I think we would be very anxious to suggest the problem of inflation be put on the agenda for the February meeting. If it appears that the prices and incomes commission has to report negatively on its efforts—which we hope will not happen.

"But should it happen, and should the provinces be agreeable, we would be prepared at the federal level to discuss this very important matter."

The prices and incomes commission headed by John Young, former economics professor at the University of British Columbia, started work Aug. 1 on a plan to get labor, management, government, and other groups in the economy to agree to a set of voluntary price and wage restraints.

That effort failed when two big labor federations—the Canadian Labor Congress and the Confederation of National Trade Unions—called instead for direct price control.

The commission has since been trying to get agreement on a modified plan to scale down price and wage increases. A spokesman said late Wednesday the commission hopes to report on this plan "in the next couple of months."

Consumer Affairs Minister Ron Basford told the Commons he had asked Gulf Oil Canada Ltd. and Imperial Oil Ltd. last week to defer their announced increases in oil prices. But the companies went ahead with the increases, indicating—as Mr. Basford put it—"they are not prepared to go along with such requests."

The government has no power to control oil prices Mr. Basford added.

John Diefenbaker, former prime minister, asked whether the government's anti-combines investigators are looking into the recent round of price increases.

"These increases, taking place almost simultaneously, cannot have been the result of coincidence," he said.

Mr. Basford said the anti-combines branch can initiate investigations without prompting from the government, the only exception being a request for investigation from the prices commission has under way is the one on steel.

—A commission spokesman said the report on steel should be finished by the end of the year. He did not know how long it would take to translate and print it, or when it would be made public. The commission may use a new system of computer editing.

In other Commons developments Wednesday, the House:

—Completed committee study of a government bill to impose new airline ticket taxes by 94 to 83 votes. The bill now stands ready for third and final reading in the Commons. The taxes will be five-per-cent of domestic flight tickets, and $1 to $8 on overseas flights.

—Heard Finance Minister Edgar Benson say the government intends to introduce legislation "in the very near future" to establish the long-promised Canada Development Corp. to encourage Canadian investment in Canadian industry.

Clean Air Standards Possible Within Year

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada may have federal-provincial agreement on clean-air standards within a year.

Health Minister John Munro announced Wednesday that a federal-provincial conference of health ministers agreed the sector level of government should develop a national clean air standards.

Speaking after the conference ended, Mr. Munro told a news conference the decision on air standards may lead to agreement between the levels of government on detailed standards within a year. A clean air act under which polluters could be prosecuted may be the outcome.

The ministers spent nearly a day reviewing seven studies aimed at curtailing rising health-care costs without damaging care standards.

Mr. Munro told reporters he hopes a continuing committee established by the conference will be able to identify priorities quickly where action should be taken to whittle health-care costs. The ministers might meet again specifically to begin implementing resulting recommendations.

Mr. Munro said he favors recommendations by the study groups calling for regional grouping of health care facilities and services under boards with broad powers.

He said several provinces repeated criticism of the lack of flexibility in cost-sharing programs such as medical care insurance, hospital insurance and the health resources fund. They argued that rigid federal requirements impeded provincial efforts to achieve efficiencies.

He called for provinces to pinpoint areas of concern. Personally, he drew the line at being "flexible" about basic principles of cost-sharing programs such as those underlying the insurance program.

The conference agreed to establish a committee on drug dependency to review findings of the federal study now under way on non-medical use of drugs. Ministers also expressed willingness to co-operate in federal efforts to restrict use of DDT.

Alpine Village Resort Near Vancouver Sparks Controversy

WEST VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP) — Residents of this Greater Vancouver municipality cast puzzled glances at the forest-studded mountainsides which form a backdrop for expensive homes.

In a bowl in those mountains developers plan a multi-million-dollar alpine village resort. The bowl can't be seen from here, but the controversy surrounding it can be heard from here to the Bahamas.

Opponents see a web of international intrigue. The developers feel they're being persecuted.

The fighting has been waged for five years, starting with arguments, still ranging, as to whether the British Columbia government was right in allowing the scheme to be handled by private developers.

It boiled over this month with newspaper disclosures that new and controlling financing is coming from Bengues Consolidated Inc., which among other things franchises gambling casinos in the Bahamas.

"I don't want any part of Bengues Consolidated," one west Vancouver alderman said when his council asked the province to freeze, then investigate, the Cypress Bowl resort project.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett replied Wednesday by saying the project, including jogging operations, will be "held in abeyance" pending a report from the attorney-general's department, which is investigating Bengues.

Cypress Bowl covers about 2,500 acres in the north shore mountains that overlook Burrard Inlet and Vancouver. It is Crown land and much of it is inside West Vancouver's municipal boundaries.

Developers talk in terms of spending $10,000,000 just to open up the bowl and provide initial skiing facilities. Hotel, residential and other projects are being considered by Bengues.

C. M. Eadie, slight, 50-year-old West Vancouver promoter and mining investor, dreamed up the resort idea. He collected local private money in 1966 and is an executive in the new Bengues setup.

He says it is a legitimate investment could be "astronomical."

The skiing development—lifts, access, parking and a lodge—is expected to open in the fall of 1970, he said. Areas have been logged and road access is partially built.

Five outdoor groups, through the Save-the-Cypress-Bowl committee, have attacked the scheme as a rape of resources. Dave Barrett, NDP house leader, has fought it since 1965.

Mr. Eadie says the controversy is much ado about nothing.

Bengues, he says, is a reliable and experienced recreation developer and the whole project is subject to tight provincial controls.

Jack Wilson of Vancouver, a local principal, said that in January he initiated talks with Bengues.

In September, Bengues wrote to Ray Williston, B.C. lands, forests and resources minister.

Mr. Williston said the letter advised him that Bengues was interested in the West Vancouver development but had not concluded any agreement with Alpine.

Mr. Eadie said the letter also committed Bengues, if agreement was reached, to fulfilling the initial requirements demanded of Alpine by the B.C. government, landlord of Cypress Bowl.

Mr. Eadie said Tuesday night: "I'd say the total development to date is running close to $1,000,000."

Mr. Eadie said the B.C. government has tight controls over development. Plans must be approved and government terms met before developers can purchase any land.

The terms include requirements of public use and access, and adequate facilities. The Crown will retain the ski areas, parking lots and right-of-way for access, and control vehicle fees.

In late October, leases covering 622 acres of Crown land in Cypress Bowl were issued to Alpine. They include an option to renew for seven years in 1973 and an option to purchase any of the land on which buildings or structures are placed.

Musicians Must Intern in Church

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — Waterloo Lutheran University Wednesday announced the establishment of a new music degree that will send some students to work in community churches for practical training.

Prof. Walter Kemp, chairman of the music department, said students will specialize in religious music and will be required to take "an internship" for several months in a church of their choice.

He said the degree program was designed to bring in professional musicians and should stimulate music in the community.

Wishart Challenged to Prove Police Fight Organized Crime

TORONTO (CP) — Jim Renwick, deputy New Democratic Party Leader, Wednesday challenged Attorney-General Arthur Wishart to name any recent court case which proves that Ontario police are taking action to halt organized crime.

The attorney-general said he could not think of such a case at the moment, but could find some in the records.

Mr. Renwick issued his challenge after Mr. Wishart said during the question period that the Intelligence branch of the Ontario Police Commission is continually active in fighting organized criminals.

Under questioning, the attorney-general said that it is likely both syndicated crime and organized crime is operating in large Ontario cities like Toronto and Hamilton.

Organized crime is a term generally used to describe an association of persons who conduct criminal activities as an organized group, while syndicated crime means an association that is so highly organized it has a monopoly.

Syndicated crime is usually used specifically to describe the Cosa Nostra or Mafia.

Mr. Wishart repeated his contention that the Intelligence branch is fully aware of organized criminal organizations operating in Ontario, and continuously works to prevent crimes by such organizations.

Protection Planned For Adoptive Parents

TORONTO (CP) — John Yaremko, minister of social and family services, said Wednesday that Ontario is considering amendments to provincial family law that would protect adoptive parents from repetitions of the Mumford case.

Mr. Yaremko was being questioned by James Bullbrook (L—Sarnia) about the case, which ended in a Supreme Court ruling ordering the return of 18-month-old David Mumford to his natural mother from his adoptive parents.

Minimum Payments Increased For Pensions for Teachers

TORONTO (CP) — Minimum pensions paid to Ontario teachers are to be increased to $2,100 from $1,200 and pensions paid to dependents of deceased teachers will go to $1,050 from $600, the legislature was told Wednesday.

Premier John Robarts said the increase will be a model for improvements in pensions paid to others and involving the government.

Education Minister William Davis said in a statement the increase in minimum long-term and disability pensions will affect 2,250 former teachers now receiving less than the minimum, and 286 widows will be helped by the boost for dependents.

Total cost of the increases, to be absorbed by the provincial government, is estimated at $1,569,000. The increase will show in cheques issued at the end of January, 1970.

Yaremko Tells Ottawa About Views of Indians

TORONTO (CP) — John Yaremko, minister of social and family services, says he has told the federal government that Ontario's $6,000 Indians are opposed to a federal proposal to abolish the special status of Canadian Indians.

Mr. Yaremko was replying in the legislature to Liberal Leader Robert Nixon who asked the result of meetings Mr. Yaremko and Premier John Robarts held this fall with representatives of Indian communities.

The minister said he has reported to Jean Chretien, federal minister for Indian affairs, that Ontario Indians find the federal white paper and its proposal for making Indians into ordinary provincial residents "unacceptable."

Common Commuter Line Urged

TORONTO (CP) — Highways Minister George Gomme Wednesday agreed with Ontario Liberal party critics that the federal government should take over rights-of-way of the two national railways and develop a "common corridor" policy for commuter services.

"I have approached two federal transport ministers on assistance for commuter services and got nowhere," Mr. Gomme told the legislature's committee on highways.

"It is time for all of us to raise a dust storm," said Donald Deacon (L—York Centre).

"Ottawa is seriously negligent in showing no concern for this problem of commuter services. And Liberal members of the House of Commons are ashamed of the treatment this area gets in comparison with Montreal."

Wants Press To Clarify Jury Report

PICTON (Staff) — Reeve of Picton, Bernard Hepburn, last night requested the press to clarify the report made by the grand jury of an inspection of several buildings in Prince Edward County last week.

Mr. Hepburn pointed out to his fellow councillors that of the five buildings inspected only two fall under the jurisdiction of county council.

"Only the Prince Edward County Home and the County Offices building are our responsibility," he observed.

Contained in the report were two observations concerning the registry office. It was stated that more office and vault space are urgently needed and that washroom facilities are grossly inadequate.

"I want to clarify to the press that as of January 1, 1968 we ceased to be responsible for this building," stressed Mr. Hepburn.

All Trenton Candidates Express Firm Views

By MALCOLM JOHNSTON
(Staff Reporter)

TRENTON — Wednesday's candidates' night indicated the Dec. 1 municipal election has aroused the interest of Trenton residents.

An enthusiastic crowd estimated at 125 — the largest in recent history — attended the meeting at Trenton Community Gardens. In addition a radio audience tuned in to CJBQ to hear the five broadcast.

Heated feelings were revealed during the evening which saw 11 council and PUC candidates speak and answer questions.

Focal point was the two majority candidates as incumbent James MacDonald and challenger Duncan McDonald.

Attacking his critics for over-emphasizing the "negative things" in the past two years, the mayor claimed his opponents were too busy trying to build a case against him to mention any of the things beneficial to the town.

Referring to these critics, he said: "One resigned from the Finance committee, one resigned from the Public Utilities committee and the third one stated publicly that if I am elected and he is elected, he will resign too."

"Is that what you expect of people you elect? Is this the kind of change you want? Has any other councillor undone in two years, except for serious reasons such as illness or a death in the family, what he has done in 10 years?" he queried.

"This year council was split on many occasions. I never did feel that councillors must agree at all times. Difference of opinion are healthy, so long as they are not so blind that no respect or consideration is given to the view of others. Only by examining ideas and facts from several points of view can we find the best solution.

"Let's talk about something positive for a change!" He mentioned new curbs and sidewalks on both sides of the river, the 600 or 700 new jobs that have been created, the relocation of the Victorian Order of Nurses, the trunk sewer system which is nearing completion and the soon to be installed street lights on Byron, Sidney, Marmora and King Streets.

Mr. MacDonald spoke with high hopes of the possibility for the proposed new complex on the site of the old Post Office and predicted it would have more impact on Trenton's future than any other improvement now in the planning stage.

"County government as we have known it will be dead in 20 years."

"There are serious and costly decisions to be made as to where we are going, and why, and Trenton must be ready to protect its taxpayers and citizens," he emphasized.

"No one can ever accuse me of not putting Trenton first in all my endeavors," he said.

Aspirant Duncan McDonald expressed full agreement with industrial development but noted that since some of the past methods have been frowned upon, the town must now turn to other means if it is going to stay competitive.

The eight - year veteran of council said: "Improve the main routes to our town. Improve our water plant — these are things from which we all benefit and which will attract industry and in turn cause wealthy people to move in."

He stated that, in his opinion, many councillors preferred to make no decision at all in the past two years and predicted that the Bay of Quinte area is at the threshold of substantial economic growth.

"If we are to enjoy this prosperity, we must elect men to council who will give Trenton stable government," he continued.

"Men whose word is their bond; men who will put community first and personalities later; men who have ideas and the will to work!"

Local jeweller, Gerrit Brubeks, who was unsuccessful last year in his first attempt at council post said: "Should a crowd (taxpayers) be treated with dignity — it hasn't happened in the past two years."

This should be changed drastically, for council is still acting in the horse and buggy days."

"Our purpose is not to accept the Hardy Report 100 per cent but if we call him in we better listen. We should have very good reasons for not accepting the advice of experts," Mr. Brubeks said.

A lack of wisdom, not intelligence, was cited by Mr. Brubeks as the one thing most lacking on the present council.

Former councillor Charles Hilton pledged to do his best to keep the taxes down and noted his PUC record with no rate increase for seven years.

Noting the changes in the school and assessment systems Mr. Hilton said: "In both cases we are looking at regional government. I have heard very little discussed at our council level in this regard, maybe believing that if no one discusses it, it will go away."

"I think this is a very serious change to our municipal life and it could have very serious consequences. I feel a council elected now or soon must stay abreast of these changes and do all in their power to get the best deal for Trenton as possible," he added.

Postal Clerk George Greer, who suffered defeat in the last election stressed that development of the downtown area was essential as was redemption of the waterfront, better transportation and improved parking facilities.

Mr. Greer felt that there was a need for a wider series of provincial and federal grants, but above all, he emphasized the importance of being part of a council team which would work together.

Citing a general dismay and frustration with the manner in which the present council has been handling the town's affairs, Dr. W. R. "Bob" Brickell said: ". . . It has become increasingly necessary for a change in council. Such council is under that town affairs might go forward."

"New council for 1970 must be one that can see more light than darkness in Trenton's future, but diligent effort is needed now in order to make sure of its brightness." Russell Bateman who has served on Trenton's Planning Board for the past four years, said: "It is no fine feathering, there is no use in waiting for the future in the hope that something will turn out all right. The object now is to move beyond old errors, not to perpetuate the memory of them but to build a good present and prepare for a better future," Dr. Patrick concluded.

Nell Robertson, said: "I owe no favors to any group, or individuals. I believe I can render unbiased decisions for the good of the community as a whole," he added.

"I am prepared to spend the time necessary to do a conscientious job — but I refuse to enter into senseless harangues over trivial matters or personalities, such as the reactions of the first two speakers (Messrs. James MacDonald and challenger Duncan McDonald) which you'd expect from four and five-year-olds."

Candidate Robertson also pointed out that while residents criticize industry for polluting our waters — the communities are still dumping raw sewage into the Trent River.

Clarence Baker, who has spent 14 years on the Public Utilities Commission, said that he would let the PUC's record speak for itself while his opponent F. J. Ash worked to offer a fresh, new approach to the office.

Mr. Ash pulled no punches when he said that it must surely be coincidence that the PUC conducted a bylaw this year prohibiting members from living outside Trenton, as Mr. Baker does.

He then suggested that Mr. Baker could do a better job in Amelissburg.

Microwave Answer at Stake

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Radio-Television Commission completed another step in formulating a cable TV policy Wednesday, ending days of complex series of applications for service to the Sudbury area.

Secretary, successor regulatory agency to the Board of Broadcast Governors, heard 18 applications for licences to provide cable service to Sudbury during two days of public hearings.

The hearing ends today with an application by Maclean-Hunter Ltd. of the Telegram Publishing Co. Ltd. of Toronto to buy CKLW television in Windsor, Ont.

The application is opposed by the Windsor Star.

The major issue at stake in the Sudbury applications was whether the CRTC would permit the use of microwave by the companies to bring in TV signals over great distances.

The commission's decision, not expected before early next year, could have profound effects on broadcasters and viewers, particularly those in areas far from the United States border such as Sudbury.

Many broadcasters say if microwave is permitted to bring in U.S. signals it could destroy existing local stations in small communities.

Residents living far from the border, however, argue that they should not be deprived of a wide selection of programs while communities farther south have access to both Canadian networks and U.S. channels.

STOP KILLING YOURSELF

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.
Author of "The Doctor Looks At Life"

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: We had a close call. Our 8-year-old got up one morning with a stomach ache. We thought it was the usual excuse — not wanting to go to school. So we sent him anyway. But after lunch they called from school saying we'd better come and get him. His pain was worse.

When we got home, we found his temperature was normal. Naturally, we thought it couldn't be acute appendicitis, especially, when he seemed much better later that evening. The pain had gone. But he looked so bad, that we decided to call the doctor anyway, in case he couldn't come out late at night. He came, he saw, and sent him right into the hospital.

He figured the boy had had an acute attack of appendicitis and that the "feeling better" stage is with a possible rupture of the appendix. He said sometimes that happens before peritonitis sets in.

Sure enough, they found a beginning peritonitis and a ruptured appendix. After two weeks in the hospital, he came home. "A lucky boy," said the doctor. "If you had waited until morning, it might have been a tossup." Mrs. Y.

Comment: In spite of antibiotics, improved surgery and anesthesia, people still die of unsuspected appendicitis. Here are points to remember:

One can have an acute attack and no fever, no rapid pulse, no nausea, no vomiting and even no increased white blood count. Don't look for the usual signs and symptoms to make a diagnosis. Let your doctor make it.

Sometimes all that is necessary is finding exquisite tenderness in the right lower abdomen at a spot called McBurney's. Sometimes the diagnosis is simple; at other times difficult.

Mainly, remember always to "consider" appendicitis whenever a family member has an upset stomach. And when in doubt, call the doctor early.

For Mr. N.: Yes, it is true that sickle cell anemia is almost exclusively one that affects Negroes. It gets its name from the shape of the red blood cells.

It is hereditary. About 10 per cent of American Negroes are susceptible but only about 1 per cent actually suffer from it.

Unfortunately, there is no specific treatment for the periodic attacks of pain, fever and aches; and other complications such as leg ulcers and jaundice. Nevertheless, blood transfusions and antibiotics are helpful during the acute attacks. But iron and B12 are not especially effective between crises.

For Mrs. N.: Amblyopia is the name for "lazy eye." It is quite common in children and often unsuspected. One eye does most of the work while the other (if untreated) becomes lazier and lazier.

There are several causes for amblyopia, such as nearor far-sightedness, astigmatism and muscle imbalance which causes an eye to turn inward or outward.

Much can be done for the condition if discovered early. This is reason enough for the need of complete eye examination by a specialist before the child goes to school.

For Mrs. L.: Your child is undoubtedly nervous. Pulling out one's hair is evidence of tension. The word for it is with the result that thing is worse than it is. Nevertheless, I think you should take her to your pediatrician for advice.

Doctor Is Opposed To Hasty Changes

OTTAWA (CP) — A warning against hasty action on major changes to the health care system was issued Wednesday by Dr. R. M. Matthews of Peterborough, president of the Canadian Medical Association.

Commenting at a news conference on proposals placed before the federal-provincial health ministers conference, Dr. Matthews said many of the recommendations were really the opinions of a few individuals—highly knowledgeable but nevertheless just a few individuals.

The changes were proposed in three volumes of studies by "task forces" set up by the health ministers to find ways to curtail health care costs without reducing quality of service.

Dr. Matthews offered association co-operation "in any way we can" but made it plain that organized medicine will oppose any measure it believes would seriously affect the quality of care.

He criticized what he considered to be absence of attention to improving the quality of care in the reports. However, he conceded under questioning that the study groups which wrote them had been directed to propose changes that would bring savings without injuring standards of care.

Dr. Matthews said a particular worry is the idea that "you can impose a rigid blueprint for services from above."

He complained that the secretariat of the study group in its summary of the voluminous reports selected organization and administration for emphasis, we can't but made it plain that commendation would get first attention from Health Minister John Munro.

Many Should Not Marry

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

The population explosion will not be reduced by technical means, but only by a radical shift in the climate of cultural opinion — that is, when we finally recognize, and act on, the fact that many persons should not marry, and that many who marry should not have children. As long as a is considered socially desirable for all to mate and procreate, effective birth control will remain a distant goal.

Staggering to work this morning I was consoled by recalling that anonymous wit who once defined Man as "the only animal that goes to sleep when he's not sleepy, and gets up when he is."

Two adjacent news stories on the same day juxtaposed a bitter irony: the first, that a medical project researching the treatment of burns was being dissolved for lack of $250,000; the second that two model supersonic jet transports will be built at a cost of $600 million — enough to provide more than 2,000 burn research centres. How can we explain to our children this national priority of values?

The swift obsolescence of new phrases can best be seen in the term "fringe benefits" where the fringe is already becoming as ample as the garment itself.

* * *

Speaking of garments, people who object to mini-skirts and hot pants should ponder the fate of James Laver: "Ten years before its time, a fashion is indecent; ten years after, it is hideous; but a century after, it is romantic."

I don't know why highbrow authors resent the success of non-writers like Jacqueline Susann. They should be pleased that so many millions of foolish readers are able to find a few foolish writers that can pass the time with, which keeps them out of mischief and precludes them from interfering in the serious business of letters.

Any categorical opinion about the hippies is one-sided unless it recognizes the truth of Bernard Shaw's statement made many decades ago: "Revolutionary movements attract those who are not good enough for established institutions as well as those who are too good for them."

The most prevalent politician is the one who lies to his constituency but the most dangerous politician is the one who tells his constituency what he believes to be the truth, based on lies he has told to himself.

It's worth remembering on the road that just as the auto-makers recall defective cars, the People - Maker recalls defective drivers.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For November 28

Your birthday today: New conditions bring excitement, fresh interests into your life. Affairs tilt to an expansionist tendency, particularly in the last six months of the year. Emotional life remains a more profound degree despite the stir in your living conditions.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): arly extravagance gives much food for thought later in the day. Promises made during business hours get lost in the shuffle.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Family affairs take more time and willpower. Property deals are not favored. Creative ventures bring unusual aesthetic satisfaction.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Your own work is the best source for economic strength. Older people consult and go on again, pleased with your views.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Your impulse is to stretch your own financial resources to shelter another's interests. Set a time limit soon to interpose, or do not get involved.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Money must be spent today for exceptional needs, perhaps special care. Business is less expansive than you'd like. Personal projects are difficult to pursue now.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): The usual beautifiers and social contacts are encountered in an average day. Gather friends for a cheerful party to relieve the monotony.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Early commitments should not increase your obligations significantly. Tested routines are still the most dependable. It is unnecessary to confide details of business deals with friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 22): Family concerns spill over into working hours and district you. Make distinctions and stay with it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 — Dec. 21): An unknown factor is at work in today's business. Find it early so you can improve matters. In any event, wind up the week's work in good shape.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Your feelings are right on your sleeve today for all to see. Tend to those who depend on your guidance, then go on with your own projects. Romance seems left out for the moment. Patience, there is a return coming.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): New problems are not so pressing as the same old concerns at home and work. Very good progress is made in both offices with some time over to plan better health regimes.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): The later in the day, the slower the work, so get an early start. Use any delay for reflection, rest.

Lexiphone, Reading Device for Totally Blind Demonstrated

The lexiphone, a reading device for the totally blind was described to the members of the Hastings County Advisory Board of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind by the field secretary, Roy Lesperance, at a recent meeting of the board held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seldon, 145 Bleecker Avenue, Belleville.

The lexiphone, invented by Dr. Michael Beddoes of the University of British Columbia, scans the printed page and produces sounds of high and low pitched tones which the listener can interpret. There is no relationship between the sounds made by the lexiphone and morse code. Each letter makes its own sound which in turn produces a melody. This ingenious reading machine can read the printed page but not handwriting. As it requires 200 hours of instruction before proficiency can be achieved with it, it is not intended as a Braille or talking book replacement.

The construction of ten lexiphones is currently planned and the CNIB which gives an annual grant for its development, is expected to receive one in a few months.

At this meeting, it was announced that Donald Thompson of Belleville was the fifth recipient in the Quinte - St. Lawrence Districts of the CNIB's Wise Owl Award. Mr. Thompson, while operating a high frequency furnace at the Dikero Steilite, Belleville, was placing extra metal in the furnace when a splash occurred. Had he not been using eye protection at this time, he would have received serious eye injuries, as a fragment of molten metal struck the right lens of his safety glasses.

The Wise Owl Award is presented by CNIB to people like Mr. Thompson who, by always wearing safety glasses where needed on the job, save needless human injury when industrial accidents occur.

The treasurer of the Board, Mrs. George Wishart, reported that expenses to the board for recent care of the blind in Hastings County amounted to $530.97. This was for redress supplementation at Quinte - St. Lawrence Hall, Kingston, transportation to the blind camp at Lake St. Joseph, a new radio and braille watch and repairs on other radios and watches.

The Campaign treasurer, T. Cuningham, reported that funds received from canvassing in Hastings County to date amounted to $3,889.03 and that the young people of Emmanuel Church, Foxboro, were responsible for the Foxboro canvass. As they had collected $218.59, the members of the Board congratulated these young people for their excellent efforts on behalf of the C.N.I.B.

It was reported that the Eye Bank of Canada (Ontario Division) received 531 donor cards during October 1969, 200 more than the previous month and that, though 61 eyes were received during the period, the demand for them, as usual, was still greater than the supply. All board members were reminded to interest more people in signing donor cards.

The board members regretted having to cancel the blindcraft pre-Christmas sale this year due to the lack of a suitable place in the downtown area to house the sale.

Mrs. Harry Rollins announced that the annual Christmas party of the Belleville White Cane Club would be held at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on December 19 and would be sponsored by the Rotarians as in previous years.

Two new members were elected to the board: Mrs. Edward Buchanan, 131 Dufferin Avenue, Belleville and James A. Stickle, Batawa.

Following the adjournment of the meeting, the board members enjoyed a social hour hosted by Mrs. Seldon.

Longer Season Difficult

OTTAWA (CP) — Efforts of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority to extend the shipping season on the inland waterway are limited to trying to get a few more days at the start and end of the season, Pierre Carrel, president of the authority, said Wednesday.

He said in an interview there is no attempt being made to extend the season to 12 months.

The problem, he said, is not fast ice of breaking ice. What to do with it after breaking it was another question.

"We operate in narrow channels and there is no place to push the broken ice."

In an interview Wednesday, Transport Minister Don Jamieson said year-round use of the seaway may never be possible but his department is continuing efforts to lengthen the shipping season.

At present, the seaway closes in mid-December and opens April 1.

Mr. Jamieson noted that since the seaway opened 10 years ago the season has been extended by nearly a month. It might eventually be increased even more.

Kingston Tenant Wins Suit

KINGSTON (CP) — An apartment tenant was awarded $500 damages against his former landlord Wednesday and then ordered to return $340 to cover back rent.

Leo McHale had sued landlord John Hewett in Frontenac County court, claiming damages to cover the cost of furniture seized from his apartment last October.

Newett had seized a record player belonging to McHale's son, whereas the law permits only seizure of an adult tenant's property. The six-member jury also ruled that delivery of a three-day notice of intent to seize was incorrectly delivered by taxi, rather than in person.

McHale, who withheld his rent during a rent strike, moved two days after the incident occurred.

Nuclear Plant Operating Again

TORONTO (CP) — The 200,000-kilowatt Douglas Point generating station, put in operation Nov. 19 after a shutdown that started Oct. 18, is producing 140,000 kilowatts of electricity, an Ontario Hydro spokesman said Wednesday.

He said the shutdown was deliberate, so that the generating station could be prepared for lengthy operation this winter in Ontario.

In an interview Tuesday at Douglas Point, on Lake Huron midway between Kincardine and Port Elgin, plant superintendent Ken Elston denied suggestions that the shutdown had been forced by failures in the generating system.

Health Policies Criticized

Potter's Committee Urges 'Total Care'

Rebel Role Of CYC Traced

OTTAWA (CP) — The Company of Young Canadians is an "important part" of a network of subversive groups powerful enough to warrant investigation by a federal royal commission, a Commons inquiry has been told.

Lucien Saulnier, Montreal executive committee chairman, contended Thursday that elements of subversion exist across Canada but have been more active in Montreal because Quebec's problems made it easy prey for agitators.

An intriguing sidelight came as Michel Cote, the city's chief interpreter, said in an interview that the names of "well-placed" federal employees have turned up in documents going to Cuba or Iron Curtain countries.

"They are named as contacts," Mr. Cote said. "Whether they are would-be contacts or established contacts I do not know."

When MPs pressed for answers after he brushed the subject in testimony, he said he would only elaborate "in secret" before a royal commission.

Otherwise, the persons named might be unfairly implicated or national security imperilled.

Mr. Cote said the documents were seized from "couriers," members of the Front de Liberation Populaire, carrying them to consulates.

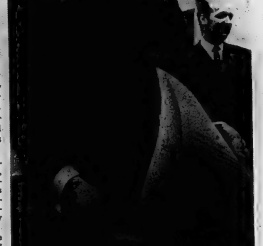
In one case a letter from a CYC volunteer to Francois Bachand, who skipped bail on a robbery charge and is thought to be in Cuba, was intercepted.

Mr. Bachand, then a CYC volunteer, was arrested in a 1967 demonstration, took part in numerous others, and "stole police equipment." An earlier account said Mr. Bachand saved the necks of plainclothes police officers found recording a meeting by getting them to leave their equipment behind.

Another letter to Cuba, from an unidentified volunteer who wanted to go there, listed his credentials as a suspended sentence for possession of dynamite, acquittal on a charge of conspiracy in theft of a weapon "responsible for two deaths," and membership in the CYC.

Mr. Cote said the FLP letter mentioned that 10 members of the Front de Liberation Quebecois, a terrorist group, are in Cuba. The letter said the Cuban consulate would be advised in advance of trips to Cuba.

More than a dozen Montreal city councillors, a squad of lawyers and detectives and some uniformed city police attended the eight-hour session.



Critic of CYC

Lucien Saulnier, Montreal executive committee chairman, told members of the Commons broadcasting committee in Ottawa Thursday he would justify "beyond shadow of doubt" his Oct. 11 allegations of subversion against the Company of Young Canadians. His allegations sparked the inquiry into the CYC being carried out by the federal parliamentary committee. (CP Photo)

Tradeau Refuses To Aid Churches' Flights to Biafra

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau declined to retreat Thursday in the face of emotional parliamentary demands to switch tactics and give government aid to church-sponsored relief flights into Biafra.

"We are doing what we think is right and what the overwhelming majority of African leaders tell us is right," he told the Commons in the midst of a special one-day debate on the Nigerian civil war.

His stand ran counter to Conservative and New Democratic Party demands to end reliance on Red Cross daylight flights to bring relief supplies into Biafra.

In a prepared speech, Mr. Trudeau said Canada went to great lengths to arrange assurances that Biafra would not suffer militarily through daylight Red Cross flights. But the Canadian government received a double shock.

The first came when Gen. Odumegwu Ojukwu, the Biafran leader, rejected the proposal out of hand. The second was the word from Biafran representatives that the main reason for rejection of daylight flights was a desire for political advantage.

Mr. Trudeau said the Biafran price for daylight flights was a political demand "of a nature so extreme that no government could accede to it and still make any claim to non-intervention and non-support of the political aims of one side or the other."

Although Mr. Trudeau declined to be explicit on the Biafran political end, Jean-Pierre Goyer, parliamentary secretary to External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp, closed out the debate with the comment that it was a request for diplomatic recognition.

Mr. Trudeau also said all sides of the House—"share a common revulsion" to the suffering caused by the war and share a common desire to help the civilian victims. The difference lies in the best means to increase the flow of relief beyond the mighty church flights into the Uli airport.

John Diefenbaker, the former prime minister, said the ruling Liberals had "a squalid, nasty, unreasonable and hypocritical attitude" towards the African tragedy.

David Lewis (York South), the NDP deputy leader, called Mr. Trudeau's account of the Canadian position "an apology for his guilt" in not helping Canadrelief.

Mr. Lewis, who said Mr. Trudeau has "a diabolical preoccupation" with daylight flights, noted that no Red Cross aid had reached Biafra for six months. The Canadian government says: "Red Cross or starve."

Quinte MPP Tables Report

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Conservative Dr. Richard Potter last night handed the Ontario government warning that revision of its provincial health care program was urgently needed.

In Belleville today, the Quinte MPP agreed the criticism extended to the government's medicare scheme, and calls for a total health care program.

The admonitions are contained in the report of the legislature's standing health committee.

In an unusual procedure Dr. Potter, committee chairman, presented the report during debate on the health estimates. He had to ask for special consent before being allowed the right of presentation.

Dr. Potter presented the report as the group's formal spokesman. But the document — a summation of the all-party committee's activities during the current legislature session — includes many policies personally advocated by the Belleville physician-politician.

The report stresses:

(1) Gradual introduction of total health care;

(2) The immediate need for more nursing home accommodation;

(3) Development of an efficient rehabilitation program to relieve pressure on active-care hospital facilities.

Dr. Potter's presentation of the report late last night was probably the last major item of business in the life of the committee.

The committee—with a membership of 13 Conservatives including Chairman Potter and eight Opposition MPPS — automatically dissolves with the end of the legislature session.

Dr. Potter said he was presenting the report hopeful that the government's health ministry will give "serious consideration" to points made by the committee.

POTTER
Says the report:

"It is the conclusion of this committee that there is an urgent need for a review and revision of the health care of our province. It is our opinion that only a total health care program will sufficiently satisfy our needs. We appreciate the tremendous cost of such a plan, and at the same time we recognize the need — with the realization it can only be instituted in a gradual manner."

In Belleville, Dr. Potter repeated his stand that present medicare legislation does not "meet the needs of the people of the province."

The government, he said, was not assisting people in areas where they need help.

For instance, "many people" do not receive proper treatment since they are unable to afford medication prescribed by doctors as a necessary followup to treatment, Dr. Potter said.

There are "far too many" children not receiving necessary dental care because their parents can't afford it.

"If we're really sincere when we talk about good health care programs we must include all these things, in my opinion," said the MPP.

He warned, however, such a comprehensive program would be costly and must be introduced gradually.

"I don't want people to get the idea they are getting something for free on a platter. They're not. It will cost a lot of money — but they will have something."

Court Martial Judge Says Order Ignored

From AP-Reuters

The U.S. army trial judge at Fort Benning, Ga., who will hear the general court martial of Lieut. William L. Calley Jr., says his order for potential witnesses not to discuss the alleged My Lai massacre in public is being defied and has called a meeting of lawyers today.

Lt.-Col Reid W. Kennedy, who will establish the army's legal guidelines in the court martial, announced Thursday his plans to call the closed session "to come to some kind of conclusion about defiance of an order to witnesses . . . to quit talking to the press."

He gave no indication of the action contemplated.

"I can understand almost anything except this continuous interrogation of witnesses and potential witnesses and the publication of what they say before it is said in court," Kennedy said. "Something just has to be done about this."

Wells Lets MPPs Visit Hospitals

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Health Minister Thomas Wells told the Legislature yesterday from now on Dr. Morton Shulman and other interested MPPs would be free to visit health department institutions but would be required to speak to the administrato in charge as their first act on arrival.

It would be up to the administrator to determine whether the visit was at a time that would not cause disturbance to patients.

Later Mr. Wells invited Dr. Shulman to tour the facilities at 999 Queen Street West — a hospital for the mentally ill. Dr. Shulman accepted and said, after the tour, that Mr. Wells "was not happy with the place."

Woman Shot Her Family Found Dead

TORONTO (CP) — Police said a man and two children, believed to be the husband and family of a woman shot to death Thursday, were found dead today in a car.

"It's got to be them," said a police spokesman, referring to Noburu Wakayama, 31, and his two children, Kathy, 11, and Allan, 8. All three had been missing since Thursday after Wakayama's wife, Keiko, 31, and William T. Horrocks, 41, of nearby Mississauga, were found dead in a Toronto park.

Piasecki Signs Purchase Agreement

By MARGARET HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — "Piasecki Aircraft of Canada Ltd. has come to full agreement with the Crown Assets Disposal Corporation for the purchase of Camp Picton."

Following signature of the purchase agreement, this message arrived yesterday from Ottawa in the Picton office of Piasecki Aircraft of Canada Ltd., forwarded by Walter Symmons, resident representative here for the Philadelphia based company.

The purchase involved about 638 acres of land, part of the former Camp Picton, phased out last summer, and several buildings, including six airplane hangars, the air field with its three runways and seven housing units once belonging to the military base's married quarters.

Last spring Piasecki Aircraft agreed to purchase the land for $200,000 but no written agreement was signed. The property sale was completed this week following considerable delay over a minor piece of survey work. With the completion of this work last Friday plans were set in motion for signature of the purchase agreement.

Mr. Symmons revealed last month that job applications have continued to flow through the Piasecki Aircraft office here. About 150 applications for work have been filed since the company opened its headquarters here last spring.

In an interview last month, Mr. Symmons remarked, "Suitable applicants will be accepted as soon as there is work for them to do."

As a result of an agreement with Fairchild-Hiller, Hagerstown, Maryland, Piasecki has acquired all rights for the manufacture and sale of the FH1100 helicopter, with the exception of sales in the United States.

Fairchild-Hiller will retain sales rights on all parts of the North American continent except Canada, but the helicopters used to fill the orders they obtain will be manufactured in Canada at Picton.

At a dinner meeting of the Picton Kinawa County Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night, a motion was carried to issue a letter to the federal government requesting that Piasecki Aircraft state its intentions regarding the future of former Camp Picton. A copy of the letter was to be scrutinized at the next board of director's meeting in December.

The motion, forwarded by Jay Hepburn and seconded by Jack Purtelle, was prompted by what Mr. Purtelle termed "a dormancy at the former Camp Picton".

Observed Mr. Hepburn, "I think the Chamber of Commerce should get up and ask what's or not these people are going to operate."

A member - spokesman of the Chamber of Commerce said this morning that the board of directors will still discuss the proposed letter. He indicated however, that signature of the purchase agreement will influence the board's thinking concerning any action.

DEACON, John

Member of the Belleville Public Utilities Commission for the past two years, and 1966 PUC chairman, John Deacon is offering himself for re-election.

"I'm hoping for a new street next year," announced Mr. Deacon. "The commission has already recommended the new lighting for the downtown area, but before the installation can commence approval of city council is needed."

The proposed new filtration plant addition to the Ashley Street for Belleville next year, according to Mr. Deacon.

"It has to be done next year," he said.

Mr. Deacon has many years of public service to his credit. He is a former city alderman with seven years on council, was council representative on the hospital board for three years.

A member of one of the city's long established families, which 70 years ago founded Deacon Bros. Sportswear, Mr. Deacon also is a member of the Albert College board of governors and was recently appointed chairman of the board.

LANGABEER, Lyle

Belleville is the best lighted city in the province of Ontario.

That is the claim of Public Utilities Chairman, Lyle Langabeer, who is again offering himself for reelection.

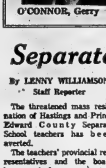
"Belleville has the name of being the best lighted city in the province," says Mr. Langabeer. "Motorists passing through often comment about our brightly lighted streets."

Looking to the future Mr. Langabeer referred to the expected completion late next year of the new filtration plant addition in the city's west end and to the provision of service for new industrial and residential areas.

A veteran in municipal service, Mr. Langabeer served 11 years on the city public school board of which he was chairman; he has been a Public Utilities Commission member for two years, serving as chairman for two years.

A Canadian National Railways locomotive engineer he has been with CN for 28 years, is a life member of the Masonic Order, and belongs to the curling club, lawn bowling club and the Belleville and District Fish and Game.

A member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, he is married with two grown daughters.



O'CONNOR, Gerry

The rising cost —of public utilities services (water and hydro) has prompted Front Street businessman Gerry O'Connor to contest one of two seats on the Belleville Public Utilities Commission.

"I am alarmed at the rising cost of utilities, especially for those people living on fixed incomes."

Citing sharp increases in utility bills within the past year, Mr. O'Connor wonders how present commission members can say there will be no further increase as the result of the boost in wholesale power costs to go into effect in January.

"If they can say there will be no increase in hydro costs, then we are now paying too much," he says.

Mr. O'Connor is the son of a retired railroader and has been in business as proprietor of O'Connor's Jewel Box for the past 15 years.

Married and the father of two children of elementary school age Mr. O'Connor has taken an active interest in community affairs.

He is past president of the Belleville Businessmen's Association and of the Sales and Service Club, and is also a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

Potter Reports

The points are emphasized in the committee report. It states:

"It is our feeling that to complete the plan, consideration must be given to the inclusion of the cost of drugs and dental care."

The committee urges the health department "to utilize all its resources" to ensure an adequate force of doctors and dentists.

The committee's report sees nursing homes as the most urged need and adds:

"In addition to badly-needed changes in the regulations governing their operation, they must be covered under the Ontario Hospital Services program."

Efficient patient rehabilitation programs also are urgently required.

Consideration should be given to rehabilitation wings in each active treatment hospital.

Out-patient facilities should be extended by licensing more "and better-qualified" physiotherapists operating independently.

"It is understood," says the report, "that there is an abuse of this particular program at the present time," stressing the need for more efficient supervision.

Home-care programs should be further promoted and encouraged.

"Despite the statements of Commission officials to the contrary, it is our opinion that there is an urgent need for chronic-care facilities in the province . . ." states the report.

Chiropractors have a role in such a program and their duties should be clearly defined, the committee felt.

The committee also stressed the need for further review of mental care — including problems of the retarded and emotionally disturbed.

Separate School Teachers' Settle Rift

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
Staff Reporter

The threatened mass resignation of Hastings and Prince Edward County Separate School teachers has been averted.

The teachers' provincial representatives and the board have reached an agreement on the salary contract, board chairman E. J. Buckley announced this morning.

Deadline for the teachers' resignations was Nov. 30 and was to become effective Dec. 31.

Local teachers called in provincial executives of the Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association early this month when their dissatisfaction with their contract came to a head.

The association claimed the contract, signed by the head of the teachers' negotiating team in May, was illegal because it was not taken to all association members for ratification before signing.

The teachers accepted the salary schedule, but wanted increased control over category placement of teachers among other, unspecified concessions.

"All areas of difference were resolved in the most amicable fashion," Mr. Buckley said, quoting from a joint statement issued by the provincial executives of the OECTA, the local teachers and the separate school board.

"It was agreed that the salary contract as originally signed and endorsed into the minute books of the board was, in fact, the legal contract," the statement continued.

However, an amendment to the minute book was accepted, "which in part called for the formation of a local teacher - trustee committee to examine and bring forward recommendations concerning the clarification of the level of teacher qualification and compassionate leave policies".

Meetings of teachers will be held in the next few days to give them the latest information," the statement read.

"The agreement was reached after private meetings last weekend and Wednesday night. The board employs 180 teachers and has about 4,500 pupils in its system.

Quaker Oats Plans $400,000 Expansion

By MALCOLM JOHNSTON
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Expansion of existing industries is perhaps the primary means by which Trenton can offset the effects of the curtailment of its industrial incentive program by the provincial government.

So town officials were understandably pleased Thursday when it was announced that the Quaker Oats plant on Dufferin Street would undergo modernization and expansion.

Plant Manager Robert Prentice reported that work is now underway on the $400,000 project at Quaker's Trenton branch — the Pet Food Division which has prompted expansion at the rate of every two years since 1952 when Quaker purchased the local plant from the Crosse and Blackwell Company.

"We are as proud of expansion in existing plants as we are of new industries," Mayor James MacDougall proclaimed at a Thursday afternoon news conference at the Quaker Oats plant.

"Quaker's program as outlined here is received with enthusiasm and admiration for Quaker's growth in our community," Mayor MacDonald said of the plant which originally employed 24 people, but today has 180 employees.

Equally enthusiastic was councillor Paul Tripp, the chairman of the industrial and economic development committee, who said: "We welcome this expansion program of Quaker's. It indeed expresses further confidence in the town and we are proud to have Quaker as a company in the corporation of the Town of Trenton.

"The operation of the pet food plant will be modernized and increased with the replacement and enlargement of machinery used to prepare meat ingredients for processing into finished product," Mr. Prentice explained.

Mr. Prentice said that at present he was unable to judge the potential for new employees at the 52,000 square foot plant. However, he did state that in the past year the plant increased its staff from 126 to 180. He expects a proportionate increase in 1970.

Few Turned Out to Meet Belleville's Election Candidates

By ROY PEACOCK and HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporters

The popularity of the respective candidates, not hard issues, will decide the make - up of Belleville's city council for the next three years.

This seemed to be the indication at last night's pre - election candidates meeting at Nicholson Catholic College, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and CJBQ radio.

Approximately 80 interested ratepayers turned out for the hour-and-a-half long meeting. It was sadly lacking in enthusiasm. There are few real election issues before the people.

Chamber of Commerce Vice-President Harry J. Fast acted as chairman for the evening's program which saw live broadcast over radio CJBQ.

As lead - off man for the evening's round of speeches, Mayor J. Russell Scott pointed to the progress which Belleville has made in the past two years.

"Belleville has gone ahead with the help of all our citizens," he said. We now have 33,000 people on our industrial commission, boosting and selling the advantages of our city."

He said that the city's population had dropped 224 in 1967 and an estimated 2,000 to 4,000 people.

"We have 2,000 new jobs for our citizens and young people and our building permits could approach $15,000,000."

Among the accomplishments listed were the new Dundas Street bridge, repaving of hill 'n dale, traffic and beautification and improvement to the city approaches. Park improvements had results in many favorable comments.

The city, he said, was in excellent financial condition and the assessment — debenture ratio had improved.

Also the city's housing industry was in peak production and council was to be presented next week with a proposal by the Ontario Housing Corporation for 50 more senior citizens units on the Gowanbrae property in the city's west end.

Also, OHC officials have promised to fill the city to resolve the problem of recreational facilities for the senior citizens.

But the city has a great deal more to do in the next three years, emphasized Mayor Scott.

"The Dundas Street bridge must be completed, and Dundas Street widened to the hospital. The Canniffon Road overpass and Sidney Street bridge should be completed.

A computer - controlled traffic mechanism should be installed to synchronize and control traffic lights, he said.

Other musts included further enlargement of the Canniffon Road riverside park, bay front park and improvement to the city's approaches.

The Bay Bridge road would see immediate improvement with construction of the Four Seasons — Bell complex.

Alderman Richard Ellis, the other candidate in the mayoralty race, agreed that the past few years had been good years for Belleville, but said there were still many problems requiring attention.

"It is not the past that you will be voting for, but the future," he said.

"As a businessman, I believe the future must be faced in a business - like manner and this I can offer you."

"I believe that we must go ahead on the basis of a sensible and economical plan. The individual problems of industrial growth, housing, parks, recreation, traffic and sidewalk services cannot be solved on an individual basis — they must be tackled with an overall plan."

To set these priorities would require council to sit down and consider the immediate future, and on election as Mayor, Ald. Ellis said he intended to finalize this team effo: .

Discussion of broad policies for the future would eliminate petty debates on stop - gap solutions, he said.

As the city grows, Alderman Ellis stressed that the problems of the people must be respected.

"Growth is not always a solution and must never blind us to the needs of our citizens."

"When you elect me as mayor I would like you to feel that you have a friend at city hall and as friends we will work together for our common goals.

As the first aldermanic candidate to speak, Ray Bradshaw, past president of the Belleville and District Labor Council, said in all fairness he could not criticize the present city council.

"Belleville has progressed and city council and the Industrial Commission have done a real good job," he said.

However, he said the city needed still more industry and also the shorthand plaza. He was not satisfied that all downtown merchants favored the downtown renewal scheme and said that before any such multi-million dollar project went ahead there should be a referendum of the people.

More industry, housing and recreational facilities for the young people, were pressing city needs.

Former city alderman Ben Corke, seeking a comeback to city council, directed his comments mainly to the younger people—voting for the first time, and newcomers to the city.

Describing himself as a "concerned citizen", Mr. Corke said the three-minute time limit given candidates would not allow proper presentation of his platform and suggested that lacking a real election issue voters would instead have to vote for the man.

His said Belleville needed a balanced council comprised of both young and experienced members.

Labor council president Gerald Cunningham lauded his association with the Belleville United Appeal and as member of the hospital board and said he now desired to enlarge his scope of interest to serve all of Belleville.

He referred to the proposed Quinte Action Centre and the need for more ice facilities and said the next council should attempt to budget for this ice facility by providing the difference between the $35,000 raised and the cost of the arena.

But, he said the city also needed centres in other parts of the city.

He called for waterfront development to improve the five miles of bayshore which was now being literally wasted.

"Pollution prevention measures were needed for the Moira River and the city's official plan should be completed as soon as possible, he said.

"Let's find out where we are going before we get there", he urged.

Alderman Enos David, who is seeking another term of office, reviewed his long years of community service, including membership of boards of education, as city councillor and United Appeal work.

He said he had helped to initiate the city's first recreational program, was instrumental in getting discussions underway to the purchase of highway property now the basis of the city's industrial parks.

Also he had initiated action in establishing off - street parking for the city's downtown area, had been a member of the special committee in talks leading to Belleville being chosen as the site for Loyalist College and had helped to establish the county health unit which resulted in a $30,000 annual saving to the city.

"If elected I will continue to live up to my past record as an independent thinker who has consistently supported council action that would contribute to the betterment of our community and area . . . while maintaining our financial integrity.".

Alderman Robin Jeffrey said that in the past two years she had served on council to the best of her ability and if elected would continue to devote full time to her job as alderman.

"I have been pleased to assist those with problems and shall continue to make your problems my concern," she promised.

She felt that her experience on council would be a valuable asset during the coming three-year term.

She admitted she hadn't been successful in her original hope of "calming" the waters at city hall but said it had often been necessary to question and debate forcefully many of the items to which she did not agree.

"But from the answers to questions and from the best of debate can come the best decisions . . ." she said.

Mrs. Jeffrey said she supported the need for another covered ice surface, but at the same time declared there must be a balance between what is provided for youth and what is provided for senior citizens.

She said she was aware of the heavy burden on taxpayers and declared that all expenditures must go toward things essential to the growth of the city. Sewer and water must be provided to every city home.

Jack Ireland, another Front Street businessmen attempting the comeback trail to city council, cited his 20 years business experience and his interest in the economic growth of the city.

His aim on council would be to slow down the tax increase and to help stabilize the city's economy.

He called for a study aimed at solving the city's traffic problems, declaring that what had been done to date had been "too little and too late."

The Dundas Street bridge and roadway must be completed as soon as possible, he said. A new north south bridge over the Moira was essential, but this appeared to be in the far distant future.

He referred to the city's recent industrial growth which he said had been largely due to interest-free loans from the Ontario Development Corporation.

Alderman Gerald Joyce referred to the small number of candidates in this year's election and said it was regrettable that more people had not been willing to "serve the city which had served them so well".

He saw the next three years on council as a challenge and said that intelligent planning would be required to assure the city went ahead and not back.

He urged a continued park development program for the city's waterfront, more sidewalks, sewers and water services to serve the city's growing needs and a uniform program of industrial development.

Many projects were desirable, but Alderman Joyce warned costs must be considered.

"We cannot tax people out of their homes", he said.

As Industrial Commission chairman, Alderman Joyce admitted the city had been assisted in its recent industrial growth through Ontario Development Corporation forgivable loans.

"Belleville was fortunate in being eligible for the forgivable loans, but it was a team effort (on the part of local officials) that brought success", he said.

Alderman Arthur Keegan said he would present to the traffic committee a plan to triple the flow of traffic at the Upper Bridge and speed its volume east on Great St. James Street to Bleecker Avenue.

The past two years have been the "most exciting" in the city's history, he said.

"I find the present mayor is the most hard-working and fascinating mayor I've ever known," added Ald. Keegan.

Andre Mercier, making his first council bid, emphasized aldermanic responsibility meant representing the total municipality.

Election was not "for the betterment of one or one particular portion of the city. This is for the betterment of the whole city," he said.

Alderman Amedee Mercier recalled the city's growth in the past two years.

"But we can't stop here. We must go forward," he said.

He warned against any factionalism or in-fighting that "all too often divided our city in the past." Belleville's progress should be "a total effort" with "everybody working for the good of the city."

Alderman Paul Russell said that while he was proud of the city's growth, industrialization also can create problems — and "not the least of these is traffic."

The city's traffic committee of which he is a member now is investigating a computerized control system.

But the most important problem is expansion of city hall and recreation facilities, he said.

Mrs. Jean Smith queried contemplated sewer additions along the Moira River that may carry services outside the city "when our filtration plant may not be adequate to handle our own needs."

Lack of assistance to elderly citizens also needs attention.

"We have not helped them enough in their particular needs," she added.

Also needing expansion is off-street recreation — an area only "lightly touched" by some of the more progressive organizations. They need our support," she said.

Donald Soutter, making his first bid for council, revealed that lack of facilities permitted Belleville youngsters an average of 11 minutes ice-time weekly at the Memorial Arena. City support for the Quinte Action Centre proposal for a covered ice surface — which already has $30,000 in public subscriptions — would cost only $150,000. This is neither charity nor a grant, but a responsibility, he said.

Planning is a common factor in many municipal problems and elected representatives must assume initiative in this field, he said.

William Wills pondered the possibility of incorporating a populous area west of Belleville to help Trenton's shopping centre — inside city limits.

Municipal cooperation "through some form of regional government" may be needed in the near future for development involving planning, pollution, road, fire and police services.

One of the "most critical" problems was that posed by the automobile, he said.

Election Hopefuls Watch, PUC's John Deacon Answers

Belleviians Overcharged for Hydro? New PUC Candidate Wonders

Belleville's Public Utilities Commission has seldom generated election electricity.

Campaigns for its commissionerships invariably have been a minor area of city politics, overshadowed by the larger municipal issues involving council and the mayoralty.

But the current municipal election has been short on excitement. Suddenly, the contest for PUC vacancies may be the only source of any good old-fashioned election controversy.

At least that's the way it appeared last night as the annual Chamber of Commerce candidates meeting ended at Nicholson College.

The ladders for city hall seats came and went — a round of speechmaking, reflecting an election starved of open issues on which to peg controversy or criticism.

The public utilities contest appeared set to follow the same prosaic route until Gerard O'Connor was called — the last speaker of the night.

A total newcomer to civic affairs, Mr. O'Connor is contesting the election against two political veterans—Lyle Langabeer, commission chairman, and commissioner John Deacon.

Mr. O'Connor pondered why the commission had no need to raise electricity rates despite the recent six percent Ontario Hydro increase. Was it that Bellevillians previously had been overcharged?

"I'm not saying that the present commission has done a bad job," he added, "I don't know what kind of job they have done. Do you?"

Then, the first question from the audience involved commission business.

City resident Harold Bankier asked Mr. Deacon how the commission used the $10 deposits required from householders applying for hydro service.

Mr. Deacon said the deposits now totalling about $30,000, were used to guarantee payment of accounts in the event of defaulting customers leaving the city.

"It's your money," emphasized Mr. Deacon.

A second questioner — Cecil Becker — wanted to know why Mr. Deacon couldn't be more specific.

The commissioner pointed out that all facts and figures involving commission agreements were available at its office. Further, all interested citizens could attend its meetings.

Mr. Langabeer, a commission member for the past four years and its chairman for two, earlier noted progress in city utilities services.

Those services had been updated to the point where Belleville now was one of the "best-lighted cities" in Ontario.

Mr. Deacon cautioned that the commission offered no "honorary posts" but was a multi-million dollar business needing experience.

He was confident that increased services would produce enough income to offset any effects of the recent Ontario Hydro increase.

New Construction In City Passes $8 Million Mark

New construction in Belleville this year has so far totalled more than $8 million and is expected to reach the $10 million mark by the end of the year.

This was indicated today by city building inspector Grant E. Stickle who said that as of Nov. 26 building permits for the city amounted to $8,335,729.

This total includes the permit for the Nelson Sports building in northwest Belleville, but not permits for the new senior citizens apartment complex or the Pine Street low rental town housing.

Included in the building permit list so far this year is $4,965,560 for new residential construction; $2,598,000 for new industrial structures and $533,000 for industrial building additions, and $1,293,018 for commercial construction.

Building permit fees are correspondingly high and so far this year have netted city hall a total of $18,949.

School Buses

Hastings County trustee Donald Williams' criticism of overcrowding on school buses should be taken seriously.

The Shrigley representative's warning came after Department of Transport supervisor Earl Clark told the Board of Education that buses are permitted to carry one-third more passengers than the number of seats available.

The board also learned that some students insist on standing anyway because they find the three-to-a-seat arrangement uncomfortable.

It takes little imagination to visualize the dangers inherent in such a situation. There is no doubt that many buses are crowded and that the "pack-em-in" concept, over and above what clearly should be the margin of safety, makes for a dangerous situation. Casual observation alone, of students hunched up against windows, hanging on to their books, speaks for itself.

Mr. Williams put the situation squarely when he said: "Isn't it a fact there are students standing on our buses? The Department of Transport says we must be strapped into our cars with seat belts, but a school bus can go down a road at 50 miles an hour with students standing in it. If it has to stop suddenly, many will be seriously injured."

This is one aspect of the administration of education where if more money must be spent for extra buses then it should be spent. Certainly there is no guarantee of safety in the present regulations.

He Got Involved

"Involvement" in this involved world takes many forms. For the clergy it may mean chatting with patrons in the beverage room, being on the same wavelength as the teenagers — strumming a guitar and wearing beads — or even getting into a fight.

During a recent panel discussion on drugs in Toronto, Pentecostal minister George Leroy "jumped in and began swinging" when 20 members of Satan's Choice ran up on the stage and beat up a youth who claimed he was a former member of the motorcycle gang. With the help of some people in the audience Mr. Leroy broke up the fight, but not before the boy was beaten and cut on the head.

The action of Mr. Leroy and those who helped him was far from typical. Today the tendency is for the noisy minority to make trouble and the apathetic majority to stay out of it; or (as so frequently demonstrated in the United States in particular) to stand aside while someone is being mugged or even done to death.

The minister should be commended for his courage and it is satisfying to note he had the support of others. Not so pleasant to contemplate is this further affront by members of a gang who are a blight on our society. Their presence at the meeting was indicative of their link with the sub-culture world of drugs.

Society cannot ignore such evil manifestations in its midst; but neither should it attach to them significance far out of proportion. Former RCMP chief George B. McClellan, now ombudsman for the province of Alberta, put it well recently.

He said: "I get sick . . . when I see the use of a drug become so important that it becomes a national problem and you have got to have a national commission set up to study it from coast-to-coast when whether to smoke pot or not is a national problem then I am pretty worried about the society in which we live.

To which we say Amen.

Brockville Vote

A Belleville native, Wilbur J. Countryman, is one of five newcomers to Brockville's nine-man council. He is principal of Thousand Islands secondary school in that city.

Others elected for the first time, Robert Sheridan, Frank Davies, Malcolm Logie and Mortie Turner are young men in their thirties or early forties. Three of the defeated candidates had a combined total of 45 years' service on council.

Of the four who retained their seats, Ted Wright, who received the highest number of votes, and Perry Godin are also young men. Completing the administration are a Scots-born veteran of Brockville politics, James Cunningham, and the only woman member, Mrs. Frances McGivern.

Brockville's administration thus has a youthful new image. The city that fronts on the Seaway, with New York state just across the river, can look forward to fresh ideas and progress.

A source of satisfaction for Mayor John Broome, who was returned by acclamation, was the 51.2 per cent vote — 5,786 out of an eligible 11,290.

Vietnam..Middle East..Biafra

A Briton's Unflappable View from the Fence

Bill Bauley in
The Montreal Gazette

The trouble with seeing as much as Sir Bernard Fergusson has seen is that you find right on both sides of any given issue. "The older I get, the more I sit on the fence," said the soldier, author and public servant. "It's uncomfortable but you have a bloody good view from the fence."

Sir Bernard, 58, was a leader of Chindit columns in the tough jungle fighting in Burma. He was active in Palestine. He's an ex - governor-general of New Zealand. More recently, he was a U.K. observer in the Nigerian war.

Yesterday, the questions jumped from one controversy to another — the Biafra civil crisis, Vietnam, the monarchy, Quebec, Nigeria, Scottish nationalism.

Sir Bernard, calls himself "a reluctant adherent" of the domino theory in Vietnam. He sees "nothing immoral or unethical" in the American involvement there.

"The odd scandal like the massacre doesn't affect the ethics of the war one way or another." He is convinced the Americans are wrong if they think they can win the war "by sheer force of numbers." In his view, victory or defeat lies in the jungle of Vietnam as it did in Burma.

As for the monarchy, he and the "vast majority" in Britain and New Zealand believe it "is the answer," a view based on the continuity of the crown, its accumulated experience and wisdom, the affection in which the incumbent is held as well as the fact that the monarchy, avoids the "mess and arguments of expense" of a year - long presidential election campaign.

"I have served the Queen directly and had a lot to do with her," said Sir Bernard, who was governor - general of New Zealand from 1962 to 1967.

This year, the Queen named him colonel of his old regiment, the Black Watch of Scotland. "I never cease to be impressed by her grasp, her wisdom, her computer memory," Prince Philip? "A jolly refreshing chap."

Sir Bernard was asked, too, what he thinks about the French-English problem in Canada, based on his travels in the British press.

"I am depressed when I see in the press what goes on in Montreal," he said. "I've been a Francophile all my life and I believe that the English and the French have a great deal in common. It's a sad tragedy that a certain element believes that divisiveness is desirable."

Sir Bernard spent 4½ months in Nigeria last winter as a British observer. He was part of the team that investigated a charge of genocide against the Nigerian government. There was he said, no evidence of genocide as the term is legally understood. A "good deal of brutality on both sides" had been seen but "the veneer of civilization is not very thick in that country."

He does not agree with suggestions that a ceasefire would bring about a cooling of hatred — "it would lead to a bolting up and an arms buildup.

The observers had found "appalling suffering" in Biafra. "It has deliberately been exploited for propaganda and why not? Propaganda is a perfectly legitimate weapon, just as a blockade is a perfectly legitimate weapon."

He believes the federal government's offer to allow day - light relief flights into Biafra was "genuine" but Biafra needs night - time flights so that "arms might be mingled with relief and that's legitimate, too."

"What d'ya mean, If you can't crate, box, wrap, store, ship, package or stow it you won't take it.?"

He Got Involved

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

It was very interesting to read a letter from Don Mackinnon recently on the subject of parents taking more note of the whereabouts of their sons in the evenings, bearing in mind the vastly increased incidence of juvenile delinquency.

First, I would like to thank Mr. Mackinnon for telling us something of the numbers of cases. We hear very little of the actual cases which tend to give us all, as parents, a false sense of security.

Surveys have shown that as many, if not more, delinquent boys come from the so-called 'well-off' areas of towns, and perhaps it is a sad and unfortunate corollary that all too often these same boys can be balled out quietly, which is little deterrent to the boys and enables the parents to shut their eyes again.

Having sons myself, I have made a special effort to find out in our circle, just as a matter of interest, how many parents read and took note of the letter, and since then had taken more note of their sons' activities.

It appears that very few felt that the situation could possibly apply to them, and they had a variety of 'reasons' to justify themselves. Their sons considered to go out as before, to do as they like and where they like, no questions asked.

We are all concerned about the future of our sons, and it would be a very real help to us all if we were given more information as misdemeanors occur. I would like to see more reaction from parents too, concerning Mr. Mackinnon's remarks, or are they just too busy, disinterested or wilfully blind?

Perhaps if we all took a moment to write the paper, we might learn something from each other, and face up to the problem which we know is there if we can bear to be honest with ourselves.

We might even reach some constructive conclusions which would help, not us so much, but our sons. To them we do owe honesty and effort.

Delinquency Problem

Parental Control—Where Is It?

Editor,
The Intelligencer

I wish to comment further on The Intelligencer's report headed "Watchdogs of Public Purse Role Concerns School Board Trustees", and my position on expenditures and purchase commitments.

School trustees must be concerned about the extent and the manner in which expenditures are being made. Specifically they need to know for any expenditure that it has been included in an approved budget classification and that it does not over-expend the budget allotment in that classification.

A proper purchase order is a contract that must legally be honored if the supplier meets the condition of the order. Therefore expenditures must be controlled at the purchase order level to ensure that a budget appropriation is not over-expended.

I maintain too that specific purchases such as office equipment should be approved by the Board before the purchase order is issued until such time as effective tendering and purchasing controls are established.

This should prevent deluxe models with accompanying deluxe costs being purchased by the School Administration if such are not warranted in the opinion of the Board.

It is of course also very important that payments made are in order.

PAUL E. FLEMING, CA,
Trustee, Hastings County Board of Education.

Council Election

Ottawa Wants More Than Platitudes

Ottawa Journal

The most contentious civic issue during the last term of City Council was probably outlings for high-rise buildings. Consultations after consultations were brought in, recommendations were made, and bylaws shattered. The matter is still far from having been resolved. But so far no one knows where most of the candidates stand on this or most of the issues.

Attendance at the two "official" election meetings has been pitifully low. But the meetings have been scandalously ill-organized. It is asking too much of human endurance to expect a citizen to sit through four or five hours of speeches given in the order in which the candidates happen to arrive at the hall.

Board of Education meetings should be held separately. Persons primarily interested in education matters shouldn't be asked to listen to pitches from aldermanic, Board of Control and mayoralty candidates. The 27 Board of Education candidates make a disaster of the evening for those concerned about other issues.

But even the slickest organization won't produce a good meeting unless candidates are forced to come to grips with specific issues. As long as they stay up in the clouds talking about tiers of municipal government or uttering platitudes about working together they are failing the public they say they want to serve.

The meeting organized by the Glebe Community Association at St. James United Church shows that even a dull election campaign can be brought to something like life when candidates are brought down to earth and forced to face specific issues.

Glebe residents wanted to know how the candidates stood on the proposed throughway which some planners have said should be pushed through the heart of the residential area. They organized a meeting and asked. The result was the only election meeting so far with any good attendance, any life, any focus.

The Glebe is not the only section of the city with a stake in the outcome of the elections or the only area with local issues.

Lower Town is profoundly worried about its future under urban renewal. Sandy Hill property owners have banded together to help preserve community values. Thunderdown area is in transition with conflicting philosophies of development.

City-wide issues have also escaped any real attention during the first week of the campaign.

'Paid-up' Soldiers—or Mercenaries?

The Toronto Globe and Mail is in process of having a stroke about its discovery that the United States foots the bill for the Filipinos and other Southeast Asian troops is Vietnam are mere mercenaries and their alliances with the Americans are mere hypocrisy for this reason. Only the Australians and New Zealanders are pure. They are paying their own bills.

This is an interesting argument. It is true that the South Koreans are not fighting in South Korea, but in South Vietnam, so also with the Filipinos and others. It is true also that the Americans are paying the bill. It is fairly obvious, however, that they have an interest in the affair and that its outcome affects them in their own countries.

This might also be said of the Free French during the Second World War and of the Poles and others. When the Free French did any fighting it was not in France. The Poles fought in the deserts of Africa. Their bills were paid by the Canadians. This has never been thought to be surprising. The Globe and Mail has discovered that the alliances of the Second World War were mere mercenary hypocrisy. This will be a surprise to everybody, especially to the "mercenaries."

It is now clear to the Globe and Mail that if ever we become involved in a war in which we share a mutual interest with small countries that feel obliged in their own interest to take part on our side but are too poor to pay their share of the cost, they do not fight as a national army but as our hired mercenaries.

At least it keeps the bookkeeping straight. The thinking may be a little twisted.

History on Microfilm

Brockville Recorder and Times

Many people asking to see old editions of The Brockville Recorder and later editions of The Recorder and Times are surprised to learn they may no longer exist. Long before the self-destruct bit became part of television history, newspapers were starting to self-destruct. As a result the newspapers are carried in two huge vaults in The Recorder building were microfilmed and stored for posterity. The files date back to the 1830s and the more recent the earlier editions were lost in a fire some years ago.

The fact that newspapers self-destruct may be considered an admirable thing, depending on the reader's opinion of the newspaper or the news it prints. But it was distressing to scholars researching to have old copies crumble before their eyes. It seems that while the old rag-based paper stood the test of time well, the newer wood-based papers of the past 100 years crumble after a few years storage.

Microfilming is the answer, although it is expensive and time consuming. In some cases, too late. Fortunately most of the old Recorders were in good enough condition to get them on film. A lot of valuable history of this part of Canada could have been lost but through microfilming the old editions, this newspaper has plugged that could have become a hole in our history.

VERB - - a 1,000-mile-long Blackboard

EDITOR'S NOTE:
Ian Robertson is a journalism student at Loyalist College.

By IAN S. ROBERTSON

In most cases, when a teacher is absent from a class the students do not have to attend.

Harry Occomore, a Bell Canada supervisor, teaches a calculus course for Thursday evening extension students at Loyalist College. This week, however, Mr. Occomore was a thousand miles away.

Mr. Occomore was in Saint John, New Brunswick from where he was able to conduct a complete session as usual.

While this may sound impossible, it was facilitated by the use of Bell Canada's Visual Electronic Remote Blackboard, VERB which is employed for teaching purposes.

While a stylus pen was operated by him in New Brunswick last night, another pen on the VERB machine at the Bell Canada offices on Pinnacle Street was going through the same motions, identically reproducing his writing.

This method employs an analog tone system which passed through telephone cables to Belleville where it was converted to direct current, operating a servo motor, controlling the stylus pen.

The signal being received by the small machine on its plastic roller was reflected on a wall screen through an overhead projector. The result of the VERB machines and an open speaker phone, similar to business interphones, was Mr. Occomore's ability to conduct a visual and a vocal class with his students at the telephone company's downtown classroom.

David Sitti, a Bell Canada supervisor, explained that Belle's co-operation with Loyalist College was on a trial basis, but the 12 extension students were extremely pleased with the results. It is hoped that on occasion, this service will again be offered.

Students who regularly attend this refresher course are undergoing a five- to seven-year period of training at the end of which they will receive their professional engineering diploma.

Loyalist's course enables them to write the exams set by the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario. Without the community college course, the men would have to leave their engineering and technician jobs to attend regular university courses.

Canadian Cheese Surplus Policy Slammed

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

Current policy of the Canadian cheese industry is producing surplus quantities of cheddar to sell at "give away" prices in the United Kingdom was questioned here yesterday by a Belleville cheese processor.

William Cook, president and general manager of the Black Diamond Cheese Company in Belleville said it would make more economic sense for Canadian makers to manufacture the type of cheese that is wanted and which sells readily in this country.

In the past 10 years, he said, consumption of processed cheese has doubled in Canada while the domestic demand for cheddar has increased only slightly.

Canada made four times more cheddar for export to the United Kingdom than was necessary.

"I don't know why we need to sell (export) cheese at a loss," he said.

The speaker was also critical of import regulations permitting American skim milk process cheese to be brought into Canada paying only low duty to undersell Canadian cheese.

The ingredients for the American process cheese were purchased in France at low French prices, he said.

On the other hand, similar Canadian cheese going into the United States faced heavy duty charges.

"We are getting great protection" was the comment.

Mr. Cook stressed the importance of cheese packaging in 5-lbs desired by the consumer. He said it was more reasonable to offer cheese in small package form rather than in 40 and 90-pound blocks.

R. H. Jardine director of the milk products division of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food drew attention to the whey disposal problem, noting that more and more emphasis was being placed on the need for pollution control.

He said that any system of whey processing must be on the basis of waste disposal, rather than with the idea of making a profit.

Other speakers during the afternoon session included W. D. Tupper, agricultural representative for Hastings County, and Kenneth G. Savage, director, Canada Department of Agriculture.

Belleville and District Obituaries and Funerals

FRANCIS BERNARD WADSWORTH

As the result of an accident Francis Bernard Wadsworth, 139 University Avenue, died suddenly at the CNR frog shop on Thursday morning in his 69th year.

Mr. Wadsworth was born in Carlow Township, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wadsworth and had resided in Belleville for 24 years. He was employed as a machinist with the CNR shops for 26 years. Heart Fund Campaigners Ready for Spring Canvass

The Belleville Chapter of the Heart Association is making plans for its annual campaign for funds, Feb. 26 until March 15.

Mrs. Dorothy Howell, elected as vice - chairman of the chapter, will serve as campaign manager for this year's edition of the canvass. She will be assisted by Mrs. Jack Hartt vice - chairman, Bruce Cirtik, treasurer, and Gerald Hyde, chairman of publicity.

In the campaign vein, Feb. 22 has been designated as Heart Sunday with the co - operation of all churches in the area. The annual canvass will, in all probability, occur in fairly moderate late winter weather.

Also during this month's meeting, the chapter elected its officers for the forthcoming year. Re - elected as president was Archie S. Lewis. Mrs. H. Miller and Bruce Curtis become secretary and treasurer respectively.

Mrs. Jean Sutherland, the regional director of the Heart Association, attended the annual meeting and commended the local chapter for the excellent work it has done in the past and for the minimal costs it has incurred in conducting its campaign.

Workshop Prepares Teachers For Family Life Instruction

A teachers' workshop in family life education drew 150 elementary and secondary teachers from county schools to Queen Mary School in Belleville Thursday.

The all-day workshop guaranteed that each school under the direction of the Hastings county board of education will have at least one teacher familiar with the program and able to institute instruction of pupils.

The seven members of the committee that drew up the family life and human development program were on hand to acquaint the elementary and secondary school teachers with methods, presentation and teaching aids.

Allan Robertson, from the city of Waterloo schools, gave a seminar for the secondary school physical education teachers. They will begin teaching the course this year in all grade 10 classes.

Also on hand were teachers from the Ontario School for the Deaf and the Department of education, to cover special aspects of teaching.

At the kindergarten to Grade 4 level, an integrated approach will be taken to the course, by teaching it, when feasible, in conjunction with other regular classroom subjects.

With 150 classroom teachers now familiar with the books and audio-visual aids available, and instructed in the presentation of the program, family life education is expected to get under way in most county schools early in 1970.

Drop-in Centre
All it Needed Was Push

The bed that negotiated 27 miles of road from Tweed to Belleville has pushed its way right into a city youth centre.

The Living Room — Especially for People, will open tonight on a temporary basis, at the Recreation Centre on Pinnacle St. opposite the County Court House.

With pledge money still coming in from the pushathon last Saturday, the group of young people and adults sponsoring the centre has found a home for their project.

Through the intervention of Lorne Williams and Mrs. Wilma Summers of the city's recreation board staff, the upstairs room at the Rec. Centre has been secured for Friday and Sunday nights until the new year.

It will be open from 7 to 10 p.m. both nights as a meeting place, with an informal format to be decided upon by the teenagers themselves.

Everyone, including adults with a genuine concern for young people, is invited to visit The Living Room on the two nights it will be open.

The sponsoring group, still determined to have a full-time centre, is continuing its efforts to find suitable accommodation. In the meantime, the city's generous backing, through the offer of Rec. Centre facilities, has given the project an important boost.

People are beginning to think Datsun is a Canadian car

There's a legend that says foreign cars aren't a smart buy because it's hard to get them serviced and finding parts can drive you out of your mind. But Datsun is a foreign car. And it's a runaway best-seller.

How come? Part of the reason could be because there are so many Datsun dealers around. Like 800 in North America. 200 coast-to-coast in Canada. Backed up by about two million dollars' worth of parts. With that kind of support, Datsun just doesn't seem like a foreign car any more. It seems like a naturalized Canadian.

We don't mind if people forget that Datsun is an imported car. We've got lots of dealers to remind them. Test-drive a Datsun at any of the 200 dealers in Canada.

Unwanted Pets Still Issue

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Humane Society Thursday expressed general satisfaction with Bill 194, then presented a fistful of suggested amendments, which, it said, would make the bill a good law.

Bill 194 is the controversial piece of legislation that would make provision of unwanted dogs and cats for research mandatory upon animal pounds in the province.

The society presented a 36-page brief to the legislature's health committee and suggested an amendment to the proposed legislation that existing shelters owned and operated by humane societies be exempted from provisions of the bill.

The OHS has expressed disapproval of the use of shelters as a source for animals to be used in experiments in which the animal would live after the experiment.

The society feels animals for this type of experiment should be bred expressly for research.

He said the wholesale dealers have at one time or other been convicted of cruelty to animals, but they remain in business.

Hydro Rate Hike Criticized

TORONTO (CP) — A rate increase recently announced by Ontario Hydro was strongly attacked by New Democratic Party members Thursday as the first phase of legislative hearings on the issue came to a close.

Stephen Lewis (NDP—Scarborough West) accused Hydro chairman George Gathercole of raising rates "casually, almost frivolously."

NDP Deputy Leader James Renwick said Hydro should be required to obtain approval for rate increases either from the Ontario Energy Board or from a legislative committee.

The criticism came as the legislature's standing committee on government commissions completed its hearing of witnesses called to explain the reasons behind the six per cent increase to go into effect Jan. 1.

The committee now is expected to meet without witnesses in order to prepare a report to the legislature.

Mr. Gathercole told the committee Hydro's wholesale rates charged to municipal electric utilities will have increased by 21 per cent over a four-year period ending in 1970. In the same period, operating costs will have risen by 44 per cent.

Salary Increases Recognize Work Load of MPPs: Robarts

TORONTO (CP) — Premier John Robarts Thursday introduced legislation that raises his own salary to $40,000 a year from $30,000, that of departmental cabinet ministers to $25,000 from $20,000 and that of MPs to $18,000 from $12,000.

Mr. Robarts told the Ontario legislature the salary increases would "more adequately recognize the responsibilities and work load of the members of the legislature and the expenses which they must incur in the conduct of the business of Ontario."

The raises are the first in four years for representatives in the Ontario legislature and bring their salaries in line with those paid in Ottawa and Quebec.

Mr. Robarts said the raises, retroactive to last April, had been long requested by many members who claim that being in the legislature puts them out of pocket because they have almost no time for another occupation in private life.

Under the new salary schedule, worked out among Mr. Robarts, Liberal Leader Robert Nixon and NDP Leader Donald MacDonald, the leader of the Opposition will receive $35,000, cabinet ministers without portfolio $34,000 and a leader of a party with more than 12 seats in the legislature $22,000.

The Speaker will earn $23,000, the Deputy Speaker $22,000 and the deputy chairman and the chief government whip $20,000.

In other business:

—Mr. Wells said his department plans study of prenatal deaths, a category which includes stillbirths and deaths during the first week after birth. Mr. Wells said there were 3,000 such deaths in Ontario in 1967—the highest death rate until the 45-54-year-old age group is reached.

—Mr. Wells invited Dr. Morton Shulman (NDP—High Park) to visit the Ontario Hospital in Toronto for a check into conditions there. Dr. Shulman said he has seen "inadequacies, neglect, abuse, inter-patient violence, understaffing and low staff morale" during tours of other Ontario health institutions.

—Mr. Wells said Ontarians are being told not to dispose of any DDT they may still have until they are notified by their municipality. He said local authorities would collect all DDT for final disposal.

—Municipal Affairs Minister Darcy McKeough said he would set up continual talks with golfing associations to settle problems that develop under a new system of assessments for golf courses. Golf associations claim the new system will either drive courses out of existence or raise the costs so high that courses will become a preserve for the rich.

—Premier Robarts said the Ontario government would be willing to call a meeting with governors of the eighth Great Lakes states on the subject on pollution if it becomes necessary.

—Mr. Robarts said he would assure the chairman of the Ontario Energy Board that there is no deadline in the board's hearing on the proposed takeover of Consumers' Gas Co. of Toronto. He was replying to Opposition Leader Robert Nixon, who said he had information the board had been asked to complete hearings by Dec. 1.

—Revenue Minister John White said the provincial retail tax on take-out meals will be removed Dec. 1. The minister said that administration of the tax has proved too cumbersome.

Ontario Now Paying Ottawa, Quebec Scale

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The two biggest provinces of Canada are catching up to Ottawa when it comes to paying salaries of their elected members but other provinces lag far behind, a Canadian Press survey shows.

Ontario's pay increases for MPP's, announced Thursday, bring Premier John Robarts' salary up to that of Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand of Quebec at a total of $40,000. By contrast, Prime Minister Trudeau gets $45,000.

Ontario cabinet ministers will get $35,000, compared to Quebec's $33,000 and Ottawa's $35,000.

Basic members' pay, which is included in the salary of the leaders, now is: Ottawa MP $18,000; Ontario $18,000; Quebec $15,000. These break down to: Ontario and Ottawa $12,000 plus $6,000 tax-free expenses; Quebec $10,000 plus $5,000 not taxable.

Here are some of the premiers', cabinet ministers' and basic members salaries in other provinces, including expense allowances:

British Columbia $28,000, $25,500, $8,000; Alberta $22,900, $19,800, $7,200; Saskatchewan $27,500, $22,500, $9,000; Manitoba $6,800, $25,800, $7,200; Nova Scotia $26,000, $24,000, $7,500.

Alberta members also receive $15 a day during the session when the member is absent from his ordinary place of residence, tax free.

School Support Clause 'Unfair'

TORONTO (CP) — All three political parties in the Ontario legislature want to change a law that prevents a non-Catholic father from supporting the children of his Catholic wife in a separate school, but learned Thursday they cannot because of the Canadian constitution.

Cliff Pilkey (NDP—Oshawa) won support from Conservative and Liberal members of the legislature's committee on legal bills when he tried to remove a restriction on such support from the Assessment Act.

But the committee was told by its legal adviser that the restriction must remain until the Separate Schools Act is changed, and that cannot be done for constitutional reasons.

The Assessment Act says a person seeking to be included on the rolls as a separate school supporter must give the assessor a statement that he is a Roman Catholic.

C. W. Yates, general municipal counsel for the department of municipal affairs, said the section is only a direction for assessors in complying with the act.

But a similar restriction in that legislation cannot be amended because the British North America Act established the right to separate schools as they existed before Confederation.

The law before Confederation said that only a Roman Catholic could support a separate school, Mr. Yates said.

Municipal Affairs Minister Darcy McKeough said he agreed with Mr. Pilkey's position, and would convey the committee's views to Premier Robarts for consideration in relations with the federal government on the constitution.

Car's Battery Inspected

Consumers' Minister Lacks Machinery to Rule on Toy Safety

OTTAWA (CP) — Consumer Affairs Minister Ron Basford confirmed Thursday that an official of his department "had a look at" a toy car now on sale with a sulphuric acid battery.

But he added in a Commons reply to Grace MacInnis (NDP —Vancouver Kingsway) that his department has no machinery for approval or disapproval of toys.

Mrs. MacInnis said a Montreal child was burned by acid from the toy and it should be taken off the market immediately.

Outside the Commons Thursday, Mrs. A. B. R. Lawrence of Ottawa, chairman of the Canadian Toy Testing Council, issued a statement saying the council has decided to make further tests of the car.

She noted that a toy council member earlier had accompanied a member of the consumer affairs department to an Ottawa store to view it.

"They examined two samples and decided that if played with under normal use and strictly according to the instructions supplied, said there should be no hazard.

"However, owing to the fact that the incorporated wet-cell battery contains sulphuric acid and because of the numerous inquiries we have received, the Canadian Toy Testing Council has decided to make further tests on the car. When we have the results of our test we will make them public."

Mrs. Lawrence said a member of the council had been misquoted in the press as having said the car had been tested by the council.

Old Skill Still Survives

Although few Eskimos now live in igloos, the skill remains essential to those who travel in the Arctic. Houses like this are built by travellers when they stop for the day and provide effective insulation against the cold and wind that sweep the treeless land. The skill is fast disappearing with the advent of canvas tents and the shorter travelling times made possible by power toboggans. (CP Photo)

Tobacco Farmers Meet Ministers

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario tobacco growers, who produced an estimated $150,000,000 crop this year, conferred Thursday with three federal ministers about the impact of any government moves against the industry as a hazard to health.

Chairman George Deneszyne of the Ontario flue-cured tobacco marketing board termed "quite satisfying" the discussions with Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson, Trade Minister Jean-Luc Pepin and Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey.

The Commons health committee is expected to produce a report within weeks on the question of smoking as a health hazard. Mr. Deneszyne said. It was understandable that this fact conditioned the conversations with the ministers, he said.

The Ontario board, representing 4,000 tobacco farmers who grew a record 1968 crop estimated at between 218,000,000 to 225,000,000 pounds, also discussed possibilities of increasing export sales.

These have been running at a rate comparable with last year's 80,000,000 pounds, chiefly to Britain, delegation members said. This reflects demand increased by the boycott on Rhodesian tobacco, partially successful but not expected to have much effect past this year.

Quebec grows about 10,000,000 pounds of tobacco and the industry in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, encouraged by federal agricultural funds, has been increasing to about 4,000,000 pounds.

KILLING YOURSELF

Woman 235 Pounds Unable to Reduce

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.
Author of "The Doctor Looks At Life"

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am 5-feet-2-inches, weigh 235 pounds, and am 28 years old. Otherwise, I am in good health. My doctor tried to help with several diets and pills. Nothing worked.

I was always heavy, but I really got fat after my third child eight years ago. My doctor referred me to a psychiatrist. I went for three years. I also tried three other doctors. And a hypnotist. But I am still fat.

Twice in the past year I have tried to take my own life. I feel I have let my husband down. He is the most wonderful man in the world. He never complains, but I see the hurt in his eyes. Hurt I have caused.

I can't help myself. I realize I can't keep on hurting my husband and the children. You see I am too ashamed to leave the house. And I can't keep asking for more money for doctors and pills.

I can't sleep and I can't keep up with my housework. I just know I will get tired and more tired and soon there will be no reason for me to go on.

Please, if you have a thought that might save me from myself, tell me. And forgive the messy letter, but if I redo it, I will never mail it. — Mrs. R.

Comment: A sad letter like yours, Mrs. R., underlines the importance of obesity as a disease — not just something to be joked about and passed over lightly. You have tried. So far you have failed. What to do now? I think of two areas of treatment that have not been tried.

First, do you think you have the courage to join one of the TOPS or Weight - Watchers?

Second, I believe that a problem like yours deserves hospital treatment. Perhaps your doctor has already suggested these alternatives.

• • •

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have an 18-year-old daughter who complains of persisting stomach pains and headaches. The doctor finds nothing and says she has nothing but a nervous stomach.

For the past two months she has been running a fever as high as 103, and vomiting. She is missing many of her high school classes. She wants to go to college. The doctor will not call another doctor in consultation. What would you do? — Mrs. P.

Comment: Insist on consultation — today!

• • •

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am 75 years old and feel fine. I have never been sick. Ever since I was about 10 years old, I have eaten about one pound of butter per week and also have ice cream twice a day. My weight is 160 and has been that for many years.

My friends tell me that if I keep on eating as I have, I'll get hardening of the arteries. But I feel that at 75 years and healthy, the diet I have been on hasn't done me any harm. What do you think? — Mr. T.

Comment: It's you and me against all your friends. I am on your side. I do not believe in changing signals when there is such good evidence (as in your case) that you have been making gains all these years.

If I were your doctor, I would not ask you to give up cream or one dab of butter.

• • •

For Mrs. S.: I know of no hormone cream or pill or shot that will help in promoting breast development. Nor do I suggest that your experience with the hope of expanding your measurements.

No Need for Hysteria About Pollution Here

TORONTO (CP) — An Ontario government expert on air pollution said Thursday there is no need for "hysteria" over pollution.

Louis Shenfield, head of the government's meteorology and air-quality section, said in an interview that persons who think current pollution levels spell the end of civilization "don't know what they're squawking about . . ."

"We don't say everything is rosy. We do say there's no need for hysteria. These people are yelling and they don't know what pollution is. New York is twice the level of Toronto and so is Chicago."

Matadora Has Fond Memories of Bullfighting

OTTAWA (CP) — The matadora's hat belonging to Isabel Marti-Aguilar is packed deep in the closet of her Ottawa home along with a picture of the Virgin of the Macarena, the patron saint of bullfighters. But her memories remain.

"Bullfighting is such a challenge, when you're risking your life every minute in the ring," she said in an interview here where she now lives with her artist husband Leo and their two-year-old son.

"It makes everyday life seem tame."

Isabel's career virtually began and ended in Canada. It began with a yen to be a veterinarian when she was growing up in Toronto, adopted home of her widowed, immigrant mother.

But her relatives took a dim view of such work for a woman. An uncle in Mexico even agreed to pay her way to the best school in the country for any higher education she chose — except veterinary medicine.

She asked to study bullfighting.

"I had put him to a trying test," she said of her uncle. "But there was nothing he could do. He had given a gentleman's word of honor."

By the time she was 18, Elizabet Bilbao, as her public knew her, had the finest of training from one of Mexico's most experienced matadors and during the next three years she fought her way to the top.

As one of Mexico's few respected matadorsa, she was honored by crowds as big as 80,000 persons on Sunday afternoons as her "red" cape flicked far below in the Plaza Mexico, the world's largest bull ring.

In 1957 she was awarded the coveted silver ear as top bullfighter in the southeastern states of Mexico.

Hers was a world that practised all its exacting traditions — the ceremonial dressing before a fight where one cannot lay the hat on a bed without bringing bad luck, where help is needed to don the heavy encrusted coat, where one must rent an expensive hotel suite for the occasion and dress to the music of a flamenco guitarist.

But 11 years ago her world disintegrated in an incident recounted in this day with a never - failing accoopcaplaimost —a burst of raucous, sarcastic laughter.

Word came to her Mexican circles that Lindsay, an Ontario town, wanted to stage a bullfight for charity, something never before tried in Canada. Isabel was instructed to make arrangements.

But representatives of the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce, who flew south to oversee operations, didn't like the "scrawny, dark" men she had hired as fighters. They balked, she says, at the price of the bulls she planned to buy from one of Mexico's most reputable ranches.

Then there were the thousands of protest letters from people across Canada who despised bullfighting for its "cruelty."

The comparatively inexpensive bulls finally selected were held up at the Mexican-U.S. border "because they had ticks." And when they did arrive, they were lazy and tired from tight quarantine restrictions.

Lindsay's "bloodless bullfight" — matadors used wooden swords to support their capes—turned out to be a matador's nightmare.

At one point a floundering bull slipped on Isabel's cape. She tugged to get it away, then was caught in the bull's horns and flipped half way across the plaza.

The sand was so deep the fighters couldn't get a footing.

"The bulls were charging straight at our chests. We couldn't be artistic. All we could do was show our bravery."

With great pasbion she explained that a bullfighter does not enjoy killing. It is a Christmas gift when they dinner complete with home - made bread and cranberries.

Following dinner the guests were treated to a half - hour of singing by the girls' choir, under the direction of Mrs. Clive Kingston, and a movie of Tweed made and presented by Doug. Fletcher and Bill Ingles. Several of the guests remained to enjoy a few games of euchre and bridge, to round out the evening's program.

Members of the Kinette Club expressed the hope that the guests had found the evening enjoyable.

Kinette Club Entertains Aged

TWEED — St. John's United Church Hall was the recent setting for a gala dinner and social evening held by the Tweed Kinette Club, for the Senior Citizens of the community. One hundred and nine attended and were served a "Christmas style" turkey dinner complete with home - made bread and cranberries.

Following dinner the guests were treated to a half - hour of singing by the girls' choir, under the direction of Mrs. Clive Kingston, and a movie of Tweed made and presented by Doug. Fletcher and Bill Ingles. Several of the guests remained to enjoy a few games of euchre and bridge, to round out the evening's program.

WEDDING

VANALSTINE — RICHMOND

NAPANEE — Trinity United Church was the setting for a pretty wedding on November 15, 1969, when Philip Mervin VanAlstine and Linda Margaret Alice Richmond were united in marriage by the Rev. D. Glen Taylor.

The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Marshall VanAlstine of Morven, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Richmond of York St., Napanee.

Miss Lulu Fluke played traditional organ music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Susan Moore.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she had chosen a floor-length sleeveless gown of peau de soie, fashioned on Empire lines, with Swiss embroidered daisies accenting the waistline. A coat of gapure lace, falling into a chapel train, was edged with daisies. The lily-point sleeves fell over the hands, and a bow of the material marked the full back yoke to which the slightly-fitted back was attached. The four-tiered veil of silk illusion, finger-tip length, was attached to a jewelled and flowered headpiece, with a single brilliant pearl pendant over the forehead. She carried a cascade of yellow roses set in ivy.

Miss Jean Richmond was her sister's maid of honor, and her sister Allison Richmond and Miss Mary Ellen Gordon were the bridesmaids.

They were gowned identically, the tops of moss-green velvet, and the skirts of lime-green chiffon. The neckline was scooped, and daisies puffed the three-quarter-length sleeves and two rows of daisies separated by lattice work, marked the Empire waistline. A bow of moss-green velvet accented the waistline at the back. The headdress was of moss-green velvet, with a wisp of lime-green nylon net veiling. A ball of yellow shasta daisies and single buttercoatch yellow 'mums with ivy was suspended from the wrists by a moss-green velvet band.

Murray VanAlstine was his brother's best man and Lance and Palmer, and Dale Richmond, brother of the bride, were the ushers.

For the reception in the banquet hall of the church the member of the bride wore a two-piece dress of two-toned crimplene, beige and brown, with brown accessories and a corsage of Orange Delight roses. Mrs. VanAlstine, the bride's groom's step-mother , was in violet crimplene with fur stole and black accessories. Her corsage was purple and white carnations.

For the wedding trip circling Lake Ontario, Mrs. VanAlstine changed to a violet crimplene dress, dark brown Borg coat with fur collar and black accessories. Her corsage was pink roses.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. VanAlstine took up residence on the Original Road in Napanee.

Couple Celebrate 25th Anniversary

TWEED — On Saturday evening family, friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Wilson of Park Place Motel, Tweed, gathered at their home for a surprise party to celebrate the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

A joyous evening of entertainment and dancing was enjoyed by all, climaxed by a "mock wedding" and presentations to Ena and Sanford.

A beautiful wedding cake and silver candles adorned the table from which a buffet supper was thoroughly enjoyed.

Church Groups

HOLY ROSARY CWL

The November meeting of the Holy Rosary CWL was held at the George Vanier School with Father Reginald Sweeney leading the opening prayer.

During the business period Mrs. E. McGuigan reported a profit of $25.20 on the bridge marathon. Plans for the Christmas wigs and cheese party were started with the admission price set at $1.25 per person.

Father Reginald spoke on the new liturgy, stressing the fact that they were not really changes, but a modernization that would make Mass more meaningful.

The president, Mrs. F. Mulvihill introduced the guest for the evening, Mrs. Louise Halpin, who demonstrated original ideas for decorating homes for Christmas.

A piece of barn board was transformed into a lovely wall plaque with the addition of dried weeds, some gold spray paint and a green velvet bow.

The group was delighted with her driftwood centrepieces and one of these was given as a door prize and won by Mrs. H. Cole.

Refreshments were served while Mrs. Halpin produced a primping mirror for the front door and a beautiful table centrepiece made with pineapple and artichokes.

Mrs. J. Darlington delivered the thank-you message.

MR. AND MRS. TERRANCE GRAHAM

Graham – Wadsworth

Batawa United Church was the scene of the recent wedding of Norma Jean Wadsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wadsworth, RR 1, Frankford and Terrance Dale Graham, Oshawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Graham, RR 1 Frankford. Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was Rev. John Weese. Organist was Mrs. Ed Sykes and soloist was Mrs. David Biggs.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length empire styled velvet gown with rounded neckline, lily-point long sleeves and detachable matching train. She wore a shoulder-length headpiece of lace petals trimmed with tiny beads and pearls holding a four-tiered silk illusion veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Maid of honor was Miss Barbara Weaver, wearing a floor-length red velvet gown with an empire waist and carrying white fur muff with white and variegated carnations attached. Matching flowers were worn in her hair.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Lorraine and Margaret Wadsworth, sisters of the bride. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor.

Flower girl was Miss Marcia Gainforth, cousin of the bride. She wore a floor-length white velvet gown with an empire waist, carried a white fur muff with white and variegated carnations attached and matching flowers adorned her hair.

Best man was Cameron Wilson, Oshawa. Ushers were Greg and Don Graham, brothers of the bridegroom. Ringbearer was Jimmy Anderson.

The reception was held at Trenton Legion Hall where the bride's mother greeted the guests wearing a dress of silk worsted azure blue. Guipure lace trimmed the bodice and neckline. She wore matching hat and gloves, black accessories and a corsage of miniature mauve carnations.

The bridegroom's mother wore a rose colored crepe dress with a guipure lace top, empire waist and bracelet sleeves, matching hat and gloves and other black accessories. Her corsage was miniature mauve carnations.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Buffalo and points west the bride wore a two-piece white dress ensemble with brown accessories and a corsage of green cymbidiums.

The couple will reside at 95 Taunton Rd. East, Apt. 504, Oshawa.

Club Activities

XI BETA ZETA CHAPTER

Meetings of Xi Beta Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, have been held recently at the homes of Mrs. Ben Jamess, Mrs. Richard Misdane and Mrs. John O'Flynn.

The chapter held a successful auction with Mrs. John Pringle and Miss Elizabeth Black doing the job as auctioneers.

A jewellery demonstration and sale was the highlight of another meeting. Mrs. Win Smith was guest hostess and the members and guests some lovely jewellery and had many suggestions for ways to wear jewellery effectively.

In accord with Ways and Means project this year, the sale of Christmas cards to aid psychiatric unit of Belleville General Hospital, Miss Elizabeth Black prepared an informative program on the history of the greeting card.

Again this year, the members agreed to make donations to several worthwhile Christmas projects and, of these, the Belleville Children's Receiving Home is of special interest to the chapter.

Plans are under way for the annual Christmas get-together to be held this year at the home of Mrs. John Pringle.

Legion Activities

LADIES' AUXILIARY BRANCH 227

MARMORA — Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, Branch 227, Marmora, met in the Legion rooms for a potluck supper before their November meeting on Monday. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. William MacDonald, and flags were presented by Mrs. Frank Leal.

The Auxiliary plans to establish a bursary of $100 to be available to a veteran's child or grandchild from Marmora area attending Madoc Secondary School and who is furthering his education after grade 13 or 13. Payment will be based on the need of the applicant, and will be decided by the Auxiliary.

Winner of recent draw for electric knife, sponsored by the Auxiliary, was Roger Selder.

Members are planning a bus trip to Ottawa next May for the Tulip Festival.

Election of officers took place with the following results: president, Mrs. William MacDonald; 1st V.P., Mrs. Peter Empey; 2nd V.P., Mrs. Norman Sopha; secretary, Mrs. Clayton Bedore; treasurer, Mrs. Harold Doyle; sgt.-at-arms, Mrs. John Ellis; sports officer, Mrs. Ernest Gordon; members of executive, Mrs. P. J. O'Neill, Mrs. Ray Brown, Mrs. Bill Knox, Mrs. Percy Gray.

Installation of new executive will be at the Christmas meeting on December 15 when there will be an exchange of gifts and party.

'Going Steady' Blamed for Pregnancies

REGINA (CP) — Most pregnancies among young unmarried girls are a result of "going steady" or a long-term relationship, not just a casual acquaintance, says Lorraine Gerrie, supervisor of the Saskatchewan welfare department's office in Regina concerned with unmarried parents, adoption and baby care.

The relationship is often carried on during the pregnancy and after the birth, but rarely results in marriage, she said.

Few of the girls feel that contraceptives are "right," Miss Gerrie said.

"A great number of them really thought they shouldn't get pregnant."

She said that after the birth of the baby the child usually still refuses to use any sort of precaution and this often results in repeated pregnancies — sometimes with the same boy.

The main reason given by the girls for refusing to use any form of contraceptive is that it makes the sexual act premeditated—and then it somehow seems wrong, Miss Gerrie said.

IGNORANCE ABOUNDS

Also, there was a great ignorance about birth control and many young people lacked adequate information readily available to them.

Department statistics show the number of births to unmarried mothers in Regina has remained fairly constant during the last few years. The numbers represented those born in Regina, from unmarried mothers, but she explained that many girls come from outside the city in order to keep their pregnancies confidential.

Unmarried pregnant girls often worry that the pregnancy will interfere with their education and their chance for a happy marriage later in life. But most girls now continue their education during the pregnancy and their chances for a happy marriage prove equal to those of other girls, Miss Gerrie said.

Schools were co-operative about arranging studies and examinations for girls in maternity homes, and the majority of the girls were successful in their studies. The schools are usually ready to take the girls back, although some girls feel they just can't go back, she adds.

Jean Thompson, a social worker in the department, said the younger girls—under 18—are not nearly as concerned about keeping their pregnancy confidential as the older girls.

"There's not really much a girl of 13, 14 or 15 years of age can do to prevent a certain number of people from knowing," she said. "The older girls have many more opportunities to keep it confidential."

The older girl often feels she has an image to uphold, Mrs. Thompson said.

Another department social worker, Isabel Ritenburg, said that if a girl goes to an agency for help it is important that she go as early as possible. The agency can offer guidance, and outline what's in store.

"Everything is kept strictly confidential." . .

She added that it is "extremely helpful" if the girl agrees that the matter can be discussed with the father of the child and the girl's parents.

Mrs. Ritenburg said the boys are often frightened to come forward and speak to the social workers, but "the child belongs to both of them and they should both be involved in planning for their child's future."

In some cases the boy—some are married men—refuses the girl will have nothing to do with her. This makes it difficult for the girl to do any sound planning.

Others see the girl through the pregnancy, but have no intention of marrying her.

Sometimes the boy is willing to marry or to offer financial assistance, but the girl rejects him.

Some girls even refuse to tell the father of the child about the pregnancy. She may be afraid he will reject her, or that he may provoke.

The girls are often afraid to tell their parents, too, although most parents seem to be understanding, said Tillie Nelson, social worker with the department.

"They are often astounded by their parents' acceptance."

She said usually the father has a harder time to accept the initial shock.

Mrs. Nelson said the social worker didn't advise the young mother one way or the other about keeping the child or giving him up for adoption. They try to provide information to help her make a sound decision, but "the final decision is hers."

Successful Living

A Child's Depressed Status Often Brings on Hopelessness

By DORIS CLARK

Contradictory to the belief that a child's personality is determined by the age of three are the findings on a study of the mental health of 2,000 children in Manhattan.

It was the Negro children who contradicted previous findings.

While a Negro child starts out just as healthy, mentally, as a white child, the situation worsens as he becomes aware of the world around him. By the time he is 10 he is getting sicker, while the other children are getting better.

What happens is that the Negro child starts becoming discouraged when he discovers his limitations and his status among the people who should be his peers. He loses his zest for living and begins to develop a sort of hopelessness.

This can happen — does happen — anywhere, where there is a disadvantage to minority groups. Let's not prove ourselves. How about the Canadian Indian? The Eskimo? Could we even be contributing to the mental ill-health of a depressed family in our own neighborhood, through our uncaring?

Dear Doris: Lately I have noticed that my leg aches by evening. For several months I have been working at least seven hours a day on cement.

Now I notice two dark veins starting to show. There have not been any cases of varicose veins in our family. What can I do to ease the pain and, if not too late, make these veins disappear? Are there any exercises I can do to help? — Worried

Dear Worried: Your doctor is the one for you to consult. If he OK's it, I can suggest one exercise which many people have found helpful.

In Yoga, it is called the shoulder stand. You lie on your back on the floor and raise your legs up gradually until your lower back and buttocks are right off the floor and your toes are pointing at the ceiling. You are braced in this position with your hands pressing against your back, your elbows on the floor.

At first you may be able to hold it for only a few seconds, but gradually you can work up to one minute and then more. Let yourself down slowly.

The inverted position of the shoulder stand frees the legs temporarily of the gravity imposed on them, and allows the veins to relax. It's a good all-round exercise.

* * *

Dear Doris: Mom and Dad put their foot down and would not let me date anyone. I am nearly 17. They do let me go to dances and daytime events with girl friends.

Dad has threatened me by saying, "OK, go out, but don't bother coming back home." They treat me as if I was dirt, because I want to date. — Not Fair

Dear Not Fair: Well, they think they are protecting you from a fate worse than death that's where I sit, it's not logical. You can go to dances, but you can't get acquainted with the boys ahead of time, by means of ordinary dating. Where's the protective theory?

Could you get a favorite uncle or teacher to intercede for you? It can't go on forever.

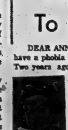
Teen-ager Refuses To Attend Funerals

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it abnormal for a 17-year-old to have a phobia about death? I am worried about our daughter. Two years ago when her grandmother died she refused to attend the funeral. Grandma was laid out beautifully amid the banks of floral offerings. We wanted Cynthia to come see how peaceful Grandma looked but she said, "It's a waste of time to go look at a dead body."

Two weeks ago one of Cynthia's closest friends was drowned. She was truly grief-stricken, wouldn't eat, just stayed in her room and listened to records. We thought surely she'd attend the funeral, but she didn't. Her only comment was, "Death is too morbid to think about."

Yesterday we had a talk. I told Cynthia that accepting death is part of growing up. She insists that life is bad enough and she refuses to think about death. I worry about her, Ann. What if she has a stillborn child, or loses her husband at an early age? She will then be forced to think about death. At the close of our talk Cynthia announced, with an air of finality, "I will never attend a funeral — and even yours." I feel hurt. please advise. — MORBID (?) MOTHER.



ANN LANDERS—she'd attend the funeral, but she didn't. Her only comment was, "Death is too morbid to think about."

DEAR MOTHER: You daughter's hang-up about death is probably rooted in an early experience that terrified her and produced an emotionally crippling effect. She is clearly out of your reach, however, and arguing will not change her mind, so do yourself a favor and consider the subject "off limits." If you can get Cynthia to accept counseling it should be helpful.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: At this point my ear is hanging by a thread. A friend of mine spent one hour and a half berating me for rejecting her. I couldn't get a word in edgewise.

One problem is that this woman is elderly. But does age give people the right to demand that they be catered to and pampered while they go on and on reciting in endless detail, trivia, nonsense and gossip that drives the listener up the wall?

I am well aware that this person is lonely and I feel sorry for her but excuse she has driven away so many former friends. How much do I owe her? Should I try to get her to understand what she is doing to herself? Should I drop her as others have done? Or should I be a martyr? What would you do? — ANOTHER ANN.

DEAR ANOTHER: I'm not you and you're not me. Only you can judge the limits of your tolerance. And only you can evaluate your need for martyrdom.

This woman is too far gone to change her ways and you'd better believe it. I've observed that most people set themselves up for just about as much punishment as they enjoy.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you answer a simple question? No lectures or sermons, please. Even a one word reply like "yes" will do. The question is this: If a woman finds out her husband is having an affair, don't you think she has the right to do the same? — TIT FOR TAT.

DEAR TAT: What do you mean by "the right?" Who gave him the right? The fact that your husband is having an affair is no reason for you to loose yourself up, too. Since you suggested that I reply in one word I'll do so. No.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Glamorized Type of Sloppy Joes

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: You had a recipe for Sloppy Joes which could have been in during the last six or eight months — I would appreciate it. — Ann McK.

ANSWER: If we gave Sloppy Joes this year it is not catalogued. The following appeared here in April 1966.

SLOPPY JOES GLAMORIZED (serves 4)

1¼ lbs. ground beef
4 tbsps. minced onion or bottled flakes
1 tbsp. brown sugar
2 tbsps. prepared mustard
¾ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
½ cup catsup
½ cup water
4 hamburg buns sliced in halves

(NOTE: Alternate method is to use 1¼ lbs. ground beef, 1 package Sloppy Joes seasoning mix, one 6-oz. can tomato paste, 1 cup water.)

In large frying pan brown the beef without any added fat, stirring it constantly. Add all remaining ingredients and let simmer for 20 min.

Arrange 8 hamburg bun halves on large shallow baking pan. Pile all Sloppy Joe mixture on top neatly. If desired, sprinkle generously with grated cheese or put thin small slices of Cheddar or processed cheese on top. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 25-min., until heated through and bubbly. Transfer to serving platter.

Note: If you want to serve Sloppy Joes for a late evening snack the amount of meat may be reduced. To serve 16 Sloppy Joes using 8 hamburg buns, use this list of ingredients where everything but the meat is doubled: 2 lbs. ground beef, ¼ cup minced onion or bottled flakes, 2 tbsps. brown sugar, ¼ cup prepared mustard, 1½ tsps. salt, 2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce, 1 cup catsup, 1 cup water.

(Alternate method: 2 lbs. ground beef, 2 pkgs. Sloppy Joes seasoning mix, two 6-oz. cans tomato paste, 2 cups water.)

Method for doubled amount is the same as shove for Sloppy Joes Glamorized.

Because the Sloppy Joes meat mixture is precooked you could pile it on the buns halves on large shallow pans in advance, keep them in the refrigerator until serving time and bake at 400 deg. Fahr for about 15 min.

Socially Prominent Women Plan to Boycott Furs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A group of socially prominent women has announced a boycott of fur coats made from the pelts of wild foxes, leopards, cheetahs and other animals facing extinction.

Leopard, sealskin and other exotic furs will no longer be purchased by Mrs. John Fell Stevenson and a group of the Bay area's fashion set, they declared. They said at a press conference that they would continue wearing less-exotic mink, rabbit and other domestically cultivated species.

One member of the group, Mrs. William Hamm, said support would be welcome from Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, whom Mrs. Hamm described as a world fashion leader.

"I doubt that she would be interested," Mrs. Hamm said, however. "She buys stx or seven or eight fur coats a season."

Mrs. Stevenson commented: "It cannot be said there is more warmth in a cheetah than in a wool one. And, is it that much more enticing to look at?"

The boycott, sponsored by the Friends of the Earth conservation group, has secured written pledges of 35 women.

Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Hamm said many of the world's fur-bearing animals are being wiped out due to a worldwide demand for their skins.

Signers of the boycott pledge have agreed not to purchase the skin, pelts or feathers of animals or birds endangered by extinction, particularly poachers in African game reserves seeking attractive prices on the high-fashion market.

Vennachar Resident 101 Years

NAPANEE — Mrs. Alberta Gregg of Vennachar was 101 year old last Saturday, November 22. While her eyesight is practically gone, her hearing is fairly good, and her mind is clear. Each day she is up and dressed most of the day.

For years, Mrs. Gregg has made her home in Vennachar with her son Francis and his wife. She has a daughter, Mrs. J. S. Martin of Napanee, who visits her about every three weeks. Her son Charles was killed at Vimy Ridge in World War I, and a daughter, Goldie Belle Barr has been dead 30 years. She has six living grandchildren, 27 great-grandchildren, and at least four great-great-grandchildren.

Her birthday was spent quietly, with neighbors and relatives dropping ing few at a time, bringing gifts and offering congratulations.

Church of the Redeemer Holds Christmas Bazaar

DESERONTO — Since the hall of the Presbyterian Church of the Redeemer is small, the annual bazaar held by the women is small, by necessity. But the dozen or so members of the Ladies Aid have every right to be proud of their success again this year. The fact that the hall, together with the church auditorium, has a just been renovated, made it a happy occasion, and non-members who had attended last Sunday's anniversary and re-dedication service returned Saturday afternoon for the bazaar.

Christmas was the theme of the decorations, with evergreens and red candles sticking the proper note. Mrs. Albert Walker received admission fees, and the president, Miss Gladys Pearsae welcomed the guests. Mrs. Robert Jones, wife of the minister, poured tea. The tea table was centred by a Christmas arrangement, flanked by red candles.

Serving the guests at the six small tables were Mrs. David Thompson, Miss Frances Klarver, and Mrs. Dorothy McCullough, and an eight-year-old volunteer, Karen Layfield, who comes to the Children of the Church meetings.

In the kitchen Mrs. Thomas Whidden and Mrs. Donald McMillan were very busy women.

There was room for only four bazaar tables but they were laden with lovely things which sold well. The cooked food table was filled with all sorts of delectable good things, and Mrs. Silas Moore and Mrs. Percy Brooks had their hands full looking after the buyers.

The miscellaneous table was in charge of Mrs. Alex Watson. Small articles and grab bags made this a popular table for the children.

Mrs. Kay Hood and Mrs. Charles Griffiths had two tables for their display of gifts and plants and they did not lack customers.

Future Events Planned By Presbyterial UCW

TWEED — The autumn executive meeting of the Belleville Presbyterial United Church Women was held at Grace United Church, Napanee recently.

In the absence of the president, the vice-president-elect, Mrs. T. Spear, Trenton, presided for the meeting, which she opened with a worship service.

Each of the officers reported on her year's work. In reporting, the treasurer, Mrs. E. Ward, Picton, asked that all local treasurers have the last of their money in no later than January 5. The leadership development chairman, Mrs. Don Williams, Stirling, suggested that each local have a leadership training workshop early in the new year.

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, Stirling, in reporting on the Conference United Church Women executive meeting, said that the conference annual meeting would be held in Colborne United Church, on March 2, 1970. It is expected that the School for United Church Women for 1970 will be held at Quin-Mo-Lac September 11, 12 and 13.

Luncheon was served by Grace United Church Women. Plans were made, at this for the annual meeting which will be held at Grace United Church, Napanee on Wednesday, February 4 at 7.30 p.m. and continuing on February 5 with morning and afternoon sessions.

Since bacon shrinks considerably owing to its high proportion of fat, it should be cooked slowly over moderate heat.

U.C.W. Meetings

QUEENSBORO UCW

The November meeting of Unit 1 of the Queensboro United Church Women was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Love. Mrs. Donald Tobley, unit leader, presided.

In charge of the memorial service was Mrs. Alden Thompson who gave a reading entitled "Smoothing Rough Ground." The scripture was read by Mrs. Goldie Holmes and Mrs. George Glover and Mrs. William Cassidy gave other readings.

It was decided to buy a coat rack for the church and a birthday card signed by all present was sent to Mrs. R. A. Sager. A thank-you card from Mrs. Sager for kindness during her illness was read.

In charge of the program at was Mrs. Roy Rollins and she read a story on "Family Relationship in Christmas".

It was decided not to have a meeting in December. Officers were nominated for the following year as follows: leader for Unit one — Mrs. Harry Love; secretary Mrs. C. A. McMurray and Treasurer Mrs. Roy Rollins.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

MOUNT PLEASANT — RAWDON UCW

Mount Pleasant — Rawdon UCW held their November meeting at the hall recently with 31 women present.

Mrs. Burton Sharpe presided and reports were given by Mrs. Harry McAdam, Mrs. Grant Hubble, Mrs. James Hoard and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver. A bedside scarfer was donated by Mrs. Milford Wrightman and Mrs. Francis Wrightman for the UCW and the messengers group.

Mrs. Douglas Pyear read the report of the nominating committee for a two-year term and it was accepted. The UCW recently catered for a wedding and a banquet. The financial report was given by the leader of the November group. Mrs. Milford Wrightman and Mrs. Archie Bailey were in charge of the program centred on supply and demand.

Call to worship was given by Mrs. Garth Joslin with meditations by Mrs. Clarence Scott, Mrs. W. C. Cox and Mrs. Francis Wrightman.

Mrs. Harry Waite contributed a vocal selection. The story of "Operation Beaver" in connection with cross roads Africa was given by Mrs. W. Wrightman and Mrs. Herbert Smith.

Mrs. Allen Wells outlined the clothing clearhouse at St. Paul's.

A short play about welfare was presented by Mrs. Robert Merrick, Mrs. Archie Bailey, Vernon Harry, Mrs. Stanley Williams and Mrs. Claire Knight.

At the close Mrs. Gordon Linn and Mrs. Frank Spencer served doughnuts and cheese.

Following is the list of officers: 1970-1971-president, Mrs. Garth Joslin, past president Mrs. Burton Sharpe, 1st vice-president Mrs. Robert H. Hoard, 2nd vice-president Mrs. William McAdam, recording secretary Mrs. Douglas Campbell, assistant Mrs. Raymond McConnell, corresponding secretary Mrs. Herbert Smith, treasurer Mrs. Burton Sharpe, citizenship and social activity Mrs. Douglas Pyear, steward-ship Mrs. James Hoard, community friendship Mrs. Clarence Scott and Mrs. Robert Merrich, membership chairman Mrs. Frank Spencer, finance chairman Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, flower committee Mrs. Oscar Merrich and Mrs. Donald Knight, manse Mrs. Raymond McConnell, press and publicity Mrs. Percy MacMullen, supply and welfare Mrs. Archie Bailey, Mrs. Ralph Jeffs and Mrs. Milford Wrightman. Pianist was Mrs. Milton Shaw, assistant Mrs. Will Jeffs, program chairman Mrs. Stanley Williams, nominating chairman Mrs. Ross Jeffs and literature and communications Mrs. Kenneth Weaver.

COMMON SENSE JUDGMENT FOR COUNCIL

Outdated Ideas Hinder Efficiency

EDMONTON (CP) — Outdated ideas of a secretary's role often prevent her from doing a capable job, says Gordon Bradshaw, regional director of the Public Service Commission of Canada.

These limiting ideas are held by both managers and secretaries, he said.

Too often a manager has outdated ideas about what his clerical duties can do and too often a secretary feels she needs contribute only what she learned in school and office training.

"Often a manager will not give her information she would like to have," Mr. Bradshaw said. Another difficulty is that a manager might not respect her knowledge and ability.

However, if a good secretary is willing to learn the company's goals and take the trouble to become part of the team, great benefits will flow, Mr. Bradshaw told secretaries at a one-day seminar recently.

This Year, There May Be Some Liquor Left Over at Parties

By SCOTT BUTTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

There may be a little liquor left over at office and cocktail parties this December thanks to an amendment to the Criminal Code of Canada.

The amendment, which makes breath analysis tests compulsory for suspected drinking drivers, could make many motorists across Ontario turn down that extra "one for the road".

And provincial and municipal police officers across Ontario apparently are equipped and ready to assert the new power given to them.

They will demand suspected drinking drivers take breath analysis tests. Refusal to do so will cost drivers fines ranging from $50 to $1,000 or terms of six months in jail or both.

A reading on the breath analysis machine of .08, which represents 80 milligrams of alcohol for each thousandth milliliter of blood, will result in conviction for those drivers taking the test.

Penalty for a first offence is a fine of $50 to $500 or imprisonment for three months or both. The penalty becomes much more severe with each additional offence.

Those drivers taking an extra couple of drinks in the hope many Ontario police departments will not yet be properly equipped and trained to conduct breath analysis tests are going to be disappointed.

William Tait, executive vice-president and general manager of Central Scientific Co. of Canada Ltd., says his company has had exclusive distribution rights in Canada since 1954 for breath-alyzers.

"There is a tremendous rush right now because of the legislation," Mr. Tait says. "There have been about 20 orders in the last three months and we are about two dozen behind. But, we'll have them soon."

Mr. Tait says the machines cost about $1,000 each and must be operated by trained technicians.

The breathalyser looks like a piece of apparatus that might be used in a complicated high school chemistry experiment designed to fail the majority of students.

Despite the amendment, police officers across Ontario expect no increase in the number of persons charged as drinking drivers. The legislation is expected only to make it easier to prove the guilt of charged persons.

Tall Cat Gives Out Pot In Interest of Science

OTTAWA (CP) — Hey baby, looking for some pot or grass with no chance of being busted by the fuzz?

There's a tall cat called Ross with a pad at Tunney's Pasture here. See him.

Before every marijuana user in the country starts packing, it should be explained that there's a hitch or two.

Ross is Dr. Ross Chapman. His pad is that brown brick headquarters of the federal food and drug directorate, where he is director-general. Tunney's Pasture is the section of north-central Ottawa where Ross works.

And, though he's ready to supply a certain amount of marijuana freely and legally without entailing a possible police arrest, he has a lot of strings attached.

It's all in the interests of science and only scientists with a detailed program of research into the weed need apply.

Even if they pass Dr. Chapman's eagle eye, they'll be required to account for every bit of cannabis sativa—pot or grass, that is.

The Chapman boys have been growing pot at taxpayers' expense for several years. But that isn't what they'll be handing out to qualifying researchers. They use it to determine the level of active ingredients of marijuana grown in this area, part of their duties in enforcing the Narcotics Control Act.

For the projected testing program to find out marijuana's effects of humans and animals, the directorate will be dispensing "standardized marijuana" bought from the United States government. They haven't agreed yet on price.

Research Body Not Able To Urge Legalizing Pot

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's Alcoholism and Drug Research Foundation is "very clear in stressing that at the present time it cannot support legalization of marijuana," Health Minister Tom Wells told the legislature Thursday.

Mr. Wells made the remark in opening consideration of his department's spending estimates in committee of supply.

He said the foundation, however, "is equally clear in opposing the present criminalization of vast numbers of experimental or curious users of the drug."

He said the foundation strongly urges legislation governing marijuana be taken out of the Narcotics Control Act and into the jurisdiction of the Food and Drugs Act.

In a review of the foundation's activities, Mr. Wells stressed the need for more research into drug problems.

Mr. Wells said the foundation has discovered that youth will not respond favorably to "preaching, scare tactics or hounding, but it does have considerable regard for the facts and findings of science."

British Trade Surplus Likely Near A Record

LONDON (CP) — An independent body of experts predicts that Britain's international trade surplus in 1970 may be one of the biggest in history.

If current policies are unchanged, the payments surplus next year may rise to more than $2,000,000,000, the National Institute of Economic and Social Research estimates in its quarterly review.

The institute, supported by Ford Foundation and other grants, suggests however, that British growth may be short-lived unless the government takes immediate steps to reflate the economy.

It also notes that during the June-September period, industrial production declined in Canada and the United States while the number of jobless tended to increase. Production in major European countries also flattened out.

Britain requires a continuous hefty balance-of-payments surplus to pay off huge debts accumulated in defending the pound. The government has been aiming at an annual surplus of about $1,300,000,000 and leading spokesmen have maintained that rate of accumulation is gradually being achieved.

The institute suggests that the surplus may rise at even a higher rate for the second half of 1969 and that it may jump to about $2,200,000,000 for 1970.

At the same time the domestic market may stagnate if the government doesn't soon loosen its economic strings to encourage greater spending at home. Lack of government action could increase unemployment "considerably."

Astronauts Near Hawaii

More Treasures from Moon, Rocks and Photos, Ready to View

HOUSTON (AP) — Scientists today open the second box of Apollo 12 moon rocks, a chest containing carefully documented samples and soil grouped from more than two feet beneath the surface.

The space agency also plans to release 20 more color pictures taken during man's second moon-landing mission. Officials Thursday released spectacular color and black and white photos and color movies of the two moon walks, a fascinating earthly eclipse of the sun and other highlights of the mission.

Geologists are eager to open the second chest to begin examination of 13 to 15 bags of rocks.

And one of the core tubes, which the astronauts pounded into the surface, is packed with soil from 34 to 39 inches deep. Scientists believe that deadly radiation from the sun does not penetrate this deep and that if there is any form of life on the moon it might have been captured by the tube.

They emphasize, however, that evidence from Apollo 11 and unmanned probes indicates the chance of lunar life is extremely remote.

The Apollo 11 astronauts—Charles Conrad, Richard Gordon and Alan Bean—cleared landfall in their quarantine trailer aboard the carrier Hornet, which recovered them from the South Pacific Monday.

The Hornet is to reach Hawaii about 9 p.m. EST tonight. There the trailer will be transferred to a jet cargo plane for a flight to the quarantine laboratory at Houston's Manned Spacecraft Centre. The astronauts face 11 more days in isolation after they reach Houston early Saturday.

Thursday, a glum Gordon went through the traditional initiation into the royal domain of Neptunus Rex—an equator-crossing tradition that dates back many years—while his two astronaut co-pilots reared with laughter.

Conrad and Bean, who had crossed the equator earlier in their naval careers and were already initiated as "shellbacks", made Gordon appear at the front window of their quarantine trailer wearing his hat and flight suit backwards.

A sign around his neck proclaimed: "Beware! Lonewyog. Unclean! Unpredictable."

Lonewyog was a moon-age version of pollywog, the traditional name for sailors who have not crossed the equator.

Experts in the laboratory continued to catalogue and pack into vacuum cans the stones from the first chest, which was opened Wednesday. They reported most of the samples were larger than rocks collected by the Apollo 11 astronauts in July and that the largest was seven inches long and weighed four pounds.

The first rocks examined were generally lighter in color than Apollo 11's samples, but appeared to have similar structures.

The film footage released Thursday showed a full eclipse of the sun that can only be seen by man flying far from his home planet. Conrad, Gordon and Bean were the first ever to witness the phenomenon.

The film showed a dark, featureless earth moving between the sun and the spaceship, blotting out all but the outer rim of the sun and the corona of gases that surrounds it.

Colors streamed through the corona—brilliant blues, reds, pinks and purples. Bean had called it the most spectacular sight of the mission when he described it from space.

Council Candidates Outline Their Election Stands

BRADSHAW, Ray

Ray Bradshaw is a newcomer to the city hall scene — but no freshman to public affairs.

He has served on the industrial commission and abruptly ended a three-year term on court of revision to run for city council.

But Bellevillians probably know him best since his presidency of the Belleville and District Labor Council.

"I'm not linked to any group. I'm not sponsored by anybody. I'm free to vote in any way I feel is best for Belleville," he says.

"I want to see more industrial expansion — and any industrial expansion is satisfactory," he says. "It creates more jobs, tax assessment and buying power for the merchants."

One issue he is reluctant to vote for is urban renewal — at least until there is a public vote on such a project.

"It's such a large, costly multi-million-dollar project. I don't feel the taxpayers can afford such a large program now," says Mr. Bradshaw.

Employed at Canada Cement Company, Mr. Bradshaw is a native Bellevillian, a war veteran, is married with four teen-age children.

KEEGAN, Arthur

"Belleville is on the move. Why change?"

That is the question being asked by Alderman Arthur Keegan, dean of city council and 30-year veteran of civic administration, who is seeking re-election.

And he feels that Belleville can continue to progress with the acquisition of new industries and the provision of needed services — without an increase in the tax rate.

He feels that increased assessment will provide the funds for necessary services without a tax rate increase.

"We must stay within our budget without raising taxes beyond the means of those on pensions and small incomes," he says.

As chairman of the city council traffic committee, Alderman Keegan is concerned with anything which will improve the city's traffic flow.

Noting that the Dundas Street bridge and roadway construction would do much to relieve east-west traffic congestion in the downtown area, he stresses that something also must be done to relieve rush hour traffic at the Upper Bridge.

COOKE, J. B.

Well-known Front Street businessman and former city councillor, J. Ben Cooke is the comeback trail for election as city alderman.

His campaign slogan "Ben Corke tells it like it is."

"People will recall that when I was on council before I never pulled any punches in telling the facts as they were," he says.

A resident of Belleville for the past 18 years, Mr. Corke is the proprietor of two local ladies' wear stores — Georgia Salon and Marianne's — and is the current president of the Belleville Downtown Association. Always a community booster, he is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, an active United Appeal worker and Rotarian.

Married, with two grown daughters, he is a member of Christ Church and is an ardent curler and golfer.

With high faith in the future of the city's downtown area, Mr. Corke stands for completion of the urban renewal study scheme.

"I feel that the renewal scheme should go ahead," he says.

As a former city alderman Mr. Corke served for six years on council — from 1960 until 1965.

MERCIER, Andre

A member of Belleville's French Canadian community, Andre Mercier is offering himself for election for the first time as an aldermanic candidate.

"I have received a lot from this city and I would like to give something back," he says.

Mr. Mercier has lived in the city for 18 years. He is a director of the Boy Scouts and the Red Cross and served 13 years as a director of the Navy League of Canada.

A member of the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, he is a fourth degree Knight of Columbus. Married, he has two sons, one in university and one attending high school here. He operates a watchmaking and repair service on Victoria Avenue.

Active in community activities, Mr. Mercier is founding president of the Club Alouette for French-Canadians living in the city.

Mr. Mercier says he would like to improve things if they need to be improved, "but there's no school in municipal political administration, and I won't know what needs to be done until I get in there and start digging."

CUNNINGHAM, G.

Gerald Cunningham, the candidate endorsed by organized labor in the Dec. 1 city election, is making a third bid for a council seat.

But the endorsement does not vest his interest in a single community group, Mr. Cunningham has repeatedly emphasized.

"I am a labor candidate because I am labor backing in that area," he says.

"But my interests as a city councillor will be for the whole citizenry."

Mr. Cunningham is concerned with locating what he terms "good-paying industry" in the city.

"It's extremely important that we adopt an official plan at the soonest possible time," says Mr. Cunningham. "For once, let's find out where we're going before we get there.

"The city also needs additional recreational facilities, especially new ice pads."

Mr. Cunningham is a former United Appeal president and member of the Belleville General Hospital board of governors.

A railroad engineer, he recently was elected for the second time in five years to the presidency of the Belleville and District Labor Council. He has a family of six children.

ORR, E. Arnold

A two-year member of city council, Alderman E. Arnold Orr is offering himself for re-election for the next three-year term.

"I want to see the Dundas Street bridge and roadway project completed and also a start on the Sidney Street bridge and on the CN overpass at the Haig Street extension," he said.

"At the same time something must be done to improve the traffic flow in the downtown sector."

As member of the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board, Alderman Orr stresses the importance of "over-all planning" to which there must be full co-operation with neighboring municipalities.

A retired educationist with 40 years' experience as a high school teacher and principal, Mr. Orr also served as superintendent of secondary schools for the Bay of Quinte school district.

He is a Belleville native and a graduate of McMaster University, Hamilton.

He is a former member of the city's industrial commission and also a member of Loyalist College advisory board committee.

"The years 1970-72 present an interesting challenge, not only to our council and to our city officials, but also to all our citizens."

DAVID, Enos

Belleville's downtown urban renewal study should be completed — but not until the senior governments make up their minds as to what financial contribution they will make toward carrying out any approved schemes.

That is the stand of Alderman Enos David, seeking re-election.

Alderman David served five years on the Belleville board of education, three years on the former Bay of Quinte District High School board and has served eight years on city council.

He assisted in promoting the present city manager form of government and off-street parking for the downtown district, and has served as campaign chairman for the Belleville United Appeal and as president of the Chamber of Commerce.

He also had a role in establishing the Hastings and Prince Edward Health Unit of which he is chairman. He is a member of the Belleville General Hospital Board of Governors.

Alderman David is a member of Bridge Street Church, Temple Lodge, the Rotary Club, director of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children and the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

RUSSELL, Paul

A lawyer with the city firm of Temple and Russell, Paul Russell is seeking re-election to council.

Born and educated in Belleville, Mr. Russell has served on council for the past two years and has been a member of the recreation and traffic committees. He was vice-chairman of the parks' board, a member of the Hastings County welfare committee and the financial appeals review board.

He is a past president of the Kinsmen Club and is a member of the Hillcrest and the Quinte Skating Club Community Centre Board.

Mr. Russell wants to see "a great deal of attention" given to parks and recreation in the future.

"We are enjoying an industrial spurt," he says. "Growth often creates other problems in the way of traffic and services. More attention must be given to provision of recreational and cultural facilities."

Mr. Russell is also concerned about planning, and would like to see a larger planning board staff.

"It is of utmost importance that zoning bylaws be brought up-to-date, and we have one bylaw covering the entire city instead of two, as at present."

IRELAND, Jack

Jack Ireland, Chamber of Commerce president and former alderman, is making a bid for an aldermanic seat this year.

Owner of an appliance business for 20 years, he first was elected to council in 1958 and served until 1963.

While on council he sat on the public works, traffic and parks committees. He was a member of the industrial commission and is a past president of the Lake Ontario Development Association.

Other presidencies he has held include the Downtown Businessmen's Association, the Belleville YMCA and the Appliance Dealers' Association of Canada.

Mr. Ireland has called for close controls on municipal expenditures.

The residential property taxes have risen annually from 36 mills in 1967 to 61 mills this year.

"If this trend continues it is conceivable that residential taxes will be doubled within five years."

Capital works programs also call for careful preparation and review.

"Corrective action must be initiated immediately," says Mr. Ireland. "Otherwise the cost of owning property will soon reach a level beyond the reach of the average wage earner."

SMITH, Jean

Mrs. Jean Smith, a newcomer to the aldermanic race feels her desire to sit on council expresses her total interest in the city of Belleville.

A resident of Belleville for the past 31 years, Mrs. Smith has been involved in several community activities and projects, the most recent being as chairman of the United Appeal.

She is, at present, vice-president of the United Community Services, as well as chairing the UCS health committee.

A registered nurse, she is acting as an assistant teacher for the Registered Nursing Assistants Course in addition to her other community involvements.

"My platform, as an individual, is not one to criticise, but to assist and carry out the will of the taxpayer with foresight to the best of my ability," said Mrs. Smith.

JEFFREY, Robin

Leadership by city council in the development of the entire Quinte District with visionary planning instead of hodge-podge development is the wish of Alderman Robin Jeffrey.

Offering herself for re-election following a two-year term at city hall, Alderman Jeffrey says that planning for the Quinte area should be a concept of the ideal environment.

Also, Alderman Jeffrey would like to see the end of what she terms neglect in providing for the needs of senior citizens. Needed, she said, was more ground floor recreational accommodation and a fairer balance between what is provided for youth and the senior members of the city.

Aldermen should be independent in their thinking and be willing to take a stand on issues, she says.

"If you don't take a stand for something, then you can fall for anything," she says.

One of two women candidates for alderman ic posts, Mrs. Jeffrey is a 12-year resident of the city and is active in the University Women's Club and in United Community services.

SOUTTER, Donald M.

Another newcomer to the race for an aldermanic seat is Donald Soutter.

Mr. Soutter feels strongly that problems of planning, industrial growth and relations with neighboring communities are integrated ones.

Aldermen, in his estimation, must assume more responsibility in producing a development policy for the city, freeing the planning board from "this unfair burden and allowing it to proceed with the mechanics of planning."

Mr. Soutter is concerned about outmoded city zoning laws, which he feels "must be corrected and considered a priority by the next council."

Other problems he feels should receive priority are those of housing keeping pace with industrial growth, a speeded-up recreational waterfront development plan and the fact that $1 million of improvements on city streets have been held in abeyance since 1968.

Mr. Soutter is managing editor of the Intelligencer, and is a 17-year veteran of the newspaper profession. He is married and his wife, Patricia is on the teaching staff at Loyalist College. Their son attends Queen Alexandra School.

JOYCE, Gerald

Incumbent Alderman Gerald Joyce is seeking re-election to another term on city council believing he is "the right man in the right place."

Mr. Joyce has served for the past two years on council and for the past year has been president and chairman of the industrial commission.

"I am very interested in the youth of the community and have served for two terms on the Belleville Public School Board, prior to serving on city council," he said.

Mr. Joyce is well known in sports circles, having sponsored many teams in softball, baseball and hockey. He has also served for four years as a director of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce and he is a director and past-president of the Belleville Real Estate Board.

It was at the request of Mr. Joyce that Mayor J. Russell Scott appointed a Belleville Week Committee to promote Belleville's industrial growth and potential.

He is seeking re-election because he feels that continuity is necessary to make the present quest for industry a success.

WILLS, William S.

W. S. (Bill) Wills is offering himself for the first time for election to city council.

Born in Belleville in 1922, he was educated and employed in Belleville until 1942 when he joined the Canadian Army and was posted overseas.

He returned to Belleville in 1949 and operated a retail hardware business with a brother for 19 years.

Mr. Wills has over 25 years business experience, including experience in both the banking and trust fields.

Mr. Wills is concerned with a proper balance between residential, commercial and industrial tax assessment, providing a good tax base.

He is also concerned about the major decisions that will have to be made with respect to regional planning and recreation, pollution control, the rising tax rate and is in favor of properly designed commercial areas for each section of the city — east, west, north and the main central section.

"The growing menace of the automobile on our city streets must be reduced to protect our children. It tends to strangle and destroy the beauty of our cities," he said.

Winless in Nine

Los Angeles Far From Kings of Road

By CHUCK SVOBODA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

National Hockey League coaches often express satisfaction at gaining a tie on the opposition's home ice.

But coach Hal Laycoe of Los Angeles Kings could be excused if he became ecstatic when his charges next pick up a point on their current nine-game road trip.

The Kings were in Detroit Thursday night where Frank Mahovlich led the Red Wings in a 5-1 victory to extend the Los Angeles winless streak to nine games. In one other game, Boston Bruins downed Philadelphia Flyers 6-4.

The Kings' last victory was a 6-3 decision over Toronto Maple Leafs in Los Angeles three weeks ago. They lost their next two games at home before [illegible] out on the nine-game road trip which so far has netted them only one point on a tie with the Leafs in Toronto.

Doormats of the West Division with just three wins in 18 games, the Kings still have road games against St. Louis Saturday and Oakland Tuesday before returning to the dubious advantage of home ice at the Los Angeles Forum.

The Red Wings, meanwhile, snapped a six-game winless streak to reclaim fourth place in the East Division from the Chicago Black Hawks.

Mahovlich started the march in the first period before 12,895 Detroit fans when he set up Wayne Connelly, who beat Kings goalie Gerry Desjardins.

Three minutes later, [illegible]ovlich scored his eighth goal on a pass from defenceman Carl Brewer. Pete Stemkowski started the second-period scoring with Mahovlich adding his second of the night six minutes l[illegible]-

A rookie Butch Goring of the Kings unchanged third-period goals. Goring's play came with just 1:22 left to ruin Roger Crozier's chance at earning his first shutout since Oct. 22, 1967.

Boston defenceman Bobby Orr reclaimed sole possession of the scoring leadership with two goals and one assist in the victory before 14,851 at Boston. Orr's three points broke a tie he had with Phil Goyette of St. Louis Blues.

Phil Esposito, last season's scoring champion, picked up four points on a goal and three assists for a season-total of 23 points.

Eddie Westfall, Johnny Bucyk and Johnny McKenzie rounded out the Boston scoring. Jim Johnson scored twice for the Flyers with Bill Sutherland and Gary Dornhoefer adding single goals.

Goalie Gerry Cheevers stopped 33 Philadelphia shots while Doug Favell made 35 saves in the Flyers' nets.

In games Saturday, Philadelphia Flyers are at New York against the Rangers, Chicago Black Hawks at Detroit, Oakland Seals against the Penguins at Pittsburgh, Minnesota North Stars at Toronto against the Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins play the Canadiens at Montreal.

Campbell Lowers Boom On Ferguson for Six Games

MONTREAL (CP) — At the start of this season, the National Hockey League's board of governors gave president Clarence Campbell added authority in his fight to control stick-swinging and players leaving the bench to take part in on-ice donnybrooks.

Today St. Louis Blues and Montreal Canadiens both feel the impact of the new legislation.

Campbell Thursday night handed Montreal Canadiens' John Ferguson a six-game suspension for a "deliberate attempt to injure" Gary Sabourin of St. Louis in a game there Nov. 15.

Ferguson struck Sabourin on the head with his stick during an exchange of checks. Campbell had already lifted Ferguson from the lineup for a Wednesday night contest against the Maple Leafs at Toronto, thus giving the Montreal left winger another five games on the sidelines.

The Ferguson incident led to a general melee, with 11 players from each team clearing their respective benches to brawl on the ice.

In all, Campbell handed out a total of $5,775 in fines Thursday, of which St. Louis was assessed $3,350. This means the Blues have been zapped for a total of $5,450 in fines as the result of free-for-alls in two successive games.

Earlier this month Campbell had fined the St. Louis club $1,000 following an exodus from the players bench of 11 Blues during a game against Pittsburgh Penguins in St. Louis, Nov. 13.

He also had told the Blues management that the automatic $100 fine against each of its 11 players who left the bench in the Pittsburgh game stands.

The $5,775 levied against the Blues and Canadiens includes a $2,000 assessment against the St. Louis management for allowing its bench strength to jump on the ice to fight and $1,000 to the Montreal club for the same infraction.

The $1,000 difference in the price paid came because of the previous action by St. Louis players against Pittsburgh, Campbell said.

In the Montreal-Blues incident, 22 players—11 from each side—joined the melee from the benches, with each offender contributing $100 to the NHL kitty.

CLARENCE CAMPBELL

Ferguson, who received a $100 fine, plus an additional $25 for a misconduct penalty resulting from two majors, also is assessed $200 for stick-swinging, bringing his individual total to $325.

His salary for the six games he sits out—estimated at $2,500 in some quarters—also must be remitted to league headquarters, as must all fines.

Campbell heaped an additional $100 levy against Tim Ecclestone of St. Louis for being the first player to jump over the barrier to join the melee.

He also added $150 to Noel Picard's automatic $100 fine when the St. Louis defenceman left the penalty box to engage Ferguson in a wrestling match.

Campbell, president of the league since 1946, said it is the highest total fines he has ever handed out.

The previous high was $4,925 he rapped the Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks with for indulging in a general brawl at Toronto, Dec. 7, 1963, when both benches cleared.

Of that total, rival coaches—Punch Imlach of Toronto and Chicago's Billy Reay—each contributed $1,000 to the pot.

Hockey Canada Head Baffled by Bunny

TORONTO (CP) — Charles Hay, president of Hockey Canada, said Thursday he was "nonplussed" by reports which quoted the president of the International Ice Hockey Federation as saying he had an understanding with Hockey Canada about using professionals on the Canadian national hockey team.

J. F. (Bunny) Ahearn, IIHF president, said in interviews Thursday that he had "an understanding" with Hay and Gordon Juckes of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

"I promoted Canada's motion to allow three professional players for the 1970 tournament," Ahearne said, referring to a Hockey Canada motion presented at the IIHF meetings in Switzerland last July.

"I cast the deciding vote in favor of this when it was deadlocked. But my understanding was that they would use only nine pros or fewer pros, not nine pros and 11 reinstated amateurs."

Hay, head of the national body responsible for icing Canada's team, issued a short statement Thursday which said:

"Hockey Canada has planned at all times to abide by the rules of eligibility of players agreed to in Switzerland in July.

"It has looked to Fred Page, North American president of the IIHF, and the man in charge of the 1970 world tournament, to advise it on these rules.

"As president of Hockey Canada, I know of no understanding or personal agreement with Mr. Ahearn about who shall be on Canada's team. To Hockey Canada, these rules are clear."

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — Australia and Rhodesia ended their second World Cup soccer elimination match here Thursday back where they started. The game finized out in a 0-0 draw, just as did the first-round match last Sunday. Thursday's match was to have decided which of the two teams should play Israel for a place among the World Cup finalists in Mexico City next year. The series now goes to a third match Saturday night.

Dismal Arena Turnout To Watch Flying Fathers

By GREG McLOD
Staff Sportswriter

It's a bird . . . it's a plane . . . It's a Flying Father!

This famous phrase was on the lips of the Belleville Ellis All - stars in last night's exhibition hockey game against the Flying Fathers before an embarrassingly low crowd of 400.

Father Les Costello is the big gun of the team, having played three years with the NHL's Toronto Maple Leafs.

Father Costello a 47-year-old priest from Cobalt, Ont., led his clergy to a 10-8 victory over the Ellis All - Stars, with three goals and three assists.

Whenever Costello was on the ice, he displayed excellent puck control and made the Ellis defence literally dizzy with his dips, turns and dekes.

"This has been one of the best ice surfaces I've played on in a long time," said Costello. "I heard rumors that it was bad ice, but believe you me I've played on a lot worse. The fans, although they were few in number, sounded like a crowd three times their size, hollering and clapping."

Unfortunately for Alhambra 199 organizers of the event, applause won't buy equipment for the new Belleville Retarded Workshop, the aim of last night's hockey laugh-in.

A spokesman said today $400 would be contributed toward the Alhambra 199 project, but that the organization was $250 in the red after expenses.

Despite the dismal Belleville turnout last night, the Flying Fathers have raised almost a half-million dollars for charitable projects in the seven years they have been together.

Other goal scorers for the Flying Fathers were Pete Valley with four goals, Bill Scanlon with two and Mike Crady earning one goal.

John McDonnell, Terry Meagher, Danny Lapenette, Brian Coughlin from the Ellis Junior B team scored their half of the locals score.

"Old-timers" Gary Goyer with two goals, Jean-Paul Lemirande and Leo Goyer made certain that their fellows were going to share on a little of the glory.

"Those fellows have an excellent pass pattern," said "Lammy."

"Costello still has a little of the agility I saw back in the late forties when I played against him in the NHL."

"The Fathers provided excellent entertainment," commented Mo - Hawk playing coach Davey Jones, the referee in last night's game. "It's too bad they held it on the night they did. If they had held it on a different night, they would have drawn a better crowd. There's a Mo-Hawk game tomorrow night and people just can't afford to go to two games back to back like that around Christmas time."

The fun part of the hockey game came in several forms.

Santa Claus appeared on the ice before the game got underway, shelling out candy to all the youngsters. During the first period intermission a clown took over Santa's entertainment duties doing a few tricks with an overgrown diapered baby taking over his job during the second period intermission.

Three pies appeared in the game, one in each period, with Father Bill Lee getting two of them in the face compliments of Les Costello. Goalie Art Appleton until recently a Trenton priest, was the recipient of the third pie.

Highlight of the game's light - hearted aspect came with the third - period appearance of a "Flying Nun", who bore a strange resemblance to Santa Claus, the clown, and the overgrown baby.

Flying Nun

The "Flying Nun" joined the Flying Fathers hockey team for a line shift during last night's exhibition with the Ellis All-Stars at Belleville's Memorial Arena.

Hawks Changing Tactics

A new style of play for the Trenton Golden Hawks will set the scene in an 8:30 Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League game tonight at Trenton Community Gardens.

The Golden Hawks play host to the Cobourg Cougars. At present the Cougars are in fourth place just two points ahead of the Trenton club.

"We're losing hockey games, so something must be wrong," said Trenton coach Red Greville. "We've been working all week on a new style on the bench as well as on the ice."

Trenton has only been able to manage two wins and a tie against six losses so far this season. They would like to carry a win into Belleville next week when they clash with their arch - rivals, Belleville Bee Janiors.

"As everyone knows, our goaltending has killed us," added Greville. "We are hoping to obtain Brian Wilson a Junior D goalie from Bancroft. If we can get good goaltending we are on our way."

Andy Terwilliger and Randy Castellarin will be back in the lineup tonight. Terwilliger hurt his shoulder in practice ten days ago. Castellarin has been out with a bad knee.

Mo-Hawks Watching 'Obie' When Oaks Here Tonight

By MAURICE SWITZER
Sports Editor

Some wind will have to be taken from Orville O'Brien's sails if the good ship Mo-Hawk is to stay on its upward course.

The crafty Oakville centre leads OHA Senior A scorers with 30 points. And, as the Oaks arrive in Belleville tonight for a crucial game with the local seniors, only Mo - Hawk Al Ferguson's 13 goals approach O'Brien's league - leading total of 17.

"We've got to play O'Brien instead of the puck," noted Mo-Hawk playing - coach Davey Jones, although he ruled out the likelihood of a Mo-Hawk checking line.

"No the best way to defend against O'Brien is to outskate him — he's not the greatest skater around, by any means."

Oakville winger Pete Bettio's 18 points and Frank Hinckr' total of 17 should make them objects of interest for the Mo-Hawks in tonight's 9 p.m. Memorial Arena game.

The Mo-Hawks, Oaks and Barrie Flyers are currently deadlocked in a three - way tie for third spot in the eight-team Senior A standings, adding considerable importance to tonight's Belleville contest.

Jones is looking for more good mileage from the newly-formed Ray Johnston - Bill Armour - Wayne McConnell line to help the Mo - Hawks extend their unbeaten streak to eight games.

"Bill played his best game in Owen Sound last Sunday, and if Wayne can break loose for some goals, I'll be leaving that line together," Jones added. The threesome accounted for three Mo - Hawk goals in their first game together, last Sunday's 8-4 road win over Owen Sound Crescents. Ray Johnston accounted for a pair, playing only his second game with the club.

A second successful forward trio would take some of the scoring burden off the Lorne O'Donnell - George Godson - Al Ferguson combination, which has accounted for 63 scoring points in the first 14 Mo - Hawk games, including 28 of the club's 50 goals.

"We've got the club to handle Oakville," Jones added. "But Sunday's game is the big one."

Sunday, the Mo-Hawks journey to Orillia for a 7 o'clock fixture. The locals couldn't manage a win off the Marposa seniors all last season, and dropped a 5-2 home decision in their only encounter this year.

Belleville Kinsmen Bantam all-star coach Moe Hunter gives defencemen Wally Dainard, Dave Flesch, Tim Whelan, Mark Thistel and Bruce Sutherland some defensive tips during practice session. The Kinsmen have won provincial titles the past two years.

Bantams Look for Third Title

The way the Belleville Kinsmen Bantams' of the city's minor hockey association are playing hockey thus far in the young season, their third consecutive Ontario Minor Hockey Association Championship is not a remote possibility.

"We have a very strong club again this year," commented team manager Bob Ricketts. "We encourage the boys to skate, skate, skate and check, check, check."

"We may have stiffer competition this year," added Ricketts. "As of now we are in the 'double A' category but come January we might be going 'triple A' under a new OMHA plan. We would have to play teams from Peterborough, Oshawa, Kingston, Brantford — any fairly large city and these boys play better hockey than what we're up against now," added Ricketts.

To date the Kinsmen have played 10 games and are undefeated. The locals have scored 61 goals while opposition have only managed 24 against.

Holdovers Bruce Clark and Bob Moore again share the goaltending for the Kinsmen while Wally Dainard, Bruce Sutherland, Tim Whelan, Dave Flesch and Mark Thistel "keep things cool" along the Blue line. Dainard is the only remaining defenceman from last year's championship line-up.

The locals' first line features "veterans" Grant Gorgan, Andy Ricketts and Mark Coates while the second line see newcomers Kevin Landy, Steve Kirby and John Masterson up front. The Kinsmen third line consists of Peter Crawford, Dave England with Steve Cowan, Barry Marta and Peter Molaski alternating.

Returnee Peter Snarke is sidelined with a broken wrist received early in the season.

"It is difficult to pick out any strong points on the club," said Ricketts. "The team is very well balanced."

"Our first line has accounted for 24 of our goals while our second string has scored 16 goals. Our Third line has accounted for 11 goals and the defence 10."

"I thought our defence was going to be weak, but they are holding up very well."

As usual, the Kinsmen Bantams plan entry in a number of tournaments. The team has been accepted for a tournament in Windsor for next month, and have also mailed in a request to Hull, their preference.

In January they're scheduled to travel to Aurora, then to Cornwall in February to defend their 1969 tournament Championship.

The Kinsmen Bantams are coached by Murray "Moe" Hunter a senior and intermediate hockey veteran who coached many of them as members of the 1967 - 68 Smith Fuel OMHA Pee-Wee Champions.

Lancers Streaking

They didn't score as many points as they usually do, but Loyalist Lancers still came home with their fifth straight intercollegiate basketball win last night.

The Lancers downed the Lindsay campus of Sir Sandford Fleming College 85-33, getting 16 points from Paul Goodfellow and 10 from Paul Hope.

Loyalist got their fifth win against no losses in the five-team league despite playing without the high - scoring and some dubious officiating.

The Lancers play host to the same Lindsay campus team next Tuesday night at Centennial Secondary School gym.

Even at $1998, it's not cheap.
There's no question we could make it cheap. We could cut our 8,000 inspectors to 4,000. And get rid of our 560 inspector inspectors. We could use a lighter gauge steel. And cut the amount of paint in half.
But if we did, we'd be breaking the first rule of economy car making. And it's the one that we made up:
The only way to make a car inexpensive, is to make it expensively.

Ottawa Farm Club?

MONTREAL (CP) — The "No. 1 problem in the Canadian Football League" was eliminated Thursday with the report that Montreal Alouettes may be under new management by the end of the week.

Following strong pressure from the CFL, Alouettes' owner Joe Atwell submitted an application to transfer the foundering franchise from his name to that of Sam Berger, former president of the Ottawa Rough Riders.

Berger, who severed connections with the Ottawa team a year ago, confirmed that he has submitted an offer for the club and that an application for transfer had gone in.

Commissioner Jake Gaudaur said the application was in the hands of CFL executives—himself, league president Lew Hayman of Toronto Argonauts and Dr. Neville Winograd of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the CFL licensing president.

None of the principals would say what the offer was but it has been reported at between $800,000 and $1,200,000.

The matter will be dealt with at the executive session today and while there could be delays —"the committee might want further information," they might want to set up a sub-committee to study the situation— Gaudaur did not rule out the possibility that the Alouettes, who missed the Eastern conference playoffs for the last three years, would be in the hands of new owners before Sunday's Grey Cup game.

"We are able to take swift action on this because we had allowed for it on the agenda of the CFL executive committee meeting, just in case," Gaudaur said.

Atwell took over ownership of the Als three years ago from Ted Workman, but the club's difficulty in attracting fans goes back much further than that.

"The CFL for Ottawa has been concerned by the lack of fan acceptability in this area," Gaudaur said, "It was far below what is necessary to make our organization pass work. It is important that all franchises are competitive.

* * *

MONTREAL (CP) — David Loeb, owner of the Ottawa Rough Riders, said Thursday he doesn't want to comment on who will be his general manager next season.

Red O'Quinn, now holding down the job for the Eastern Football Conference champions, is reported ready to take over a similar post with the Montreal Alouettes.

Ottawa head coach Frank Clair is making his second pitch for the general manager's job. He tried for it three years ago but O'Quinn got the nod instead.

Football Rat Race?

'Pass the Cheese, Please'

MONTREAL (CP) — "Face it, football is a rat race, but it has been a very enjoyable rat race."

Quarterback Russ Jackson and the Ottawa Rough Riders arrived in town Thursday night for Sunday's Grey Cup championship game.

For Jackson, it will be the last game of his 12-year Canadian Football League career.

He stepped from the first of several functions honoring him and other football stars and went before cameras and microphones.

Asked how he felt about the last game he'll play, Jackson said:

"Actually, I really feel strange about it. But it hasn't really hit me yet. The let-down probably will hit after the game."

Football, he said, has always taken first place in his activities and he is "looking forward to a more relaxed life."

"Face it, football is a rat race, but it has been a very enjoyable rat race."

Most of the Ottawa club arrived by bus, a one-hour-and-50-minute trip. Their Sunday opponents, Saskatchewan Roughriders, were due in today.

The Ottawa club checked in at a motel and, under the eye of assistant coach Jake Gotta, went for a steak and roast beef dinner.

Head Coach Frank Clair came in separately with his wife and went to a private dinner. Jackson and Billy Joe Booth, the Eastern Conference nomination for lineman-of-the-year honors, also arrived separately, by train, to begin their round of functions.

Jackson is the Eastern nominee for the outstanding football player in the country and for honors as the top Canadian.

After the team dinner, the players were given the evening off and called a fleet of taxis to take them out on the town.

Gotta said the Ottawa club reached a peak in winning the two-game total-points Eastern Conference final over Toronto Argonauts and "I hope we can maintain the momentum."

CFL's Gaudaur to Prove There's No Biz Like Show Biz

MONTREAL (CP) — Without detracting a whit from the game, Jake Gaudaur is bent on making the Grey Cup a lavish entertainment spectacle unrivalled anywhere.

Every year the events surrounding the annual battle for the Canadian Football League championship get a little bigger. This year the show preceding the game and at half time will take a giant step forward.

"We can't allow the spectacle ever to detract from the game itself," the CFL commissioner said in an interview. "That's our raison d'etre—our reason for being here.

"But we can give the fans something to remember.

"I've been going to the Shrine game in San Francisco for years now and they have the kind of color and big sound I want.

"It doesn't matter if the bands are a beat off, it's the sound that matters."

Cliff Billington of Toronto, chairman of game entertainment, said Thursday:

"It's going to be the biggest, most expensive show in Grey Cup history—if all goes well."

"We've been working all year on it—we did it last year in Toronto—and only hope too many hitches don't develop."

The big second bath be and Gaudaur are looking for will come from two bands—the RCAF Reserve Squadron 438 band of Montreal and the Chaudelaines Drum Corps of Montreal.

It adds up 300 musicians and 200 flags on the field.

In addition the pre-game ceremonies will include bands representing the Saskatchewan Roughriders and the Ottawa Rough Riders. All will be competing before a sellout crowd of 33,172 and viewers along the CBC and CTV national television networks starting at 1 p.m. EST.

The teams will be allowed 30 minutes to warmup prior to the game, but must be off the field at 12:30 p.m.

So fine is the detail that team introductions are listed:

12:49—Player introductions will commence—East team to be introduced first.

12:59½—West team will be introduced.

The pre-game hoop - la will include presentations by the bands, the official choice by the team of the right to receive the kickoff and which end of the field they will defend, presentations by majorettes and formation by an intricate midfield box inside which the ceremonial kickoff will take place.

Although no official announcement has been made, it is widely believed Prime Minister Trudeau will attempt to improve on his performance at last year's game in Toronto when, after several days of totalage, he bounced the ball off a photographer's head scant feet from the kicking tee.

The halftime piece de resistance is expected to be a complicated counter-march by the RCAP and Chaudelaines bands.

Sizemore Pick Of NL Rookies

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Sizemore, the versatile Los Angeles Dodger baseball infielder who alternated between shortstop and second base, today was named Rookie of the Year in the National League.

Sizemore, 24, converted into a shortstop by manager Walter Alston last spring after spending 1968 in the minors as a catcher, won by a large margin in the vote of a 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America, two from each league city.

The seventh Dodger to win the rookie award, Sizemore received 14 votes in his landslide victory. Coco Laboy, Montreal Expos third baseman, and Al Oliver, Pittsburgh Pirates first baseman, each received three votes. Bob Didier, Atlanta Braves catcher, and Larry Hisle, Philadelphia Phillies outfielder, each drew two votes.

The award, announced by Jack Lang, secretary-treasurer of the writers association, was based on a secret vote that covered only regular-season play.

It was the final award of the annual series by the writers, all of which went to players on different clubs.

He hit .271 in 159 games and had 26 doubles, five triples, four homers and 46 runs batted in. He played 46 games at short until Maury Wills arrived in June and then 118 at second base, obviously splitting some games at both positions.

Vikings Clinch Title

By THE ASSOCIATE PRESS

Rod Grant's Minnesota Vikings clinched the title in the Central Division of the National Football League by blanking Detroit Lions 27-0 on the snow Thursday, and the final Minnesota touchdown was a real stunner.

In the fourth quarter, Alan Page, a 6-foot-4, 255-pound defensive tackle, tipped a pass by Detroit quarterback Greg Landry and Jim Marshall, a 6-foot-3, 248-pound defensive end, intercepted it on the Lions' 41-yard-line.

Marshall chugged toward the end zone, and when it looked as if Landry might force him out of bounds on the 12, he tossed a lateral pass to Page, who rumbled in for four touchdown.

In three other U.S. Thanksgiving Day games, Dallas Cowboys tied San Francisco 49ers 24-24 in the NFL, while Kansas City ironcued Denver Broncos 31-17 and San Diego Chargers upset Houston Oilers 31-17 in the American Football League.

Minnesota's victory was its 10th straight after an opening-game defeat. Detroit now is 7-4.

Even if Detroit wins its remaining three games and the Vikings lose all of theirs, Minnesota will be Central Division champion because it won both games with Detroit.

BEDS FOR DECORATION?

Modern ones ancient times as a substitute for sleeping on the floor, beds were also an important piece of furniture. Early centuries, especially in Europe where they had gilded designs and costly draperies. Bed design today is much more functional, yet still pleasing to the eye and comfortable.

Now that the children are grown, there may be some room in the house for you. You can sell them with an Intelligencer Want Ad — just by dialing 962-3171 and ask for Classified Ads.

Chargers Get Hoop Jump

Centennial Secondary School got the jump on the 1969-70 Bay of Quinte high school basketball season, by enjoying a perfect three-for-three day against Trenton High School opposition.

John Koch's 14 points paced Centennial seniors in a 46-35 win over THS. Frank Johnston hit for 13 Centennial points, while Kanellos' 11 topped Trenton scorers. The winners trailed 27-26 at three-quarter time.

Centennial Juniors' 47-27 win came after the Chargers had trailed throughout the first half. Bob Henderson hooped 13 points and Randy Derry 12 to lead the Centennial charge, with Davidson's 8 points making him top point-getter for Trenton.

The smallest players wound up with the highest - scoring game of the day, as Centennial lassitans whipped Trenton 66-36.

An outstanding 35 - point performance by Vicki Kaczkaszian made the Centennial player the best on the court. Closest to him was teammate Ron McIntyre, who hooped 11 points.

THEATRE FEATURE TIMES

Publisher Says CBC Derelict In Duty in Not Buying CKLW

OTTAWA (CP) — Mark Farrell, publisher of the Windsor Star, Thursday accused the CBC of "an incredible dereliction of duty" in not accepting an option to buy CKLW-TV in Windsor.

Mr. Farrell told a Canadian Radio-Television Commission hearing the CBC could provide a good Canadian service in Windsor better than any other organization.

The hearing considered an application from Baton Broadcasting Ltd., headed by Toronto Telegram publisher John Bassett, and the broadcasting arm of the giant Maclean-Hunter publishing firm, who presented a joint purchase bid for $5,400,000.

CKLW-TV is under government orders to sell a majority of its interests now owned by RKO Inc., a U.S. firm. Government regulation prohibits the majority of shares of a broadcasting operation in Canada being held by non-Canadians.

Opposition by The Star to the application stated that, among other things, the proposal could lead to an unhealthy concentration of media ownership between the two Toronto interests.

Toronto lawyer E. A. Goodman, counsel for Baton and Maclean-Hunter, told the commission in any city where either company has media ownership there is competition from other interests.

Windsor was no exception, he said, since The Star and TV station in nearby Detroit compete with CKLW-TV.

The CBC earlier decided against applying for the station because the corporation's estimates showed there would be a $1,000,000 annual deficit for three years.

Teenhood Time of Mourning

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

We cannot understand the so-called "revolt" of the adolescent today unless and until we understand that teenhood is a period of mourning as well as of rebellion.

Adolescence has always been a time of rebellion — this is a natural and normal pattern of growth, even in primitive societies, where tradition and authority have remained strong. In order to grow up, the youth has to learn how to "grow away" a little.

But teenhood is also a time of stress because it signifies a change in the child's view of himself — and this change may be regarded as a kind of "mourning process."

To a small child, the parents are omnipotent. They can fix things, make things well again, relieve misery, and perform seemingly magical acts that are beyond the child's comprehension.

In adolescence, the child begins to perceive that this is not at all the case. His omnipotent parents turn into quite limited persons; they are seen as more or less ordinary people, who can do some things and not others, who themselves are often baffled and frustrated by external circumstances.

This change in viewpoint also, is quite normal and natural, and in past times adolescents were able to adjust to it — because, until the recent technological era, parents were people who decided things and had a large voice in their own fate and the fate of their families.

Today, however, the individual has been reduced to a state of relative powerlessness. Change is swift and inexorable. New knowledge overwhelms old expectations and confounds old attitudes. The massive weight of societal interaction — which is unpredictable as never before — has compressed the importance of the parents not merely from demi-gods to human size, but nearly down to pygmy size.

Adolescents have always mourned this loss of "divinity" in their parents. Now the mourning is greater than ever, for their parents stand revealed as pawns, not as kings or queens, as people with little control over their own destinies, much less the guardians of their children's fates.

This profound mourning turns into resentment, and the resentment expresses itself in rebellion that is more bitter and intractable than any we have known before. Part of their complaints against us is rational — we have failed to be strong and consistent in our value-system — but another part is the irrational cry for the all-knowing parent who can make things well again.

Rylstone

RYLSTONE — Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reid; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Heath and Mr. and Mrs. James Mumby were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank White in Campbellford. Guest of honor for the evening was their cousin Miss Donna Humphries, Reg. N., of Calgary.

There was a good attendance at the Money Shower for Mr. and Mrs. Brenda Gray, (nee Marie Finch) at the Sentinel Orange Hall, Petherick's Corners on Saturday evening. A short program was enjoyed and Mickey Finch read an address and Maureen Stewart presented the purse of money.

Ralph Heath spent the week-end at Scarborough with his daughter and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Mason. He also attended the Royal Winter Fair and visited his nephew, Ross Fletcher and Mrs. Fitchett in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reid and Mrs. Alvina McKeown, all of Springbrook; Mrs. Etta Hallstone of Madoc; Miss Blanche Gibson of Campbellford; and Mrs. Ralph Heath, called on Mrs. Howard Finch on Saturday afternoon to extend best wishes on her 80th birthday.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For November 29

Your birthday today: This will be an important year of increasing self-assurance and success. Expansive personal magnetism develops to the extent your health and emotional dedication will sustain. Public appeal and image factors come in stronger. Friendships, romance spring up in all directions.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): This morning brings better information and the opportunity to acquire more working tools. After weekend chores are settled, relax the rest of the day.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Round up the family, agree on what is to be done and who is going to do it. Then scatter, each to his own mission.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Get important items over with, then take correspondence to quieter spots if it's the only convenient way. The later hours drift into moody loafing. Avoid squabbles.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Investigation is favored for the early hours; focus on material concerns. Come to terms on what your schedule is.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Personal projects keep you busy. Relax early to get extra rest and store energy for tomorrow. Make time for meditation somewhere in your day.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Obscure facts, old records, misfiled items come to light. Try to side-step emotional stresses. Explanations are confusing and serve no particular point.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Make the rounds, catch up on the latest news in your community. Run an errand. Then settle down for quiet, idle lounging.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Your self-discipline is tested as some provocation touches your pride. Restrain your annoyance give thought to your delayed reaction-answer.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Searches, short trips produce very good results early in the day, then suspend action. In the evening ponder over the results and sketch out future plans.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): If you steer clear of speculation, the early hours give you a chance profit. Later everybody wants to know about their share of money matters. Candid answers are the indispensable, minimum response but will not satisfy the questions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): People have low tolerance level today, so don't schedule any lengthy programs. Make it a short day. Meditate if you can't relax readily.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Animated and interesting conversation flows in this fairly normal day. Don't be surprised to find a few people listening to your viewpoints.

French Decision

Atomic Plants Of U.S. Design

PARIS (Reuters) — France is to build at least three nuclear power reactors of American design and fuelled with enriched uranium from 1970 to 1975 in a major policy departure which already has generated a series of strikes by scientists and workers.

The decision was announced recently by President Georges Pompidou.

It marks the final abandonment of the natural uranium burning gas-graphite reactor developed by the French Atomic Energy Commissariat — CEA during Charles de Gaulle's presidency in part as a means of circumventing the U.S. monopoly of enriched uranium fuel.

The government's new policy favoring the more sophisticated American technology coupled with a drastic credit squeeze will result in the dismissal of 2,000 scientists and workers.

Activity in nuclear research centres came to a halt for several days last week as CEA staff went on strike in protest against the planned layoff of personnel.

About three-quarters of CEA's total staff of 31,000 took part in the strike, which was particularly effective at Marcoule, Pierrelatte and other big nuclear centres.

The waves of strikes were climaxed by a large demonstration of workers from the Saclay centre near Paris, who voiced their grievances outside the Invalides, in the heart of the French capital.

The first concrete sign that a revolution was brewing came almost four years ago when France's electricity board, Electricite de France, in its annual report for 1965, suggested that the time was ripe to give enriched uranium a try.

At the time, this seemed to be heresy. De Gaulle let it be known that he would have nothing to do with it.

It was only because of its statutory independence and the fact that it had a solid commercial argument for its view that the electricity board eventually was able to get away with its attempt to force the government's hand.

Some French scientists and engineers seem to favor the American Westinghouse Corp.'s type of reactor to meet France's needs.

Westinghouse hopes to gain a foothold in the French nuclear energy program through acquisition of a large share of the Jeumont-Schneider heavy electrical manufacturing company.

The recent appointment of Louis Armand, a leading French industrialist, as head of Westinghouse's French subsidiary, and recent talks in Washington between French Industry Minister Francois-Xavier Ortoli and Pepe de Cuba, Westinghouse's international head, have given the American company a big boost here.

But Siemens, the West German electrical giant, has emerged as a strong competitor.

Siemens has approached the French authorities with an offer of a participation by French industry in the joint subsidiary it set up recently with the West German AEG company to develop and build nuclear reactors based on American design.

Viennese Is Chosen Miss World

LONDON (AP) — Thousands cheered the new Miss World, a blonde model from Vienna, but women demonstrators demanding "liberation" of their sex booed as actor Omar Sharif crowned the winner Thursday night.

Squads of police patrolled the Albert Hall ballroom to keep order among the protesters as 20-year-old Eva Reuber-Staier accepted the title.

Miss Reuber-Staier, who measures 36-23-36, won out over 49 other contestants including 21-year-old Jacquie Perrin of Toronto. She will receive $6,500 in prize money and $72,000 in personal appearance fees.

Miss United States, Gail Renshaw, 22, of Arlington, Va., came second and picked up a $1,500 prize.

Norridge With Porridge

Hospital Chef Retires After 5 Million Meals

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Reginald "Tim" Norridge went home Friday night to supper — after cooking 5,000,000 meals.

That's only a rough estimate, Mr. Norridge is more expert with food than statistics.

So much so his expertise has been retained by Belleville General Hospital most of his life.

When he went home last night the 66-year-old Mr. Norridge had just retired as BGH's head chef with a record 43 years of service.

His association with the hospital spans his career. It was there he first learned the culinary craft after arriving as a young man from Britain.

Demands on his service grew with the hospital.

He recalls his early days when there were 90-100 patients to be fed.

In those less complicated days the hospital boasted two cooks.

"We did everything," reminisces Mr. Norridge. "From mopping the floor — if you had time."

Now, the BGH kitchens — with the recent openings of the hospital's new wing — have maybe seven times that many cooks — chefs for vegetables, for meats, for pastries, he says.

Diet control programs and modern serving methods also have added sophisticated dimensions to hospital cookery.

But change, growth and progress of his life-work environment are the striking memories the chief chef carries with him into retirement.

As for his personal culinary tastes: he's English so it's no revelation that his favorite menu is a solid meal of roast beef and Yorkshire pudding.

Not that he indulges in home-cooking.

"That's strictly my wife's job," he insists.

It's an attitude he'll cleave to in retirement.

For his sparetime hobbies, says Mr. Norridge, "Even mopping the floor — if you had time."

Saulnier Says Revolt Brewing

OTTAWA (CP) — Money going into the Company of Young Canadians is helping finance revolution, a Commons inquiry was told by its last witness Friday.

Lucien Saulnier, Montreal's executive committee chairman, told the inquiry "a good first step" in heading off revolution would be to disband the CYC.

Mr. Saulnier's primary proposal, however, was creation of a federal royal commission to find ways of coping with subversion. He insisted the whole country, and not just Montreal, is threatened by a movement that wants to overthrow the system by force.

There had been 97 demonstrations in Montreal this year, and 22 in the last month. The CYC had taken part in at least 35.

The CYC, which has been described by Prime Minister Trudeau as "a thorn in the side of the establishment," is an "important part" of the movement, Mr. Saulnier said.

The committee, which began hearings Nov. 4, is to report to Parliament by Dec. 1 on the legislative framework, organization and operation of the CYC.

MPs were doubtful about whether the mandate would allow the committee to propose a royal commission on subversion. They appeared dubious about the proposal.

Mr. Saulnier was asked why the federal government should get involved in the affairs of the city. MPs said law enforcement is a provincial and municipal responsibility.

The reply was that as over-all view must be taken of a situation that, while in its parts it is legal, adds up to subversion and criminality.

Mr. Saulnier scoffed at suggestions that the demonstrations, riots, bombings and unrest in Montreal result from unemployment, poor housing or unresponsive city government.

Referring to documents put before the committee Thursday, he said numerous groups are using real problems like education to sow discord and overthrow government.

"There is a revolutionary plan for all Canada," he insisted. It was more evident in Montreal because circumstances there lent themselves to subversive action.

Michel Cote, Montreal's chief attorney, said MPs have been given "a tantalizing bit of the veil" so far. Many documents in police hands could only be given in secret to a royal commission.

The Montrealers told the committee of traffic between Montreal and Havana, and of "foreign involvement" in subversive activity.

CYC council chairman Jack Johnson, in a statement in Calgary, denied that the company is involved in such activities or condones illegal action.

Mr. Jackson said that if there was any substance to the Saulnier allegations, they should be taken to court.

Mr. Saulnier and Mr. Cote published the inquiry with photos showing CYC volunteers carrying red flags in the forefront of demonstrations that turned riotous, and tabled seized documents advocating revolutions and violence.

While it appears unlikely the committee will heed Mr. Saulnier's suggestion and recommend the government disband the CYC, they may reorganize and possibly defang it.

As it is constituted, 10 volunteers dominate the 15-man council, which is supposed to make policy decisions.

CYC executive director Claude Vidal has told the committee he has difficulty putting policy into effect because, when volunteers are adversely affected, they go to the council and have the policy reversed.

Slate Secretary Gerard Pelletier, in his testimony, suggested that the government should control the council by majority appointment.

Families Welcome Astronauts

HOUSTON (AP) — The Apollo 8 moon explorers were welcomed home today by their families and a crowd of 400 at nearby Ellington Air Force Base.

Still facing 11 more days of quarantine in Houston's Manned Laboratory, Charles Conrad Jr., Alan L. Bean and Richard F. Gordon Jr. arrived by jet cargo plane after an eight-hour flight from Hawaii.

Their families and well-wishers waited in 43-degree weather as technicians began the slow process of removing the astronauts' quarantine trailer from the plane.

The trailer will be trucked to the laboratory. There, they will be transferred to more spacious quarters for a 21-man team of doctors, technicians and stewards are housed.

The isolation is precaution against the remote chance the astronauts returned potentially harmful germs from the moon.

First Complaint of Massacre From Man Who Won DFC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A helicopter pilot whose complaint led to a United States army inquiry into the alleged My Lai massacre won a heroism award for saving 16 children there. In South Vietnam, Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky says he has asked for a new investigation of the incident.

Chief WO Hugh C. Thompson Jr., 27, confirmed Friday at Fort Rucker, Ala., that he had received the Distinguished Flying Cross for bravery at My Lai on March 16, 1968—date of the alleged slaughter.

Thompson, of Decatur, Ga., declined to give any details but sources disclosed that the citation was awarded for his action in saving the lives of 16 South Vietnamese children at "personal disregard for his own safety."

U.S. defence department sources in Washington said it was Thompson whose complaint touched off the army's initial investigation of the alleged massacre. They declined to elaborate.

Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor told congressmen Wednesday that the original inquiry resulted from a helicopter pilot who "suggested there might have been unnecessary killing of non-combatants at My Lai."

Wells Says Employers Cut Share of Medicare

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP) — Ontario Health Minister Thomas Wells said Friday a lot of companies are cutting their contributions to employees' medical benefits and telling workers the province's new medical care plan is to blame.

He said these companies have also cut down on their coverage of drug expenses and informed workers that this was necessary because of regulations of the Ontario Health Services Insurance Plan introduced Oct. 1.

Mr. Wells told the Halton West Progressive Conservative Association annual meeting that a major offender was the federal government. But he said a recent announcement indicated that Ottawa was ready to reinstate certain benefits taken away from federal employers.

Mr. Wells did not mention the companies by name.

In a free discussion later with Halton County doctors attending the meeting, both Mr. Wells and Energy and Resources Minister George Kerr were severely criticized for the government's decision to pay only 90 per cent of medical bills under OHSIP.

"It's a pretty lousy scheme," said Dr. Derek Burrows of Burlington, "... away from the public's point of view and lousy from the doctors' point of view."

In another exchange, Mr. Kerr told a doctor:

"Don't tell me you wouldn't be better off if you received 90 per cent from one source than billing and collecting 100 per cent on your own."

"Would you accept a 10 per cent cut?" the doctor, not identified, asked.

"If I were guaranteed that as a professional man I could bill one source and receive my money reasonably and promptly, I'd take 70 per cent," said Mr. Kerr.

Potter Pleased as Wells Says 'Total Health Plan' Is Coming

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Dr. Richard Potter last night expressed himself as "awfully pleased" at Ontario Health Minister Wells' announcement a total health plan will be outlined in January.

At the same time, the Quinte Conservative MPP said the minister's announcement was the first the legislature's standing committee on health had heard of such a program.

Dr. Potter, chairman of the committee, Thursday night read a report to Legislature in which his all-party group called for a total health-care scheme from the Robarts government.

Yesterday, Mr. Wells told the legislature a 15-member Council of Health, set up as an advisory body for his department, was given the task of preparing the plan two years ago. It now involves 300 experts working on 10 committees, each dealing with a different aspect of health care.

The "total health plan" will be announced in a general statement in January said Mr. Wells.

"I'm awfully pleased he's going to promote a total plan," said Dr. Potter who returned to Belleville after reading his report by special consent to the Legislature. "But frankly, this is the first time any of us have heard about it.

"This is why we (the health committee) came out and promoted it," he said. "We're very happy to hear that they (the government) have it in mind."

However, the MPP said, such a plan must be instituted according to priorities, not only because of the cost but because of the availability of necessary medical personnel.

In his speech to the legislature yesterday, Mr. Wells said the Ontario Health Services Insurance plan is only one of the considerations.

As part of the total plan OHSIP "will be the best available in Canada."

Mr. Wells said opposition demands to add such services as nursing homes, dental care and drug costs to OHSIP "will provide no answers."

These will be added but "each must be related to the total picture of health care."

"It would serve no purpose to just add to the costs at one end. We are convinced it can all be done without adding much to the costs at all, if we move on priorities to make better use of the facilities available."

Mr. Wells said it makes no sense simply to add new items to an insurance plan without regard to everything that has to be done. He said it is the full health situation that needs attention.

"Every aspect of health care will have been considered by the Council of Health," he said. "When the total health plan is considered each aspect can be put in perspective against the total."

"Simply adding one more aspect to the insurance plan as another benefit is not the answer."

Santa Claus Parade WILL Take Place

By BARRY GRILLS
Staff Reporter

Barring veto of a parade permit, the Santa Claus Parade will make its way down Belleville streets Saturday, Dec. 6.

And it is all the work of one man, Don Foster of Emily Street, who, upon hearing of the demise of the Santa Claus parade here, decided to do something about it.

Mr. Foster was out of town this morning, but The Intelligencer talked with his wife.

She said her husband got the idea around 4 p.m. Thursday and hasn't stopped working since. Mr. Foster has phoned all municipal officials — police, fire officials, and the city hall — to obtain permission and support for the parade. He is hoping to obtain a parade permit at Wednesday night's city council meeting.

"We'll be using 10 of our own floats as well as our own costumes," Mrs. Foster explained. "Of course, anybody else is welcome and so far they have really been responding. The phone has been ringing off the wall."

Donations have not been slow either. In a day-and-a-half many Belleville organizations have come through with donations.

Music has been taken care of by the Belleville Federation of Musicians and already there are majorettes and horses slated for the event.

The Belleville Fire Department is supporting Mr. Foster in his search for tractors and wagons for floats.

Bea Hoecker Auditorium has been donated for float construction.

So, it appears Santa will make his journey down the main streets of Belleville next Saturday at 10 a.m. in spite of prior difficulties.

Canada's Breathalyzer . . . and Britain's Mini-breathalyzer

British Mini-breathalyzer So Much Simpler

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Monday breathes new life into the perpetual police struggle against impaired drivers.

And Belleville is better equipped than most Quinte centres to process the new "declaring breath tests," mandatory for suspected drunken drivers.

Breathalyzer machines, gauging alcoholic content of a suspect's breath, have been in operation some time at two locations — the city police offices and provincial police district headquarters.

Under Criminal Code amendments effective Monday, a reading of .08 alcohol on these machines can qualify maximum penalties of six months and $1,000.

Possession of the machines should put more odds on the side of police—and no thoughtful citizen likely will quarrel with that.

But what about the same citizen unfortunate enough to ponder his condition before leaving a bar or bottle party for the long drive home?

Careful he may have been and sober he may feel. But what test will comfort doubts about his alcoholic content if he drives — even straight — into the arms of the law.

Commonsense would dictate the cautious course. The sophisticated machinery is in the hands of the police.

But supposing the thoughtful citizen had the same equipment available to reveal his true state.

Sound far-fetched? Not exactly.

Such a source already is available in Britain — where compulsory tests also were introduced recently.

Ironically a Belleville - area police officer has the evidence.

From a recent trip overseas he returned with the British system — in the palm of his hand.

Compared to the Canadian technique it's simplicity itself.

It's a small glass cartridge containing chemical crystals. The suspect is requested to blow through the phial. If the crystals change color to a specified depth it's accepted as evidence of impairment.

To render it foolproof, a plastic balloon is attached to an open end of the cartridge so the suspect cannot simulate exhalation. His breath swells the balloon.

The cartridges and balloon are a kit small enough to be carried in a squad car's glove compartment, or by a man on the beat.

But — for conscientious chaps — it also is publicly available. It can be purchased in pubs and bars, says the local officer. Drivers dubious of running afoul of the law can easily run a quick, on-the-spot breath test on themselves.

By comparison, a Canadian pondering a similar situation in his favorite bar room must first have invested a fair chunk of dollars in a machine utilizing chemicals, electric cells and dials. He must be trained in its operation — unless, if he's rich enough to buy the machine in the first place, he can send a personal attendant for training.

Nonetheless, the Canadian process, while appearing more cumbersome, is the only breathalyzer method deemed suitable as court evidence in Canada, say police officers.

Not all Quinte communities possess the machines. Provincial police say they have been installed at Bancroft and Napanee.

Larger Quinte centres without the apparatus include Trenton, Picton and Brighton. However, sufficient machines are strategically located for use when necessary.

Brighton OPP say they can take suspects for testing 20 miles away at Cobourg, Belleville and Picton are within easy reach of both Belleville machines.

"We'll send men to be trained and then see if we can get a machine," says Trenton Police Chief R. J. Rutherford. "In the meantime, we'll continue to carry on the same way we've been operating."

The new rules of the road for drinking drivers are likely to increase the deterrent effect of police work, most local law officers seem to believe.

The testing privileges, availability of the machines and awesome dimension of new penalties are seen as a more effective combination working for law enforcement agencies.

The tests were authorized last May by the omnibus package of Criminal Code amendments.

Its key clause is provision of stiff penalties for drivers refusing breathalyzer tests required by police with "reasonable and probable grounds" for impairment charges.

Tests are not made the instant the suspect is halted. He must remain within an officer's sight 15 minutes before the test is made. This permits alcohol in the mouth, teeth and throat to dissolve, permitting clarified registration of the breath's alcoholic content.

Advance Poll Today

Three area municipalities will hold an advance poll today for voters unable to cast their ballots in Monday's municipal election.

Belleville's advance poll is being held at City Hall tonight, who passed away November 26, 1968.

Monday the polls will be open for nine hours between 10 a.m. and 7 p.m.

The Magistrate's courtroom at the town hall will be the site of Trenton's advance poll today. It will be open between 1 a.m. and 8 p.m., the same hours the polls will be open Monday.

Ameliasburg Township's offices will be the site of that municipality's advance poll today. It will be open between 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. as will the polls Monday.

Name Change

The public relations director of the Ability Fund, formerly of the March of Dimes, says it will take a minimum of three to five years for the public to realize the name of the organization has been changed.

Fergus Cronin of Toronto addressed the annual branch meeting of the Ability Fund at the Belleville Yacht Club Thursday night. He said the new symbol, a green evergreen tree with one branch missing, which replaces the maple leaf symbol, will probably be known by the public before the new name.

IN MEMORIAM

WILSON — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother who passed away November 29, 1967.

Sweet is the hand that placed a flower on a loved one's grave,
Sweet is the heart that beats a memory to save.
Sweet is the thought that keeps a memory green,
Sweet is the love that lives in memories unseen.
—Sadly missed but lovingly remembered by daughters Mary and Helen and families.

WARBASHUK — In loving memory of a dear mother Rosie Warbashuk, who passed away November 29, 1968.

Lovingly and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days.
Sincere and true in her heart and mind,
Beautiful memories she left behind.
—Ever remembered by son Ed and family.

WILSON — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother Vera May Wilson, who passed away Nov. 30, 1968.

Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile,
Loving heart that knew no guile.
Deep trust in God that all was right,
Her last prayer to make sure she might.
Set aside suffering one she knew,
Her own dear self, that was true to
Her thought of self, but of each other;
I know she said well done, dear mother.
—Ever remembered by daughter Hilda and son-in-law Ken and family.

WILSON — In loving memory of a dear mother Vera May Wilson who passed away Nov. 30, 1968.

We do not need a special day,
To bring to mind dear mother,
For the days we do not think of her
Are very hard to find.
—Sadly missed and lovingly by daughter Grace son-in-law Al and family.

Newspaper Role Changing: Soutter

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
Staff Reporter

Teachers and newspapermen fill similar roles, — the primary function of each is to inform.

Donald Soutter, managing editor of The Intelligencer, drew the parallel this morning in his introductory remarks to teachers attending the "Newspaper in Education" workshop today at Centennial Secondary School.

The Intelligencer-sponsored workshop is designed to help teachers use the newspaper as a teaching tool in their classrooms.

"Both teachers and newspapermen deal tightly with words," Mr. Soutter said. "Both have a duty to inform — we inform the public, and you inform pupils."

"Newspapers are changing, and with them our concept of their role," he added. "Many of us don't like the old slogan 'freedom of the press', for it meant the publisher's right to put his ideas across."

"Now we use 'the right to know'. Our purpose is to help people put their ideas across to other people — we are only the media for doing this."

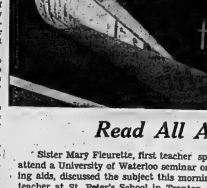
The editor claimed people of this district "don't use the media as much as they should".

He urged the teachers to give more thought to participating, and becoming involved in their community, through use of the newspaper.

Instructors for the workshop were Sister Mary Fleurette of Nicholson Catholic College, David Johnston of Wellington Public School and Mrs. Marion Martin of King George Public School.

Professor Donald Noble of the University of Waterloo made the keynote address.

Both elementary and secondary teachers from the district participated in the training sessions.



Read All About It!

Sister Mary Fleurette, first teacher sponsored by The Intelligencer to attend a University of Waterloo seminar on the use of newspapers as teaching aids, discussed the subject this morning with Francis Evans, left, a teacher at St. Peter's School in Trenton, and Donald Soutter, managing editor of The Intelligencer. They were attending a workshop for area teachers at Centennial Secondary School.

Girls Learned On-Camera Ins and Outs

Kittens Go To College

By LINDA GELDART
Staff Reporter

The bright TV lights highlighting their faces, they look just like a group of students in the midst of an animated discussion — maybe about the war in Vietnam or what they are going to do with the world when they have the chance.

As you look closer, you catch words like "self-exorcism" and "rips" and "confessions", with the interviewer bandying about questions like "do you enjoy this kind of work", and "what is your husband's reaction?"

Then the host of the show lets you in on the plot by asking one of the girls whether or not she felt self - conscious the first time she went to work as a kitten hostess at the Red Lion.

The two groups of "kittens" were in front of the TV cameras at Loyalist College as part of the human relations course they are taking. It brought them to the college in the first place, in their search to know and understand themselves better, and to put this knowledge to work.

The course, which was born in late October, was taught by Mrs. Pat Soutter, who also teaches secretarial procedures at the college.

The cameras were manned by the Communication Arts students, who filmed several sessions of the kittens before the cameras.

Mrs. Soutter explained that the purpose behind the taping TV session was so that the girls could see themselves at first hand.

"I wanted them to be aware of what kinds of impressions look like when they talk, and how their personalities come across," said Mrs. Soutter.

"In the course, we trace and discuss the personalities from the gene and chromosome stages right to what role these and other factors play in our life today," she added. "Later we hope to have the TV cameras recording the girls as they work too."

The kitten hostesses have been integrated into one of the local night spots since the beginning of September.

Most of the girls admitted they were self-conscious the first night they began working as kittens, but it is simply a case of adjustment.

"Our main problem is the women that come in the club with their husbands. They have to like us. If they don't, it means lost customers," said one of the girls.

The girls tell their change in costume is for the better. "It is just right. If our costumes vary any more from the people probably wouldn't come," emphasized one hostess.

About half of the girls are married, five of whom attended them with the obvious question, "doesn't your husband mind?"

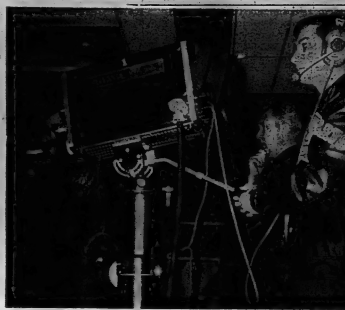
"My husband's first reaction was: 'You are going to work in just that!'". laughed one of the hostesses. "But once they see you work, they see the whole scene is just great".

Another girl explained the early rule that being a kitten job is simply that no kitten is to give out last names or telephone numbers of herself or another kitten.

"They are strict about that", she added.

All the hostesses agreed they enjoyed their work.

"The hours are good, the working atmosphere is pleasant, it is a good job," was the way one hostess put it.



Loyalist TV Students Taped Interviews

Survey of Chamber's Role Reveals Widely Varying Ideas, Suggestions

PICTON (Staff) — President of the Prince Edward County Chamber of Commerce, Gordon Lloyd, Wednesday night revealed the results of a county-wide survey conducted this summer, asking what the chamber should and should not do.

His report of the chamber's findings was subdivided into long term and short term projects suggested by the businessmen questioned.

Several of the programs mentioned have been annual events in Picton for a number of years. The survey endorsed most of them, such as the fishing derby, Loyalist Days and the Santa Claus parade. It was the general feeling however, that Loyalist Days needs a new format if it is to be successful next summer.

Suggestions coming in to the Chamber of Commerce included the development of a winter sports program featuring snowmobiling, a summer sports program headlined by a regatta and power boat races and for the stores new summer hours.

Some persons replying to the survey felt that the merchants should remain open Wednesday afternoons, Thursday nights and Friday nights, during the summer months.

Mr. Lloyd observed that this decision was up to the merchants. It was suggested, too, that Chamber of Commerce projects should be organized on a county - wide scale instead of limiting events to Picton.

"This idea has the support of the directors," said Mr. Loyd, "and we think Loyalist Days could be extended throughout Prince Edward."

Signs and more signs proved another suggestion resulting from the survey. The county abounds in roads with interesting names like Jericho, Christian Street and Royal Street. Several persons believed that signs marking these quaint sounding places would stir the tourist's imagination.

Speaking of long range terms the survey indicated that county residents would like to see a central county museum. There was also reference to the pollution problems faced in county waters and suggestions to back pollution control development.

Removal of unsightly buildings in Picton Harbor was another idea forwarded by the survey as was off - street parking in Picton.

An active program for the location and growth of industry in the county was still another suggestion.

IT was also believed that a change in the liquor laws was a desirable step for Prince Edward County.

Mr. Lloyd expressed his agreement with this proposed change and added that he knew the Ontario Chamber of Commerce was working on it.

Church Bells Tolled, Biafran War Mourned

By MARGARET HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Church bells tolled for Biafra. The bells of Picton United Church and the Anglican Church of St. Mary Magdalene were rung in intervals during a national day of mourning for the war-torn country.

Prince Edward County residents worshipped last night in a special service marking the day of mourning at Bethany Christian Reformed Church in Bloomfield.

Rev. Robert Jones, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Picton, one of the organizers of "Operation Manna", a fund drive for Biafran relief, reported excellent attendance at the service and a generous offering.

Rev. Jones and Rev. Peter Breedveld, of the Christian Reformed Church, are spearheading "Operation Manna".

About 30 persons volunteered last night to assist with door-to-door canvassing. An entire class of students also offered their help as did one young people's church group.

"Operation Manna" plans a country-wide canvass to raise funds to fly food into Biafra.

Clergymen officiating at last night's services included: Father Hamilton, St. Gregory's Church, Picton; Rev. Nathan Bowering, United Church, Bloomfield; Rev. Kent Gardner, Milford Anglican Church; Rev. Robert Jones; and Rev. Peter Breedveld.

Toy Exchange Aids Needy Children

By LINDA GELDART
Staff Reporter

For some children, Christmas is the unhappiest time of the year.

For them, the festive season holds no joy, only an overwhelming sense of being left out. But they don't have to be unhappy or left out — and you can be the one to color their Christmas bright and gay — all you have to do is care.

The way to put this caring to work is simply by making a contribution to the Christmas Exchange — a contribution that will help bring a smile and a gift to a needy child.

The Exchange, in its fourth year of operation, acts as a clearing house in matching the needs of families with those of the donors, eliminating duplication and the off-chance that someone could be missed.

Needy families are not the only consideration of the Exchange. The children in these families are important too.

That is why the Exchange working in conjunction with the Firefighters Association, is asking for donations of new or used toys.

Toys can be brought to either fire hall where they will be kept until they can be distributed by the Exchange.

At the present time there will be just enough toys for 50 children.

"But we need toys for 1,100 youngstgs in the city," said Reg Christopher, one of the city firefighters assisting the Exchange in gathering toys.

"It doesn't matter if people have no toys to give. We would also appreciate any money that individuals are willing to donate to help us buy enough toys to make sure that no child is left without a toy this Christmas," he added.

"It will be a very dim Christmas for many children if we don't get more toys and more financial support," commented Mr. Christopher.

Various projects in the city have been undertaken to assist the Exchange meet its quota in money and toys.

The Kiwanis Club has placed penny banks in most retail outlets, banks and other businesses in the city in an attempt to gather money to add to the toy fund.

The Quinte Twirlers will be sponsoring a square dance in mid-December, when each of the dancers will bring toys, which will then be given to the Exchange.

Another project underway in the city to assist the exchange is being completed by the Progressive Women's Association.

The Women collected 150 dolls for the Exchange which will be donated to the Exchange for distribution just before Christmas.

The PC women have taken on this project for the past six years. The women are holding their last party as an Association on Dec. 10 when members will bring more toys to be given to the Exchange.

Must Accept Court Ruling

TRENTON (Staff) — Trenton Public Utilities Commission agreed Thursday afternoon that it had no alternative but to accept a county court decision regarding the value of land the PUC appropriated for the town's new water reservoir.

Compensation to John Alyea, previous owner of the 12.8 acres, was set at $8,250 by the county court in a division handed down two weeks ago.

If addition the PUC was directed to pay court costs estimated at $2,000.

Although the court's award to Mr. Alyea is more than four times the PUC's original offer of $1,900 the 72-year-old apple grower is not satisfied and will take the case to the Ontario Court of Appeal; it will not come up there for at least three months.

An official notice from the Ontario Geographic Names board informed the PUC that, effective Nov. 14, 1969, the town's new water reservoir would be called Tremur Lake.

The first syllable (Tre) is the first three letters of the word Trenton and the last syllable is composed of the first three letters of the word Murray, for the township in which it is located.

Elections Have Similarities

TRENTON — (Staff) — Residents of Murray Township and the village of Brighton have something in common in Monday's municipal election.

In each municipality seven candidates are seeking four positions and in both cases five men are seeking three council seats.

The only difference between the two municipalities is that two men — councillor James Quinn and former reeve Stewart Maingrette — will vie for Deputy-Reeve in Murray while incumbent Terry McIntosh and Harold McCall will contest a Public Utilities Commission post in Brighton.

Incumbent Stanley Dowse, James Day, William Ellis, William Lawson and Clifford Wannamaker are the council hopefuls in Murray Township.

And incumbent James Simpson, Robert Bailey, William Dunk, Ralph Tippett and Mrs. Dorothy Brintnell — the first woman to seek a council position in Brighton's history — are the contestants for Brighton's three council seats.

Harry Lafferty has already been acclaimed reeve of Murray Township while councillors Norman Roberts and Lisle Pownall have been acclaimed reeve and deputy reeve of the Village of Brighton.

The council term in Murray is for three-years, while it is only one year in Brighton. However, the PUC position in Brighton carries a two-year term.

No advance poll will be held in either municipality and the electorate — 3,245 in Murray and approximately 1,800 in Brighton — will vote between the hours of 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. Monday.

And the Boom Goes On

AMELIASBURG (Staff) — The 60s are going out with a continuing boom in residential construction.

As a result of steady growth and a healthy economy, the township acre has changed in the last decade.

A tour is necessary to realize the extent of the current building activity. It is interesting to note various designs and materials used and the shapes and sizes preferred by the owners. A wide range has been covered in all respective areas.

At the beginning of November building permits issued in the township in the preceding 10 months represented a total of more than $700,000 in new construction — nearly doubled for any previous period. At that time the lasser pointed out to council late in the year applications were also in excess of other years.

The fact winter is almost here has not slowed momentum since it surged ahead in October.

Gifted Concert Soprano Will Perform Monday

Belleville's current community concert season continues Monday night with a recital by the attractive, young Montreal coloratura soprano, Louisa Budd.

Miss Budd comes to Belleville in the course of a career, drawing critical acclaim in North America. Among her first professional engagements were the Miami Symphony and Radio City Music Hall.

Her New York concert debut at the Guggenheim Museum, drawing the notice of critics for her performances in Hans Werner Henze's cantata Being Beauteous.

Other milestones in her career include the Metropolitan Opera Studio, the American National Opera Company on tour in 1967. During that season she scored with critics and audiences in the title role of Alban Berg's Lulu.

The current season, besides recitals, includes a Hartford Opera production of the Masked Ball.

White Elephant

The facilities at Camp Picton constitute no Alcatraz — but there is a parallel between the situation there and the peaceful Indian occupation of the grim former prison in San Francisco Bay.

Whereas a group of 120 Indians is claiming the island "by right of discovery," and under an 1868 treaty which they say gave the Sioux tribe rights to unused federal surplus land, Camp Picton currently is largely deserted and unused, with no sign of activity by the Plasecki Aircraft, Canada, Ltd.

The company, an offshoot of the Philadelphia-based operation, acquired part of Camp Picton some months ago, reportedly for the manufacture of helicopters. But thus far there has been no initiative in this direction and according to Chamber of Commerce president Jay Hepburn, Plasecki "has a tiny sign up there — that's all."

Yesterday's announcement, however, that Plasecki has come to an agreement with the Crown Assets Disposal corporation for the purchase of Camp Picton is a step in the right direction.

Picton's concern is understandable. With no activity thus far, and no further word of some new operation in the remaining unused portion of the camp — there has been talk of converting the buildings at Craig barracks into a hospital for the aged and mentally ill — the camp is little more than a white elephant.

This represents economic loss to Picton and Prince Edward at large. However, the Chamber of Commerce may take the matter a step further with a letter to the federal government requesting that Plasecki state its intentions regarding the future of its operation at Camp Picton.

Such a move would be appropriate and the replies of both Ottawa and the company will be awaited with interest. As for Alcatraz . . . well the Indians can have it as far as we are concerned. Like Camp Picton, it is better that the place be put to some use — but then California Governor Ronald Reagan may have other ideas!

Women and Politics

Perhaps the time is really coming when women will make their presence properly felt in the running of world affairs.

Some do already. Like "Concerned Parent," a Belleville woman who in a recent letter to the editor, asked if adults today are aware of their children's activities outside the home. Or are the young people simply going their own way, good or bad, knowing full well that their parents could not care less?

In the United States the wife of New York congressman Richard D. McCarthy is said to have been so angered by a television documentary about gas and germ warfare that Mr. McCarthy took up the issue himself and since has been one of the toughest campaigners against it.

The result? President Nixon has ordered destruction of stockpiles of germ warfare weapons.

Then again, Mrs. Claire Culhane of Montreal, who worked in a Canadian hospital in Vietnam, less than six miles from the alleged "Pinkville" massacre, says it was common knowledge that atrocities were being committed by United States forces.

Even allowing for the fact that Mrs. Culhane is president of the Quebec branch of the leftist-oriented Voice of Women which consistently has opposed the U.S. position in Vietnam, her firsthand knowledge of the situation there is quite apparent.

The world needs to listen to the voice of women at large, not just this one organization whose political leanings are not exactly pro-Western, for there are problems enough and areas of great need which require not only the voice of women but their practical intervention. By making their presence thus felt, the world could conceivably become a much better place in which to live.

No Competition

While it is a tribute to the gentlemen concerned, the filling of all municipal council seats in Sidney by acclamation could betray the kind of satisfaction with the affairs of the village that leads to complacency.

Two of six nominated for council failed to qualify, and three sitting members were returned along with newcomer Fred Brandt. However, their term runs out again a year from now — perhaps then there will be some further competition.

Bombs, Murder, Demonstrations...OK

Just So Long as You Don't Evade Those Taxes

By RICHARD JACKSON
OTTAWA — Face it — militancy pays.

It is the activist who gets the treaty.

If it is not a straight handout from the national treasury, it is an easy tolerance of public outrage.

In the federal handout department, the Company of Young Canadians; such self-purchased anarchists as Stanley Gray, leader of the march against McGill University; the truculent separatists of the CSC; the pot-hooked hippie communes — but only a few of the federal beneficiaries of discord, protest and revolution.

All benefit at the taxpayers' expense. Directly.

In the understanding eyes of federal Ottawa, money — yours — is the great mustard plaster to draw out the infection of any social sore.

Now, in the easy toleration department, the anti-American Vietnam extremists, the "student strikers, and just about anyone who lets an individual or group grips get out of hand, are free to "demonstrate" — breaking windows, blocking traffic, closing public buildings, disrupting and destroying both government and private property — safe in the knowledge that Ottawa will do little more than tak tak.

Again, all at the taxpayers' expense. Indirectly.

The government handout and government understanding and sympathy is extended generously to everyone but the taxpayer.

And with him, there can be no nonsense.

He must work and pay taxes — or else.

Who says no?

Finance Minister Benson not long ago, in remarking that almost any crime could be committed with less and less penalty and punishment.

Almost any, that is, except not paying your taxes.

He has said that you can commit murder and federal law will take an increasingly lenient view of it.

You can defraud a bank and be reasonably sure of being sentenced for little more than a misdemeanour.

In certain parts of the country you can bomb buildings and plead that you are only doing the political, not the criminal, thing.

But, the finance minister has said in blunt warning, if you do not pay your taxes, "we hammer you."

In all "civilized" societies — his word for it — tax evasion is the "one great unforgivable crime."

Student strikes? Of course. Post Office strikes? Naturally. A whole series of civil service strikes in government airports, air lines, hospitals, schools? No meaningful objection.

A tax strike?

Unthinkable.

"We would hammer you," says Mr. Benson.

But, now with the government's White Paper on Taxation, the bind on the taxpayer has tightened.

Now the finance minister has made it clear that it actually is the duty of taxpayers to work and provide the governments with whatever money it may think it needs.

On the other side of the tax coin, he has explained, it is the government's duty to use that money to provide for the public welfare.

It does not matter that, generally, the big silent majority of working taxpayers can provide for their own welfare.

And now, here comes the crunch.

The finance minister has said that anybody who does not like it, anyone who protests, must have an axe to grind.

In other words, the objecting taxpayers, individually and collectively, become members of dissent, protest and even public disorder.

They are activists, and they will be "hammered."

Activism clearly depends on who is active.

It is not for the taxpayer to reason why, it is for him to work and pay.

With commendable frankness, the finance minister is piling more of the load on the working middle class has said he is upping the tax increase to them because "that is where the money is."

This is the big majority group — the working middle class — says "Gentle Ben," which tends to sharpen those "scars" he accuses taxpayers of grinding.

Aw well, as perhaps the nation's most outstanding financial writer has observed, if he bleeds them white enough through income estate, gift and a dandy assortment of other taxes, he will drain them of their will to resist and destroy their quaint notion that they have any rights.

"Hammer" them hard enough and he will beat them down to the point where taxpayers will become the servants of an oligarchy of bureaucrats ruled by Big Brother.

Hospital Expenses Overseas

Brantford Expositor

When there are millions of Canadians and Americans taking vacations abroad each year it is to be expected that some of them fall ill and need hospitalization. Several such travellers have written to the New York Times about their misfortune and all agree that medical treatment in Europe is far less costly than it is at home, and in their experience quite as good.

One tourist told of having been hospitalized in a small town in Norway for a stomach hemorrhage. For 23 days' care in a modernly equipped hospital, 12 pints of blood and five nights of nurses round the clock the total charge was under $400. "The same service in New York," he wrote, "would cost about $3,000."

If the passacre happened as the accounts have suggested, it is an utterly shocking, vicious business. It is a powerful argument against this war; indeed, any war.

America—the Best and the Worst

Ottawa Journal

In what other country in the world could the proud and the sordid co - exist with such fearless openness as it has the past few days in the United States.

On the same front pages, in the same TV and radio news broadcasts, Americans have shared with the rest of the world the triumph of Apollo 12 and the shame of the charges against American soldiers of murdering helpless Vietnamese civilians.

An article written by Anthony Lewis making a powerful point about the brutalization of war. It expresses criticism of President Nixon's silence.

But Nixon has spoken eloquently through the action of the army, of which he is the Commander - in - Chief, in insisting court - martial proceedings. Men who claim to have been witness to, or even participants in, the horrible affair have come forward to speak with devastating candor. Would any other country allow itself to be thus spread on the rack to be lashed by friend and enemy?

But in exposing their own darkest corners and profound divisions over the war itself, the Americans have shown a majestic, troubled strength.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nov. 29, 1969 . . .

Rear-Admiral Richard Byrd made aviation history 46 years ago today—in 1929 —as the first man to fly over the South Pole. Three years earlier the United States Navy officer was acclaimed for the first flight over the North Pole. Admiral Byrd, foremost among the world's air explorers, was instrumental in charting some 2,000,000 square miles of the earth's surface previously unseen by man. At the age of 41 his commissioning as rear-admiral made him the youngest in that rank in the navy. He died in 1957.

1760—The French formally transferred Detroit to the British.

1945 — Yugoslavia abolished the monarchy and established itself as a republic.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1944—Canadian troops fought a mile inside Germany in Nijmegen salient and around Reichswald forest; America ns took Hurtgen and Jungershof after three days fighting; U.S. fighter planes wiped out 13-ship Japanese convoy; American Superfortresses bombed Tokyo for the third time in a week.

Trenton Election Scene

The Trentonian

There must be one satisfaction with Trenton's civic election this year. There is a choice for all offices. Nobody will be acclaimed. Our system of voting demands this contest, and does not function well when constant acclamations take place.

There seem to be clear indications of the need for voters to think well in view of the contest. 4 - 3 division of council in the past year. It is not merely that it would be desirable to elect a council which can work together. More is involved. Issues were debated which resulted in the constant division. What of the issues? What of the stand candidates will make on the issues? These are things which voters must interest themselves in.

Some Election Issues

Urban Renewal, Conflicts of Interest, Planning

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

City planning in general and urban renewal schemes in particular should be among the important issues ventilated in the municipal election campaign.

The voting public is entitled to know how each candidate feels on this issue and what can be done in this area.

Ubiased, business - like studies of the city's needs and resources should be completed by competent planners and considered by elected representatives who have no conflict of interest.

The finally accepted and official plans should be announced and implemented despite the objections of powerful, self - interested groups of commercial wholesalers or large motel owners resident in or out of our city.

A Real Estate Registry requiring the mayor, the aldermen, and all the department heads to list any real estate interests in their names and those of their families or business associates should be established. This would destroy the present malicious rumors which hint that elected representatives or city employees have ownership or interest in key properties.

The further establishment of a Business Associate Registry would make interesting reading.

For business, why would local officials of a large international industry have several past and present business association s with one mayor and yet request the resignation of another mayor from their part time employment, ostensibly because his being mayor constituted his being controversially involved in politics to the jeopardy of their company?

Official plans and urban renewal schemes have been announced with flourish and promptly died over the past 10 years. The archaic, inadequate made - over, and much needed present zoning by - laws are chlicrIminatory and unjust. They have blocked progress, created friction between several citizens and their neighbors, and have been exploited by powerful people to obstruct progress in this city.

Candidates for municipal office should take a stand on this issue and if elected, should perfrm accordingly. This would permit and encourage public and private capital to properly re develop our city's decrepit downtown core and periphery.

I would also like to suggest that when the civic year end is chosen, a contrasting award similar to Laugh in's "Flying Fickle, Finger of Fate" be given to any individual or group who has blocked progress in our city in the past year. This might be called the "Dirty Digit of Destiny" award. Does anyone have any nominations for this deserved recognition?

JOHN N. HARTT, M.D.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

November 29, 1949 . . .

"Secondary School Education" was the subject of a talk given by George E. Currie, principal of the Collegiate Institute, to members of the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon held at the Kiwanis Centre. Mr. Currie, in detail, outlined the history of education and how it had been adopted to our way of life. The speaker traced the growth from the ancient world to the present day.

The cessation of Daylight Saving in many municipalities throughout the province, together with the cloudy weather prevailing for the past few days has resulted in the Hydro load being critically increased, according to E. G. Current, manager of the East Central Region of the HEPC.

30 YEARS AGO

November 29, 1939.

Candidates seeking election to office as councillors and members of the board of education in Belleville will face the initial test of quality, when they appear tonight at the annual Wharf Street Club ham feed. This gathering has come to be traditional in the annuals to civic elections in Belleville and it is here the veteran members of council face a critical public to give accounting of their tenure of office, while in the case of those seeking first terms in the administration of the city's business, these often find themselves victims of unintentional election promises made after the heckling of that critics group from the famous Foster Ward, the breaker and maker of many municipal aspirations.

40 YEARS AGO

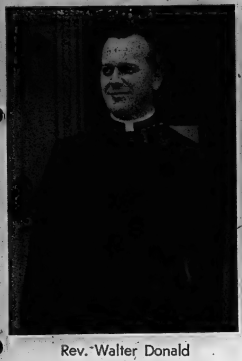
November 29, 1929.

Six building permits were issued by the city engineer during November totalling $48,075. The chief permit was for the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the amount named being $40,000.

50 YEARS AGO

November 29, 1919.

After two years of careful planning the big drive was launched today for the new and greater Board of Trade at the corner stone of a greater Belleville. The staff of workers selected to sign up new members met in the YMCA building for final instructions and then began their task of providing for a three-year financial budget to develop the program of expansion mapped out for a new and more energetic Board of Trade.



Rev. Walter Donald

Anglican Priest Youth Chaplain

VICTORIA (CP) — Rev. Walter Donald is a working priest whose flock is youth—except on Sundays, when he is at Christ Church Cathedral.

Father Donald, 32, an Anglican priest, is a salaried employee of radio station CFAX, where he holds a job as "youth co-ordinator."

The job involves him in many activities. He spent most of the summer, for example, helping city students operate their own tourist guide business.

But the image of Father Donald in a green plaid sports jacket, standing on a downtown street corner waving a placard to attract tourists for the student guide booth may be deceptive.

"Every clergyman who is responsible for a parish should be required to spend one full year in a secular job," Father Donald said in a recent interview.

And he knows secular jobs.

Father Donald, his wife Rosemary and sons Christopher, 8, and Jonathan, 5, came to Victoria in 1967 after he was graduated from the Anglican Theological College of B.C. in Vancouver, where he was also a panellist on a religious open-line radio program.

Before that he lived in Toronto where he had started work as an office boy at the age of 14, studying evenings to become an x-ray technician.

He joined the radio station here a month after he was ordained in 1963 and describes himself as a working priest with secular obligations.

"Through my work I've come to realize how far removed church concerns and the ministry role are from the working world," he said. "They keep in touch with domestic troubles, but off in a corner is the problem of the guy earning a buck.

"Parish priests should be able to get together, talk in terms of 'I spent my year selling magazines' and 'I spent my year driving trucks', and share their experiences.

"After all, one-third of the working man's day is spent on the job."

His radio station job has given him an opportunity to practise what he preaches, working with the coming generation on school and university reports broadcast by CFAX.

"Kids were directly involved as they phoned in their reports, which were taped and broadcast. The 'reporter of the week' got a transistor radio and enough pop to throw a party."

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"It's half-price! How can you say I don't NEED it?"

Candidates Wouldn't Commit Themselves on Action Centre

Abermanic candidates for city council last night backed away from any hard and fast commitment regarding support for the proposed Quinte Action Centre.

During a question and answer period at last night's candidate's meeting at Nicholson Catholic College, David Coates, co - chairman of the Quinte Action Centre, asked for a poll of candidate to a suggestion that council provide the money still needed to erect the proposed ice facility.

He suggested the centre would cost $200,000 less the $35,000 raised by the October walkathon.

But the meeting chairman declined to allow the candidates to be put on the spot.

And at the same time, three of the candidates cited why they thought such a poll would be unfair.

Ben Corke gave the Action Centre Committee "full marks" for what the committee had done, but said they were now going about it the wrong way.

Asking candidates to come up with a yes or no vote without full information was declared by Mr. Corke to be a form of blackmail and very unfair.

Andre Mercier said such a poll would leave candidate open to criticism, while Gerald Cunningham said he would have to go along with the two previous candidates.

"I have already declared my position with respect to the Action Centre," said Mr. Cunninghaih.

Another questioner wanted to know when the city's proposed plant for secondary treatment of sewage would be completed.

Mayor J. R. Scott replied that this was a project of the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

He said the OWRC was dependent on Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for funds, and money would not be available until the start of the next fiscal year in April.

The project, expected to cost between $5-$6 million was expected to get under way next year and would take two years to complete.

Mayor Scott said plans called for doubling the capacity of the present primary treatment plant, construction of a full secondary treatment plant.

Council Wants Reassessment Finished in Hurry

PICTON (Staff) — Prince Edward County council last night unanimously passed a resolution to petition Darcy McKeough, minister of municipal affairs, requesting him to instruct the local assessment director in charge of this county to complete its reassessment in 1970.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to Norris Whitney, MLA and Robert Craig, area assessment director.

Reassessment on a full value basis was begun in Prince Edward County in 1965 and at the end of this year 56 per cent of the county will have been reassessed.

County council's resolution for the petition seeking completion of the reassessment next year stated in part: "The council of the County of Prince Edward deems that assessment at full value is the only way a just and equitable assessment can be effected."

The resolution was moved by Gordon Lloyd, reeve of Hillier and seconded by Amelasburg Reeve George Cunningham.

Remarked Mr. Cunningham: "Mr. McKeough has promised us this, this is what we want and we expect him to live up to his word."

Area Farm Loans Hit $4 Million Mark

More than 250 farmers from the counties of Prince Edward and Hastings have been granted a total of $4 million in loans and long term credit by the Farm Credit Co-operation.

Since its inception as a Crown agency 10 years ago, the corporation has provided long term mortgage credit, assisting farmers in organizing viable farm businesses to promote development of a sound and competitive farming industry.

The Farm Credit Act since ti was passed in 1959, has been amended to embrace farm co-operations and loans to on-reserve farms—Indians — also giving the corporation authority to make loans to qualified syndicates of three or more farmers to purchase farm machinery and certain utility buildings for their co-operative use.

The Ontario branch has seven supervision districts located at Chatham, Woodstock, Guelph, Walkerton, Barrie, Ottawa and North Bay. Prince Edward and Hastings a r e in the Barrie office area.

In addition, there are 37 field areas under the jurisdiction of a resident credit advisor, who assists farmers in making application for loan and consulting service for the best uses of the money available.

There have been over 17,000 loans made to Ontario farmers over the past 10 years, to a total amount of $302 million.

The corporation has pioneered a computerized farm accounting system on a national scale — one of the largest farm accounting systems of this type in the world.

More than 3,000 farm corporation borrowers are now registered in this program, 800 of which are in Ontario.

Scott Stewart of Campbellford is the farm credit advisor for counties of Hastings and Prince Edward. Interviews for farm loans are held every Thursday in Campbellford.

Communication Breakdown Left Reeve Out in Cold

TRENTON (Staff) — It's likely one of Reeve-elect Harry Lafferty's first undertakings will establish better communications between Murray township Council and the county school board.

Wednesday night he was among a group of more than 20, including the press, who waited over a half an hour in chilling temperatures at the front entrance to Centennial school while the township clerk bunted for the caretaker with the key to get in.

Ratepayers summoned to attend the annual candidate's night meeting at 7.30 p.m. finally got into the heated building 40 minutes later.

Before the proceedings could get underway sports equipment had to be cleared from the auditorium and seats set up to accommodate the crowd of about 200.

In spite of the lack of preparation, however, the ratepayers remained orderly throughout while the seven candidates seeking election to four vacancies for terms of three years appealed for support.

The contest for deputy-reeve is between council incumbent James Quinn and Stewart Mainprize.

There are five candidates in the race for three council vacancies — James F. Day, Stanley Down (incumbent), William Ellis, W. T. Lawson and Cliff Wannamaker.

Reeve Lafferty was elected by acclamation.

Reeve Sees Murray, Trenton Future Merger

TRENTON (Staff) — When regional government takes over from the present system Reeve - elect Harry Lafferty is sure Murray Township and Trenton will be united.

Reporting Wednesday on his two - year term of office as deputy - reeve of Murray Township, Reeve Lafferty disclosed conversations he'd had with the authorities convinced him that Murray goes where Trenton goes because the government insists that the boundaries between the two municipalities have to be straightened up.

I feel that I have truly represented you as your alderman for the past two years. If you feel that I deserve your faith and trust for the coming next three years please endorse me as your Mayor by voting:

Reeve Benn Acclaimed

TWEED — Reeve Clair Benn was acclaimed in Flinton Town Hall, Friday night to another two - year term on Kaladar, Anglesea and Effingham Township Council.

About thirty - five people turned out to nominate six persons to the four - seat council. Kaladar Township constitutes the combined townships of Kaladar, Anglesea and Effingham.

Nominated for council were: Edgar Bosley of Northbrook, a long - time resident farmer looking for re-election; Claude McArthur, Kaladar, a former Pentecostal minister, now employed as foreman of a local wrecking yard at Kaladar; Arnold Miller, Cloyne, a native of the district; Lee Blackwell, Flinton, a local farmer, carpenter and former assessor who has served a term with council; Lela Casey of Flinton, owner of a lunch bar and grocery store who has served on council and as a committee member of the Moira River Conservation Authority; and Stewart Trepanier of Flinton, employed by the Northbrook Hotel who is making his first attempt for a seat on council.

Youths Charged After Series of Break-ins

Three Belleville juveniles have been charged with several incidents of breaking and entering, Belleville City Police reported.

Deputy Chief Harold Reid said the series of break-ins had occurred here the last couple of nights and added that more charges were pending.

Police did not release any more details on the arrests as the break and enters are still under investigation.

ORLIFF "BOILER" LLOYD
29 LESLEY DRIVE
BELLEVILLE - ONTARIO

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE

I would like to take this opportunity of thoroughly endorsing the candidature of one Richard "Dick" Ellis as our new Mayor for 1970-71-72. I have known this gentleman since childhood and I have always found him without question to possess the attributes necessary to qualify him as I believe one of the best public servants we have ever had or will ever have.

Your candidate is honest, trustworthy, dependable and aggressive. He has no aspirations for personal gain or a political future. Mr. Ellis has built his business over the past few years from a very small operation to that of considerable magnitude through fair dealing and hard work. Having served as an Alderman of our "Fair City" in years past I can assure you, the electors, that any one or a few members of your existing council that lays claim for our outstanding success in bringing industry and expanding our population in the past few years are uttering a complete incorrect statement.

By this I mean that each member of council including the Mayor has one vote each. So much of this deserved expansion can be attributed to many citizens who serve without credit on various commissions and delegations and of course the wonderful loans afforded by our Provincial Government.

Our candidate has over the years contributed more assistance to local sports than any individual ever.

Please consider the above facts and use your franchise wisely on Monday, Dec. 1st.

Thank you.

Yours Sincerely,
Orliff A. Lloyd.

With close to 300 VW dealers across Canada there has to be one close to you.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN HUNTER-Hunter - Sine

Emmanuel United Church, Foxboro was the scene of the recent wedding of Monica Ila Sine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Edison Sine, RR2, Frankford and John Colin Cameron Hunter, Kingston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Colin Hunter, Sarnia. Officiating at the ceremony was Rev. A. Parsons and organist was Mrs. Ferne Spencer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an Aline white velvet gown with lace panel insertion, a cathedral train and a tiara headpiece with a floor length veil. She carried a bouquet of gold en amber roses.

Attending the bride was her sister, Elaine Sine, wearing a floor length gold velvet Aline gown with bracelet length bell sleeves, a matching wedding band hair piece and matching shoes. She carried a white velvet muff dressed with bronze baby 'mums.

Bridesmaids were Marylouise Hoss and Pat Roy. They were dressed similarly to the maid of honor except in green velvet.

Best man was Don Smith and ushers were Gary McInroy, cousin of the bride, and Mike Sewel.

For the reception in the church hall at Foxboro the bride's mother greeted the guests wearing a beige Aline dress with brown accessories and a corsage of bronze baby 'mums.

For the wedding trip to points east the bride wore a multicolored coat dress with matching accessories and a corsage of bronze baby 'mums.

The couple will reside at 51 Stanley St., Kingston.

QUINTE WI

About 25 members and visitors of the Quinte WI met at the Hastings County Museum on Tuesday afternoon, where they enjoyed a tour arranged by the convener Mrs. Frank Bedell.

They were met by Mrs. Ralph Plumpton and Mr. J. Irwin who conducted the tour. Mrs. Plumpton told the history of the many and various items used many years ago dating back to the 18th and 19th century donated by many families in the county. She also told of the Cudahy collection of furniture, paintings, silver, donated by the estate of Mrs. Ann Doctor Salaman, some years ago.

Mr. Irwin concluded the tour with the historical display of the many lamps and candles used for lighting homes many years ago. Also a few many paintings, collection of stores from the County of Hastings.

Later Mrs. Clifford Reid, president, conducted a business period. Mrs. C. Woods read the many letters, thank you notes and financial report.

Two minutes' silence was observed for members who had passed away during the summer. Meffbers congratulated Mrs. J. Gerlach who celebrated her 87th birthday recently.

Mrs. Insley read the current events prepared by Mrs. L. Sharpe giving a detailed account of the many new industries, buildings and activities during the past year.

Lunch was served by Mrs. L. Sharpe, Mrs. F. Bedell, Mrs. A. Greatrix and Mrs. C. Wood.

YOUR ANTIQUES

KL-032 The Chatham Vacuum Cleaner consists of a very powerful though compact suction pump, a tank with dust trap on the interior, a good length of rubber hose and (not shown) a brass tube and a peculiar flattened nozzle. The work is done by a lever that a ten year old child can push and pull for an hour at a time. It weighs about 30 pounds and can be conveniently carried from room to room. Price - 25.00

(Picture Credit: Eaton's Archives)

First Vacuum Cleaner Was Manually Operated

The vacuum cleaner illustrated is an "armstrong" model, that is, manually - operated. At a slightly later date there was a broom model that was pumped up and down and hopped around the floor like a grasshopper. The actual cleaning ability of a manually-operated vacuum cleaner is a matter for speculation, but it did keep the operator in top physical shape. The illustration of the poisonous child and machine is from Eaton's 1909-10 catalogue.

In the same year that the "Chatham" vacuum cleaner was offered for sale (1909-1910) the "Invincible" flatiron-ar was also offered. It took "the dust and dirt right out of the fabric, from the floor beneath, from within the weave, from the very fibre itself, it eats dirt". It sold for $300 and weighed the best part of 20lbs. The weight was probably required to hold down the flooring when the vacuum was turned on full blast.

Where do collectors of old vacuum cleaners go for information? In the past a collector had to go through old newspaper files looking for ads. Major libraries have access to complete microfilm records of our Canadian newspapers going back to the 18th century, but it takes a lot of time and rereading to trace down one item.

Patent office records are available in many large libraries and can be checked for specific material if a patent date is known, but this is laborious.

Microfilm records are available for early Canadian mail order catalogues, probably the most prolific source of information on items collected today. Microfilm research involves reading through a viewer every page of every catalogue, starting from the beginning. Quite time-consuming piece of research.

Most collectors are interested in china, glass, silver, jewelery, watches, lamps, furniture or small items of bric-a-brac. For this group the University of Toronto Press, 63A St. George Street, Toronto, has just issued a Shopper's View of Canada's Past which in addition to the vacuum cleaners includes almost 200 pages culled from mail order catalogues from 1886 to 1930.

It abounds with original ads for Canadian glass, "Wave Crest Ware", opal glass (now undergoing a revival), Limoges china, Doulton, Minton, Wedgwood, and most English potters, Austrian and Bavarian china, Canadian silverplate and every other household necessity from tents to children's white Thibet carriage robes to ladies corsets.

At source material Shopper's View skims the cream of research material and puts together most of the information a collector would want on Canadiana. Together with Elizabeth Collard's Nineteenth Century Pottery and Porcelain in Canada, and Gerald Stevens' Canadian Glass 1825-1925 it provides a quick and ready answer to most collectors' problems.

The purist who still wants to do his own research can apply to the Canadian Library Association, 63 Spark Street, Ottawa, who will advise him of the closest microfilm repository.

The Experts Say

Canadians Becoming More Mobile

EDMONTON (CP) — By the end of this year one of every 20 Canadian families will have moved from one community to another, not to mention those who move within a local area. All these moves bring with them the problems of getting goods and furniture from one household to another.

"Canadians get more mobile every year," says D. R. Smalley, sales manager for MacCosham Van Lines Ltd. of Edmonton. "On an average, a family now moves about once every five years."

Each move involves an average of six rooms of furniture, and a moving company is usually called in.

Mr. Smalley agrees that moving is an expensive business, but says that if the furniture is fairly good it pays to move it, even from one end of the country to the other.

Household moves are classed as either local or long-distance, and expenses are calculated differently for the two types, he said.

Most moving companies will provide free estimates for any move. Usually the estimators are pretty accurate, Mr. Smalley said, and will be within 10 per cent of the final figure, but they do not give a guarantee.

Local moves are charged on an hourly basis, from the time a van leaves the depot until it returns.

Long-distance moves are based on a rate for each 100 pounds of the shipment and the distance carried.

Packing charges are figured separately.

"An average move from Edmonton to Toronto would cost about $1,200," said Mr. Smalley. "If the movers also did all the packing, it would cost about another $200."

If the moving company does the packing, it will also unpack and take responsibility for any breakage.

In local moves, such as across the city, most families usually move their own small items. In long-distance moves, a majority of people leave the packing to the movers, Mr. Smalley said.

"We arrange for insurance on the customer's goods, but the movers' liability is usually limited to 30 cents a pound for each article. Of course, special insurance can be arranged."

Movers usually advise that the householder or his representative should be present during packing, pickup and delivery. Some will make special arrangements if a representative cannot be there.

"One of the difficulties is that something might be missed by the movers, or that they might take something, such as a stove or fridge, that should have been left behind."

Rates vary, too, with the kind of service the client needs.

MacCosham's all arrange special services, even the moving of pets and frozen foods. Naturally these services add to the cost.

"We prefer not to get mixed up with house plants," Mr. Smalley said. "We have had a special case where we brought plants here to the office and staff watered them until a new house was ready."

About 70 per cent of all moves done by moving companies occur between June 15 and Sept. 15, Mr. Smalley said.

"The reason is probably tied in with the school year. Families don't like to take children out of school or cause unnecessary disruption of their studies if they can avoid it."

Moving companies are also usually busy around the end of the month. Moves in the middle of the month can be arranged with only a day or two's notice, but those at peak periods should be arranged a few weeks in advance.

"And cross-country moves should be arranged with as much notice as possible."

Moving companies don't attend to all the details of a move, but most of them provide a check list of things that householders often forget to do, such as notify telephone, water, gas, oil and electric companies about a change of address.

One last thing Mr. Smalley advises: "When you choose your mover, check his rating with the Better Business Bureau. Only a few moving companies have a bad name, but that softens and relaxes the fibres and therefore creases more wear and washing tend to pop out in the presence of heat.

Former Miss America Promoted

NEW YORK (AP) — Bess Myerson Grant, at 45 still trim and pretty and looking like the Miss America she was, smiled straight into the TV camera.

With a silken voice that sounds more as though it ought to be selling cosmetics than chasing chiselers, she declared, "We are going to put that coin out of business."

"That man," in the new vocabulary Mrs. Grant has learned as New York City's first consumer affairs commissioner, is anybody who cheats his customers.

Her short, well publicized tenure as consumer watchdog began last March. Since then the 1945 Miss America and longtime television personality has crusaded against "shamburgers" that are not all beef, veal "cutlets" that are really patties, poor telephone service, parking garages that damage cars and overcharge, frozen "fresh" fish, excessive hospital rates and salesmen peddling black and white televisions as color sets.

Her thrust to "put that man out of business" was dropped almost casually at the start of a recent hearing on furniture movers in which a procession of witnesses complained of overcharges, damaged furniture, drunken and fearly limnovable moving men and even outright theft.

Afterward, Mrs. Grant climbed into the cluttered back seat of a chauffeured sedan with a red flasher on the dashboard and headed uptown to address a meeting of elderly persons. She ate lunch in the car—a few chocolate cookies—and sorted through some of the day's correspondence.

She ended her day after midnight. Next morning she was at city hall for another hearing, this time as a witness on behalf of her proposed Consumer Protection Act.

The bill, given an excellent chance of passage by the city council, would empower the department to sue fraudulent or unfair merchants on behalf of everyone they cheated.

"Existing laws make fraud illegal, but they do not make it unpalatable," says Mrs. Grant. "That is what is different about this law. It will, for the first time, make sure that crime against the consumers does not pay."

She sometimes sends new department members to family court for a day to see for themselves the procession of broken and damaged families that result from the back-breaking debts the poor often incur unknowingly. Frequently the goods they buy wear out before the time-payment contracts are made good, she says.

Although some critics say Mrs. Grant has generated more press than action, she has succeeded in making the department and the services it offers to consumers highly visible.

Complaints about unfair business practices pour in at an increasing rate. In one recent week the department took 800 complaints and got some sort of action on 300.

Mrs. Grant admits she knew little about consumer affairs when Mayor John V. Lindsay appointed her.

"Quite honestly," she says, "I had only a surface knowledge or interest in the field."

Mrs. Grant is particularly exacting in policing food markets.

One of the department's boldest moves to date is a truth measure rule that will require city markets to show the price per ounce, pound, quart or other appropriate measure, in addition to the total price, for such items as canned goods, bottled beverages and soap powder.

The rule, which goes into effect shortly, has drawn howls from the industry.

UCW Meeting

ELDORADO UCW

On Thursday, Nov. 6 the afternoon unit of the Eldorado UCW met at the church. The theme for the program was "Has Your World Grown?"

Opening the meeting with a poem was the leader Mrs. Cyril Shaw. She continued by reading a selection entitled "Mrs. Tullivers Travels", pertaining to the theme.

The two units will now be joined alternating the meetings in afternoons and evenings.

The annual meeting will be held Nov. 26 at the church at 8 p.m. and all reports are to be ready to be handed in that evening. The special supply project from the Presbyterial is clothing for a five year old.

Mrs. Cecil Boyle was in charge of the worship service, "Prayers for the People of China." She concluded the service with a prayer for the Christian Church in China.

Mrs. Harley Blackburn was in charge of the program which was on China and Canada under the headings, "Problems of Understanding", "Why the Urgency?" and "Canada's Unique Position".

The meeting closed with benediction and then lunch was served.

Family Counselling

By DORIS CLARK

"If the patient comes with a headache, you can give her a pill, but then she comes back with another pain". Thus a Hamilton psychiatrist justifies training doctors in family counselling. He suggests that many minor complaints are caused by family tensions.

The more fact that all members of the family come together in the doctor's office to talk about their problems may break down one of the barriers to understanding. Without it, a sore spot (emotional or physical) festers for lack of airing (or caring).

Nobody agrees more than this social worker. I'm all for family counselling. I'm not talking about sessions with a father or with a mother, but sessions with mother, father and children present.

In such a setting, a counsellor (be it social worker, medical man, minister) can often draw out feelings and reveal one member to another's understanding, far more efficiently than we can manage in a couple of months of single-person interviews.

What's more, we may start a habit of family conferencing. Once a family gets the hang of it and doesn't act as blessed self-conscious as it is one another, they begin enjoying gab sessions, and carry them on at home.

Some of them do, anyway.

Dear Doris: Your column is so interesting that sometimes I even read it before supper. Was reading Eldest of Eight, the congratulation letter to her parents; and then and only then did I realize what I had, that some other attractive women didn't.

I have good children all, though I went through a lot to raise them up. Now I'm not sorry that I let temptation pass me by and stuck to my children.

So all you attractive women here are proud of yourselves, because every man falls for you: Think twice! A good mother is a very good-and rare piece of furniture. Love and understanding are better than sex. — Mother.

Dear Mother: I'm glad the Eldest of Eight gave you a new thought about how children see their parents.

Sometimes it takes a jolt for us to realize what we have; and I can only guess at what your personal temptation must have been.

* * *

Confidential to Always Read You: Since your letter appeared in my column Oct. 4, a number of readers have written to tell me of old readers which they will loan or sell. I also have two lovely old poems "Grandma's Angel", and "Naughty Spot", which as a family reader went to the trouble of copying out for you.

Please write again giving me your name and address, and I'll be glad to pass them on to you.

Second Glance

By Viva Richmond Graham

HOME - ON - WHEELS

"Our dream is turning into reality," — Rolfe and Margaret Blackburn.

* * *

This weekend a well-known couple in our midst, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Blackburn, 75 Victoria Avenue, are leaving Belleville for a year of North American travel by trailer.

"Our decision to so travel is based on two years of serious consideration and study, on the part of my wife and myself, as an excellent way to bridge retirement with an active life," says Mr. Blackburn who recently retired as manager from the Belleville branch of The Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

"In fact we tested the trailer travelling way of life on a trip to the west coast a few months ago and found it filled all our expectations. We were pleasantly surprised and impressed with the superior quality of trailer parks, with every convenience for the traveller's comfort provided, throughout the United States and Canada.

Near Banff, for instance there is a magnificent, scenic trailer park. We found spacious, well - run trailer parks and good facilities in Prairie Provinces, often only a mile or so from the highway. Of course, in the United States such trailer parks are everywhere also, and wherever you stop you find yourself amongst fellow - travellers with whom you often have much in common. Often you meet friends from former trailer - park meetings.

"Nor is there ever a lack of places to go, with others, if so desired. Caravan trips to the National Mardi Gras in New Orleans, or the Indianapolis car races such as we attended, with reserved seats waiting for us. Trips planned to Mexico, Yucatan or to various states and Canada. There are even trips planned across the sea, to Australia, if you can afford to go!

"That's what I enjoy," says Mrs. Blackburn enthusiastically. "The friendly people one meets everywhere. Meeting people from just everywhere, many of whom become valued friends.

"Such a life is lovely for a woman, too, for a trailer home by necessity is the essence of compactness as well as luxury and housework so minimized as to be real fun, allowing so much time to enter into the life where one is, and watch the scenery while travelling. And all the women, many quite old, look simply wonderful, so relaxed, yet are most active, healthy and energetic. This life is another world, really."

The late Wally Byam, founder of the Airstream trailer, in which the Blackbourns will travel, wrote the following, which we should like to quote in part, as we wish our Belleville travellers, happy trailer traveling that will:

"Place the great wide world at your doorstep for you who yearn to travel with all the comforts of home: open a whole world of new experiences . . . a new dimension in enjoyment where travel adventure and good fellowship are your constant companions; Play some part in promoting international goodwill and understanding among the peoples of the world through person - to - person contact; strive ecstasy to stir the venturesome spirit that moves you to follow a rainbow to its end . . . and thus make your travel dreams come true."

Mother Discovers Use of Foghorn

SASKATOON (CP) — Citizens in a quiet residential section of this prairie city occasionally are startled to hear the blast of a ship's foghorn.

No, it's not a lost Nova Scotia fishing schooner. It's just that one mother got tired of screaming like a fishwife for her brood at mealtimes.

On a trip to the Atlantic coast last summer, the family was introduced to these portable little lifesavers.

Now a foghorn sounds like a monster with laryngitis, and mother's mind began quietly ticking over. She remembered those daily screamings for the young to come to meals. She thought of the hue who sleeps through two alarm clocks.

So mother went out and bought a foghorn for herself.

The loud, rude blast soon became an embarrassment to the kids. If the family see it poking out the front door they shout: "Okay! I'm coming. I'm coming. Don't blow it!"

And the son who couldn't get up in the morning was only summoned with it twice. Now he gets up with ease.

For your consideration, I offer you "The Electors" of Belleville my services as your Mayor.
Thank you and with all good wishes for the "Holiday Season" for you and yours.

QUESTION: Would you please repeat your German Moong that keep and travel"?
— Gloria L.

ANSWER: Gladly.

GERMAN MOONS (72 crescent cookies that keep and travel)

1 cup butter
1 cup icing sugar — fresh unsifted
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tsp. salt
1¾ cups ground unblanched (skin on) almonds, lightly packed

Cream butter and icing sugar together thoroughly. Work in the flour, salt and almonds until blended. Now comes the part where you must sit down and patiently shape these by hand. Roll a piece of dough (about 1 tbsp.) between palms until you form a smooth roll with tapered ends. Form into crescent and place on unbuttered cookie sheet. Bake in 275 oven and while this is time-consuming you are rewarded if you make them uniformly neat and identical. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 15-18 min., turning pans around two or three times. Do not let them brown — they should be barely touched with gold when done. If desired dredge with icing sugar when cold.

QUESTION: Could you give us that Banana Bread that travels again? — Rose

ANSWER: It is a pleasure.

BANANA BREAD
(Will travel)
An excellent homemade Christmas gift

1 cup mashed bananas (3 medium)
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2¼ tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. salt
½ cup chopped pecans or walnuts
1/3 cup shortening
2/3 cup sugar
2 eggs
¼ cup candied cherries, whole
½ cup raisins
½ cup citron peel

Mash bananas with a fork and measure. Sift together flour, baking powder, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt. Add nuts and set aside. Cream shortening, add sugar, eggs and cream well with electric or rotary beater. Add dry ingredients alternately with mashed bananas, stirring only enough to blend. Stir in all fruits. Turn into medium-sized loaf pan lined with greased foil (or thick wax paper). Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 60 to 70 min. with water pan in oven during entire baking period. Cool on cake rack. Put home use, wrap this when cool, in foil, and store at least 24 hours before cutting. For shipping wrap snugly and protect with shredded cellophane or crumpled tissue in box. Slices perfectly and is beautiful. Note: An excellent way to use up small amounts of left over Christmas cake fruits.

Ann Landers

Youthful Picture Creates Family Rift

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Maybe this won't seem like a big problem to you, but it bothers me a lot. I'd like to know what you think I ought to do.

ANN LANDERS

The cause of the trouble is a huge picture of my husband. It is in color, elaborately framed, taken about 25 years ago. Tony was 40 pounds lighter then, he had hair, didn't wear glasses and his teeth were his own. The photographer was a genius. I should add. He made Tony look like Clark Gable.

I removed the picture from the mantel when people began to ask who it was. That was 15 years ago. Tony put it back. I've taken that picture down at least ten times and he always puts it back. In the last two years we've had some big arguments over it.

To my way of thinking, Tony is a conceited jackass. What do you think should be done about the picture? — TONY'S WIFE.

* * *

DEAR WIFE: Leave the picture on the mantel. It provides you with something harmless to argue about and apparently you need a subject. This one is as good as any and better than most.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to say a word to the swinger who signed herself "Lady Who's Been Around." She has a problem with semantics. A female who's "been around" is no lady, and if she's single time somebody blew the whistle on those alley cats.

As for the sensational lovers with whom she has "been around" — they are no bargains either. You advised another ding-a-ling who was likewise enthralled with a sexy no-good, "What else does he have to offer? You have to get out bed sometime.

If you can get across to the hedonists and bedroom athletes that the above and quinine-of-sex, like anything else, renders it meaningless, ordinary, and often inoperative, you'll have performed a great service. — READER WITH A MESSAGE.

* * *

DEAR READER: Your message came through loud and clear. Sex as a contact sport leaves much to be desired. Better they should go in for touch football, tennis or even wrestling (between members of the same sex, of course), is preferable.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Regarding "Dumb Ralph" who complained about the nutty woman in his office constantly fooling with the air-conditioner — one turning it off, the other turning it on — you suggested that the lousy change-of-life broads see a doctor.

We have the same kind of nuts in our office — only they aren't broads, they are a couple of old farts. So what's their problem? Change of life, too?

Please come up with a solution. The women in our office are tired of being alternately suffocated and frozen. — HEALTHY BUT HARRIED.

* * *

DEAR H. BUT H.: It's not the menopause but the metabolism that produces perspiration in some men and chilblains in others. These fellows ought to dress in accordance with their metabolic requirements and not make life uncomfortable for their co-workers.

By MARY BETSON

Thousands of small children are poisoned each year by everything from aspirin to mothballs. Three-year-olds, however, seem to be poisoned by such items as soap, bleaches and household cleaners more often than by any other type of poison.

Anticipate the potential dangers of common household products and see that they are not accessible to a child during his vulnerable years.

Move household cleaners from storage spots under the sink to higher shelves before your baby reaches the toddler stage. At around 2 or 3, a child is strong enough to pull open a cabinet or drawer, unscrew bottle caps or open packages and consume harmful items.

Progress tells its story best at night.

The lights of a city at night spell out the wonders of electricity. All night, all day, it is there to serve you in countless ways. Just think of the ways in which you use electricity and what it means to you and your community.

The demands for electricity are increasing at an unprecedented rate for use in the home, in industry and on the farm. Uses today which could hardly be imagined just a few years ago. Your Hydro is building for the future . . . applying the latest advances of science and technology to develop new power plants, extend distribution facilities and find new and better ways of serving you.

Your Hydro thinks about the cost, too. Despite the spiralling cost of just about every other commodity, electricity is the biggest bargain in the family budget.

Index Rises

The consumer price index rose two-tenths of a point to 126.8 in October from 126.6 in September, mainly because of higher interest rates, property taxes and rents, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports. The index, based on 1961 consumer prices equalling 100, was 121.4 in October last year. (CP Newsmap)

Canadian Stock Prices Climb Sharply

By NICK FERRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian stock markets climbed sharply this week and recorded slightly more than half their previous week's losses.

Observers said markets continued to react to the federal government's white paper on tax reforms, tabled in Parliament about three weeks ago.

Markets started the week slightly lower, but began rising Tuesday and continued to roll ahead to the end of the week.

Markets initially responded to the proposed reforms by rushing their best weekly advances of the year.

But the following week, profit taking cut the gains by more than half.

The next few months until valuation day will also be the last period of tax free gains.

Finance Minister Benson said this week he thought markets over-reacted to the white paper proposals "after some heavy discounting prior to the release of the white paper."

He noted that reaction to the white paper has so far concentrated on specific issues of the paper rather than over-all principles which appeared to be generally accepted.

He said the average shareholder might not be able to assess the effects of the proposals on the mining industry. Metal stocks have been steady since the white paper's release.

But he said the new depletion allowances based on exploration and development coupled with fast writeoffs would continue to act as an adequate incentive for new ventures.

Canada's three main nickel producers announced increases of about 25 per cent in their prices this week.

International Nickel, the world's largest producer, was the first, raising its domestic price to $1.38 a pound Monday.

Statistically, on the Toronto Stock Exchange this week, industrials rose 3.00 to 197.69, base metals 1.31 to 177.81 and western oils 1.09 to 201.38. Golds slipped 1.34 to 158.97. Volume was 11,938,000 shares compared with 13,329,000 last week. Losers outnumbered gains 433 to 231, with 231 issues unchanged.

On the Montreal and Canadian exchanges, the composite index was up 1.74 to 189.88. Combined volume was 3,858,000 shares compared with 6,008,000 last week. Declines outnumbered advances 188 to 141 with 99 issues unchanged.

Council of Churches Urges Canada End Involvement in War

MONTREAL (CP) — Saying that "as the years go by there is nothing but greater moral and physical devastation," the Canadian Council of Churches Friday adopted a resolution calling on Canada to end its involvement in the Vietnam war.

"We regret the continuing export to the United States of Canadian-made products which become part of the American war program," says a resolution to be sent to the government in a telegram.

"This action by Canada indicates this nation's co-operation in U.S. military policies and gives tacit moral support to them. We call on our government to end such involvement."

The council, ending its week-long triennial conference Friday, also declared its unity with "our U.S. counterpart, the National Council of Churches, in its call for an immediate end to American military activities in Vietnam."

In a separate resolution about the Song My, Vietnam, civilian massacres, the council says it feels "the moral standing, not only of the U.S., but of all Western and especially North American civilization is called in question by such activities as have been at long last reported."

Catholics Pledge Aid To Indians

OTTAWA (CP) — The Roman Catholic bishops of Canada Friday pledged themselves to co-operate with the Indian people in their efforts to obtain fair treatment.

The bishops' resolution dealing with Indians was released at a news conference marking the end of their semi-annual meeting here this week.

The bishops said they insist that the Canadian government negotiate an equitable settlement of treaty, land claims and other rights with the Indians before enacting new legislation.

They asked the government to provide official Indian organizations with necessary finances to do research and carry out a "meaningful dialogue."

The bishops made their statement in view of the government's statement on Indian policy last June. They said the statement "lends itself to various interpretations and creates a state of disillusionment and unrest among the Indian people."

The bishops also joined with the Canadian Council of Churches in calling upon the Canadian government to work to bring about a peaceful settlement of the Nigerian conflict.

They asked the government to protest again vigorously to all governments providing or permitting the sale or transfer of any arms to either side in the conflict.

Thugs Rob London Man

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Two armed thugs pistol-whipped a man early Friday and robbed him of almost $4,500 after terrorizing his wife and three children for three hours.

Police said James Tofflemire, 40, a part-time carnival operator, was met by thieves as he came home about 1:30 a.m. Two men, both armed and one wearing a black silk mask, tied up the family with a bed sheet and ripped off the telephone.

The two hit him with one of the guns and took the money from him. Police said he requires 58 stitches to close the wounds in his head.

The family freed themselves from the bed sheet and called police.

Principles Won't Be Altered

Animal Pound Bill Changes Forecast

TORONTO (CP) — Agriculture Minister William Stewart told the legislature Friday that Ontario government will probably make some changes in its controversial animal research legislation.

The minister did not say what changes would be made, only that "there are some things we can do and we intend to do them." He said basic principles of the bill would not be changed.

The bill, requiring operators of animal pounds to offer dogs and cats for research if efforts to find their owners fail and the animals cannot be sold, has come under heavy fire from the Ontario Humane Society.

President Tom Hughes of the society said Thursday the group is not opposed to using animals for research, but he claimed the government was over-estimating the number needed.

The society has expressed disapproval of the use of shelters as a source for animals to be used in experiments in which the animal would live after the scientific test.

Mr. Stewart said Friday recommendations from the society are not acceptable because they would destroy the intent of the bill.

The society suggested its inspectors be allowed access to research facilities and use of animals for research should be subject to enquiry and control by a special committee.

Offer to Keep Fees Unchanged Is Rejected

KITCHENER (CP) — Health Minister Thomas Wells has shelved a proposal by the Kitchener-Waterloo Academy of Medicine that could have saved the government $30,000,000, the academy's president said Friday.

Under the plan, presented informally to Mr. Wells last month, academy members would agree not to increase their fees until 1972 and then only in direct relationship to the cost of living indices." Dr. Glen Kinsman said.

In exchange for the doctors' restraint, the government was to pay 100 per cent of OHSIP fees, instead of the 90 per cent now paid, lower OHSIP premiums and increase the level of taxable income which qualifies a person for premium subsidies.

Robarts Says Inflation Federal Affair

TORONTO (CP) — Federal and provincial governments may "in due course" make a co-ordinated attack on inflation if attempts to get voluntary price and wage restraints fail, Premier John Robarts said Friday.

However, the federal government now "doesn't need advice from premiers" on investigations to be made by its prices and wages commission and it "would not be a proper function" for a premier to suggest areas of inquiry, he told the legislature.

'Boat' Sinks Good Ship Mo-Hawk

By MAURICE SWITZER
Sports Editor

Harold "Boat" Hurley made Belleville Mo-Hawks' good thing come to an end.

It wasn't so much the veteran world and senior hockey goaltender, perhaps, as it was the unbeatable luck that surrounded his four-by-six-foot diocese that the Mo-Hawks failed to trespass in their 3-0 loss, to Oakville, their first setback in eight OHA Senior A games.

Mo-Hawk playing - coach Davey Jones was one person among the nearly 1,500 at the Memorial Arena who wasn't impressed with the tightly-played tilt.

"We didn't come to play", Jones complained, after one of his more scathing dressing-room tongue-lashings. "This should have been an easy game, and that's the way everybody played — like it was an easy game".

Jones' opinion notwithstanding, there wasn't much the Mo-Hawks could do to deat Hurley's armour.

At least half a dozen Mo-Hawk shots rattled off goal-posts. Hurley was unbeatable on the 33 Belleville shots that did get through to him.

Steve Rexe handled 32 drives from the ever-skating Oaks, and was only beaten by Jim "Obie" O'Brien's 18th and 19th goals, and assisted by linemate Pete Bettiol.

O'Brien's first came after Rexe had made a fine stop on an uncovered Bettiol, but the rebound came out to O'Brien, and the senior loop's top goal-scorer made no mistake.

Rexe couldn't be faulted for O'Brien's second tally — it came into an empty Belleville net as the Mo-Hawks went for an extra attacker in the game's final minute.

Bettiol's third-period tally was the back-breaker, coming after Rexe lost his stick in a faulty clearing attempt, and found himself confronted by the veteran winger at point-blank range.

"We had plenty of chances," was coach Jones' assessment but a chance against Hurley doesn't seem to be similar to one against a mortal goal-tender.

A first-period shot along the ice by "Weiner" Brown, for example, hit the handle of Hurley's stick as he crouched in an attempt to see the screened drive.

Wayne McConnell worked himself into the clear past the six-minute mark of the middle frame only to see his 15-footer clank off the goal post.

Rookie Ray Summers, getting more ice time than usual also struck metal with a low 25-footer at a key juncture later in the second period.

George Godzen, Al Ferguson and Ray Johnston couldn't complain about some of their opportunities, either.

Godzen had three seconds remaining in his first penalty of the season, an interference minor, when O'Brien scored his first goal.

The shortage of penalties also had Jones fuming.

"I don't care what anybody says — when we're taking penalties at home we're playing a tough game and nobody will beat us. But tonight we take two lousy penalties and look what happens!"

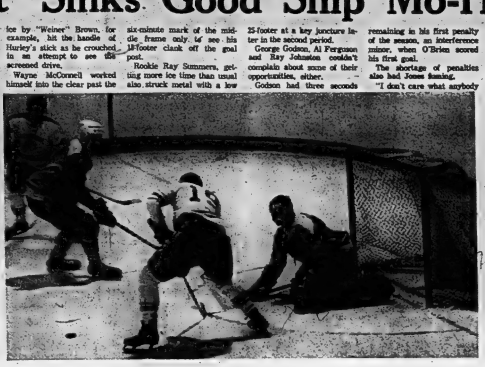
The Mo-Hawks couldn't afford the luxury of any spares last night. Bill Armour showed up at the game sporting a thumb bandage big enough to choke a horse.

An industrial accident at his Peterborough factory job will put the lefty playmaker on the sidelines for as long as three weeks.

Jones took Armour's centre spot between Ray Johnston and Wayne McConnell, while Gary Dalliday centred Ray Summers and Ralph Plane.

The Mo-Hawks will try to salvage some weekend pride-glory tomorrow when they bus into Orillia for a 7 p.m. game.

They couldn't manage a win against the Terriers all-last winter, and lost their first encounter with Orillia this season by a 5-2 margin on home ice.



Can't Beat 'Boat'

Goalie Harold "Boat" Hurley was the principal reason Oakville Oaks snapped Belleville Mo-Hawks' seven-game OHA Senior A unbeaten string at seven games last night. Hurley recorded a shutout as the Oaks blanked Belleville 3-0. Here Hurley beats Al Ferguson on his doorstep.

Ellis Juniors Need Win for Fifth

Belleville Ellis Juniors of the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League have to start winning soon if they expect to make the playoffs.

Peterborough Don Byes venture into the Memorial Arena Sunday, Nov. 30 for a 7:30 p.m. game against the Ellis juniors.

A win for Belleville would give them six points, moving them into fifth place one point ahead of Trenton Golden Hawks who lost to Cobourg last night 5-4.

Teddy Waite is expected to be back in the line-up for the locals after recuperating from a bruised ankle received in a house game against Trenton two weeks ago.

John McConnell and Terry Meagher the locals leading scorers are three points behind league leader Colin Lounsbury of Kingston. McConnell has seven goals and 13 assists while Meagher has six goals and 13 assists.

This game was moved up from a later date and a high school won't be hosted, leaving next Friday's home game against the Trenton Golden Hawks as Pony night.

Slumping Golden Hawks Give Cobourg Boost

Trenton Golden Hawks continued to skate in a slump as Cobourg Cougars edged the fifth - place club 5-4 in an Eastern Ontario Junior B hockey game played last night at Trenton's Community Gardens.

"It was a good game," said Trenton coach Red Gravelle. "The boys looked better than they have for a long time, but we still have a lot of work to do with them."

Mike Hall had two goals for the Golden Hawks while Gary Lisle and Chris Long had one goal each.

Cobourg goal - getters were Randy McGregor with two goals and John Gubbridge, Allan Fenton and Gary Hart scoring single goals.

There were 40 minutes in penalties handed out with Trenton being allotted 17 minutes.

Trenton Golden Hawks next skate against Belleville's Ellis Juniors in the Memorial Arena Friday, Dec. 5, 8.30 p.m. in a battle for fifth position.

Get Off My Back

Quinte centre Bill Skinner goes up to block BCI's Jim Wright's lay-up shot in Bay of Quinte High School Senior Basketball action at BCI yesterday. BCI's Brant Gallupe (13), Terry Clarke (21) and Quinte's Craig Parry (21) await a rebound. BCI won the game 75-48.

BCI Starts With Two for Three

BCI had an above average day during Bay of Quinte High School Basketball action yesterday.

The BCI seniors defeated Quinte Seniors 75-48 in a game that saw one team . . . BCI . . . having complete ball control.

Jim Wright had 25 points for BCI while team-mate Mike Scarlett was right behind with 24 points.

Steve Ogden was top scorer for Quinte with 24 points.

With the season just under way anything could happen but BCI looks like the team to beat.

Mike Scarlett played an outstanding game for BCI defensively with an excellent display of checking and batting.

In the Bantam division BCI downed Quinte 67-30.

Watson was the big gun for BCI dropping 20 points off the backboard. Lebaron had 12 points for the winners.

Nickel and Boardman scored eight points each for Quinte.

However, Quinte weren't going to be denied a piece of the action as their juniors were victorious, over BCI juniors 76-37.

Darwin Easter had 15 points while Stan Brooks had 12 for Quinte.

The BCI scoring was spread evenly with Dave Simonds scoring seven points and Wayne Morton scoring six.

"It's going to be a tight league this year, said Quinte junior coach Rick Locke. "Moira and Centennial look like the big guns this year."

Ottawa Has Final Practice, Saskies' Day Off

MONTREAL (CP)—While their Prairie opponents took the day off, Ottawa Rough Riders hit the practice field today for a final tune-up for Sunday's Grey Cup game.

Since Friday coach Frank Clair has kept Riders on a busy schedule. When they arrived here Thursday evening, they had the night off to see the town.

But since then Riders have had two meetings daily, a vigorous practice session and an 11:30 p.m. curfew.

Clair was his usual cautious self Friday when he declined an invitation to make a prediction on the outcome of Ottawa's battle with Saskatchewan Roughriders.

"I don't believe in that," he said.

"But I know our defence is going to have a tough time handling (fullback) George Reed."

Clair feels Reed's running was the big factor in Ottawa's loss to Saskatchewan in the regular schedule.

"And I'm sure glad we're not playing this game at Taylor Field," he said. "I don't think we've won a game at their home park in seven years. And I guess they haven't beaten us at home either in that time."

Clair said he figured the packed house Sunday at the Autostade wouldn't be as noisy as a home crowd would be for either team.

For that reason, the quarterbacks would be able to call more audibles at the line of scrimmage and be heard.

Clair said Ottawa players blew several audibles in their first game against Toronto Argonauts in the Eastern Conference finals at Toronto because crowd noise drowned out quarterback Russ Jackson's calls.

The Ottawa coach also revealed he is a serious candidate for the general manager's job at Ottawa next year. Red O'Quinn, who now holds the job, is expected to move over to the same position with Montreal Alouettes.

This is Clair's 16th season of coaching Riders. In that time Riders never finished out of the playoffs.

"After all that time, I think I deserve a promotion," Clair said.

He said he hasn't yet put in a pitch for the job with Ottawa owner David Loeb. He wanted first to make sure that O'Quinn was leaving.

"If he does, I'll have a talk with Dave next week," Clair said.

A bitch could be that Loeb wants to be his own general manager. Sources close to the club say this is so.

Clair still has two years to go on his present coaching contract. While he says he would hate to see a new man come in and take the general manager's job, there is no question about his leaving in a tiff.

"I'll honor my contract," he said.

Jackson Clutches Trophy

Jackson Wins Outstanding Player, Top Canadian in Retiring Year

MONTREAL (CP)—Russ Jackson, with one game left in his 12-year career as quarterback of Ottawa Rough Riders, choked with emotion Friday when he was named Canada's outstanding football player and top Canadian in the Canadian Football League.

The man whose No. 12 sweater will be retired after Sunday's Grey Cup encounter between his team and the Saskatchewan Roughriders, had been on hand to take as he said "... 12 years. . . .

"That's the end. That's all I can say."

His words were muffled as an estimated 500 persons rose in a standing ovation.

Jackson picked off two of the Schenley football awards. The third went to John LaGrone, defensive tackle of Edmonton Eskimos, named lineman of the year.

Jackson had been more voluble when it was announced that he had been named outstanding Canadian.

Receiving the award as culmination of many honors heaped upon him during Grey Cup week, he said:

"There is not much left that I can say. I was in this position first in 1959 and it was a big thrill. Now here is my last fling."

He waved at Jim Young of the B.C. Lions, the power-running halfback he beat out for the Canadian honors and said:

"Jimmy and I came from the same public school and the same high school in Hamilton.

"This is my last year. He's got lots of years left and I'm sure he will be standing up here and accepting this award."

When he was announced as the outstanding player in the country, Jackson choked up.

After the presentation ceremonies he said:

"It was nice to win all those things, but my No. 1 aim is to win the Grey Cup. It will take me all night to come down from winning these two awards."

Jackson, 33, is the only Canadian ever named Canada's outstanding player and it was a record-equalling performance.

Only Jackie Parker, former great backfielder with Edmonton and Toronto Argonauts and this season interim head coach of the Lions, has ever taken the awards three times.

Jackson won in 1963 and 1966. Parker, the outstanding quarterback and halfback from Mississippi when Edmonton swept to three Grey Cups in the mid-1950s, won in 1957, 1958 and 1960.

In the category of top Canadian, it was a record fourth victory for Jackson, whose previous victories came in 1959, 1963 and 1966. The only other multiple winners were Gerry James of Winnipeg Blue Bombers in 1954 and 1957 and Normie Kwong, Edmonton fullback in 1955 and 1956, who was elected to the football Hall of Fame this year.

Jackson won $2,000 as outstanding player and $1,500 as top Canadian. LaGrone won $1,500 as lineman of the year.

Asked whether he would change his mind about retiring, he replied "no," then smiled: "how many times do I have to tell you that?"

His future, he said, is wrapped around his job as vice-principal at Sir John A. Macdonald high school in Ottawa.

"I don't want to coach. I'm not interested in coaching at all. I've done my share. I don't want to watch football movies for the next 10 years. And I don't want to carry a playbook around in my hand as part of my equipment."

LaGrone, who beat out Jackson's team-mate Billy Joe Booth as top lineman, stood in another part of the room, ignored except for a few Western writers.

"It was, individually, my best year, but as a team we were not as great," he said, referring to Edmonton's fourth-place finish in the Western Football Conference.

"Greg Pipes was a great help to me at defensive tackle. He made a lot of plays possible. It's a pretty thrilling experience for me. It's a real pleasure to win."

LaGrone, 25, is in his third year with the Eskimos. He is from Border, Tex., and went to Southern Methodist University in Dallas. He works in the City of Edmonton legal department during the football season and studies law at Baylor University in the off-season.

Thompson, CFL Kickoff Return Leader Says He's Just Into Hang of Things

MONTREAL (CP)—Bobby Thompson, Saskatchewan Roughriders' rookie halfback who led the Canadian Football League this year with a total of 600 yards on 20 kickoff returns, figures he's just getting the hang of the way they play football in this country.

★★★★★

While becoming acquainted with the CFL style of doing things, he caught 45 passes, making him the seventh most popular receiver in the Western Football Conference regular season, and rushed 82 times for 467 yards, the WFC's ninth best in that department.

Next year, he hopes to do better. "There are still some playing rules here that I don't know about. As far as playing Canadian ball is concerned, I like it. It's the 10 yards difference."

The difference between the 65-yard width of the playing field in Canada and the 55 in the United States is something that Thompson, Saskatchewan's end-sweep artist, plans to exploit Sunday when the WFC champions clash with Ottawa Rough Riders.

Asked Friday how he felt about playing in the CFL title game, he said:

"I'm thrilled to death about it. It's not always that a rookie can be on a team that wins the West and gets into the Grey Cup game."

Thompson, 21, a native of Providence, R.I., who covered the 100-yard dash in 9.5 seconds in high school and now runs faster than any other member of the WFC championship team, has had to make several adjustments in the game he polished last year with Oklahoma University.

Jim Spavital, assistant to Saskatchewan head coach Eagle Keys, watched the slightly-built speedster in action and persuaded him to take a crack at playing in Canada.

"It's a big switch," Thompson said. "There are still some rules here that I don't know about. My biggest switch is on defence. I used to be one man in motion in the backfield in Canada, instead of three, the way it is in the American game."

Thompson also is working on improving his blocking, using his five-foot-eleven 185-pound frame to the best aggressive advantage. "In order to make a play go, you're going to have to block."

"In the off-season, I lift weights. I don't want to get to bulky. I concentrate on strength."

He likely will go through some loosening-up exercises today and watch game films in preparation for Saskatchewan's battle with the Eastern Football Conference champs, due to start at 1 p.m. EST Sunday.

The Saskatchewan team arrived Friday by air from Regina and held a light workout.

TORONTO (CP) — McGill University of Montreal earned a berth in the sudden-death final of the Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association water polo championship Friday by clipping University of Toronto 9-1. McGill defeated Toronto 9-6 in Montreal last week to win the two-game, total-goal series 17-7 to take the association's eastern division title. McGill meets McMaster University of Hamilton, western division champions, in the championship playoff here today.

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Cadenza, with Allen Walker driving, streaked to his seventh season victory in the featured $3,500 Morrisiston trot at Mohawk raceway Friday night. The 11-year-old gelding covered the one-mile in 2:06 1-5, beating Success Zora to increase his season winnings to $27,763. The exactor payoff on Cadenza and Success Zora was $20.70. Cavartha Butch won the first and Bradley Gilbert took the second event to set up a $34.40 daily double.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Being switched from catcher to the infield was the best thing that could ever have happened to me in baseball" declares versatile Ted Sizemore, voted the National League's rookie-of-the-year. The Los Angeles Dodgers' second baseman caught in the minor leagues until last winter when the club decided he should be converted to an infielder. A University of Michigan product from Detroit, Sizemore feels he would have spent 1962 in the minors had the change not been made. "The Dodgers had veteran catchers in Tom Haller and Jeff Torborg" he explains. "I didn't think I had much chance of beating them out. Former major league infielder Monty Basgall worked with Sizemore when the big conversion experiment started, and Ted declares: "He did so much for me, I'll never be able to repay him for his hard work."

Etcheverry, Kwong Selected Into Football's Hall of Fame

MONTREAL (CP) — Two great Grey Cup opponents from the 1950s were among six persons selected to the Canadian Football League's Hall of Fame Friday.

Sam Etcheverry, the great Montreal Alouettes passing quarterback, and Normie Kwong, nick-named the China Clipper as a hard-charging fullback with Calgary Stampeders and Edmonton Eskimos, were two of the four players chosen.

Art Stevenson from Winnipeg Blue Bombers of Second World War vintage was also chosen, along with Abe Elkowitz, who performed with Ottawa Rough Riders and Montreal Winged Wheelers during the 1930s.

Builders chosen were the late Dr. Andrew F. Davies of Ottawa and Arthur Chipman of Winnipeg.

Etcheverry the harler and Kwong the rusher were on opposite sides in Grey Cup competition while Kwong was with Edmonton.

The Eskimos defeated Montreal in all three games, 1954-55-56.

Etcheverry rang up every pass record in the Canadian books as he became known as a first-game basis throughout the country.

This season Ottawa's Russ Jackson, who will be performing here Sunday when the Capital's Rough Riders take on Saskatchewan Roughriders completed the 175th touchdown pass of his career to surpass the mark credited to Etcheverry. However, Eastern Football Conference records were compiled officially only since 1954.

EFC statistics show that Etcheverry completed nine touchdown passes in 1952 and another 25 in 1953, giving him an unofficial total of 208.

Kwong combined with Johnny Bright in the twin-fullback formation used by Edmonton when the Eskimos rolled over all opposition in the mid-50s.

He was an all-star halfback at Calgary in 1949 and Edmonton in 1951 and 1952. He was chosen all-star fullback with the Eskimos_in-1953-55-56. In 1955 and 1956 he was named the top Canadian player in the Canadian.

Stevenson kicked the winning point in the closing moments of the 1939 Grey Cup, when Winnipeg beat Ottawa for the second time.

Elkowitz was an outstanding backfield star from his first game in 1933. He started fans with his left-footed kicking and passing. He was twice a league all-star while with Ottawa from 1933 to 1935.

Dr. Davies was active in football, first at Montreal's McGill University and after graduation, with Ottawa Rough Riders.

However, his record was highlighted more by his unselfish interest in the Ottawa clubs and players—first as an official of the club and then club physician from 1915 to 1948.

Dr. Davies, until his death in 1956, remained an honorary officer of the Ottawa football club.

He was president of the club in 1928 and, in 1936—was named president of the interprovincial Rugby Union. In 1940 he served as president of the Canadian Rugby Union.

I wish if accepted by you "The Electors" to serve you as Chief Magistrate for 1970-71-72.

Blair Wants More Money, Less Work From Minnesota

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Wren Blair says he is underpaid and overworked in the dual role of general manager and coach of Minnesota North Stars.

The 44-year-old Lindsay, Ont., native is in Toronto where his charges meet the Maple Leafs in one of six scheduled National Hockey League games tonight.

"I don't feel well," Blair said in an interview. "Our game against the Leafs is our 19th. That's only one-quarter of the schedule. I'm weary. I'm worn out.

"Sometimes I haven't enough left to give to the team. A coach's main job is to inspire a team."

Blair has tried to shed the coaching duties but both Punch Imlach, former Maple Leafs manager-coach, and Bernie Geoffrion, now a New York Rangers assistant-coach, turned down the Minnesota job.

Blair says NHL coaches are not paid enough.

"We all have to operate within our budget. In many teams. I would imagine the coach is the lowest-paid person, earning less than the players. Yet the pressure is on him.

"A man who makes a good hockey coach would make a good executive in some other field, too. In hockey he has all the aggravation, has to move his family to the United States, has no security and earns no more money.

"A man shouldn't coach in th NHL if he is over 50 and shouldn't be a manager-coach if he is over 35, and I'm nine years past that already."

Blair, who coached five amateur and minor professional teams before joining Boston Bruins where he worked at scouting and player development, said the 1967 expansion absorbed all the experienced coaches available, and there are few people willing to go through the training he did to become an NHL coach.

"It's the same with refereeing. If a referee has a good job in the Toronto area, say on that earns him $12,000 a year, he can make more money working at that and refereeing in the Ontario Hockey Association than an incoming referee makes in the NHL.

"Of course the senior referees now make up to $20,000 and they deserve it because they've given all their life to the game."

Sam Pollock, Montreal Canadiens general manager, did not have such a kind attitude toward referees Friday.

Pollock said in Montreal that the wrong call by a referee in a game two weeks ago in St. Louis resulted in left winger John Ferguson's six-game suspension.

He said the referee called a match penalty against Ferguson for allegedly swinging his stick at Gary Sabourin of the Blues, when only a high-sticking penalty was necessary.

The more severe penalty left league president Clarence Campbell no alternative but to investigate the incident and as a result Ferguson was made "the scapegoat for previous actions of other players," Pollock said.

Pollock also complained that referee Lloyd Gilmour "allowed several situations to go by which should have been penalized" prior to the Ferguson-Sabourin brawl.

"Further, in the linesman's report, he stated that Bob Plager deliberately skated towards Ferguson to start a fight and that prior to the above brawl, there was absolutely no doubt in his mind that Ferguson would have left the ice without any further incident.

"It is interesting to note that Plager was not assessed any additional penalty despite this evidence, simply because the referee erred by not imposing an additional penalty on him."

The stick duel between Ferguson and Sabourin was followed by a general melee during which players from both teams left their benches. Campbell fined both clubs for allowing the players to crowd on to the ice during the fight.

Coach Johnny McLellan of the Maple Leafs announced Friday he will start George Armstrong at right wing tonight in place of Jim McKenny who will be moved back to a defensive assignment.

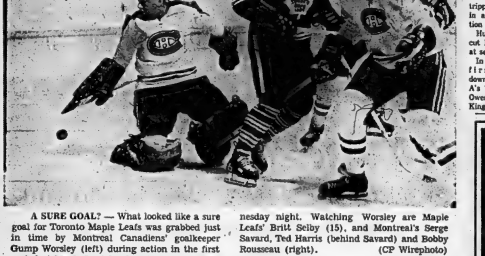
Defencemen Jim Dorey, Mike Pelyk, Tim Horton—Rick Ley and Brian Glennie are suffering from various injuries and McLellan's only other healthy defencemen are Pat Quinn and rookie Randy Murray.

McKenny, a former defenceman, has been used primarily at the right wing spot this season.

Boston Bruins also have an injured defenceman—Gary Doak, who is sidelined with a groin injury. The Bruins said Friday they have called up Barry Wilkins from Oklahoma City in the Central League to fill in on defence for tonight's game against the Canadiens in Montreal.

In other games tonight, Philadelphia Flyers meet the Rangers at New York, Chicago Black Hawks visit Detroit Red Wings, Oakland Seals are at Pittsburgh against the Penguins and Los Angeles Kings continue their nine-game road trip against the Blues in St. Louis.

Sunday, the Leafs are in Boston, Minnesota is at New York, Oakland at Detroit, St. Louis at Chicago and Pittsburgh at Philadelphia.



A SURE GOAL? — What looked like a sure goal for Toronto Maple Leafs was grabbed just in time by Montreal Canadiens' goalkeeper Gump Worsley (left) during action in the first period at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto Wednesday night. Watching Worsley are Maple Leafs' Britt Selby (15), and Montreal's Serge Savard, Ted Harris (behind Savard) and Bobby Rousseau (right). (CP Wirephoto)

Terriers Extend Lead Over Galt

Netminder Harold (Boat) Hurley, who once played for Canada in the world hockey tournament, used a combination of experience and luck for a shutout Friday as Oakville Oaks tripped Belleville Mo-Hawks 3-0 in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior series game.

Hurley turned back 33 shots to cut Belleville's unbeaten streak at seven games.

In other Friday games, the first-place Orillia Terriers downed last-place Woodstock A's 7-4, Barrie Flyers whipped Owen Sound Crescents 11-2 and Kingston Aces dumped defending Allan Cup champion Galt Hornets 4-2.

At Belleville, league leading scorer Jim (Obie) O'Brien disappointed a crowd of 1,500 with two Oakville goals, one of them into an empty net, raising his season production to 19.

Pete Bedell scored the other Oaks goal on Steve Rene.

At Woodstock, the A's opened up a 5-2 lead after 39 minutes and led 6-4 going into the third period.

A crowd of 200 watched Clare Alexander tie the score for the Terriers at 6:37 of the third period and Al Osborne gain the winner at 17:02.

John Hall, Mike Draper defencemen Doug Kelcher, George Westfall and captain John Chasczewski also scored for Orillia.

Wayne Goetz returning to the Woodstock lineup after an absence of three seasons, scored three goals. Mac Westgate, Al Blair and rookie Dick Chapman scored the others for the losers.

Kingston used two quick power play goals early in the first period to defeat Galt before a crowd of 2,168.

Petes Hang on To First

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Peterborough Petes coasted to a 7-2 win over the Knights at London Friday to keep first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

In other action, Toronto Marlboros recovered in the third period to salvage a 3-3 tie with Kitchener Rangers and Niagara Falls Flyers edged Ottawa 6-5 to move out of last place in the 10 team group.

Rookie Danny Gloor scored two goals and one assist to lead Peterborough, widening their first-place advantage over Toronto to two points.

Rick MacLeish, Paul Perras, Skip Foster, Joe Watters and defenceman Ron Plumb added single scores.

For the seventh-place Knights, who dropped their third game in a row, rookie Mike Quinn and Brian Chinnick scored.

Quinn, promoted from the Barrie Junior C Colts on Thursday, scored his first Junior A goal.

A screened shot by Dennis McCord with 52 seconds to spare in the third period preserved a split in points for the Marlboros at Kitchener.

Berger Purchases Alouettes For Estimated $1,000,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Sam Berger says he is "old enough to know better" than to buy a football team.

But joking aside, the Ottawa lawyer and businessman is delighted to have bought Montreal Alouettes of the Eastern Football Conference for an estimated $1,000,000.

Alouettes have been the problem child of the pro football circuit for the last few years. Under former owner Joe Atwell they were poor drawing cards both at home and on the road.

Berger, who once owned shares in the Ottawa Rough Riders, said the Montreal franchise has tremendous possibilities.

"The team needs a little restructuring, a few changes here and there and it will be a good club."

Berger won't tip his hand as to whether he'll retain head coach Kay Dalton.

"That's my No. 1 problem and I intend to deal with it quickly," he said.

"I realize that I have had letters, cards and petitions from fans asking that Dalton stay."

When it was first rumored that Berger wanted to buy Als, football people said he was too smart to take over the ailing franchise.

"Now they are telling me what a great buy it was and how they'd like to be partner."

Friends say Berger would not have gone for the deal if he wasn't sure he could hire general manager Red O'Quinn from Ottawa.

"Sure I want him bad and I've had permission from Ottawa to talk to him," said Berger. "But we won't get together until after the Grey Cup game."

In his 60s, Berger said he plans to move here from Ottawa as soon as his 16-year-old daughter finishes high school next June. He also has two teen-age sons studying at Ontario universities.

He said he has been phasing out his law practice in Ottawa and also plans to sell some of his Ottawa properties.

Berger ran for mayor against Charlotte Whitton, got beaten and quit politics.

Benson Prepared to Revise Tax Plans

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Edgar Benson Friday took his proposed income tax reform before Parliament and said he was ready to listen to all constructive criticism.

At the end of the day, the finance minister did not pass judgment on the constructive aspect of things, but he clearly heard criticism.

"No finance minister has ever made a proposal that would leave Canadian companies more vulnerable for foreign—especially American—takeover," said Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield.

"I contend," said David Lewis (NDP—York South), "that you cannot build an equitable tax system by retaining the traditional, old-fashioned, conservative exemptions, lacking the courage and vision to replace them with a modern system of tax credits which will return money to those people against whom tax should not have been levied."

"It's not reform," said Henri Latulippe Creditiste — Compton. It's deformation of our economy.

But it wasn't all criticia. Mr. Benson himself said he thought the proposals would produce a "good tax system," and Robert Kaplan (L—Toronto Don Valley) said that "the highest priority has been given to poor people's needs for some justice out of the tax system."

Mr. Benson, in initiating debate on the most substantial reform of the Canadian income tax system since the Income War Tax Act was first introduced 52 years ago, said he wanted a thorough examination of the measures, and if anyone could offer improvements "the government will be quick to adopt them."

After the two-day debate ends Monday, the proposals, first made public Nov. 7, will go to committees of both the Commons and the Senate for detailed examination.

Meanwhile, said the minister, there have already been misunderstandings and misinterpretations involving the tax reform proposals. For instance, he said, it was misleading to say that tax increases would fall more heavily on the middle-income groups than on the high-income groups.

Comments such as these "ignore completely" the fact that many in high-income brackets would also be subjected to the proposed new tax on capital gains. And, based on the 1967 total income of 100,000 persons, he produced statistics to show that, generally, those with the highest income will feel the heaviest brunt of the tax increases.

"There may be individual taxpayers who do not have capital gains who would not face as large an increase," he said. "But the upper income group as a whole would pay their share of the cost of the tax relief proposed for the low income groups."

Under the proposals, which increase basic exemptions to $1,400 from $1,000 for single taxpayers, and to $2,800 from $2,000 for married couples, some 750,000 Canadians would be freed entirely from income tax.

These 750,000 taxpayers should have been taken off the tax rolls years ago, said Mr. Lewis. They need relief now—not in 1972 when the new system takes effect.

So far as the income tax on capital gains is concerned, said Mr. Stanfield, it will make Canadian businesses "dangerously vulnerable" to foreign takeover.

While he supported a capital gains tax in principle, the white paper proposed that it be imposed indiscriminately. This meant that a small company starting out would likely have to sell some shares to pay the tax. And this would "most likely" mean it would eventually fall into the hands of foreign control.

The opposition leader said it was "unjust to ask Canadians to accept these tax changes without knowing government policy in other tax fields, especially as it relates to consumption or sales taxes."

Regarding Mr. Benson's contention that the new system would hit harder at the wealthy and provide relief for the poor, this was "one of the greatest snow jobs of this or any other country."

Liberals Try to Alter Chairman of Committee

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberals are trying to dump Alfred D. Hales, Conservative MP for Wellington, as chairman of the Commons public accounts committee, it was learned Friday.

The Conservatives are expected to raise the roof, and the Liberal attempt may lead to one of the biggest political fights in the capital since the 1968 general election.

The Liberals have offered the chairmanship of the committee, perhaps the most important on Parliament Hill, to Harold Winch, veteran NDP member for Vancouver East.

The offer to Mr. Winch was made by James Walker, parliamentary secretary to Prime Minister Trudeau, through Stanley Knowles, NDP whip.

So far, Mr. Winch, a member of the public accounts committee for 11 years, has not made a decision to accept.

The Liberals can install their choice as chairman because they comprise the majority in all committees, as they do in the Commons.

The practice of making an opposition member chairman of the public accounts committee was started a decade ago by then prime minister John Diefenbaker as one of his parliamentary reforms.

Arctic to Become Strategic Region

WASHINGTON (AP) — A United States military writer says development of the North following the successful voyage of the U.S. tanker Manhattan will make the area rich in military targets and change Canadian and American defence postures.

For this and other reasons, "it is important for the status of the waters between the Canadian (Arctic) islands to be clarified," writes Anthony Harrigan, whose articles have appeared in the world's leading military journals.

In remarks printed in the Congressional Record at the request of Republican Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Harrigan says the Manhattan voyage indicates regular tanker travel through the Northwest Passage is possible.

"If the mining potential of the Far North should be tapped," he writes, "if the harbor facilities and storage areas should be constructed and if giant vessels regularly plg the Northwest Passage, then the northern region would suddenly become rich in military targets.

"The U.S. and Canada would be compelled to consider systems of protection for these facilities, resources and installations," says Harrigan, whose article originally appeared in the December, 1969, military review of the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College.

Montreal Metro Proposed

QUEBEC (CP) — A bill creating a metropolitan government to reign over Montreal Island's 29 separate municipalities was introduced in the legislature Friday.

The new regional government would assume control of the Montreal Transport Commission and inter-municipal traffic, municipal police forces, public health an hygiene including air pollution and water purification and the evaluation of real estate in all municipalities.

The region governing body would be a community council, composed of Montreal's mayor and 12 city councillors, plus one delegate from each of the 28 other municipalities.

FOR PAYING YOUR CARRIER PROMPTLY
Collections by your Intelligencer carrier are timed to provide you convenient service and best meet his school and study schedules. He may begin collections Thursday and complete his collection on Friday, so that he can pay for his papers on Saturday morning.
Your thoughtfulness in paying him the first time he calls to collect will encourage him in giving you prompt service. It will save him extra work for which he would receive no additional profit.
It will give him more time for school and other activities.

Controversy On First Driver Carries On

By GEORGE H. CARVER

Although the automobile is of modern invention, there is a controversy, and always will be, as to who created the first vehicle that actually could travel under its own power.

England, France, Italy and the United States present claims whereas Germany, which never aspired to credit, seems entitled to the honor of perfecting the first device that could operate, both on land and later, under its own means of propulsion.

The claim of France is centred in something put together by M. Cugnot about 1769. The English award the invention prize to Robert Trevethick, a steam driven contraption built in 1804. The Italians claim a General Bordio built a "steamer" in 1837.

Until Germany's Gottlieb Daimler perfected industrial combustion in 1885 using petroleum spirits, actually kerosene, men striving to create an automobile worked on the idea that it must be steam-propelled.

DAIMLER EARLY PIONEER

Daimler experimented with the internal combustion idea through the early 1880's. He attached his engine to an ordinary bicycle using a chain belt as a propeller shaft to the rear wheel. He succeeded, also, in using petroleum derivative, actually kerosene, as a fuel in 1885. In 1887 he attached his motor to a small boat on the River Seine in a successful experiment. It is noted that Levassor, a Frenchman, improved on the Daimler idea by building an automobile body into which he placed the motor.

While Daimler originated the internal combustion principle by making the automobile possible, Levassor was the actual creator of the automobile as we know it today.

It is a long cry from eight decades ago when Levassor gave his idea to the world, and his creative genius and brilliant engineering have wrought miracles in automotive progress.

In his book, "Canada: A Way to Go" (Ryerson Press, $10.00), Robert Collins takes one down a literary trail milestone by models that mark the march of automotive time.

The 150-page edition is replete with original art productions that leave nothing to the imagination of the modern generation and brings nostalgia to those who lived in the early part of this century.

Factual to the last detail, Collins pens a comprehensive account of nearly 100 cars produced in Canada with special emphasis on technical and historical aspects of each.

Nor is "What a Way to Go" devoid of humor. Mr. Collins' research brought out many anecdotes of the lighter side of what was first termed the "Horseless Buggy." He also notes the sheer wonder of early motoring in Canada especially during the first 25 years of the century when the automobile industry was showing signs of developing into the billion-dollar giant it is today.

In colorful sequence the writer takes you from the Rev. Geary Belcourt's "single seated steam wagon" which appeared in Prince Edward Island in 1866, to John Moody's Winton of 1896, to the modern racing car of the speedways.

The Famous Fred Model T, Collins points out, was never just an automobile. It was a legend from the moment it was built. No other car in history so stirred the emotions or so effectively sealed the human love affair with the "horseless." For an entire generation of Canadians as well as Americans the "T" was a way of life.

He quotes a letter from circa 1900 describing this city's first car, a one-cylinder Packard "A cloud of white smoke and evil-smelling fumes floated in sulphurous haze behind it. Housewives opened doors and shook goggle-eyed. Small boys lined the side-walk keeping up easily with the pace. Down Pinnacle Street they proceeded, scaring the wits out of weak-hearted citizens and the daylights out of horses which had never been known to shy even at a thunderstorm."

"What a Way to Go" is recommended as a "must" for motoring buffs, Canadian antique auto enthusiasts and the public in general.

In an intriguing look into the 21st century, the author speculates on what the future holds for automobiles cars and motorists.

He goes so far as to predict "A hundred years from now, maybe sooner, the thing called the 'automobile' will be obsolete in every form. The children of the future will do away with their video libraries for an amused look at those four-wheeled clumsy antiques of the 20th century."

Until perhaps they will agree with those of us alive today that at least it was a "great way to go."

The Platters - - Still Crooning

The Four Platters, Curtis Cheatham, Al Brown, Robert Howard and Cornell Brown give out with one of their hits at the Belleville Club where they visited yesterday evening. The famous group is being held over by popular demand at the Sun Valley Motor Hotel for another week.

No Beards, Long Hair or Guitars But Platters Prove Their Durability

By BARRY GRILLS
Staff Reporter

It's now been almost 10 years since The Platters came upon the music scene in North America and the world, and they're still going strong. They're now in Belleville at the Sun Valley Motor Hotel.

Granted, there have been some changes since their first hit, Only You. In 1952, but the same musical, vocal style is there.

For example, there was a split up in 1956, but the group continued to maintain musical stardom. There were five of them then, including a female vocalist, Zola Taylor.

Since then Miss Taylor has retired from show business, leaving the present four male members to continue on their musical journey. They have with them for six years: and Curtis Cheatham, a one-year veteran of the group.

At present the group is tied up with club dates which is part of their reason for play-ing Belleville. As a matter of fact, the famous four have been held over for another week at the Sun Valley.

They are still recording for Columbia Records. In the future they will be releasing a couple of singles in French.

Also being released shortly is a live album recorded on the "Gold Coast" in Australia. There will be another album released in the new year, as well.

The group will be returning to more dates in Australia in January and will be seen at Expo '70 in Japan. They will be playing United States military bases in Japan, also.

There will be only a little derivation in style when their new records are released.

Their tunes will feature more of today's sounds, remaining in the pop field. There will be more tunes composed by members of the group themselves.

But their style has been brought up to date. The Beatles' tune, Yesterday, is an example.

"It's like a soul song, like a blues ballad, like a pop tune", explained, Cornell Brown, lead singer of the group.

But the adults, the main market for the music of the Four Platters, are still demanding the same sort of music from them.

"The adult market — that hasn't changed", Mr. Brown said.

The Four Platters, while on tour, are usually accompanied by a musical arranger and three or four musicians.

And then there's Derek Martin, ar ex-member who has made it on his own. Derek has an album being released in January, produced by Teddy Randazzo in New York.

His last pair of hits were You'd Better Go and Soul Power. He is going to Australia with the Platters.

Tomorrow, the group will play the Afro Lounge at CFB Trenton for members and guests only.

Montreal Police Battle Women Protesting Demonstration Ban

MONTREAL (CP)— More than 150 women who challenged Montreal's controversial anti-demonstration bylaw were carried, dragged or pushed into paddy wagons Friday night and spectators who encouraged them were chased down blind alleys by riot-equipped motorcycle police.

The demonstrators, members of a number of women's organizations, gathered in a ball on downtown St. Lawrence Boulevard and planned to march from there on city hall in a show of opposition to the bylaw.

But a solid wall of riot-equipped police met them when they left the building, and they sat down in the street with arms linked. Many of the women had fastened themselves together, their wrists linked with padlocked chains, and the fire department's rescue squad was called to snip the chains with heavy bolt-cutters.

Spectators who encouraged the women with chants of "ladies pas"—don't give up—were dispersed by police who used their motorcycles as easy ruin the sidewalks. Reporters and photographers who tried to inspect the sit-down were also pushed back and one, Canadian Press photographer Peter Bregg, was arrested.

At police headquarters, the women were still being photographed and questioned early today. A police spokesman said at least 150 will be charged with infractions of the anti-demonstration bylaw.

Bail was set at $25 each, but the actual release of the demonstrators took several hours because of the number to be processed.

The group that organized the demonstration was the newly-formed Front Commun pour Quebecoises—Common Front of Quebec women.

Present at the group's meeting before the demonstration was lawyer Robert Lemieux, who said he belongs to a four-member defence committee to represent the women.

He said he plans to challenge the jurisdiction of the court and to present a motion to quash the charges.

"The bylaw is definitely illegal," he said. "It is against the Canadian bill of rights, against all of our traditions."

The police "were just the instruments of oppression and what we could call fascism in Montreal."

The bylaw, adopted Nov. 12 after a number of violent demonstrations this fall, allows the city administration to forbid any marches or demonstrations it considers may become violent.

All parades have been outlawed for an initial period of 30 days except fro today's Grey Cup parade.

Earlier Friday, a group of about 300 McGill University students protesting the same bylaw dispersed peacefully on police orders after a short march near the downtown campus.

Pearson Defends Report On World Development

OTTAWA (CP) — Former prime minister Lester B. Pearson Friday defended his world bank report on international development against charges that its recommendations are based on faulty premises.

Mr. Pearson spoke to a development conference at Carleton University, jointly sponsored by the university's school of International Affairs and the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

Discussion at the conference centred on the report, published by the World International development commission which Mr. Pearson headed.

During a question-and-answer period following his speech, a delegate charged that the report—the recommendations were "inadequate," if they were intended to be a blueprint for development "because they were "based on the premises of the development decade which failed."

The United Nations declared in 1961 the 1960s would be to be a development decade, attempting to narrow the gap between living standards in developed and developing countries.

The Pearson report, the delegate said, was "trying to make a horse go which is already dead."

Mr. Pearson said he disagreed with the critic. Earlier he had said the report was basically written for "governments and legislators."

He had been criticized, he said, because the report didn't go far enough.

"Perhaps our reach didn't exceed our grasp, but at least I hope the rich countries will grasp the recommendations I won't worry so much about their reach."

Mr. Pearson said he was concerned about critics of foreign aid who claim that developing countries are linking aid to political and economic interests, and using it as a guise to transfer false values to the developing countries.

Although he agreed with the revolutionary attitude that a whole new development partnership was needed, his report "dealt with the world as we found it."

Although Mr. Pearson and his fellow commissioners had "understood the revolutionary point of view" they wanted to prepare a report to improve the current situation.

The report, published under the title Partners in Development, calls for developed countries to send one per cent of their gross national products to developing countries in the form of grants, loans or investment by 1975—which was also the goal of the development decade for the 1960s, ending next month.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For November 30

Your birthday today: The year ahead is one of learning to use unusual methods to extend both social and business activity. People are inclined to like your beliefs and proposals as your decisions and terms become crisp, clear cut. Partners are fairly easy to find and deal with. Romance is vivid and lively. If you have the time to devote to it.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Odd experiences are commonplace today, and coincidence features a rather improbable or fascinating situation. New contacts are promising.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Family activities keep you occupied. Be sure, however, to do your part in your community and to allow for some privacy.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Property holds your attention strongly; changes and repairs are needed. Creature comforts seem overattractive. Stick with your diet and thus enjoy the day and evening more fully.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Everybody is acutely sensitive to disclosure of events of the last few days. Learn to let off in luxury and you will eventually get a delightful story. Coincidence brings about a most extraordinary incident.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): New people may become very important in your thinking. Your financial outlook changes abruptly, then settles to normal.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): More facts come to light. Any travel undertaken for other reasons. Use notebooks or other ways of refreshing your memory. Nobody is very happy with your independent ideas, but much is at stake in looking after your own interests.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 22): This Sunday it is important that you extend yourself and your resources to help keep the peace and to protect your community from dissension. Gladly make the effort.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Secret activities blunder into unexpected visibility this Sunday when you meet head on with somebody from your own bailiwick. It's better to stay home and concentrate on improving your mind or state of health.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Be ready to discuss your specialty with a visiting stranger — it just may happen that some of competence and charm arrives. Otherwise, solitary diversions are preferable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Original projects thrive until you expect everybody to give up his own designs and join in yours. Then all balk. Lessen your demands or objects.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): People are seeking you for a wide variety of reasons. Be ready to readjust according to whom the inquirers are. Keep your main discourse to social trivia. Direct questions will then indicate the interests of the strangers.

For December 1

Your birthday today: Present conditions improve steadily in the year ahead as you achieve minor adjustments. Rough edges smooth as your skills sharpen. You must control your moods, yet find room to express yourself. Today's natives are head-strong, realistic, apt to plunge into ventures prematurely.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Get out bright and early, be conversant with the day's situations. Don't overlook information.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Give other people extra space and time to work out details. Do your share with minimum comment. Routines, old matters can be cleared away now.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Effort on necessary matters works out better than involving extra people. Tonight make use of the crosscurrents to hold a simple gathering of friends with differing viewpoints.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): The less you expect from relatives, the happier your day turns out to be. Do applications and fresh beginnings are not favored at this time except as temporary expedients to fill gaps. Avoid unnecessary promises and travels.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): The temptation is to begin the week with overoptimistic activity, with everybody you can about going along. Detailed preparations for later activities are strongly advised.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): You are close to your best today in material affairs. If you will listen to the urging of your intuitive powers. Family members, friends, may require some distraction. Patience will be rewarded.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Matters that already have been started go well. Initiatives require silence. You are tactful enough in crucial situations; now you are tested in moments of drift and unpreparedness.

SCORPIO (Oct 23—Nov. 21): Stand on your own feet and do what you find is well within your reach. Prepare in advance for future activities. Social spending easily gets out of hand.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Close associates are firmly with you today, according to how well you have dealt with them. Outside factors arouse impatience, perhaps haste by initiative.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Your natural tendency to plan ahead in detail requires verification of your information.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Your judgment is sharper and more to the point than your friends' ideas. Do not expect favors or preference in the management of anything that is not entirely your own personal property.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): What you do today benefits your partner or relatives more than it helps you. Put forth as much energy as conditions permit; get a good start on the new week.

STOP KILLING YOURSELF

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.
Author of "The Doctor Looks At Life"

Medicine for One Another's Poison

What's food for one may be poison for another. (Old and hoary, nevertheless true). This applies especially to medicines. What helps your neighbor may be hurtful to you — and vice versa.

Even an innocent aspirin tablet may upset the machinery; and one may wonder what is causing all the ups or bowling. No drug is exempt. For example, consider the following case history:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My husband, who is 57, has been taking an anti-hypertensive drug. This has done the best job in controlling his hypertension. Is it at all possible that this may be causing his depressed feelings?

He's been on it for over three months. He feels so low he is considering a change of jobs with the same firm. It's not a question of ability. He has been successful in whatever he has done. He is intelligent and kind — and a marvelous husband.

Has the drug been the cause of his lack of interest in his work and in his hobbies? Or is this change natural at his age?

The heavy-hearted feeling he has does not last all day. He seems to have his "ups and downs." However, during the past month there have been more downs than ups. — Mrs. T.

Comment: You have hit on a possibility that has been overlooked for some time. TBut we are now aware that some antihypertensive drugs may occasionally produce depression in some patients. A drug happens to be one of the best in controlling high blood pressure — but so in rare cases of aspirin-reactors — it is. We've found that it may produce such symptoms as your husband has.

Temporarily stopping it or cutting down on the dose, often helps. But I am only guessing. Take it up with your husband's doctor. There are many reasons other than drug idiosyncrasy that cause depression and other symptoms.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: What is the difference between a drunk and an alcoholic? — Mrs. J.

Comment: It's a matter of definition, of usage. Saying one is an alcoholic is euphemistic. It sounds better, Personally, I never call anybody a drunk. I dislike to hang such labels on sick people. And you know, of course,that the alcoholic is a sick person.

Neither do I like to hear anyone call somebody else a "nut" or ready for the "nut house" if they show some mental derangement. As the saying goes, charity begins at home. Remember that when one of us is certain if and when the problem of alcoholism or mental aberration may strike in our own home.

* * *

For Mr. T.: Sudden swelling of the soft palate may be due to a throat infection, but is more likely to be due to an allergic reaction. Your doctor will be able to differentiate.

For Master R.: You are not alone. Getting up at the age of 15 to speak in class full of anxiety and perspiration is a common failing. But I think you will be interested to know that even the most experienced speakers will confess they are nervous for the first few moments of every speech they make.

No matter how experienced, they stay scared — at first. And they will also agree that once the anxiety passes, they enjoy speaking as much they hate to stop. So you see, Master R., there's hope for you.

BELLEVILLE NEEDS SCOTT FOR MAYOR

(Press Clippings from the Intelligencer)

Annual Payroll Over $2 Million

By Harry Mulhall, Staff Reporter

OTTAWA — The federal government has approved Bellerive as Ontario's regional headquarters for the Unemployment Insurance Commission — a move which means a major economic breakthrough for the Quinte city.

The economic dividends include:

A 350-member resident civil service work force, including about 30 new local job openings.

A new annual payroll totalling more than $2,000,000.

A demand boomlet for houses, apartments and all other forms of domestic accommodation.

With Russell Scott as Mayor . . . BELLEVILLE NEVER HAD IT SO GOOD!

Industry has focused on Belleville! The city is being noticed . . . It's moving ahead! Belleville has taken the biggest leap forward in its history with more jobs — more homes — more educational institutions — more recreational facilities.

Now there is a good feeling in Belleville and citizens are proud of their city. Let's keep it this way . . .

RE-ELECT RUSSELL SCOTT!

U.S. Firm to Build Carpet Plant Here

Opening This Fall

By Harry Mulhall, Staff Reporter

Belleville has won another industry — a $1,300,000 carpet dyeing and finishing plant — the largest single capital investment in the city announced this week.

Chromalloy Canada Ltd., the industrial major subsidiary of an American parent group, is the first Canadian subsidiary of the operation dealing in specialty dyeing for textiles. Three years ago Chromalloy Canada Ltd. was established in Belleville.

Construction will begin as soon as possible on a 20 acre site on the city's eastern limits . . .

Bell Plans Training Centre

By Roy Peacock, Staff Reporter

The city of Belleville was chosen over four other centres as the location of the new in-service educational training centre announced yesterday by Bell Telephone.

Mr. Scrivener said the Bell's new in-service training centre in Belleville would be the largest of its kind in Canada, providing accommodation for up to 140 students from across Canada and other parts of the world.

Mr. Buckley estimated the staff required to man the new school would result in an estimated $400,000 a year being spent in Belleville by the Bell.

The project's impact on the community was measured in more practical terms by City Industrial Commissioner Ray Brown, with 1,500 delegates coming in to the city every year it should augment the local economy by about $2 million," he said.

Loyalist College Expands

The formal ceremonies on the college campus-site east of Wallbridge Road will signal a start on the first $1,500,000 phase of the project.

The building's first section to house technology students, is scheduled for operation by September, 1970.

The contract awarded Dalton Engineering is not to exceed $2,700,000 for the total project. The tender, providing five percent management fee was the lowest received for the project.

The first module will be a three-storey building, some 219 feet square. It will provide 95,000 square feet of interior space.

Apt. Development Proposed

Belleville may be getting a multi-million dollar apartment development consisting of two high-rise buildings with a total of 200 family units.

An application to rezone the area between Bridge St. East and Dundas St. East of the Belleville Suburban Area was presented last night to the Belleville Suburban Planning Board by Toronto architect Gerald Friedman on behalf of Loyalist Developments Ltd.

The development company wants to build 100 units in the first building, one hundred units in the second building which would take up only 40 percent of the land.

The rest of the property would be the same area was the rezoning application in the first place.

Another zoning application by Charles Lardner for the Unemployment Insurance Commission property. He plans a total of 57 family units.

4 Major Industries Prospects for Belleville

'68 Commission Work on Record

By Donald MacKenzie, Staff Reporter

In a dazzling forecast obviously designed to get the commission's activities on the record before parliament, Ted Deacon revealed that four major acting chairmen operate over 40,000 subsidiaries in the year 2000.

"A total of 400,000 buildings will be in the area of development is in various stages of serene industrial tises," said Mr. Deacon in his report of serene industrial

Without using names, he said a major international food manufacturer was in the area, a major international location of a 120,000 square foot plant is announced manufacturer was also negotiating for a plant in the area for an 84,000 square foot plant employing three shifts of workers.

Work Is Started Here On 900-Home Project

Sewers, Mains Go in First

By Roy Peacock, Staff Reporter

Belleville's most ambitious single housing subdivision — Palmer Gardens — is under way, with bulldozers excavating streets and utility services.

Principal for the 45-acre development in the city's west end at the corner of Bridge Street and Palmer Road is Gowanbrae Ltd., who plans more than 900 housing units.

The major portion . . . will be in the form of high rise apartments . . .

Also planned are 93 single family dwellings, 33 semi-detached dwelling and 60 row houses.

The Tatham Company of Belleville has the general contract from the owners for installation of roadways, storm and sanitary sewers and watermains.

First to go in will be the storm and sanitary sewers . . . but the entire contract including curbs and paved roadways is expected to be completed during 1970.

Growth Is a Reality

(From an editorial in the Intelligencer)

. . . the recently released figures on the voting list for this year's Dec. 1 municipal election is a clear indicator that the past 12 months has been a period of considerable expansion.

There will be 800 more eligible voters than a year ago when the board of education elections took place. In addition the assessment roll shows an increase of 387 in the number of property owners.

. . . coupled with the near-400 increase in property owners and no decrease in the number of tenants, it does suggest that a sizeable percentage of the additional voters are people who have moved into the community.

One estimate is that the voting list figures suggest a population increase of well over 1,000 people in the last year. This would be a growth rate in excess of the provincial average . . .

Belleville's Rapid Expansion Predicted By Mayor Scott

By Roy Peacock, Staff Reporter

In fact Mayor J. Russell Scott in a New Year's prediction sees the city enjoying an expansion period never before paralleled in the history of the municipality.

Still awaiting approval from the Ontario Municipal Board is the much-talked about plaza development for the city's North Front St. area.

Mayor Scott terms this shopping plaza and hotel complex, and also the proposed Unemployment Insurance Commission regional office as distinct possibilities.

But in addition to the construction program for municipal services and housing, Mayor Scott is confident the city is due for a period of industrial expansion which will surpass any previous activity.

He said there have been more enquiries from potential industry in the past three months than in the previous 20 years. He is confident that some of these industries will locate here.
